Scudder Verdict: Guilty

By LARRY WELBORN
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Two men were convicted Thursday of kidnaping potato chip heir John H. "Jack" Scudder last Aug. 19.

Superior Court Judge Richard J. Beacom scheduled sentencing for William R. "Rudy" Weason, 44, of Tustin, and his brother-in-law Riki Dale Sellers, 21, of Long Beach, for Feb. 9.

Their attorney, Michael Quigley, said immediately after the verdicts were announced that he plans to seek a new trial on the ground that judge Beacom erred in admitting certain evidence during the eight-week trial.

Weason and Sellers stood quietly as the verdicts were read.

The two men face possible life prison terms.

The nine-woman, three-man jury deliberated for five days before returning with the verdicts just before noon.

They acquitted Sellers on an additional charge of assault, and also found that Sellers and Wesson did not inflict great bodily injury on Scudder during the kidnaping.

A finding that they did inflict great bodily injury would have resulted in life prison terms for both men without possibility of parole. Wesson

JIMMY CARTER TAKES OATH OF OFFICE FROM JUSTICE BURGER AS ROSALYNN HOLDS BIBLE

Carter Inaugurated, Gives Ford Thanks

WASHINGTON (AP) – Jimmy Carter, an outsider no more, was inaugurated President of the United States on Thursday, urging upon his countrymen fresh faith and new commitment to "the bold and brilliant dream" of America.

Then, hand-in-hand with his wife, Rosalynn, the new President walked near the head of his own parade, home to the White House.

Three minutes past a sunny, icy noon, Carter concluded the oath of office that restored the White House to custody of the voters and ended the 29-month appointed presidency of Gerald R. Ford.

The rites of inauguration completed, Carter signed his first presidential document, formally nominating his Cabinet for Senate confirmation.

By dusk, Carter was behind his desk in the Oval Office, announcing that he will meet next Tuesday with congressional leaders, and will convene the full Cabinet later in the week.

He also said he was conducting job interviews, although he didn't say for what.

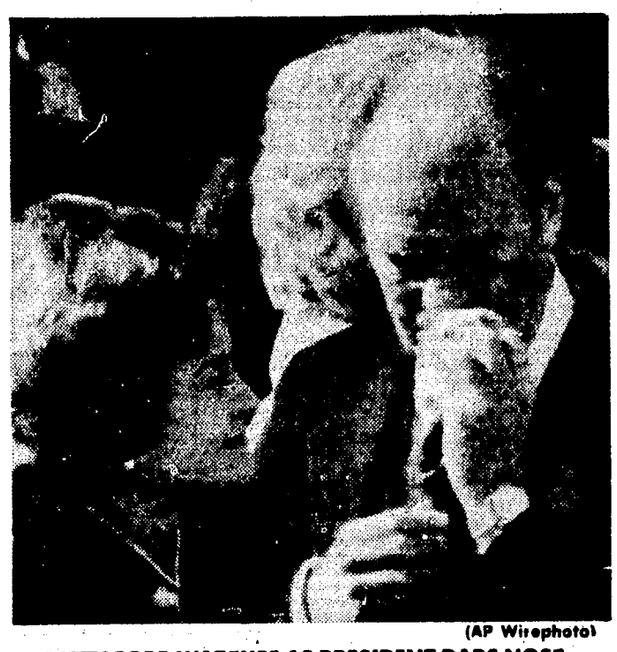

Press Secretary Jody Powell said the new President plans a tour around the nation early in his term, probably within the next three months.

"The President is very concerned about not becoming isolated," he said.

Carter had promised to stay close to the people and so he walked, smiling and waving, the mile and a half from his inauguration at the Capitol to the front of the White House, past applauding crowds estimated by police at 350,000.

There, with his family and Cold Leaves Thousands Out Of Work; Snow In Bahamas

By The Associated Press

The cold wave eased in some areas Thursday, but thousands were out of work, fuel shortages left many without heat, sunny Florida had more record low temperatures, and the national weather bureau saw little chance for a real thaw in the next few days.

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes ordered schools closed for 30 days and retail stores and businesses limited to 40 hours weekly to conserve dwindling natural gas supplies in Dayton and surrounding areas. At the same time, the Federal Power Commission took a series of emergency actions to prevent any interruption of gas service to priority users.

The FPC asked six pipeline companies serving 19 eastern and southern states not to cut gas deliveries to homes, small businesses and hospitals, in effect, relieving the companies of their obligation to serve all customers on an equal basis.

The FPC also sent telegrams to 29 major pipeline companies, asking them to report any supply problems immediately. The actions, taken Wednesday night, were announced Thursday in Washington.

Meanwhile, the same cold front that brought a history-making snowstorm to Miami and the northern Bahamas hit Puerto Rico, bringing 20-foot waves, the weather bureau said Thursday.

Authorities in the northwestern coastal town of Aguadilla said more than 1,000 families were evacuated after pounding waves broke over a 12-foot retaining wall.

The snow flurries, observed in the islands of Grand Bahama and Abaco, were the first ever recorded in the Bahamas.

A record low for West Palm Beach was set when the temperature dipped to 27 degrees. The previous low was 29 degrees, set Jan. 10, 1970.

Four auto plants in Detroit remained shut and operations were curtailed at 11 others Thursday as weather-related energy and material shortages plagued Ford and General Motors for a fourth day. Some 26,000 hourly workers were affected by the closings or cutbacks.

About 40 per cent of West Virginia's coal miners, 22,000 men, have been laid off because of lack of transportation for coal, leaving no room to stockpile more mined coal. Barges were stuck fast in Ohio River ice and railroad coal cars could not be unloaded because the coal had frozen into them.

More than 60,000 other workers have been laid off from industries in other states be-

Wendy Guilty Of Possessing Illegal Arms

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) – Wendy Yoshimura, once a sister fugitive to Patricia Hearst, was convicted Thursday night of illegally possessing a weapon and explosive, but the jury was unable to reach a verdict on the most serious charge against her.

Foreman Robert W. Loge sent Alameda County Superior Court Judge Martin Pulich a note saying "there is no possible way to reach a decision" on a charge that Miss Yoshimura possessed an explosive with the intent to injure people or destroy property.

Tears Fill Ford's Eyes On Farewell

WASHINGTON (AP) – With tears and tributes, President Ford left office Thursday to become a private citizen, expressing confidence that history would treat his administration kindly.

The final hours posed a difficult and emotional experience for Ford. Tears filled his eyes when White House aides and Cabinet members said farewell at a buffet breakfast in the State Dining Room.

And, as if reluctant to leave the city where he once held the reins of power, the President requested a helicopter ride over downtown Washington to savor a final view of the nation's capital.

"You all contributed to an administration I think was good and which history will treat kindly," Ford told his aides at the farewell breakfast.

"I've enjoyed the White House mainly because of the fine people. The days were long, but they were lightened by the people," he said.

Ford's final day in office began at 6 a.m. when he awoke. did his routine exercises and ate a breakfast of grapefruit, English muffins and tea.

When Ford first became President, the fact that he toasted his own muffins made news. But that was "in the

Mexican Guerrillas Kill 2, Including American Exec

MEXICO CITY (AP) – An American and a Mexican businessman were shot to death by urban guerrillas Thursday in Mexico City in what has become a wave of terrorism, police said.

The dead American was identified by the U.S. Embassy as Mitchell Andreski, president of the Duraflex Corp., of Hartford, Conn.

An embassy spokesman said Andreski and Guillermo Flores Franco, 30, were visiting a construction firm in the northeast part of the city when they encountered men handing out guerrilla propaganda.

In Hartford, neither company nor family representatives would comment or give details of Andreski's trip.

The Mexico City police said the two men tried to stop the distribution of the pamphlets and were shot to death. The police said the Communist 23rd of September League, the most notorious of a dozen Mexican guerrilla groups, was responsible for the slayings.

It was the third time in a week that September League guerrillas had struck in Mexico City.

Wednesday night, three men and two women of the league robbed a Mexico City store and killed two policemen, the police said.

Last Sunday, at least 14 members of the league, including a woman, shot and killed three policemen and a cashier while robbing a government commodities store just two blocks from the Foreign Ministry.

The outbreak of guerrillas violence was the first terrorist activity since last August when September League guerrillas shot up the car of President Jose Lopez Portillo's sister in an assassination attempt.

The 23rd of September League takes its name after the date of a shootout about 12 years ago between student activists and soldiers at an army barracks in the northern state of Chihuahua.

The league wants to spark a revolution in Mexico for the overthrow of the government, but with only about three dozen hard-core members, according to Mexican police intelligence sources, has little chance of success.

Explosion Kills 2, Injures 45 At Pitt

PITTSBURGH (AP) – An explosion ripped through a classroom building at the University of Pittsburgh on Thursday, killing two persons and injuring about 45 others. The blast collapsed the walls and part of the roof into a heap of crumbled concrete and twisted steel.

The explosion hit the two-story Langley Hall, which housed science lecture halls and laboratories, about 12:40 p.m., and rescue teams worked until about 8 p.m. before reporting no victims were trapped in the wreckage.

"There was a big sound like an elevator dropping. It just shook the whole building," said Jay Weisberg, a psychology student from Pittsburgh who was in a building overlooking the part of Langley Hall that fell in upon itself.

"I saw the outside wall collapse inward and then the ceiling fell in on top of that."

Hospitals reported that six persons were admitted and four others were held for observation. One fireman was reported in critical condition and two others were in serious condition as a result of gas inhalation.

Authorities said early reports identifying the volatile chemical nitrobenzene as the likely cause were premature but added they were exploring the possibility that chemicals or gases were to blame.

"We don't know what caused it and we may not know for a long time," said Pittsburgh Police Supt. Robert Coll. He said there was no evidence of foul play in the accident.

Pittsburgh fire chief Thomas Kennelly said there was an odor of shoe polish around the blast site. He said natural gas could be ruled out as a cause

Obedience School Trains Dog Owners

By ROBERT SCHWABACH
Knight News Wire

WILMINGTON, Del. – The western branch of the Wilmington YMCA started offering dog obedience classes from the dog's point of view last week.

To get the dog's point of view you get down on your hands and knees and squint upwards at the world. If your dog is a particularly small one, you get down on your belly.

Not much more than that is known about how dogs see the world. Virginia Dorsman, who teaches this class, says the underlying assumption is that the dog sees the world like people see the world, and would like to be treated kindly.

This means that if the dog will not sit when you tell it to sit, you do not swat it on the rear end with a rolled-up edition of a newspaper. Instead, you gently roll your arm around behind its rear legs until it is forced to sit because it is about to fall on its haunches. When it does fall backward on its rump, you say "nice doggie" or "sweet snookums" or whatever endearments come to mind at the moment. In this way, the world of dog owners and dogs progresses.

"This method was developed by Milo and Margaret Pearsall," Dorsman said, "and if you have read much literature in the field you will know how startlingly revolutionary and effective this method of obedience training is."

Dorsman's own dog, a German shepherd named Lita, acted hard to handle during the opening two classes and was kept in a cage.

"She's nervous with all these strange dogs around," Dorsman explained.

Everybody's dog was nervous.

Their point of view was ably demonstrated when Chivas, a 8-month-old Irish wolfhound and the largest dog around for the training sessions, was quickly taken out by a mongrel sheep dog named Tojo.

Tojo's owner did the sportsmanlike thing and got the Lysol and cleaned up the blood from Chivas' mangled ear. "I don't know why he's named Tojo," she said. "The name makes no sense whatever to me." (Thus are the lessons of history lost in the rush of events.)

While things did not seem to be going at all well at first, Dorsman explained that this was a get-acquainted session and the serious obedience training would come later.

"You must learn to socialize your dog," she told the dozen owners assembled for the class.

"Take him out with you and introduce him to new sights and let him meet new people. A dog who's been places and done things is a better dog."

"I just want her to come when I call her," Claire Dworkin of Wilmington said of her toy poodle, Sassy. "The kids would probably enjoy it if she sat up and begged for something, too."

Pacific Oil Spill Expands Quickly

HONOLULU (AP) – A mid-Pacific Ocean oil spill caused by the rupture of a Greek-owned oil tanker has become 70 miles long in less than two days, the Coast Guard said.

"Good Lord," sighed Admiral James Moreau, commander of the 14th Coast Guard district, when he was informed Wednesday at a briefing of the expansion of the 60-mile-wide oil slick.

He said, however, that the slick is moving northeast and should not endanger the Hawaiian Islands if wind conditions do not change.

The 640-foot Irene's Challenger, with a 31-man crew, split in half Monday night, spilling some of the ship's cargo of 3.15 million gallons of light crude oil.

As the stern drifts away from the point of rupture, 200 miles southeast of Midway Island, it leaves a trail of oil that becomes thinner as it expands, Moreau said.

Sacramento Protester Simpson Dies

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Robert H. Simpson, the self-styled "muckraker-in-chief" of the California Capitol, died Thursday at the age of 96.

The cause of death was not immediately reported. Funeral arrangements were pending. Survivors include five sons and daughters.

Simpson became well known for picketing the capitol and the courthouses in Sacramento with salty slogans that some legislators thought should be censored.

He was arrested hundreds of times for violating a law passed during the 1960s when youthful demonstrators often carried placards whose handles could be used as weapons. But the charges against "Mister Simpson," as he was called, were regularly dismissed.

Finally another law, dubbed the Simpson Law, was passed and the arrests stopped, but the picketing didn't.

Passengers Plucked Off Cruiser

MIAMI (AP) – The 110 passengers of a sailing cruise ship that ran aground off Eluthera Island in the eastern Bahamas were taken off Thursday. Commercial tugs were en route to try to free the vessel.

The Navy tug Petrel and the Coast Guard cutter Steadfast took the four-masted Fantome's passengers to Nassau, which they had left Tuesday on what was to be a week-long island-hopping cruise to Freeport.

The Coast Guard said the passengers and the Fantome's 27-member crew, some of whom were left aboard, were never in any danger.

The Fantome drifted aground on a sand bar after losing power early Wednesday, the Coast Guard said. The vessel couldn't use its sails because of 10-15 foot seas and winds up to 50 knots, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The Fantome is owned by Windjammer Cruises in Miami.

24-Foot Fall Kills Duarte Worker

SANTA ANA – A construction worker was killed Thursday when he fell 24 feet from the roof he was working on to the ground, coroner's officials reported.

Investigators said Paul Dennis McGrade, 35, of Duarte, was working on the roof of a building under construction at 1801 E. Dyer Road about 7:30 p.m. when he tumbled through an unpaned skylight covered with plywood.

McGrade was pronounced dead on arrival at Tustin Community Hospital.

Poisonous Gas Leak Sickens 44

AACHEN, West Germany (AP) – Poisonous gas escaping from a needle factory sickened at least 44 persons in the Aachen area before the drifting cloud of gas started dispersing on the Dutch border, police said Thursday.

The gas forced the closure of schools and highways as it drifted over the border into Holland, police said.

Police said the fumes were created when workers in the Aachen suburb of Stolberg erroneously began piping nitric acid from a railway tank car into a vat of sulphuric acid.

Workers who inhaled the concentrated gas formed from the acids had to be hospitalized for treatment of possible lung damage and skin eruptions. Several others at a nearby soap factory were hospitalized after the fumes drifted in through an open widow.

Scientists Detect 2nd Marsquake

HONOLULU (AP) – Scientists have detected what they are fairly certain is a second "Marsquake," according to a scientist associated with the Viking II seismology experiment.

The second quake occurred in mid-November and registered about 3.0 on the Richter scale, said Fred K. Duennebier of the University of Hawaii.

The tremor was centered about 24 miles from the Viking II landing craft on Mars, Duemmebier said Thursday at a meeting of the American Astronomical Society's Division for Planetary Sciences.

Scientists in early January announced the recording of a possible quake on Mars in early November. They said the tremor registered between 6 and 7 on the Richter scale, a measure of ground motion recorded on seismographs.

"It proves to us Mars is not a cold, dead planet but can support greater stress differences than here on earth," he said.

Youth's Body Found In Boxcar

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) – A 16-year-old California boy was found dead, apparently of exposure, in a boxcar during a routine check in Clovis.

Authorities identified the boy as John Michael Block of Norwalk. His mother said she last saw him Sunday afternoon in Norwalk.

Deputy medical investigator Lanson Somers said the body was sent to Albuquerque for an autopsy, but that "it appears the cause of death will be exposure."

Railroad workers found the body Tuesday in an empty boxcar. Police speculated the youth died Monday night when the train passed through Arizona, which was having cold weather.

Political Policeman Sentenced

LISBON, Portugal (AP) – A former inspector of political police was sentenced Thursday to eight years and eight months in prison on charges of torturing prisoners under Portugal's deposed right-wing dictatorship.

Henrique de Sa Seixas, 71, was found guilty of torturing and ordering others to torture political prisoners while serving for 42 years in the secret police (PIDE) under the late dictator Antonio Salazar. Marcello Caetano succeeded Salazar as head of the government, which was overthrown by the military in April 1974.

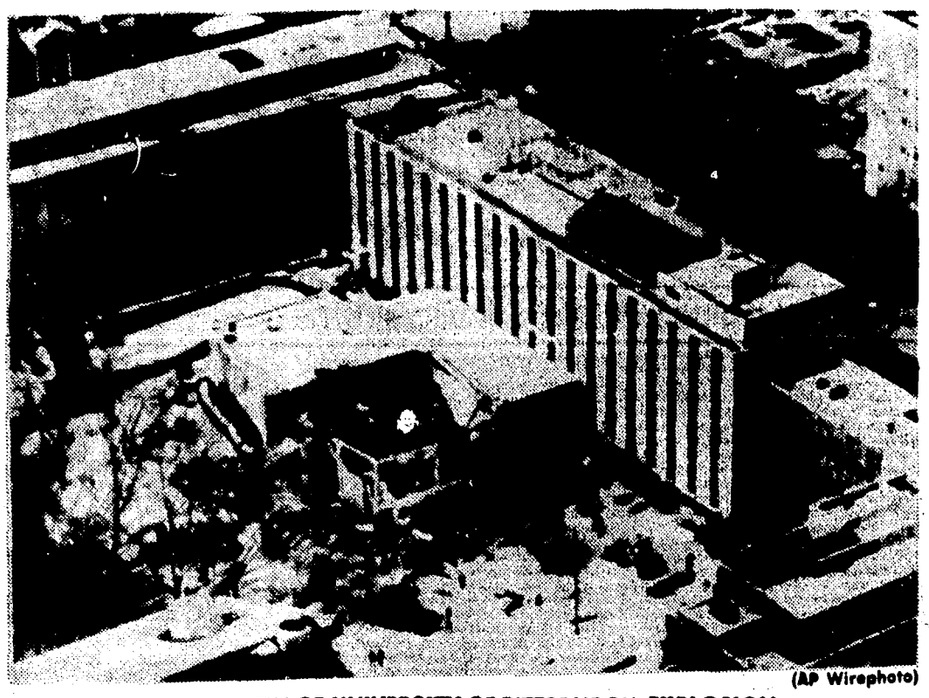

Seixas, who served as Salazar's bodyguard, spent nearly three years in jail awaiting trial. He denied all charges.

Pleading illness, Seixas asked to be taken back to Caxias military prison, five miles west of Lisbon, during the adjournment before sentencing.

Seixas was arrested, along with 1,300 other PIDE agents, after the military coup.

He will serve 4½ more years in prison and pay a small fine.

Only a handful of the 1,300 secret police agents have yet to be tried. Most have been freed or fled the country.

and he didn't believe a bomb was involved.

Miss Aug said there were about 100 students in a life sciences class in the building, but she said their professor saw them all escape after the blast. An undetermined number of persons were also in other rooms and labs in the building.

At least four hospitals were receiving patients from the blast site, and the Central Blood Bank made an urgent call for blood. The bank's supplies have been depleted due to injuries in severe winter weather.

Rescue teams moved in almost immediately with large cranes to lift debris in the search for possible victims.

Langley Hall, about 10-15 years old, is connected to two other buildings, all three were evacuated and closed off.

The Allegheny County Coroner identified those killed as Patricia Hostetler, 20, of Donegal, Pa., and Carleen Curry, 35, of Pittsburgh.

Scudder Kidnap

and Sellers could be paroled now in approximately seven years, depending on how Beacon sentences them.

Quigley said Sellers could be sentenced under the "youthful offender" status of the state's penal code, and therefore could be released after serving only six months.

The pair has been incarcerated in the county jail since their arrest last Aug. 20.

Scudder, an heir to the Laura Scudder potato chip fortune, was kidnaped in the early afternoon of Aug. 19 after a visit to his dentist in Huntington Beach.

He testified during the trial that Sellers pointed a gun at him and demanded that he enter a motor home where he was gagged and blind-folded with a ski cap.

He testified that he knew there were two men in the motor home, but he said he could not identify Wesson, a longtime friend, because of the blindfold and the fact that the abductors took his eye glasses.

Scudder, 64, of Newport Beach, said he escaped from the kidnapers after one of the men (apparently Wesson) left the motorhome to make a $250,000 ransom call to Scudder's wife Valerie.

Scudder said he faked a heart attack during a drive through Orange County, and then grappled briefly with Sellers after the motor home was brought to a halt. He said he was sprayed with mace before tumbling out of the vehicle.

Evidence introduced during the trial revealed that Scudder had seven teeth knocked out during the episode, and suffered a severe gash on his head which required stitching.

Scudder said he was injured during the scuffle with Sellers.

But Quigley asserted throughout the lengthy trial that Scudder was a willing kidnap victim because he was seeking adventure and excitment.

Both Wesson and Sellers testified in their own behalf that Scudder agreed to kidnaping and was completely cooperative until he suddenly started fighting with Sellers.

Sellers testified that Scudder suffered his injuries when he suddenly stopped the motor home and Scudder smashed his face into an overhanging cupboard.

Scudder, called as a rebuttal witness by prosecutor Bill Morrisey, denied those allegations.

Quigley said following the verdict that he was not disappointed with the judge or the jury, but that he was "disappointed with the outcome."

Carter Inauguration

the new vice president, he reviewed the parade.

Ford, whom Carter praised as a healer, acknowledged a final round of cheers at the Capitol and then, by presidential helicopter and jetliner, flew to political retirement.

Except for three knots of demonstrators, off the route of the parade Carter led, it was a day of harmony and of the unity the new President sought.

Carter said he had decided three weeks ago to break tradition and walk, not ride but told only the Secret Service. "They said it was all right as long as we kept it quiet," he said.

Sons Jack, Jeff and Chip walked, too, and daughter Amy, 9, joined the procession for the last four blocks, walking between her parents, holding a hand on each side.

From their solar-heated reviewing stand, behind a panel of bullet-proof glass, the Carters took the salute of the inaugural parade, a two-hour procession of floats, bands and marching units from every state. A 40-foot peanut shaped balloon brought up the rear.

"I thought I'd look around," Carter said afterward, as he and Rosalynn strolled into the executive mansion. "I never have seen it.

"It's been just about a perfect day for me, an exhilerating day," Carter said.

At mid-evening, the Carters began a tour of seven inaugural parties held in Washington hotels, an armory, an old office building and the National Visitors Center.

"I want this evening of joy and friendship and caring for each other to last for the next four years," the new President told a cheering crowd of friends and supporters at the historic Pension Building. "What we do in this nation has no limit. The only limit is the one we put on ourselves."

Carter wore a tuxedo to the round of parties, and his wife was clad in the same blue dress she wore for his inaugural as governor of Georgia in 1971.

And the first words he spoke as president were words of thanks to the departing Ford "for all he has done to heal our land."

Carter, James Earl Jr. by birth, Jimmy by preference, spoke of his hopes and goals for the four years now beginning, for "a new dedication within our government, and a new spirit among us all ...

"Two centuries ago, our nation's birth was a milestone in the long quest for freedom, but the bold and brilliant dream which excited the founders of our nation still awaits its consummation," he said. "I have no new dream to set forth today, but rather urge a fresh faith in the old spirit."

His inaugural address was a spare, 12-minute summons of hope, not an agenda or blueprint. If slogan there was, it was a simple one, as Carter spoke of a new spirit abroad in America and the world.

From this platform of plywood, planks and wooden columns, erected in front of the Capitol for an hour's use, Carter spoke again the theme he had sounded from a thousand stages in his long quest for the office that now is his.

"Our government must at the same time be both competent and compassionate," he said.

He promised an administration of quiet strength, "so sufficient that it need not be proven in combat ...

"We will be ever vigilant and never vulnerable, and we will fight our wars against poverty, ignorance and injustice, for those are the enemies against which our forces can be honorably marshaled," he said.

A crowd of about 150,000 people assembled in the cold of the Capitol plaza to watch as Carter became the 39th president, and to salute the 38th.

Seven times, applause interrupted the brief inaugural address, never louder than when Carter began:

"For myself and our nation, I want to thank my predecessor for all he has done to heal our land."

Carter turned to shake hands with Ford.

Ford took his final leave of the White House to escort Carter to the Capitol, and to applaud with the other leaders of government as the new president looked to the future.

"You have given me a great responsibility – to stay close to you, to be worthy of you and to exemplify what you are," Carter said. "Let us create together a new national spirit of unity and trust. Your strength can compensate for my weakness, and your wisdom can help to minimize my mistakes.

"Let us learn together and laugh together and work together and pray together, confident that in the end we will triumph together in the right."

By Carter's decree, it was a people's inaugural. By Carter's decision, the throngs lining Pennsylvania Avenue for the inaugural parade saw their new President march by, smiling and waving, on his way to the White House, a mile and a half from the Capitol.

Not for him the customary limousine, although the program had called for him to ride, not walk, until the procession was two blocks from the mansion.

That mood was served, too, by Carter's attire, a vested, navy blue suit instead of the formal dress some presidents have chosen for inauguration day. Mrs. Carter wore a navy blue dress and blue-green coat.

Carter's day began with prayer. Then, at mid-morning he strolled with his wife across Pennsylvania Avenue, from Blair House to the White House, for a 40-minute coffee with the Fords.

Together, the new President and the old rode to the Capitol for the transfer of office.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale was sworn in first, by House Speaker Thomas W. O'Neill.

Then Carter stepped solemnly to his place, and Mrs. Carter held a family Bible.

"Are you prepared to take the oath of office?" said Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

"I am," said Carter.

And he repeated after Burger the one oath prescribed by the Constitution.

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.

"So help me God."

Susan McGovern said that Clover, a West Highlands white terrier, was her first dog "and that's why we're here."

"The magic word to remember," trainer Dorsman continued to advise, is 'good.' After that, smile and give lots of praise. This is how we train from the dog's point of view."

Rocheile Reichenthal, whose dog Jumbo was the smallest of the 10 in the training group, said her goals were more modest.

"I would just like him to understand that he's a dog," she said.

Florida Produce Profits Freeze Solid On Vines

MIAMI – South Florida's bitterest cold wave in 19 years has apparently caused severe economic damage in most of the state's prime agricultural areas, but its effect in dollar terms may not be certain for several days.

Still, early estimates by farming sources created a bleak picture, with talk of losses ranging from hundreds of thousands of dollars into the millions.

A Miami food broker said that within a week's time, consumers would begin to pay higher market prices.

"I just checked the price of fresh green beans," he said. "They were $8 a bushel a few days ago, and today they were $15 a bushel," he said Thursday.

He also predicted that the quality would be inferior while availability declined and prices rose – again because of the cold.

Citrus crops, as of Wednesday, had not been severely damaged, but two more days of serious cold, as predicted by weather forecasters, could quickly inflate the prices of oranges, grapefruit and limes.

One thing seemed certain – northerners aren't going to be buying as much Florida produce as usual this year.

"Those folks up in the Northeast who are used to eating those nice Florida spring vegetables are going to be just out of luck because there just aren't going to be any," said Richard Van Brackle, spokesman for the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

Tom Gartland, president of 5,000-acre Hobe Groves, said a broker told him the price of frozen orange juice concentrate will increase by 80 per cent.

It's a different story for those growing flowers, house plants and nursery plants. That's big business in Martin County, Fla. where Ed Miller's 77 acres of chrysanthemums, foliage and nursery plants were wiped out.

"It gets into hundreds of thousands of dollars," Miller said.

South of Miami, Gary Schackelford bent over rows of destroyed tomato plants blackening in the sun.

"If it keeps up, there won't be anything left," he aaid. "This place looks like a graveyard."

Farmers became despondent after predictions of more freezing temperatures Thursday night and cold continuing into the weekend.

Several farmers hired helicopters at $250 an hour each to fly over pole bean fields to create downdrafts. They had hoped to trap warmer air radiating from the ground and force it back down.

But the efforts of the helicopters, flying at 40 miles an hour with rotor blades a foot wide and 37 feet long, were in vain.

Herman Lucerne, manager and owner of Grove Services Inc., one of the largest lime, avocado and mango growers in South Dade County, said that about 85 per cent of the lime crop was destroyed. South Dade produces 95 per cent of the limes used in this country.

Lucerne estimated that he would lose from 40 to 60 per cent of this summer's crop of avocados.

Lucerne said many of the growers tried to protect their trees from freezing by using overhead irrigation – spraying water on the trees to raise ground temperature a few degrees.

The effort proved ruinously counterproductive. It was so cold that the water turned to ice, bearing down upon and breaking off many branches – which now will bear no fruit.

Cold Wave

cause the cold has caused cutbacks in fuel supplies.

A gas line break caused by the cold weather resulted in the fourth consecutive morning that a large number of Cabot Gas Co. customers in southern West Virginia found themselves without heat. A company spokesman in Charleston estimated that between 1,000 and 4,000 families were without heat in temperatures hovering just above zero.

Officers said 89-year-old Charles H. Mathias Sr. apparently froze to death in his home near Rockingham, Va., during the night. Officers said they found matches and kerosene near the body and assumed he was trying to build a fire when he lost consciousness.

The Coast Guard officially closed the Mississippi River for 160 miles between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., due to heavy ice including a 12-mile-long ice jam in the area of Cairo and Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The Coast Guard said at least 50 towboats and 350 barges were locked in the ice and at least three barges had sunk.

Heavy ice also forced the Coast Guard to close Sandy Hook Channel, main entrance to New York Harbor, to all shipping. A spokesman said heavy chunks of ice moved by ebb tides had dragged buoys from their channel-marking places.

The winter navigation season on the Great Lakes ended officially Thursday as the last three freighters in Lake Superior were escorted through the Soo Locks by the Coast Guard ice breaker Mackinaw.

Suspension of shipping on the Great lakes marked the first time the lakes have been closed since an all-year policy was begun in 1974.

8 Cabinet Nominees Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) – Less than six hours after Jimmy Carter became the 39th President of the United States, the Senate Thursday confirmed the appointments of eight Cabinet nominees and two other top administration officials.

However, three other Cabinet nominees will have to wait longer for confirmation because they are opposed by some senators.

The names of the eight successful nominees were called up one by one and the question asked, "Will the Senate advise and consent on this nomination?" Approval of each was by voice vote.

They were Cyrus Vance as secretary of state; Harold Brown, defense; W. Michael Blumenthal, treasury; Bob Bergland, agriculture; Juanita Kreps, commerce; Patricia Roberts Harris, housing and urban development; Cecil Andrus, interior; Brock Adams, transportation; Charles Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Thomas B. Lance, director of the White House Office of Management and Budget.

After acting on the 10 nominations, the Senate recessed until Monday, when it will take up the appointment of Joseph Califano to be secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and then begin debate on the nomination of F. Ray Marshall to be secretary of labor.

Eight hours was set aside on Tuesday for debate on the nomination of Griffin B. Bell to be attorney general.

panel returned guilty verdicts on charges that Miss Yoshimura possessed an explosive, a machine gun and materials with the intent to make a destructive device.

Miss Yoshimura, who appeared calm and impassive as the verdict was announced, could be sentenced to up to 15 years in prison. But the count on which the jury deadlocked carried a five years to life imprisonment penalty.

The verdicts came after an 11-hour day of deliberations.

Ford Tearful

early days. This time the staff fixed it," said Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Ford also conducted a last-minute flurry of presidential actions, ranging from drought disaster designations for California and Utah to recommendations to Congress to keep working for nuclear arms limitation and arms control agreements with Russia.

At the breakfast, he listened as Vice President Nelson Rockefeller credited him with "the restoration of faith" and pride to the country.

He left the Oval Office for the final time at 9:40 a.m. As he departed, he gave Nell Yates, a staff member, a farewell kiss. She burst into tears.

The last mementoes decorating the Oval Office – photos of the Ford family – then were removed as the President and his wife, Betty, walked out to the front portico to greet Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter.

Ford had had none of the celebration that accompanied Carter's swearing-in. Ford assumed the Presidency after the scandals of Watergate and the resignation of President Nixon. He took the oath of office in a solemn ceremony in the East Room of the White House on Aug. 9, 1974.

After coffee, the two couples rode in a motorcade to the Capitol for Carter's swearing-in.

"You be praying for me," the President told Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill while walking out of the White House for the final time as chief executive.

Though he looked grim and sad at times, Ford also displayed warmth and humor in his farewells. At the Capitol inaugural stand, he greeted former Vice President Hubert Humphrey by saying, "Hello, Hubert, you look great."

He asked incoming Vice President Walter F. Mondale, "Can you sleep on a plane?" Mondale replied with a grin, "I'm going to find out."

Ford also inquired of another participant in the cold outdoor ceremony if he was wearing thermal underwear.

Carter addressed his first remarks of his inaugural speech to Ford.

"For myself and our nation," Carter said, "I want to thank my predecessor for all he has done to heal our land."

Ford rose to acknowledge the applause that followed and said, "Thank you."

After the ceremony, Ford departed the Capitol grounds by helicopter. At his request, the aircraft made a swing around downtown Washington for a last aerial view of the White House and Capitol where he had served since coming to Congress in 1948.

At Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland, an honor guard from all of the military services gave a farewell salute to the outgoing commander-in-chief with trumpet fanfares and a 21-gun salute. Ford reviewed the troops for the final time.

There was no planned campaign-style farewell at the air base, as some other Presidents have had. But some White House staffers joined the crowd of about 500 who waved and cheered good-by to the Fords.

'Thanks Jerry and Betty," and "Goodbye and good luck" read signs that were held aloft.

Ford and his wife climbed the steps to the government jetliner, then the couple turned to wave at the crowd.

The Fords entered the plane, the door was shut, the aircraft taxied to the runway. And with a burst of jet noise, the plane hurtled down the runway, lifted off and disappeared into the blue skies toward California .

Ford's tenure as President had ended.

Church Guard Beans Burglar With Ball Bat

COSTA MESA – A church night watchman hit by a flashlight-swinging burglar Thursday retaliated by hitting back with a baseball bat, police said.

Donald Wayne Patterson, 21, of Costa Mesa, was arrested on suspicion of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said the night watchman found him inside the Assembly of God Church, 740 W. Wilson St., kicking down doors. Patterson fled and the night watchman, identified as John C. Blansett, 27, of Costa Mesa, caught him outside the church, according to police. Patterson then began hitting Blansett with the flashlight he was carrying, police said.

Blansett then hit Patterson with a baseball bat, investigators said.

Police, who arrived shortly after the altercation, said $76 of church money was found on Patterson. The suspect was arrested and taken to Costa Mesa Memorial Hospital and later transferred to UCI Medical Center where he was undergoing treatment.

Catholic Schools Defy Apartheid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) – Roman Catholic schools, defying apartheid laws, have opened their doors to all races, prompting government threats Thursday to close the schools.

Five private Catholic schools in the Johannesburg area, two in Port Elizabeth in the Cape province and two in Windhoek, South-West Africa, admitted about 80 black, Indian or mixed race students.

The administrator of the Cape Province, L.A. Munnik, said that unless the schools meet the requirement that they teach only European-origin children, the withdrawal of their registration and the closing of schools enrolling nonwhite pupils would be considered.

In a statement, Munnik said: "It has come to my attention via press reports that two private schools in Port Elizabeth, registered for European pupils with this administration, have admitted non-European children in the past few days."

The Holy Rosary Convent in Port Elizabeth admitted 32 black and mixed race girls. One pupil of mixed race – or colored, in South African usage – was enrolled at St. Dominicus Priory.

In Johannesburg, where 40 nonwhites were enrolled, the Irish-born principal of St. Catherine's Convent, Sister Feehan, said the convent was "merely following the teachings of Christ to whom the color of children's skins means nothing."

The Catholic move violates a number of apartheid laws, including the Group Areas Act which specifies where races can live, the Separate Amenities Act, which designates public facilities for each race, and various local school ordinances.

Referring to the Port Elizabeth schools, Munnik said they are registered under law with the provincial administration and one condition to which they are subject reads: "Only European teaching staff shall be used for the instruction of European pupils. No non-European pupil may be admitted to a school for European pupils."

Neither parents nor children made any public fuss about the new classmates. Sharon Ladler, 13, of St. Catherine's, said: "The colored girls are nice. I don't mind going to the same school. I'm not sure what my parents think."

Last year in Cape Town, the Dominican order admitted some mixed race pupils to test pupil and parent reaction, apparently without the knowledge of authorities.

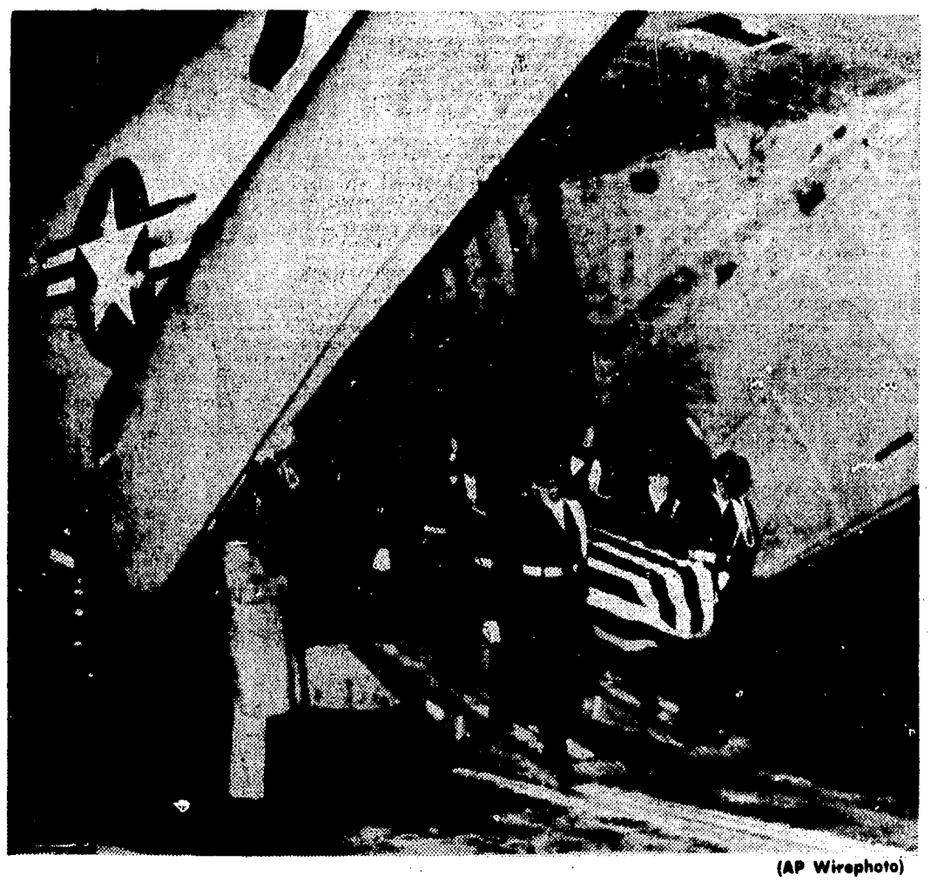

About 45,000 pupils, or 5 per cent of the nation's white students, are in private schools. The government spends about $550 per year on each white student and $50 per year per black student.

Until the mid-1950s, blacks were instructed in separate missionary schools. Separate schools for different races became law after the National party came to power in 1948. The Bantu Education Act of 1953 put the schooling of blacks under government control, although private schools were allowed to continue operating in black areas.

The Catholic church had schools for whites in the cities and suburbs and other schools for blacks in the African townships built in segregated areas.

The schools that admitted nonwhites Wednesday, the first day of classes for whites, were located in metropolitan areas where whites live. It was the first time a large and organized group has attempted to open a crack in the apartheid wall built by the government around the country's 4.5 million whites.

Among the nation's 18 million blacks there are about five million students in government schools. Figures for blacks in other schools were not readily available.

RETURNING HOME – An Air Force honor guard escorts the remains of one of the military men killed Monday when a Navy launch collided with a Spanish freighter in the harbor at Barcelona, Spain. The Navy said 46 were known dead in the mishap, with three still reported missing. Five of the victims arrived Thursday on a C-141 at Dover (Del.) Air Force Base.

Ford Shows Emotion At Cinderella Hour

'You Can't Help Being A Little Sentimental'

MONTEREY (AP) – "I don't deny I got a little sentimental," said Gerald Ford, his eyes clouding over. "I tried not to expose it, to keep it within myself.

"But we've had 2½ great years and you can't help but be a little emotional and sentimental."

A pause.

"I'm human like everybody else," said Ford. He was now a private citizen, but not like everybody else. And never would be.

It was a few hours after affairs of state became Jimmy Carter's concern; after a last, sentimental circling over the capital; and after a poignant leave-taking with 21-gun salute military honor guard and crowds come to say goodby.

Jerry Ford was flying westward Thursday to take part in a celebrity golf tournament. But more, away from Washington, away from decisions, away from pressure and away from scrutiny of everything but his golf score.

"We had prepared ourselves," he said of the personal transition he and his wife Betty were making. "We certainly took the attitude that our time had ended and President Carter's time had begun.

"I said to him that we wished him the very best, that I was available to help. If he wanted to call me, please feel free – we would do whatever we could to be beneficial."

Did he indicate that he would be calling you? The presidential word weighing returned momentarily. "I don't think I should make any comment on that."

The trappings of power woven around Ford for 2½ years did not unravel at the Cinderella hour of noon decreed by the Constitution.

The helicopter ride to Andrews Air Force Base ... the Secret Service escort ... the troops ... the booming howitzers ... the ruffles and flourishes ... instant departure on boarding ... the Ford family pictures decorating the walls of the airplane ... the Signal Corps technician ready to place an airborne call to anywhere ... the privilege of taking two dogs aboard and allowing them to roam....

There were tears in Ford's eyes this day. There were tears in his wife's.

"The only time that I really felt emotionally, perhaps upset, was when we left the Capitol," she said. "Because after all, Jerry and I were married in October (1948) and he was elected in November and our whole married life has been spent at the Capitol."

And leaving the White House?

"Naturally, we loved it and we enjoyed every minute we were there, but I think it was time to go."

The Fords came back to talk with a handful of reporters who flew west with them aboard the presidential aircraft that is known as Air Force One, when the President is aboard. This day it was just another Boeing 707.

Ford had been asked how he prepared himself for leaving. Now it was Betty's turn.

"There are lot of First Ladies," she said.

"She gave me a hard time," said her husband. They laughed, and hugged.

The traditional 10-minute ride from the White House to the inaugural platform at the Capitol, incoming and outgoing presidents side by side, intrigues historians. What did the two men, the victorious and the defeated, talk about?

"It was mainly just very nice pleasantries, small talk," said Ford.

Carter's inaugural address?

"I thought it was good. I thought it hit the right tone and I naturally was very grateful for his opening comment and kind remarks."

Carter had opened his inaugural speech by thanking "my predecessor for all he has done to heal our land."

Did we see tears? The former president was asked.

"If you didn't see them I'm not going to comment on them."

In his final days as president, Ford had tossed out the word "maybe" at least three times, each one a tantalizing reference to make one think he might run again. How serious is the 'maybe,' looking down the road four years?

"We've got a lot of things to do between now and then," said Citizen Ford. "I just want people to do a little thinking and speculating. I don't want anyone to move in and preempt the field without thinking they'll have a challenge from an old timer who's got the spirit."

After Ford had gone forward into his cabin, Mrs. Ford said she didn't want him to run again.

"No, emphatically no," she said. "Twenty-eight years is a good number for public service."

There were cheers, and tears, and hugs when the Fords left Washington and the crowds there to see him off made it seem more like a presidential arrival than a non-presidential departure. And it was the same when, 5-1/2 hours later, Ford landed at the Monterey Peninsula Airport. The crowd was even bigger there.

It was just as if the presidential days had not ended.

Gandhi Lifts Emergency Rule Prior To Elections

NEW DELHI, India (AP) – Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government restored key democratic rights Thursday after 19 months of stern emergency rule – ordering the release of political prisoners, lifting press censorship and revoking a ban on public rallies.

The government said the decisions were taken to speed the revival of political normalcy as the country prepares for parliamentary elections in March.

Even before the series of announcements, four non-Communist opposition parties made known that they had buried their political differences to form a united front against Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party in the coming elections.

The government announcements, just two days after Mrs. Gandhi's pledge to permit the revival of legitimate political activity, amount to a major dismantling of the emergency apparatus set up in June 1975. The government suspended civil liberties at that time to meet what Mrs. Gandhi described as a threat to internal order following her conviction on election fraud charges.

In an order sent to all states, the government told local authorities to expedite the release of political prisoners held under the Maintenance of Internal Security Act, the main weapon used to detain persons without trial for up to two years. The government also said the security act should be used in the future only in exceptional cases.

There was no official disclosure of how many political prisoners would be freed, but opposition political sources claimed the release order would affect several thousand of rank-and-file party members. Most opposition leaders were released in the past few months.

The end of censorship on the nation's press represented one of the most dramatic actions symbolizing the relaxation of the emergency.

The government invoked censorship in the first hours of the emergency on June 26, 1975, and opposition leaders later acknowledged that the rigid press restrictions had done more than anything else to crush vocal dissent against Mrs. Gandhi's rule.

Newspapers were barred from publishing items that could "denigrate the institution of the prime minister" or "bring into hatred or contempt the government established by law in the country."

During the emergency, the government gradually let newspapers censor themselves, but until Thursday's action editors were still subject to periodic prepublication orders and advisories from the censor.

Former Deputy Prime Minister Morarji Desai made the confident announcement of formation of the new Janta – People's political party. "We hope to win a thumping majority, not just a small majority," he said.

The 80-year-old Desai, who was released from prison two days ago after being detained since June 1975, said the Janta party would put up a single slate of candidates in the various parliamentary constituencies to ensure that their supporters' vote was not split.

The tactic is designed to limit the chances of Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party winning the elections by a mere plurality of votes, as has happened in the five previous general elections held since independence in 1947.

A Staggering Blow: Penalty Fees Uniform

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Those long first-of-the-year lines at the Department of Motor Vehicles are gone this year, but so are graduated penalties for late registration.

Now it costs 50 per cent of your fees for being late, no matter how late you are.

Motor Vehicle Director Herman Sillas warned Thursday that the law which provided for staggered registration dates also abolished the graduated penalties.

If you're late, the only incentive to register as soon as possible is that you might get a ticket for driving an unregistered vehicle.

Under the old law, which required everybody to renew registration at the start of the year, there was a 10 per cent penalty for being up to 30 days late. After 30 days it was 100 per cent of the $11 registration fee and 50 per cent of the license fee.

UMO Told To Halt Money Order Sale

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The state Superintendent of Banks Thursday ordered a financially troubled Culver City firm to stop selling money orders immediately and to return the funds its agents have collected to the California Banking Department.

Superintendent Carl Schmitt issued the order to the estimated 700 agents of Universal Money Order Company (UMO).

The action followed the seizure of the firm's California assets by the department Jan. 12. UMO is an affiliate of a New York firm, International Express Co., which encountered financial difficulties in that state. International Express filed bankruptcy proceedings in New York shortly after the seizure of UMO's assets here.

The collapse of the parent firm left thousands of UMO customers with money orders which cannot be honored, Schmitt said. He proposed a legislative package to "protect Californians in the future from the type of consequences which resulted from UMO's financial difficulties" and said the department was pressing for the reimbursement of UMO's California customers while the bankruptcy proceedings of the parent firm are under way.

Schmitt's proposed legislation would require a large bond to be posted by all money order firms doing business in the state and would establish an insurance pool funded by assessments of money order companies to protect customers in case of future bankruptcies.

Second Suspect Held In Blast Of LA Aqueduct

INDEPENDENCE (AP) – A 20-year-old former resident of Lone Pine was arrested Thursday in connection with a dynamite explosion at the Alabama Gate of the Los Angeles aqueduct Sept. 14, sheriff's deputies said.

Robert James Howe, of Lander, Wyo., formerly of Lone Pine, was booked for investigation of two counts of burglary, one count of possessing an explosive device and one count of intimidating a witness, said Inyo County Sheriff Floyd O. Barton.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES—13

Give Close Attention To All Contributions

By RAY De CRANE

Of course you will list as charitable contributions on your tax return whatever you gave to your church, synagogue or favorite charity.

But if you stop there you may be cheating yourself.

Don't forget also to include payments to Community Chest or Red Feather agencies – it makes no difference if they were a payroll deduction or an out-of-pocket payment, as well as contributions to war veterans' groups, civil defense organizations, payments to a building fund for an educational institution or for scientific, literary purposes, or to an organization dedicated to the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.

In addition to your cash layouts, did you contribute clothing, furniture or appliances to a qualifying charitable organization? If you did, and you have an appraisal from the organization on the value of your gifts, list that among your contributions.

In the absence of an appraisal, list the fair market value of the merchandise contributed. By this is meant what you could expect to receive for it in a private sale. For your own protection, be conservative in this estimate.

A volunteer worker for a charitable organization also could have a deduction that could be claimed here. This could include transportation expenses at the rate of seven cents a mile for the use of your own car, the cost of required uniforms and their laundering, plus reasonable charges for lunches, parking fees and toll charges incurred while performing such volunteer work.

(NEXT: Losses and miscellaneous deductions.)

Astronomers Confirm Existence Of Water Beyond Earth's Galaxy

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) – Astronomers using a giant West German radio-telescope have confirmed for the first time the existence of water outside the earth's galaxy, according to the Max Planck Scientific Society.

The discovery by the society's Institute for Radio-Astronomy strengthened the possibility that planets resembling earth may exist in the universe's other spiral galaxies beyond the Milky Way.

The scientists used the Effelsberg radio-telescope in the Eifel Mountains near Bonn to pinpoint a cloud of water vapor about 2.2 million light years from earth. They located it in a nebula known as "IC 133," on the edge of a spiral galaxy called "M 33."

Radio signals emanating from the extragalactic water molecules were unusually strong, the scientific society said.

The Effelsberg radio-telescope utilizes a dish-shaped antenna about 100 yards in diameter.

The society said the scientists used a new technique to suppress natural disturbances from electronic components of the huge dish antenna. Helium was used to cool the system down to minus 432 degrees Fahrenheit, quadrupling the antenna's sensitivity.

Cities In Egypt Quiet After 45 Die In Riots

CAIRO (AP) – Egyptian cities quieted down Thursday after two days of bloody rioting over price increases on food and other products. The riots left 45 dead and many injured.

Army paratroopers patrolled districts in the capital, where the government reduced a nightime curfew by three hours as conditions improved.

Alexandria, 126 miles north of Cairo, and other cities where there were disturbances also were reported calm.

Some uneasiness was visible near bakeries as people crowded around to get bread but there were no disturbances.

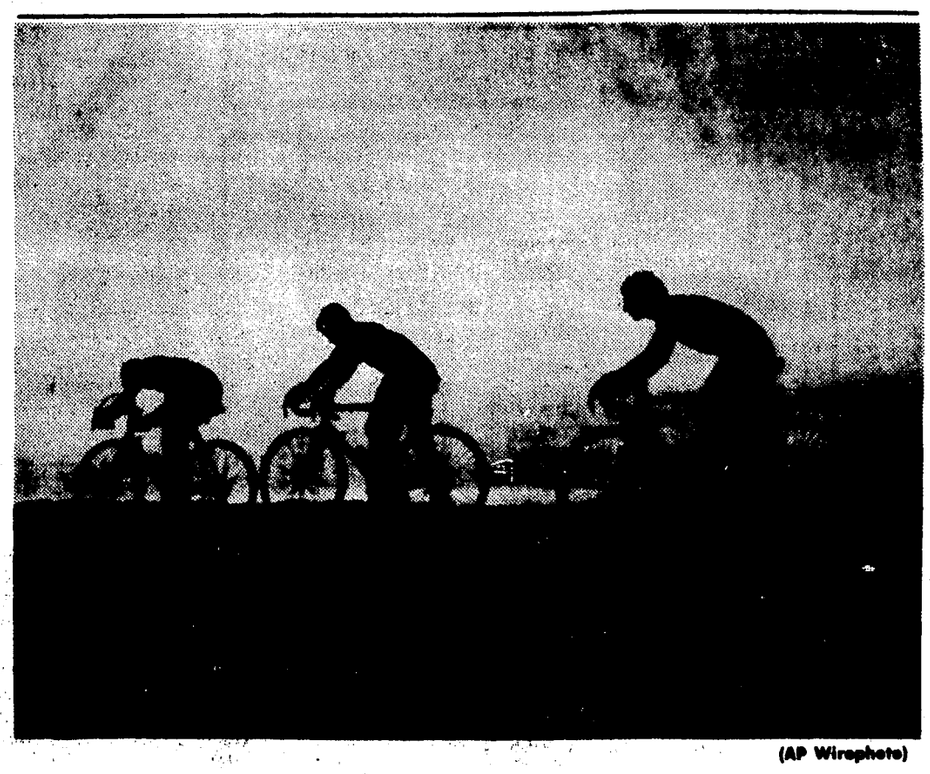

The Ministry of Interior said it still was compiling figures of dead, injured and arrested. But police sources said at least 40 persons were killed in Cairo and 250 injured. They said five persons were killed in Alexandria and 132 wounded.

Newspapers reports said 439 persons were arrested, among them many leftists and Communists that the Ministry of Interior charged were responsible for a plot "to burn Cairo."

The newspapers said the arrested Communists included three university students believed to be members of a secret organization called the "Egyptian Communist Workers party." The group was reported financed by "extremist parties" in some Arab countries.

A plan for activities by the three Communist students during the disturbances was found in their possession, in addition to thousands of antigovernment pamphlets, the reports added.

President Anwar Sadat, who returned from the winter resort of Aswan because of the crisis, met with Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem, but the official Middle East News Agency and Cairo radio gave no details of their discussions.

Singer Jerry Lee Lewis Hospitalized; Van Houten Venue Change Nixed

Singer JERRY LEE LEWIS, 41, is expected to be in the hospital for about a week recovering from surgery for removal of his gallbladder. The 55-minute operation, performed by Dr. Leslie Shumake in Memphis, was completed satisfactorily, said hospital administrator Tharon Lee. Lewis has been in Doctors hospital since Monday.

LESLIE VAN HOUTEN, claiming her legal rights were prejudiced by a prosecutor's best-selling book on the Manson murders, was refused a change of venue Thursday for her retrial in Los Angeles on two of the notorious killings. Superior Court Judge E. Talbot Callister issued his ruling after Maxwell Keith, attorney for the former Charles Manson follower, argued that the book, "Helter Skelter," and a subsequent televised movie biased the public against the 27-year-old Miss Van Houten. "It cast Leslie in a very false light," Keith said of the movie derived from the book. "It depicts her as a very depraved, malevolent young lady, an unrepentant murderer. That's not fair. She is back here for retrial and she is presumed innocent."

In addition to her bodyguards, PATRICIA HEARST is reported to have a trained German shepherd named "Arrow" to keep her company. The San Francisco Chronicle said Thursday she took the dog home recently after it received two week's training at the home of former San Mateo County deputy sheriff Robert Outman. The story said the newspaper-heiress, who is free on $1.25 million bail while she awaits the results of the appeal of her bank robbery conviction, attended the canine obedience classes with several other dog owners.

A jury of seven men and five women was selected Thursday in Cincinnati after eight days of challenges in the obscenity trial of Hustler magazine publisher LARRY FLYNT and three others. Lawyers for both sides were to spend today selecting alternate jurors. Opening arguments were expected to follow. Flynt; his wife, ALTHEA LEASURE FLYNT; his brother, JIMMY R. FLYNT, and circulation manager AL VAN SCHAIK are charged with engaging in organized crime and pandering obscenity. Hustler, a men's magazine published in Columbus, Ohio, distributes 1,448,000 copies monthly, according to the most recently audited circulation figures.

President Carter has chosen CLIFFORD L. ALEXANDER JR., a 43-year-old Washington black attorney, to be secretary of the Army. Being nominated as the secretary of the Navy in the incoming administration is GRAHAM WILLIAM CLAYTOR JR., 61, board chairman of the Southern Railway Co. Other nominations announced included THOMAS B. ROSS, 47, who until recently was chief of the Washington bureau of the Chicago Sun-Times, to be assistant secretary of defense for public affairs. Alexander is the first black to be nominated to head one of the uniformed services. A graduate of Harvard University and Yale Law School, he served on the White House staffs of Democratic Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Sen. GAYLORD NELSON, D-Wis., was appointed to head a special Senate committee to draw up a code of ethics for senators. The Senate voted to establish the 15-member committee, which will have until March 1 to present a draft code to the full Senate. Senate Democratic Leader ROBERT C. BYRD of West Virginia appointed the eight Democrats on the committee. Besides Nelson they are Sen. ABRAHAM RIBICOFF of Connecticut, DANIEL INOUYE of Hawaii, THOMAS EAGLETON of Missouri, SAM NUNN of Georgia, DICK CLARK of Iowa, JOHN GLENN of Ohio and JOHN MELCHER of Montana.

when a lawyer suggested that at 67 she was too old to act regularly. Miss Sothern was testifying in a suit in Jacksonville, Fla., against former owners of the Thunderbird Motor Hotel where, the suit says, she was injured by a falling pole during a performance of "Everybody Loves Opal" at the motel's dinner theater on Aug. 15, 1973. Damages were not specified. The question that provoked the tears was, "Don't you feel that when a person reaches the age of 67, you should not expect to work as often as you did when you were younger?" "Acting is my life," she replied.

Exiled Soviet dissident VLADIMIR BUKOVSKY, visiting Leiden University in Amsterdam where he was invited to continue his biology studies, says he's still undecided about where to settle in the west. "First I want to see from which country I can best fight for Soviet political prisoners," said the 34-year-old Russian. University officials said Bukovsky would visit West Germany, Switzerland, France, Britain and the United States before he makes his decision. Bukovsky was exchanged Dec. 18 in Zurich for Chilean Communist party leader Luis Corvalan.

The University of Chicago has announced that outgoing U.S. Atty. Gen. EDWARD LEVI, former president of the university, will return there as Glen A. Lloyd Distinguished Service Professor of Law.

Country music singer JERRY JEFF WALKER was charged with running a red light, drunkenness and driving under the influence of drink after an accident on snow-covered streets. Walker, 34, told Memphis police he lost control of his car temporarily when he tried to stop on the snow. Police said Walker's car struck another auto at an intersection. He was released on $50 bond on each charge.

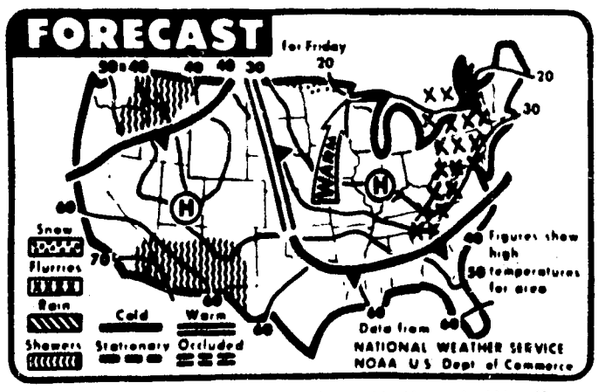

A movie sound man injured in a stagecoach accident at Lake Sherwood last month has filed a damage suit in Superior Court in Ventura against French movie director CLAUDE LELOUCH. DENNIS C. Stock Raisers Get Help

SACRAMENTO (AP) – President Ford declared a drought emergency in California Thursday, making livestock raisers in 23 counties eligible for federal money to help buy feed.

The government will pay eligible farmers half the cost of emergency feed they must buy, up to 20 cents a day per animal.

One cattleman said it means the government will pay about a quarter of the cost of feeding hay to range cattle, which now costs $89 to $105 a ton.

An estimated 10,000 California ranchers will be eligible for payments totaling about $16.5 million, said Bob Stevens, regional director of the federal Disaster Assistance Administration in San Francisco. He said it would help them feed more than 780,000 cattle and sheep.

Sierras Offer Some Skiing

By The Associated Press

For those skiers who don't demand the greatest, there is still plenty of activity on the slopes of the Sierras, with conditions ranging from good to marginal.

Here are the ski conditions as compiled Thursday by the California State Automobile Association:

Boreal Ridge – 12-36 inches, conditions good on packed powder and hard packed with obstacles. Three lifts in operation.

Sugar Bowl – 24-48 inches, good conditions on packed powder. Eight lifts operating.

North Star – 13-18 inches, rated marginal to adequate on spring conditions. Five lifts in operation.

Alpine Meadows – 22-34 inches, conditions are hardpacked turning soft. Seven lifts in operation.

Homewood – 16-20 inches top, 6-8 inches base. Conditions are fair with obstacles. Four lifts in operation.

Powder Bowl – 18-24 inches. Conditions good on packed snow, all lifts in operation.

Squaw Valley – 15-18 inches at 6200 feet, 36 inches at 8200 feet. Conditions good on packed powder and hard packed. Thin snow cover in places and some obstacles. 19 lifts in operation.

Heavenly Valley – 7-22 inches, conditions fair to good on packed and hard packed with obstacles. Ten lifts in operation.

Ski Incline – 26-36 inches, conditions fair to good on hardpacked and powder. Four lifts in operation.

Slide Mtn. – 6-20 inches, conditions fair with obstacles. One chair in operation.

Sierra Ski Ranch – 19 inches. Conditions good on spring skiing with two chairs operating.

Kirkwood Meadows – 13-22 inches. Conditions fair to good on hard packed and powder with obstacles. Five lifts in operation.

Bear Valley-Mt. Reba – 24 inches at top, 18 inches at base. Conditions are good on packed powder. Four double chairs in operation.

Dodge Ridge – 10-20 inches. Conditions are fair to good with all lifts in operation.

BUSINESS, UNION LEADERS CRITICAL

Brown Hit For Role In Dow Decision

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Some business and union leaders Thursday blamed Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. for Dow Chemical Co.'s decision to quit trying for state approval of a petrochemical plant.

On Wednesday, the firm said excessive red tape made it shelve its bid to win government okay for a $500 million plant in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta 40 miles south of Sacramento.

"We're very disappointed," said Tony Cannata, secretary-treasurer of the Contra Costa Central Labor Council.

"I think the governor is responsible. They may as well put out a sign that industry is not welcome in California."

Bill Press, Brown's planning and research director, denied the allegations against Brown, saying "the governor personally led the effort" by state agencies to give Dow's bid a fair hearing.

In another development, Atlantic Richfield Co., which owns land next to the Dow site, said it had not decided if it would still try for government approval of a $1 billion petrochemical plant there.

"We are taking a long hard look at the Dow Chemical announcement," ARCO spokesman Al Greenstein said in Los Angeles. "We have no intention of changing our own plans (because of Dow). Whatever action we take will be the result of our own business decisions."

The Democratic governor, who was out of the state Thursday attending President Jimmy Carter's inauguration, never took a stand on the proposed plant, which was strongly backed by unions and business.

On the other side, conservationists opposed the plant, saying it would damage air and water quality in the rural dry rolling hills area northeast of San Francisco.

The firm said it used up two years and $4 million in a battle for more than 60 state, local and federal permits, and in the end the cost was too much.

Dow's announcement of its decision mentioned Brown's effort to consolidate and speed up the state agencies' hearings late last year on the Dow application.

No decision had been reached by those state agencies when Dow announced its decision, but state officials said the decision would have been forthcoming in the next 70 days.

Those consolidated hearings and the Brown administration actions concerning the plant brought at least one cynical comment from a union lobbyist, who declined to be named.

"I think those hearings were a bunch of window dressing for the public," he snapped. "If the governor wanted that project to go, he would have got to those agencies and made it known."

The plant permit application before the San Francisco Air Pollution Control District had been rejected, but that ruling was under appeal.

Ted McHugh, the district's spokesman, defended the ruling Thursday, saying the district "acted properly in denying the Dow permit in accordance with the (federal) Clean Air Act."

On the topic of the Brown administration's role in the Dow matter, Bill Press, Brown's aide, said, "Where Brown could affect the process, he did. He has no jurisdiction over the Bay Area board or federal agencies" which also had to grant Dow permits."

Press acknowledged the permit process had become too lengthy and costly and that it was in need of "great improvement. It doesn't have to take forever to make good environmental decisions."

William Struble of the California Chamber of Commerce was critical of Brown's role.

"I wouldn't want to say you can pin this all on Gov. Brown because a lot of what has happened to Dow has been built up over a period of time.

"However, I think most of Dow's troubles have occurred during his administration, and I think the philosophy expressed by the governor and his people is hostile to this kind of business development," Struble said.

He paused and then added: "I am only too well aware the governor doesn't want to project that kind of image and he will tell you to the contrary."

Struble said the issue involved far more than the 1,000 employes Dow would have hired. He said the plant would have prompted much additional business in industries using its products and in firms supporting the employes' daily needs.

Assemblyman Paul Priolo, leader of the Assembly Republicans, criticized Brown's role on the Dow issue and referred to a meeting Brown had Wednesday with about 20 business executives in New York.

"After two years of anti-business, anti-growth, anti-job attitudes, he has a lot more jawboning ahead," Priolo said.

Jimmy Lee, head of the Building and Construction Trades Council of California, said Brown had tried to streamline the permit process.

But Lee said it was "disgusting" that the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board had denied the Dow permit and blocked the plant's construction.

Marine Charged In KKK Printing

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) – The U.S. Marine Corps says a Marine member of the Ku Klux Klan will be tried before a special courtmartial for printing KKK literature at government expense.

The Corps ordered the action this week against Pfc. Dennis L. Campbell, who was among a group of Marines admitting KKK membership after a racial brawl Nov. 13 brought presence of a Klan cell on base to light. The KKK members were targets of an attack by a group of black Marines who mistakenly assaulted another group of Marines living in the same barracks as the Klan members.

The marine corps said Campbell will be tried for using a government photocopier to produce racist literature and for illegal distribution of the material on base.

If found guilty, he could be reduced to private or given a bad conduct discharge, or could face six months at hard labor and forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay for six months.

Following the fight that sent six whites to the hospital, the Marine Corps uncovered the names of 17 alleged KKK members. At least 12 were transferred to other bases to ease racial tension at Pendleton.

Campbell, who had been sent to Cherry Point, N.C., was returned to Pendleton earlier this month to testify in pretrial hearings to determine what charges will be brought against black leathernecks, 14 of whom were arrested in the Nov. 13 incident.

Campbell and the other two KKK members called to testify were punished, with Campbell being fined $70, for taking a long weekend in San Diego and failing to appear at a hearing as ordered.

That happened earlier this month.

A base spokesman said no date has been set for Campbell's trial. The pretrial hearings for the black Marines have been underway for some weeks.

Kidnaped SF Man Found Safe; 4 Held

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) – A kidnaped grocer held for $400,000 ransom was found in a San Mateo motel Thursday and his four abductors arrested, the FBI and San Francisco police announced.

Officers broke into the motel and found one of the alleged kidnapers and Greg Mock, who was tied hand and foot with wire, blindfolded and gagged.

Charles Bates, special FBI agent in charge, said Mickie Chinn, 25, was arrested at the motel. He said the other three were arrested between midafternoon Wednesday and 10 p.m. Wednesday night.

He identified the men as Leland Kong, 23, Jerry E. Yee, 26, and Randall George Lau, 23. All are from San Francisco.

Mock was found asleep on a cot, as was his alleged kidnaper Chinn, at about 6:50 a.m. Thursday, nearly three days after he was whisked away at gunpoint from his Diamond Heights home.

Deputy Police Chief Clem DeAmicis said that Mock had been fed, but was weak. He suffered "considerable trauma," Bates said, but told authorities he "never saw anybody."

After his kidnap, Mock was taken and held temporarily in San Francisco.

HEW Chief Escapes Contempt Edict On Handicapped Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) – Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare David Mathews narrowly escaped a contempt of court citation on his last day in office, federal court sources said today.

A federal appeals court granted a last-minute delay Wednesday night that had the effect of holding the case over for Mathews' successor, Joseph A. Califano Jr.

The case involves a law passed by Congress in 1973 to protect the civil rights of the nation's 25 million handicapped citizens.

Mathews' department was charged with enforcing the law and drafting regulations specifying how it would withhold federal funds from any school, college, health agency or institution that discriminates against the handicapped.

A group of handicapped citizens, contending that the department was dragging its feet, went to court and obtained a decision last year ordering Mathews to promulgate the regulations without unreasonable delay.

On Tuesday, with the regulations prepared for his signature and with many staff members believing he would sign them as his last important official act, Mathews reversed course and announced he was sending the papers unsigned to Congress.

Mathews said he wanted the lawmakers to explain what they meant when they wrote the law.

Judge Rejects Plan To Use Sealed Bids For Irvine Co. Sale

By LARRY PETERSON
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Superior Court Judge James F. Judge Thursday rejected a proposal to settle a dispute over the future of the Irvine Co. with sealed bids.

First he turned down a plan offered by the firm's majority owner, the James Irvine Foundation, which is seeking court approval of a bid by Mobil Corp. to buy the entire company for $281.9 million in cash.

Then he refused to implement a different sealed-bids plan offered by Howard Friedman, attorney for minority company shareholder, Joan Irvine Smith.

Judge retains jurisdiction over disposition of the company following a 1975 court order which barred sale of the company pending the outcome of a 1974 lawsuit by Mrs. Smith against an earlier offer by Mobil to buy the company.

The foundation plan would have given two other potential buyers of the company until Feb. 18 to submit sealed bids. The bids would be kept secret and considered only if Judge refused to approve the Mobil offer.

Judge said he doubts that potential buyers would submit bids if the bids were to be considered only if he rejects the Mobil offer.

Mrs. Smith's proposal called for all parties to agree to abide by sealed bids. But the foundations and Mobil won't participate in sealed bidding unless that process is merely a backup method in case Judge rejects Mobil's current $281.9 million offer.

Judge said the Smith proposal would be "all right" if the foundation agreed to it, but added that it is not the job of the court to impose a method of settlement before trial of the case.

Friedman also asked Judge to order the foundation's law firm to reveal how much it has been paid to represent Mobil on other matters while working for the foundation in its dealings with Mobil.

Foundation lawyer Howard Privett conceded that his firm is representing Mobil on 11 other matters but claimed Friedman's request violates court-set trial guidelines.

Friedman has claimed, and Privett has denied, that the law firms work for Mobil represents a conflict of interest and hampers its chances of getting the best possible price for the company.

Judge is expected to rule on Friedman's request before the sale proposal trial resumes Jan. 31.

Mrs. Smith claims the Mobil offer is too low and that, if it is approved, she will be forced to sell her 22 per cent interest in the company against her will.

Kidnap Suspect Injured, Hostage Killed In Chase

LOS ANGELES (AP) – A running shootout through downtown streets has left an alleged kidnaper critically wounded and his hostage dead from police gunfire, authorities said Thursday.

One policeman was wounded by a bullet in the arm and three other officers were injured by flying glass in the 2½-mile chase in which more than 50 bullets were fired and six squad cars were damaged, police said.

The cross-town chase ended Wednesday when the suspected kidnap car, riddled with police bullets, crashed into another automobile.

The incident began when a man identified by police as Redentor A. Ayson, 39, of San Fernando, marched into a downtown medical clinic demanding to know the whereabouts of his wife. The clinic's manager, Ruben Cortez, 37, of Alhambra, was taken hostage and later killed during an exchange of gunfire with police, officers said.

An autopsy was to be performed to determine if the hostage was killed by the kidnaper or by police firing at the fleeing automobile, coroner's officials said.

But police announced that the hostage died from bullets fired by pursuing officers.

Lt. Charles Higbie told newsmen of the finding, saying the man received three shots to the head and one to the body.

"This is not the first nor is it going to be the last time that a hostage is fired at in such an incident," he added.

Police said Ayson had gone to the clinic where his estranged wife, Tina, formerly worked, demanding to know her whereabouts and claiming that several employes knew where she was.

Officers said when employes failed to tell Ayson where his wife was he became angry and returned to the clinic about 2 p.m. armed with a rifle and a handgun. He demanded to know where his wife was, tried to shoot a doctor but his gun misfired, then forced Cortez into a car, police said.

Ayson was held in the jail ward of County-USC medical Center in critical condition.

Campus System Officials Push For Higher Pay

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Officials of the 19-campus state University and Colleges system are campaigning for higher teacher pay raises than Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s offer of 2.2 per cent.

Brown's proposal in the 1977-78 budget is the lowest for any state employes except judges, whose salaries are frozen until July 1978. Other state workers would get 5 per cent.

Marjorie Downing Wagner, vice chancellor for faculty and staff of the state University and Colleges, met Wednesday with Marty Morgenstern, Brown's employe relations director, and Charles Gocke, top schooling aide in the governor's Finance Department.

Detroit Plans 'Garage Sale' To Raise Cash

DETROIT (AP) – Detroit's second "world's largest garage sale" is planned for April 13 and 14 at Cobo Hall.

This year, suburbs are being invited to bring their surplus furniture, equipment and miscellaneous junk to the huge sale in downtown Detroit.

The sale last year netted the city government about $92,000, with crowds lined up to get a chance at such things as old fire boxes, worn-out school clocks, machinery and antique claw-footed bathtubs.

Patti Knox, cochairman of the sale, said the invitation was being extended to the suburbs to give the city and its sattelites "an opportunity to work together."

Patrick Henry Gets Life Without Liberty

TROYES, France (AP) – A jury Thursday convicted 24 year-old French salesman Patrick Henry of the kidnap-slaying of a 7-year-old boy but in a surprise move said he should be imprisoned for life, not executed by guillotine.

His attorney had called the death penalty a "bloody ritual from another age" that neither deters crime nor eases the suffering of the victim's family.

Outside the courtoom a crowd jeered the verdict and chanted, "justice is corrupt."

Henry, who testified he kidnaped Philippe Bertrand because he wanted to pay off debts, was arrested Feb. 17 in a hotel room where the boy's body was found wrapped in a blanket under the bed.

CONVICTION UPHELD

Officer's Laughter Valid

DENVER (AP) – The Colorado Court of Appeals upheld on Thursday the conviction of Filbert G. Maestas, who claimed his constitutional rights were violated when police laughed at him for stealing from a meat processing plant the rectums of 1,200 butchered animals.

Maestas and a companion had been arrested outside a meat warehouse by two officers who found several boxes of meat in their car.

The officers summoned the warehouse manager and he confirmed the rectums, known in the trade as rennets, had been processed by his firm.

Maestas and his companion were being driven to jail, when one of the arresting officer began laughing. He asked the policeman what was so amusing and the officer told him that the beef rennets are inedible rectal tissue usable only in curing cheese.

In plainer language the officer told Maestas what he had stolen.

Maestas replied, 'If I go to jail for stealing 1,200 ... (rennets) I'm really going to be mad."

That statement was used against him in his trial. Maestas appealed that the remark was obtained illegally, and he was thrown off guard because the officer was laughing.

The court disregarded that argument, saying the officer had reason to laugh.

Well-Stocked Ships Stuck In Clogged Saudi Harbors

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) – Hundreds of ships loaded with vehicles, food, cement and other goods clog Saudi Arabia's two main ports as this kingdom tries to buy its way into the modern age.

American helicopters and landing craft, German barges and thousands of Arab stevedores working 10 hours a day have barely eased the logjam caused by imports purchased with oil billions. One firm is looking into the possibility of using balloons as giant flying cranes.

About 160 ships carrying 20,000 vehicles and half a million tons of other goods are waiting to unload outside this Red Sea commercial capital. Dammam, Saudi Arabia's other main sea outlet, on the Persian Gulf, is similarly choked.

Waiting time to unload is now about two months in Jidda and 40 days in Dammam. It was running about four months at both ports a few months ago.

The bottleneck began when the government, after the quadrupling of oil prices in 1973-74, began a $142 billion, five-year development plan to set up an industrial base against the day when the oil runs out. Saudi Arabia is the leading oil exporting nation. A flood of imports ensued, everything from grapefruit juice to power stations, to be blocked by woefully inadequate facilities.

The ports are too small, the road networks insufficient, and procedures too slow, shipping sources said. The glut sometimes holds back the very equipment needed to reduce it.

The government has signed contracts worth $2.1 billion for expansion of its harbors and construction of new ones. But this will take more than a year.

Nigeria, another oil country enjoying sudden riches, also has suffered major shipping jams. In October 1975 officials in Lagos said 361 ships were waiting to be unloaded there – about 250 of them carrying 2½ million tons of cement.

Freight rates usually have a surcharge of up to 85 per cent of the normal cost as a penalty for delays in unloading. No official figures are available on what this is costing, but knowledgeable sources say it runs into the millions of dollars.

Some shippers have been capitalizing on this using rusty old tubs that earn more money just sitting off Jidda than chugging from port to port. Fayez Badr, director of the harbor administration, recently banned ships from coming here if they are more than 15 years old, unless they are specially certified as seaworthy and are equipped with modern offloading facilities.

Many firms are being advised to ship to the Dutch port of Rotterdam with the goods then put on trucks to Saudi Arabia and Gulf ports, a two-week trip. European truck drivers have made a fortune, says one source, buying new trucks, hauling the goods here and then selling the badly needed vehicles.

Authorities have resorted to imaginative solutions to handle the emergency. Hence the helicopter operation.

An American firm, Carson Helicopter Co. of Perkasie, Pa., has brought in nine Sikorsky choppers solely to unload cement and speed up housing and other construction project.

Flown by Vietnam veterans, the choppers hover low over a freighter, hook a sling onto a two-ton load of cement, and deposit it near trucks to be transported inland.

The helicopters never stop during daylight hours. They refuel with their engines running, in two minutes.

They are now unloading 3,000 tons of cement daily and pilots say none is lost. Cement that leaks out of split bags is sucked up by two huge mobile vacuum cleaners and repacked.

In the seven months since the helicopter operation began, the price of cement in Jidda has been halved to $5.7 for a 110-pound bag.

The landing craft, surplus U.S. Navy equipment, operate at a beachhead, disgorging material from their ramps and then darting out to the ships again. The motorized barges have contracted to offload two million tons of goods per year.

There are only 14 berths in the Jidda harbor. Until it is dredged and enlarged to match Saudi Arabia's new status in the world, the log jam will continue, shipping experts said.

'Limited' Busing Plan Approved

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The Los Angeles Board of Education has approved a limited integration plan which calls for the busing of some students.

However, the board, which is under court order to desegregate city schools, Monday turned down a proposal by a citizens committee to stipulate that "there shall be no schools of one race" in the district. That proposal would have required busing about 10 per cent of the district's 600,000 students.

Instead, the board gave 4-3 approval to a motion to require that "by 1979-80 every student in the district will be participating in a significant integrated educational and instructional program."

Board member Diane Watson claimed such language left the door open to permitting some schools to retain nearly all minority enrollments and would make the district guilty of condoning segregation.

Voting after an oftimes noisy six-hour public hearing, the board:

--Approved by 5-2 the mandatory busing of fourth through sixth graders to specialized, integrated learning centers for a nine-week period each year. During the rest of the year, they would remain in their neighborhood schools.

--Approved 4-3 the mandatory busing of seventh through ninth-graders for nine-week periods beginning next year, and of high school students the year after.

--Voted 5-2 to exempt all kindergarten through third-grade students from mandatory busing, although voluntary busing would be encouraged.

The board's actions set policy and the matter will now be turned over to district planners to develop the specific details to meet the board action and court orders. The final plan must be approved by the Superior Court under guidelines from the state Supreme Court.

The plans approved – basically followed the recommendations of the board-appointed citizens committee although in a milder form – must be approved again by the board after the planners finish their final draft.

Board President Julian Nava said he voted for the limited integration plan, fearing that more extensive busing would "produce another Inglewood, if not a Compton."

Inglewood and Compton school districts are now both largely black.

The board's plan is said to be modeled in part after an integration plan being used in Dallas schools, under which busing is mandatory but bus trips cannot exceed 20 minutes.

FROSTY THE FIRE TRUCK — Jack Frost nipped at the hoses of a Louisville, Ky. fire truck early this week as more than 100 firemen battled a three-alarm blaze at Brinly-Hardy farm equipment plant and Abe Silas Furniture Co. in sub-zero temperatures. Some 14 fire fighters had to be treated for smoke inhalation and frostbite, and the truck was left frozen at the scene.

150-FIRE SPREE

14 Youths Held On Arson Counts

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Fourteen juveniles who called themselves "The Group" were arrested for investigation of arson in connection with over 150 Riverside County fires, state officials said Thursday.

The California Department of Forestry said the arrests during the last week concluded an 18-month investigation and focused on fires set in the Rubidoux-Sunnyslope area in the last two years.

Riverside County fire officials said the cost of the fires could be over half a million dollars and investigation costs alone would total at least $30,000.

"In talking to them, none of them ever came up with a good reason about why they did it other than they were out cruising and decided to set a fire," said Riverside County fire prevention officer Ray Hebrard.

Hebrard said the youths were all high school males 16 and 17 with the exception of one 15-year-old. He added they were all white with the exception of one Mexican-American.

"They all lived in the same geographical area. They ran around together. They were somewhere in the middle income. They were not poor kids," said Hebrard.

The 14 youths, who were returned to their parents' custody after their arrests, will be the subject of a petition filed in Riverside juvenile court next week, Hebrard said.

Juvenile authorities will decide whether the 14 should be tried as adults. If they are, they will face felony charges of two to 20 years in state prison for structural fires and one to 10 years for wildland fires, Hebrard said.

Investigators said "The Group" set fires that included 300 acres of watershed, haystacks, palm trees, vacant houses.

Son's Kidney Successfully Given To Dad

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) – In an unusual operation, surgeons successfully transplanted a kidney from son to father Thursday at Louisville's Jewish Hospital.

"As far as we know, this is the first transplant of a perfectly matched kidney from son to father," said a spokesman for the hospital, referring to the organ's genetic composition.

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said the father, Dr. David C. Asher, 50, of Pineville, Ky., was routinely listed in serious condition because he was recovering in the hospital's intensive care unit following the two-hour operation.

Asher's 27-year-old son, David, was listed in good condition, the spokesman said.

The best kidney donors usually are brother and sister since they share their parents' genetic mix. If the recipient's genetic composition is different from the donor's, his body tends to reject the transplanted organ.

What made the operation possible and increased its chances of success, said Dr. Denis G. Martin, was the high rate of intermarriage among the pioneer families which settled in eastern Kentucky.

"In times when transportation was limited, there was a lot of intermarriage," Martin said. "Dr. Asher's former wife (the mother of David) is obviously distantly related to him.

"Without the intermarriage, it would be excessively rare for a son and a father to have identical genes," he added.

Health Agency Reveals Plan For Enforcing Asbestos Law

SACRAMENTO (AP) – The Department of Health announced plans Thursday to begin enforcing a law limiting use of cancer-causing asbestos in buildings – 18 months after the measure took effect.

The department has been under fire since it was discovered that no state agency was enforcing the law, which took effect July 1, 1975.

Under the law, any substance containing more than one-half of one per cent asbestos cannot be sprayed on a building during construction, alteration or repair.

Attention was drawn to the law after it was discovered that several schools and many homes in California have high concentrations of asbestos in their ceiling material.

Scientists say that breathing asbestos fibers can cause lung cancer.

Charles Coogan, supervising architect in the Department of Health, said that information would be sent in the next few days to local governments advising them of the laws and their enforcement authority.

He also said that the department is asking the state fire marshal, the departments of General Services, Industrial Relations and Housing and Community Development to aid enforcement efforts.

Bartlett's Cancer Removed

NEW YORK (AP) – Sen. Dewey Bartlett, R-Okla., underwent successful surgery on a cancerous right lung Thursday, a spokesman for Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center said.

The hospital said Dr. Edward J. Beattie removed a malignant tumor two inches in diameter along with the right upper lobe of the 57-year-old senator's lung.

The cancer had spread to some lymph nodes in Bartlett's chest, the hospital said, adding that they were also removed in the 5½-hour operation.

Warning Given To Watch Russ Who Invites Worker To Lunch

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) – The FBI is warning industrial workers to beware of Russians who invite them to lunch.

Louis Giovanetti, chief FBI agent in New Jersey issued the warning Thursday after former Russian seaman Ivan Rogalsky's indictment on charges of passing U.S. space secrets to a Soviet diplomat.

Soviet spies, he said, have traded their grim countenances and black suits for charm and "the latest in American clothes."

"A high percentage of Soviets being sent to the United States today are younger men in their late 20s, 30s and early 40s," Giovanetti said. "They represent the new generation in the Soviet Union – more sociable and spontaneous than the so-called Stalinist generation. In past years Soviet intelligence officers lacked this social polish and charm, but this is no longer the case.

They are now well dressed, highly poised, excellent mixers. They speak excellent English (including American slang), wear the latest in American clothes and seem to thoroughly enjoy 'capitalist luxuries,'" he said.

Rogalsky, 34, arrested Jan. 7, doesn't entirely fit Giovanetti's description. His neighbors in Jackson Township said he tried hard to make friends, but usually didn't succeed. Some said they suspected him immediately of being a spy.

"The Soviets are interested in making personal and friendly contacts with American businessmen, scientists, industrial executives and employes – or any other person who may be exploited for their purposes," Giovanetti said.

"If an American is contacted by a Soviet and perhaps invited to lunch or a social function, he should start asking himself, 'Why is this Soviet interested in me?' For the Russians, friendship always has a purpose."

LIZ LIKES TO STAY HOME AND FEED THE CHICKENS

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) – Elizabeth Taylor said Thursday she doesn't like to go out much anymore, preferring instead "to stay home and feed the chickens and watch the cows."

The movie actress recently married former Secretary of the Navy John Warner – her sixth husband – who owns a large farm in Loudoun County, Va.

Miss Taylor, speaking at a drama seminar at the University of Virginia, said she isn't as active as she used to be, adding she's been thinking about directing films.

"I think it's time for me to have a change," she said. "A lot of films I've made I've never gone to see. You just sort of know when they're going to be bad."

She said her best movie was "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" because "at 32 I had to play a woman in her late 40s or early 50s."

Miss Taylor said she is "an instinctive actress" and when in front of the camera her "stomach tightens and it's an exciting feeling."

Lack Of Crime Closes Watts Police Station

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Police have abandoned the aging brick substation on 103rd Street in Watts – a commercial strip known as "Charcoal Alley" in the 1965 riots – citing a lack of crime.

For most of its 50 years, only five to six crime reports were taken daily at the station, the height of the action there coming during the August riots of mere 12 years ago, when police used it as a command post. Buildings were burned and looted nearby, 34 persons died, 1,000 were injured and property damage was estimated at $40 million from the six days of turmoil.

But in recent years, officers said, the number of crime reports handled at the station dropped to as few as one a day.

So the six men in blue moved out, giving up office space to patrol the 2.5-square-mile area in squad cars.

The old building still houses municipal offices which serve Watts, annexed to the city in 1926. But those who want to report a crime must call headquarters for the 77th St. Division.

"The unique thing about the substation was that the community didn't look upon it merely as a police station," said police Capt. Ed Henry, 56, now a harbor department port warden. He worked at the station from 1947 to 1954. "I hate to see it closed down. I believe the community will miss it."

He explained that local residents took their everyday problems there. It was a place to discuss financial matters, children who wouldn't attend school, and other family affairs.

The final noteworthy incident in the site's 50-year history as a police station came last month when a fleeing man was shot by his wife in the building's parking lot.

Jimmy's March Hardly Surprise To His Agents

By JOSEPH VOLZ
New York News

WASHINGTON – President Carter's abrupt decision to walk the length of the Inaugural Parade route before a crowd of 350,000 disturbed the Secret Service but agents knew about it in advance it was learned.

Although Carter's move did not catch the Service by surprise, one source noted that the service would never recommend that the chief executive become a target by walking down the middle of the street with his family.

Carter said the Secret Service was informed three weeks ago that he planned to walk the entire way. The President said the Service did not object provided "we kept it quiet."

"The President knows how we feel," the official said. "But he's the commander in chief."

He said that the Service was given "enough advance warning" of Carter's decision but would not be specific. Originally, Carter had planned to walk only the two blocks on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House before spectators who paid $25 apiece for bleacher seats.

Local police whose main duty was crowd control were taken by surprise at the walk. A high U.S. Park Police official was "horrified" when Carter started marching. But he also "admired" Carter's desire to be accessible to the people.

A Metropolitan Police spokesman said that the 4300-member Force was operating under the assumption that Carter would walk only the last two blocks. The police had men on rooftops to guard against snipers but there were no incidents.

In fact, police said the festive atmosphere of the city was in marked contrast to the Nixon Inaugural four years ago when peace demonstrators geared up early. Nevertheless, city workers opened up every manhole on the parade route to make sure there were no bombs and then sprayed over the cover so that any last minute opening would be detected.

The walk was a break with a long tradition which began when Thomas Jefferson rode horseback from his second inauguration in 1804 and began the practice of inaugural parades.

For the first few blocks, President and Mrs. Carter walked alone but as the procession slowed to round an intersection onto Pennsylvania Avenue, sons Jack, Chip and Jeff and Chip's wife, Caron, jumped out of their cars and joined the march.

The Carters walked for about 40 minutes along the mile-and-a-half route, briskly at first but slowing to a leisurely stroll as they neared the reviewing stand in front of the White House.

Convict Babysits, Says Amy 'Fine'

WASHINGTON (AP) – Mary Fitzpatrick, a convicted murderess on special leave from a Georgia prison, renewed her acquaintance Thursday with the daughter of the nation's new President and then found herself babysitting during the inaugural parties.

"Amy's fine. We're having a great time," said the 32-year-old woman who as a prison trusty was a nurse to Jimmy Carter's daughter for four years while Carter was governor of Georgia.

"We've been outside playing and we've had dinner and now we're watching television," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said. "The Carters asked me to stay with Amy while they go to the parties, but I don't know if I'll be staying overnight. I do think I'll be with Amy tomorrow, though."

Amy Carter, asked if she was happy to see Mrs. Fitzpatrick, replied shyly: "Yes. We're having a good time."

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was granted a 3½-day out-of-state leave by the Georgia Board of Pardons and Paroles to attend Carter's inauguration through the efforts of Mrs. Tate and Edith Primm, who work as volunteers at the Women's Work Release Center in Atlanta.

The two women and five other members of the Junior League donated the money for her trip.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was convicted seven years ago in Stewart County in southwest Georgia for the April 11, 1970, slaying of a man identified as John Bynum. Officials at the Women's Work Release Center have refused to provide further details of her case.

"I've put that behind me and started a new life and I have nothing to say about that," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said Thursday.

Described as a model prisoner by the director of the work release center, she is scheduled for parole consideration in April.

Mondale Fretted; Greeted Wallace

WASHINGTON (AP) – Walter Frederick Mondale, sworn in Thursday as the 42nd vice president, said that while taking his oath he was thinking about the "sobering experience" of becoming vice president.

And when a reporter suggested he was facing a new life, Mondale said, "I'm optimistic and hopeful."

Chatting with reporters toward the end of the day, Mondale said he had thought he would have trouble repeating the simple oath of his new office.

"I was sure I was going to blow it," he said.

Mondale was sworn in at 11:58 a.m., two minutes before the inaugural oath was administered to Jimmy Carter, who lifted Mondale from the relative obscurity of a junior senator when he asked him to run for vice president six months ago.

During the inaugural parade, Mondale left his car once to shake hands with members of the Oil City, Pa., high school band, who shouted, "M-O-N-D-A-L-E, Yea Mondale."

He heard that cheer once before, during a campaign stop in the northeastern Pennsylvania city in October, when the same group greeted him.

Later, walking the final block in the parade, he spied Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace sitting in his wheelchair along the parade route and said to the governor: "I hope you-all have a wonderful day."

"You-all look great," Wallace said. "Thank you-all for saying hello."

'So Much For Solar Energy'

WASHINGTON (AP) – The new administration's interest in solar heating notwithstanding, its first demonstration left Vice President Walter Mondale less than convinced.

Mondale sat for two hours next to President Carter in the inaugural parade reviewing stand, which was equipped with a solar heater. He emerged rubbing his hands briskly against the cold and remarked: "So much for solar energy."

First Of Seven Such Events In D.C. Thursday Night

Susan Enrolls

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) – Not long after her father relinquished the presidency Thursday, Susan Ford enrolled as a sophomore in liberal arts at the University of Kansas.

She said she held off just long enough to watch him on television, then made the enrollment lines, trailed by two Secret Service agents and a crush of TV cameras and newsmen.

Miss Ford has taken an apartment in Topeka, where she has a part-time job with the Topeka Capitol-Journal, on which she was a summer intern in 1975. She will commute the 30 miles to campus.

She said she is carrying 12 hours, including two journalism courses. A transfer from Mt. Vernon College in suburban Washington, she plans to major in photojournalism, but does not have enough credits to be admitted to journalism school this year.

Bag Transfer Marked Start

By ALDO BECKMAN
Chicago Tribune

WASHINGTON – Jimmy Carter had been President for less than five seconds. The applause was just beginning to swell, and few noticed the two young military aides who stood quietly at the rear or the inauguration platform.

But the real transfer of power took place as the Marine aide, without fanfare, handed the black bag he had been carrying all day to the Naval aide.

This simple exchange of the bag, sometimes called the "football," carried more significance for Carter than the oath of office or the handshakes or the applause.

At that instant, he assumed responsibility for reacting to any international crisis that might involve possible retaliation against an aggressor.

The secrets are well-kept, but the black bag is known to include the super-secret codes which Carter can invoke to trigger, in minutes, an all-out military attack – including nuclear force.

The Marine aide, who was assigned to President Ford, stayed with his old boss until he got onto the helicopter for the flight to Andrews Air Force Base. Then he caught a ride back to the White House, where he will remain several months, awaiting a new assignment.

'Miss Lillian' Is Chatty; Amy Yawns

WASHINGTON (AP) – Nine-year-old Amy Carter, the new president's daughter, sat quietly through his inauguration Thursday while his mother, 78-year-old "Miss Lillian" chatted and smiled with schoolgirl glee.

The solemn ceremony, climax of years of hope and effort, brought a mixture of emotions to the faces of Carter's close family.

"Miss Lillian" chatted animatedly with Betty Ford and Happy Rockefeller, the wives of the departing president and vice president before the ceremony.

She and Carter's wife, Rosalynn, and other family members were already at their places in the inaugural stand when Carter was formally escorted in.

Carter blew a fingertips-kiss to his wife, standing a few feet to his right, then reached over and they shook hands.

Mrs. Carter, wearing a green coat and gloves, stood with head bowed during the invocation, then kept a steady, serious gaze on her husband as he took the oath of office as President of the United States.

Apparently moved, she could muster only a weak smile as the brief swearing-in, administered by U.S. Chief Justice Warren L. Burger, ended.

Clad in a blue coat and gloves and wearing glasses, her long hair hanging loose down her back, Amy sat quietly with her mother through Carter's inaugural speech, occasionally looking down at the floor.

"Miss Lillian," her legs covered by a blanket tucked in by Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller, leaned over and whispered to her neighbors when Carter mentioned that he had just taken the oath on a Bible given to him as a boy by his mother.

As the speech ended, Carter's family rose and joined in the applause, and Amy walked over to hug her father, then shook hands with former vice president Nelson Rockefeller.

Again Mrs. Carter and Amy stood with heads bowed during the closing prayer, this time standing close to Carter who kept one hand around Mrs. Carter's waist and the other on Amy's shoulder.

As the prayer continued, Amy glanced around and yawned a few times.

Then it was over. Carter was President. The "First Family" spent a few minutes talking and shaking hands with well-wishers on the platform and left together for a luncheon in a room in the east front of the Capitol.

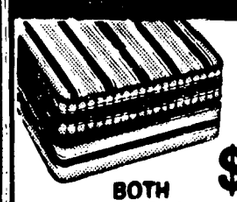

Despite the current round of Washington jokes about a peanut diet and the right wine to serve with grits, Carter's inaugural lunch was light and tasteful:

"Madison Hospitable Bouillon"; avocado stuffed with shrimp and topped with remoulade sauce; grapefuit sections with devilled eggs; bread and butter; fresh vegetables with a dip; eclairs; and a choice of coffee, tea, milk or buttermilk.

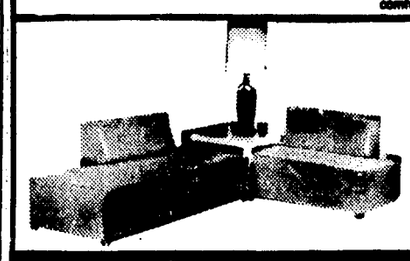

During the outdoor inaugural ceremony, those on the Capitol steps had one transcending practical interest in common: a spirited defense against the biting cold.

Many ambassadors, as well as Sen Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., sported fur hats, but two Arab diplomats took full advantage of native dress, wearing heavy woolen floor-length robes and headgear that covered their foreheads and swept back down their shoulders.

Sis Retaliates With A Low Blow

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: The clan gathered at my sister-in-law's house for a holiday dinner. Everyone was nice and friendly until Sis turned to me and in a very loud voice said, "Say, what color would your hair really be if you didn't dye it? Gray?"

Taken competely by surprise, I said the first thing that came to mind: "I'll tell you what color my hair really is if you tell me how much you really weigh." (Sis is very fat. She claims she has a thyroid condition, but she eats constantly.)

Well, things got pretty hot around there, and now the whole family—including my husband—is furious with me for insulting the hostess.

I don't see why her privacy is any more sacred than mine, but if you think I should apologize, I will.

NOT IRISH FOR NOTHING

DEAR IRISH: Even though she struck the first blow, you were childish and unkind to have struck a lower one. If it will restore peace in the family, apologize.

DEAR ABBY: I have always believed in God, and in His goodness, but I am now having doubts.

There are 365 days in every year, yet on my wedding anniversary, the most joyous day of the year for me, God chose to take my beloved mother from this earth. So now, instead of celebrating my anniversary, it has become a day of sadness and mourning.

Then I had a son. On his 10th birthday, God chose to take my beloved father from me. Again, a happy day was turned into a sad one.

Have you any words of comfort for me, Abby? I feel as though the Lord has punished me, but for what, I do not know.

Another thing. People describe themselves as "God-fearing Christians." I have read the Scriptures and can find nothing in them that says we should FEAR God.

So, when people want to describe themselves as "good Christians," why do they say the are "God-fearing" Christians?

HAVING DOUBTS

DEAR HAVING: Read the Book of Job again and restore your faith in the Lord. According to my dictionary, "God-fearing" means "devout."

The Old Testament tells us (in Ecclesiastes) to "Fear God and keep His commandments."

DEAR ABBY: When letters come to you asking about whether a girl should wear a bra or not, you should take the opportunity to say, "Yes," with a capital "Y," and then explain that girls who have ample bosoms and fail to support them become victims of Cooper's Syndrome.

To further explain: Native African women whose pictures you see in the National Geographic magazine have never known what a brassiere was, and consequently their breasts are all stretched out and hang practically to their waists. They are victims of Cooper's Syndrome...or Cooper's droop.

Please tell girls that as soon as they have something to hold up, they should invest in a brassiere, and wear it faithfully.

When I see young girls with full bosoms going braless, bobbing up and down and thinking they are liberated, I want to cry. It's too late for me, so sign me...

FLIP-FLOP IN GARDEN CITY

DEAR FLIP: I'll pass your works of warning and wisdom on to my readers. Girls, hie thee to a corsetiere!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Justices Rule Some 'Illegal' Wiretaps OK

WASHINGTON (AP) – The Supreme Court ruled this week that some evidence gathered from a secret wiretap which is technically illegal can be used in criminal trials.

But the court refused to ease legal obligations which federal prosecutors must meet before employing secret wiretaps to gather evidence.

The law requires prosecutors to name the persons whose conversations they expect to intercept and the court reaffirmed that requirement. But the court ruled that the restriction was not so important as to require exclusion of evidence gained from conversations of persons the prosecutors had not named.

Deciding a case arising out of gambling prosecutions in northern Ohio area, the court reversed a decision by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court that evidence gathered against two suspects could not be used at their trial because the suspects were not named in the government's application for a wiretap.

The high court voted six-to-three that although the government is required to name all known persons whose conversations it intends to intercept, the conversations of persons not named cannot be suppressed as evidence.

The court voted 8-to-1, with only Chief Justice Warren E. Burger dissenting, that the Justice Department was wrong in its contention that only "principal targets" had to be named when federal agents asked courts to approve a wiretap.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. wrote the court's majority opinion. The court's decision on the admissibility of evidence gathered against unnamed suspects drew the dissents of Justices Thurgood Marshall, William J. Brennan Jr. and John Paul Stevens.

The lower court had ruled that evidence gathered against gambling supects Joseph Merlo and Jacob Lauer must be suppressed because their names, although not known at the start of the investigation, were not supplied to a judge when the two were overheard and became suspects.

The circuit court also ruled that evidence obtained against three other gambling suspects, Thomas W. Donovan, Dominic Buzzacco and Vanis Robbins, could not be used because federal agents knew their identities before applying for the wiretap but did not include their names in the application for court approval.

Carter's Planks To Be Used To Finish Walkway

WASHINGTON (AP) — The City of Wildwood, N.J., which started rebuilding its deteriorating seaside boardwalk with planks left over from Richard Nixon's presidential inauguration in 1972, is going to finish the job with lumber left over from President Carter's inauguration.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., announced Wednesday that the community at the southern tip of the New Jersey seacoast has negotiated to buy the lumber used in the platform from which reporters will watch the inauguration on Thursday.

Williams said he assisted the Wildwood commissioners, both in 1972 and this year, in securing the used lumber.

Wilbur Ostrander, a Wildwood commissioner who represented the city in the negotiations, said nine blocks of the boardwalk were redecked with the Nixon boards. The Carter planks will be sufficient to cover three more blocks, he said.

TUXEDO PATTERN
Dear Trouble Shooter

My sister is getting married in May. She is making her own wedding gown and wants very much to make her fiance's tuxedo, with tails.

This is where I hope one of your readers can be of assistance. Would one of them have a tuxedo pattern with tails (men's size 40 jacket) and be willing to sell, rent or lend it to my sister?.

S. S.
Huntington Beach

Doesn't do any harm to ask, does it? The phone number, for anyone who can help, is 894-4903.

SHARE-A-RIDE?
Dear Trouble Shooter

My husband recently underwent very serious and complicated eye surgery which solved some of his problem, but he is now visually handicapped to the extent that he will not be able to drive for some time. This is causing some problems.

I work close to our home in Placentia and have been driving him to his place of employment in Riverside before I go to work. I am able to keep this up for a temporary period, but would like to get in touch with someone who leaves for Riverside between 6 and 6:30 a.m. Picking him up after I'm through work isn't too much of a hardship. It's just that 60-mile round trip in the morning!

If we can find a car pool for that time of the morning, our 12-year-old daughter won't have to get herself ready for school and I can be there to see her before I have to leave, as well as being more alert when I arrive for work.

We'll be happy to share expenses with the driver.

We have filed an application with Commuter Computer, contacted the Lions Club and have posted notices on market bulletin boards in our area. No luck. You're the best contact we can think of. Can you help?

N.L.

Best the Ol' Trouble Shooter can do is ask anyone who can help to give you a jingle after 4 p.m. at 528-6196.

NEW VENTURE
Dear Trouble Shooter

I am a volunteer for the American Cancer Society which is opening its very first thrift shop March 1 in San Clemente.

If your kind readers will merely clean out a drawer or a closet, give us the odd pieces of crystal and china they no longer use, the clothes they are tired of looking at, the lamp they wish they hadn't bought and any other white elephants that are lying around, they would certainly help our shop get off to a good start.

The funds raised from this shop will be used to finance research, public and professional education and assistance to cancer victims and their families.

We'll issue a receipt for all donations which, of course, are tax deductible. Your readers can call our unit office (714)752-8000 for pickups or they can call me at 998-3737.

C. LaV.

Happy to give your new OCS Thrift Shop a "plug," and hope folks all over Orange County can come up with things you can sell.

YOUR REUNION?
Dear Trouble Shooter

We are planning an all-years reunion of the Cougars of Capistrano Union High School April 23 at the Mission Viejo Country Club. We'd like to hear from all alumni from the years 1922 to 1965.

Please ask them to write: Elaine Houston Dunn, P.O. Box 283, San Juan Capistrano 92675.

E. D.
San Juan Capistrano

Always happy to help round folks up for their class reunions, Ma'am. Hope you have a good time at yours. And, while we're on the topic, let's mention some others.

Hoover High School (Glendale) Class of 1952 is trying to round up its members for a 25-year reunion. For further details, get in touch with Janice Fortner Black at 644-7438 evenings only.

Kearney State College (Kearney, Nebr.) will hold its second Southern California Alumni reunion Jan. 29 with a 2 p.m. buffet luncheon at the Jolly Roger in Anaheim.

Folks who need more information should contact Dorothy Holcomb Lowe at (213) 645-5925.

CAN YOU HELP?
Dear Trouble Shooter

The Mental Health Association is in need of weight lifting equipment for use at the Methadone Maintenance Clinic in Santa Ana. The clinic assists in the rehabilitation of drug abusers.

Here is a list of the equipment needed: stationary bicycle, lightweight dumbells, long bench, strap-on leg weights, incline bar for sit-ups, ballet bar and two sets of batacas.

Will you ask if your readers can spare any of the needed items?

A. G.
Santa Ana

You betcha! Let's ask anyone who can help to give you a jingle at 547-7559.

CRISIS 'HOT LINE'
Dear Trouble Shooter

Our rape crisis group needs volunteers. South Orange County Women Against Rape (SOCWAR) is comprised mainly of non-professionals who care about the problems of rape. The group is sponsored by the Women's Center at UCI.

We have a 24-hour hot line which is staffed by volunteers. Calls are received by an answering service and plugged into the home of the volunteer. In addition to our hot line, we also need volunteers to fill speaking requests, accompany rape victims to hospitals, police stations and court trials, conduct research and maintain liaison with public agencies like police departments, etc.

If any of your readers would like further information, please have them call 831-9110.

SCHOOL PROJECT
Dear Trouble Shooter

I am desperate to get information on Cuba from National Geographic magazines of September 1933, January 1947 and March 1961. I'm in the sixth grade at Thomas Paine Elementary School in the Garden Grove School District and I need Cuba pictures for a school report. I have looked everywhere!

B.B.
Westminster

Many of the thrift shops in these parts carry back editions of National Geographic, young podnah, and so do some swap meet exhibitors.

However, chances are that a reader can come up with the specific issues you need, or at least some pictures about Cuba from them. If so, let's suggest they get in touch pronto with "Bob" at 554-4117, all right?

RECORD SURPLUS
Dear Trouble Shooter

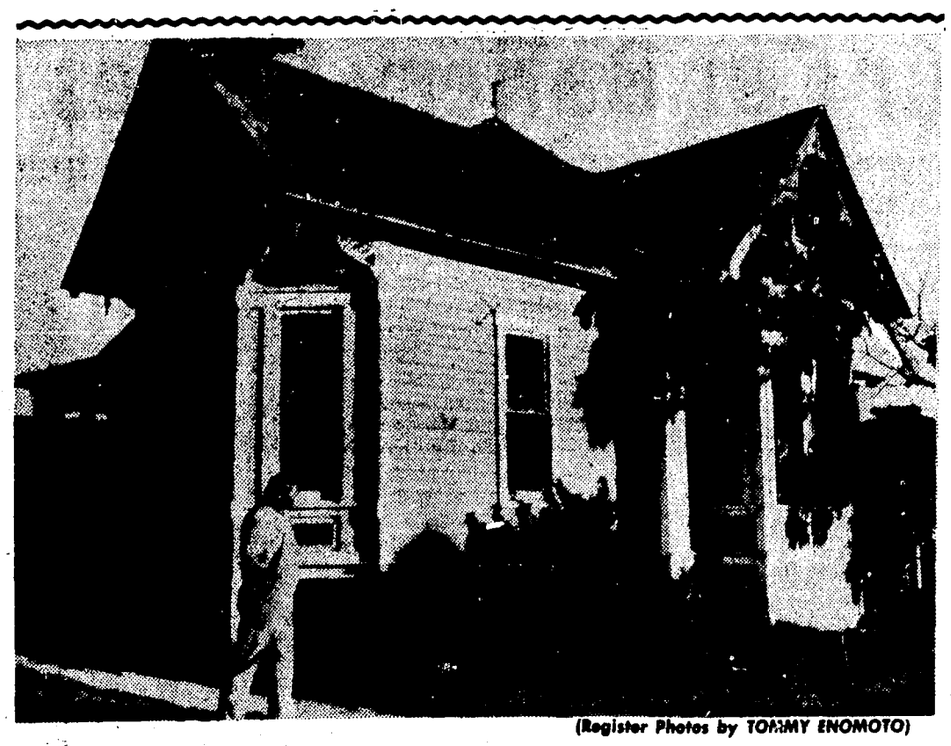

I have a surplus of old 45 and 78 r.p.m. phonograph records that are perfect for juke boxes, although some of them are too scratched for the ordinary record player. (In a juke box, a few scratches don't seem to matter.)

I'm going to be disposing of them at a dime or a quarter each on Saturday and Sunday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., if any of your readers are interested

G.M.
Garden Grove

Sounds like musical bonanza for folks lucky enough to have a juke box, podnah. The Trouble Shooter knows the offer is on the "up and up," since it comes from his record collecting sidekick, George Moore, 12051 Kathy Lane, Garden Grove. If folks need further details, they can give George a jingle at 536-0162.

Got a Problem? Write The Trouble Shooter, P.O. Box 11626, Santa Ana, Calif., 92711. PLEASE DO NOT TELEPHONE YOUR PROBLEM TO US. Due to the volume of mail, not all letters can be answered or acknowledged. Those published will be signed with initials only, but you must include your name, address and telephone number.

VICTORIAN HOUSE DECKED WITH GINGERBREAD EMITS A NOSTALGIC CHARM
Bill Rardon Surveys His 'Dream House' On Broadway In Anaheim

Man Finds His Dream In A Victorian House

By CHERYL PRUETT
Register Staff Writer

ANAHEIM – For a man who looks like he just stepped out of "The Waltons," Bill J. Rardon is in the right business and he bought the right house, he said.

Rardon sports a gray mustache and sideburns, blue overalls and friendly grin. He bought an 1892 vintage home complete with gingerbreading and porch and swing.

And he's restoring it – just as he has been doing professionally for others the past 10 years in his restoring business.

A builder, Rardon said he had been looking for a house like the one at 312 E. Broadway for at least 10 years.

"I wanted a Victorian house that hadn't been worn out," said Rardon. The Broadway house fit the bill.

"It's only had three owners in its 85 years," he said. "There's not one piece of gingerbread missing; it's just as solid as when it was built. Every piece of wood in the house is clear redwood – frame, siding, windows, doors."

He extols the virtues of old houses such as his.

"It isn't built to meet present-day codes, but it has withstood quakes, floods, feuds and fire," he said.

The two-bedroom, one-bath house has a walk-in pantry off the kitchen in which Rardon installed a Franklin stove. Other charms include bay windows, stained glass fireplace with a mirror above it, 12-foot-high ceilings, built-in buffet cabinet and a bathtub with four iron feet.

Rardon is furnishing it with Victorian furniture and is reworking the fixtures.

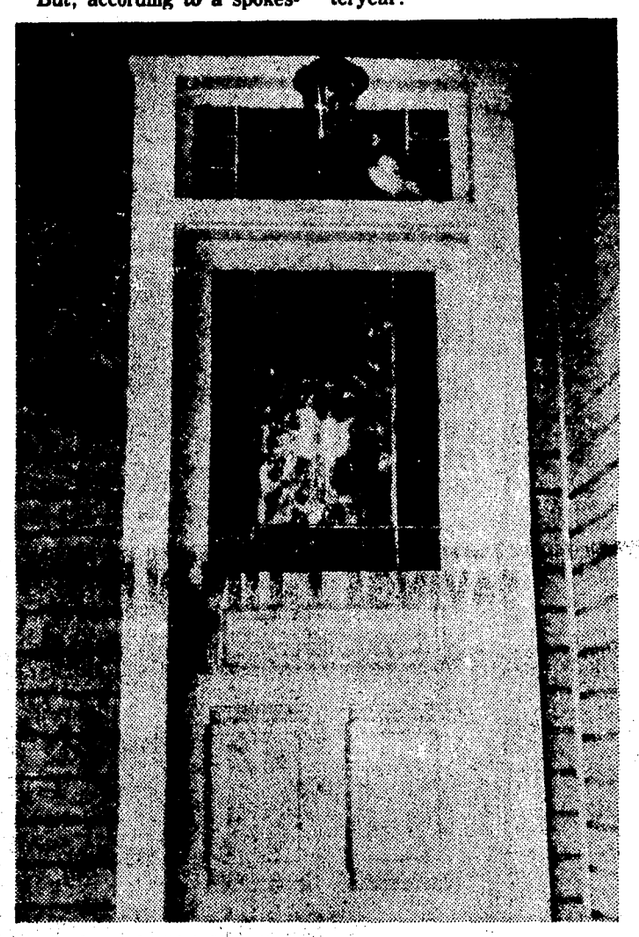

"There's lots of charm in these old houses," he said. "They take us back from the confusion of today...back to times we've heard talked about."

Across the street from Rardon's old fashioned home, which is on the south side of Broadway, is one of the boundary lines for a proposed redevelopment by the city. At first plans included a park and tourist center in the area bounded by Broadway Harbor Boulevard, Cypress and East streets.

But, according to a spokesman for the city, the possibility of redevelopment in the section depends on interested developers coming to the city. Even then, said the spokesman, redevelopment may mean rehabilitation and many old homes will be preserved.

Rardon's home is exempt from such a project. His gingerbread "dream house" will be untouched.

And Rardon is content to continue to "restore and create the charms of yesteryear."

SJC Building Tax Passed

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO — A split city council facing a packed chamber full of protesters passed a controversial ordinance setting tax fees on all new homes and commercial developments to finance agricultural preservation.

In a 3-2 vote, the council adopted the new measure setting a tax of $500 on all new homes and $1,000 per acre on all commercial and industrial developments.

The total fees, estimated at $250,000 per year, will go into a special fund and will be used in a still undetermined program to "preserve" agriculture.

More than a dozen speakers voiced objections to the proposal, and many demanded the measure be put on the ballot to be voted on "by the people."

Many speakers contended that the same idea was rejected by voters last March when a so-called agricultural preservation program was defeated by the voters 2-1 at the polls.

The new measure has a stormy history. A crowd of opponents also appeared when the ordinance was introduced for first reading two weeks ago. The measure passed its final reading Wednesday night.

Exactly how the funds will be used has not been disclosed. Mayor Doug Nash, the main supporter of the plan, occasionally has mentioned such concepts as "subsidy" or tax relief, and references have been made in past discussions to the possible purchase of certain lands.

A special committee, headed by Nash, has been meeting in recent months to develop a specific plan for using the special tax funds to save the farmlands. The new ordinance does not spell out how the monies will be used.

WON'T SEEK NEW FUNDS

OC Youth Officer Raps No-Lock Law

SANTA ANA – Orange County's probation officer won't seek any new funds to house wayward youths in "no lock" facilities until a state law is changed – and until she knows just how it is changed.

County probation officer Margaret Grier said the 20-day-old law that unlocks doors on some juvenile detention facilities is creating such "chaos" that the law should be rewritten. She hinted she might propose some changes herself.

By unlocking the doors at one county facility to comply with the law, she told county supervisors Thursday almost half of the youngsters sent there since Jan. 1 have run away.

Under the new law, she said, parents are relieved of responsibility for the children. The county isn't given enough authority to force them to stay in a facility and many of the youths are taking advantage of the situation by simply leaving.

"Give them (children) total control and you're going to have chaos," Miss Grier warned. "Not a better society but a worse one."

She assured county supervisors during their hearings on her $20.5 million-a-year department she wouldn't ask for more money for more facilities until she knows how the law is amended.

County Administrative Officer Robert Thomassaid the cost of implementing the new law this year is "running close" to the $540,000 he had predicted.

Called the Dixon Act, the law was an attempt to reform children picked up on charges that wouldn't be crimes if they were adults. The so-called "status offenders" are chronic truants, incorrigibles at home, runaways and curfew violators.

Instead of housing them in juvenile hall with youths held on adult-type crimes, the law says they are to be held for no more than 21 days in "no lock" facilities for counseling instead of punishment.

Miss Grier said she hasn't had to worry about the length of stay. Because of the runaway problem, the average stay has only been three-and-a-half days. "Some don't even stay long enough to be interviewed," she said.

Since David McMillan School at 1207 E. Fruit St. Santa Ana, was set up Jan. 1 to handle 60 youths to comply with the law almost 50 per cent of the youths taken there have run away.

"It's a comfortable place where they can get a change of clothes, a meal, a place to sleep," Miss Grier said.

Anita Lees, McMillan superintendent, told supervisors the situation is creating "a strain on morale. The staff feels a sense of responsibility for the children. They can't stand to see children pick up and leave and not know where they're going."

Miss Grier said state law gives her more authority in handling dependent children, those who are abused or constitute a danger to themselves or society but who have committed no crime.

Modoc County has refused to enforce the law, she said, and some parents have expressed displeasure with it.

Parents of a runaway from Rhode Island had to be told their picked-up child had run away from McMillan School before he could be sent home. Miss Grier said. "Their reaction is, 'why aren't you doing something to protect my child?.'"

Orange County Juvenile Court Judge Raymond Vincent has challenged the law on his own by decreeing that a youth who runs away from McMillan School must return there if caught or face going to juvenile hall, a lockup facility, on worse charges.

Assembly OKs Postponing Workmen's Liability Law

By JOHN O'DELL
Register Staff Writer

A bill to postpone a new law extending workmen's compensation coverage to casual household employes, such as babysitters, has been sent to the state Senate after passing the Assembly 67-6 Thursday.

The measure, AB 133 by Assemblyman Richard Robinson, D-Santa Ana, is opposed by the AFL-CIO and lobbyists for the insurance industry.

If approved by the Senate and signed by Gov. Edmund Brown, Jr., it would delay for one year a law that places worker's compensation liability on every household in the state.

The new worker's compensation extension, which took effect Jan. 1, says homeowners and renters in the state are liable for any work-connected injury or illness to persons hired to work around the house or yard — including babysitters, maids and gardeners.

One problem with the law, said Robinson, is that a state legislative counsel ruled last week that it doesn't apply to employes of renters.

Robinson said that if the counsel's ruling is upheld by the courts, the whole law probably would be unconstitutional "on grounds it doesn't offer equal protection" to the workers.

Additionally, the law granted automatic worker's comp. coverage on Jan. 1 to homeowners who have comprehensive liabilty insurance as part of their homeowner's policy — but it failed to grant automatic coverage to renters with the same types of policies.

Robinson said that means more than three million households in the state are "probably now uninsured for the new liabilities" for occasional or full-time workers.

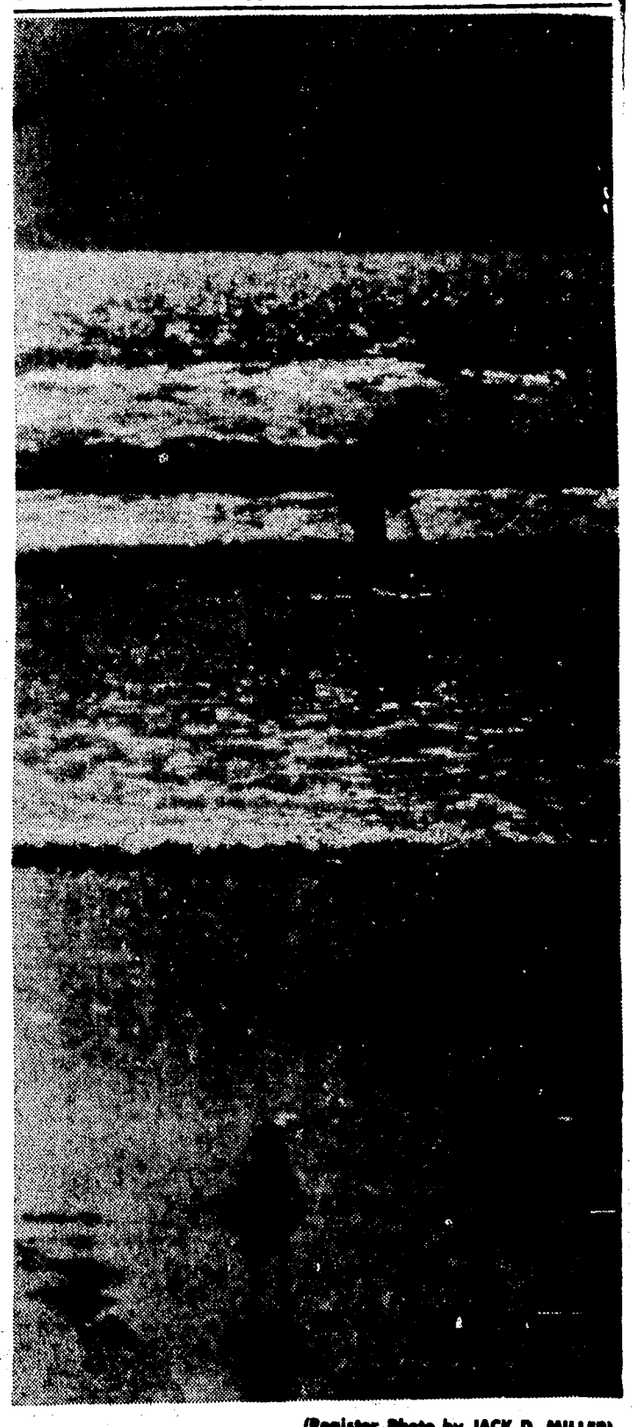

AB 133 is designed to take the law off the books until next year, Robinson said, to give the legislature an opportunity to correct such problems.

The bill is scheduled to be heard by the Senate Industrial Relations Committee, but no date has been set for the hearing.

CORRECTION

ANAHEIM — The city's holdout stance on sale of a piece of property at 721 N. Euclid St. — waiting to get the $91,410 price paid for the parcel in 1969 — as reported in Thurday's editions of The Register erred in one detail.

The article stated that the city had bought the property from Dinkler Management Corp. through condemnation. The sale price was, in fact, negotiated between buying and selling parties and not arrived at through condemnation proceedings. The Register regrets the error.

CLAMMERS — A gull pauses from its poking in the sands along the shore of Huntington Beach to watch a clammer plunging his probe again and again seeking that tell-tale thunk that announces a buried chowder essential. Minus tides brought out many diggers to the sparkling Pacific to seek the beach city's delicacy, which is said to rival those of famed Pismo Beach to the north.

Can't Start? Check Your Car Battery Cables

Read Dear Abby Daily

By RAY HILL

If you climb in your car one morning, turn the ignition switch, and the engine doesn't start – chances are good that your battery cables need cleaning. "It's probably safe to say," a friend of mine who runs a gas station told me recently, "that two out of every three no-starts we get are caused by nothing more than dirty or corroded battery cables."

How do you know if that's your problem? If you turn the key and the engine doesn't turn over, yet the headlights and radio work – dirty battery cables are a good bet.

Cleaning them is relatively easy, but if you want to try to get the car started without cleaning them, you may be able to do it. You can sometimes improve the contact between the cables and battery posts enough so that the car will start by pecking lightly with a hammer, screwdriver, rock, etc. on the cable terminals where they wrap around the battery posts. This is strictly a temporary measure, though. The terminals should be cleaned at the earliest opportunity.

Don't be fooled into thinking the cable connections are okay because they don't look corroded on the outside. What's on the outside doesn't matter. What's important is the contact you can't see – between the cable connections and battery posts.

To clean the cables and posts, first remove the cables from the battery. Cables are attached in three different ways. Some are bolted around the battery posts. Remove this type by loosening the bolts and lifting them off.

Other types are fastened to the battery posts with spring-type terminals. The ends of the cables simply clamp around the posts. To remove them, use pliers to squeeze the cable terminal apart and lift it off the battery post.

Some cables are attached to the battery with bolts. A bolt screws through the middle of the cable terminal into the battery. To remove these cables you just unscrew the bolt and pull the cable out.

When removing and replacing battery cables, remove the ground cable first. The ground cable is the one marked with a minus on or near the battery post. And when replacing cables, replace the ground cable last. This prevents sparks that might fly should your pliers, screwdriver or wrench accidentally touch other nearby metal parts at the same time it's against the "hot" cable terminal, that's the cable marked with a plus sign on or near the battery post.

When removing the type of cables that wrap around the battery posts, don't pull the cable terminals straight up. First rotate each cable back and forth until it breaks free of the battery post. If you pull straight up while the cable is still stuck to the battery post you may damage the battery by pulling the post loose.

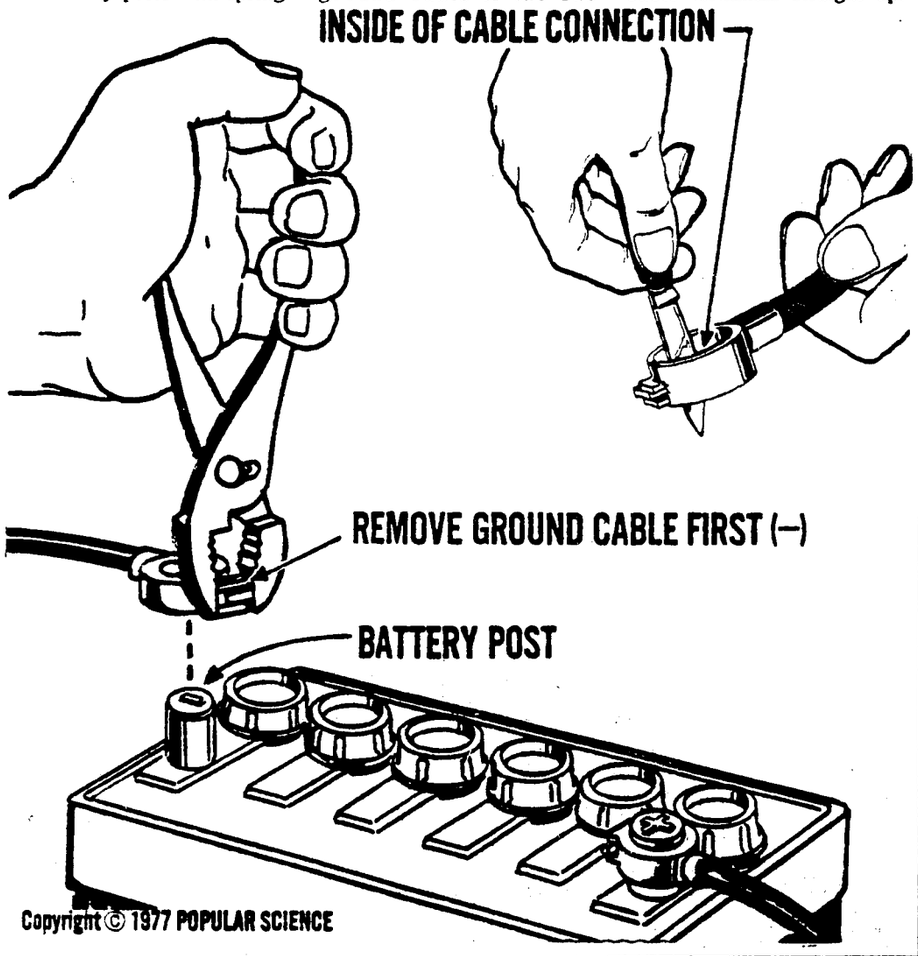

Once the cables are off, you're ready to clean them. Battery cable-and-post cleaners are inexpensive and available in auto parts supply stores. If you don't have one, use a knife. In a pinch even a screwdriver will do.

Scrape the inside of each battery cable terminal (where it encircles the battery post) until it is bright and shiny. Scrape the outside of each battery post until it is bright and shiny. Put the cables back on, and chances are good your car will start.

If you clean your battery cables every five or six months and at each tuneup, you will greatly improve your chances for avoiding the cost and inconvenience you suffer when your car won't start.

Plan To Bomb Wrecked Tanker Ires Fishermen

FALMOUTH, Mass. (AP) – A Coast Guard proposal to bomb the remains of the wrecked tanker Argo Merchant has drawn fire from fishermen and marine biologists who say it would disrupt the spawning cycle of several species of fish.

"Surely technology exists somewhere to solve this problem in a less drastic measure," said Tom Walsh, spokesman for the cape Cod Commercial Fishermen's Association, at a public hearing this week.

The Coast Guard says the sunken bow of the Argo, just below the surface of the water off Nantucket, presents a hazard to the traffic that frequents the nearby fishing grounds.

The Liberian-registered tanker, loaded with 7.6 million gallons of oil, ran aground Dec. 15 and broke up in stormy heavy seas a week later.

It's believed there may be up to 1.3 million gallons of oil trapped in the bow, which would be released if the wreck is bombed. But Capt. Walter Folger of the Coast Guard's Regional Response Team said pumping out the oil would be "an extremely dangerous and costly procedure."

Substitutes For Coffee Suggested

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) – If the cost of coffee has you looking for a substitute, local gourmets suggest trying a cup of steaming, freshly brewed figs, dandelions or chicory.

Figs, oven-dried and ground, make a fine alternative for coffee boycotters, said Micahel Farano, who does a television cooking show.

"I defy anyone to taste the difference," he said, adding that figs cost only 55 cents a pound.

Farano said chicory also makes a good coffee substitute. Some people use the herb as a coffee extender after drying and roasting, he said.

Loma Yeager, a Wenatchee homemaker, said drying and roasting dandelion roots produces an acceptable mock coffee.

If the thought of waking to a cup of weeds doesn't appeal to you, she has a recipe, taken from an 1894 cookbook, for a potion called "prairie coffee." It's a concoction of cornmeal, molasses, flour, salt and water that is cut into cakes, dried and roasted dark brown.

Ratchetjaw Kids Jam Trouble Calls

NEW ORLEANS (AP) – Teddybear's a rachetjaw, and somebody's liable to get killed because of it.

From 3:30 in the afternoon until the more entertaining television programs come on, Citizens Band Channel 7 crackles with chit-chat about homework, teachers, who has a crush on whom – the myriad fascinating bits of childrens' gossip that used to tie up the family telephone.

Now the gossip ties up the CB channel adopted as an emergency frequency by hunters and fishermen in Louisiana marshes and inland waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

"These Teddybears are real rachetjaws," said Tom Burke, lapsing into CB jargon. "Rachetjaw" is the way CBers describe anyone who monopolizes the air waves. A "Teddybear," since the sentimental country-western song with that title, refers to children at the microphone.

Burke doesn't think they're cute. He's a member of the Louisiana chapter of the Long Beach Air-Marine Rescue Unit, which monitors the emergency channel.

"We have two or three trouble calls a day – more when shrimping season is booming," he said.

"We had a fisherman this week who got in trouble and called till his batteries ran down. Nobody could hear him because of all the chatter on Channel 7.

"I don't blame the kids. It's the adults who buy the CBs and put them in the kids' rooms.

"But no matter who's to blame, somebody's liable to get killed out there because they can't get help.

"The kids here seem to have hit on Channel 7 for their gossip line, because a lot of them have fathers who are fishermen or hunters. The family base station is always on that channel. It's their own fathers they're liable to kill."

The situation is made even worse by the thousands of walkie-talkies sold as Christmas toys, Burke said.

"There's nothing inside them, so they bleed all over all 23 channels. From Christmas to the end of January, it's impossible. I just turn my radio off," he said.

"The walkie-talkies last about a month, then it's okay again. Drop them a couple of times, and they break."

He switched on his base set. After a minute or so of silence, a childish voice shouted, "Can you hear me?" Another child's voice responded, "I can hear you good – loud and clear. Can you hear me?"

The walkie-talkie conversation between the two children continued, audible on every channel as Burke twisted the dial on his set.

"They're cheaply engineered so they can keep the cost down and sell them as toys," Burke explained. "They're supposed to broadcast on one channel – Channel 14, for instance – but they're not precise, and you can hear them all over the dial when they're close to you."

Look At Transcripts Denied By Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) – Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has turned down a request by the National Archives to review the transcripts of his telephone conversations.

He was immediately challenged by James B. Rhoads, archivist of the United States, and Rep. Jack Brooks, the Texas Democrat who chairs the House Government Operations committee.

In a letter released Wednesday, Kissinger rejected a Rhoads proposal that General Service Administration archivists review the telephone transcripts to decide whether they are the secretary's personal property or belong to the government.

Kissinger has maintained the documents are his property, although he gave in to adverse publicity last month and donated the transcripts to the Library of Congress along with other papers and copies of official documents.

The problem is that Kissinger has restricted access to his collection, ordering them closed for 25 years unless he and other people involved give prior approval.

Further, Kissinger has ordered aides to review the transcripts and place extracts in the State Department of any portions dealing with public business.

If Kissinger loses his claim, then the archives, the State Department and any other agency involved would review each document and decide on what, if any, security classification would be necessary.

In some cases, a transcript could be made public immediately, in others it might be kept out of circulation for several years.

Kissinger's letter to Rhoads and earlier messages to Brooks cited a memorandum by State Department Legal Adviser Monroe Leigh as the basis for the rejection.

Leigh said Kissinger has met all State Department regulations and general government standards in dealing with his papers. Leigh added that the GSA is not an appropriate agency to review the documents because it is actively seeking to change government regulations for distinguishing personal from official papers.

$3.6 Million In Sales Tax Funds Shared

More than $3.6 million has been distributed to Orange County and its 26 cities in the January allocation of local sales and use tax receipts, the State Board of Equalization reported.

County government's slice amounts to $207,500, and the 26 cities shared more than $3.4 million. The county also received $925,000 from the special 0.25 per cent transportation tax.

The funds represent the second advance payment for the fourth quarter of 1976.

Anaheim led the cities in tax revenues with $512,000, followed by Santa Ana with $475,000; Costa Mesa, $347,500; Orange, $300,000; Huntington Beach, $250,000; Garden Grove, $205,000, and Fullerton, $202,500.

In all, the cities of the state received $38.8 million and the counties $6.4 million for a combined cities and counties distribution of $45.2 million.

The State Board of Equalization administers the six percent sales and use tax. The state receives 4.75 per cent and 1.25 per cent is distributed to the counties and cities.

SV Trustees Reject Runoff Election Idea

MISSION VIEJO – If there is ever a tie vote in a trustee election in the Saddleback Valley Unified School District, lady luck and not the voters will cast the deciding vote.

Trustees rejected 3-2 this week Supt. Richard Welte's recommendation that a run-off election be held in the event of a tie.

Welte's staff estimated that a run-off election would cost the district $26,029.

"There is a price that must be paid for democracy," the superintendent said.

But trustees George Henry, Carole Neustadt and Loa Young believed the price was too high and voted against the plan.

"I'm for flipping a coin and saving the money," said Henry.

After defeating the run-off election proposal, trustees voted unanimously to decide any ties by lot.

"It will probably never happen anyway," Mrs. Young said after the issue was decided.

Anaheim C-C Drops Charge For Brochures

ANAHEIM — The chamber of commerce has agreed to settle its dispute with the city over the sale of city-printed material by distributing the remainder of such material free.

The city was seeking repayment of $6,380, which officials claimed the chamber received from the sale of city promotional materials, printed at taxpayers' expense.

The chamber sold the publications while under contract to the city to distribute such brochures. Chamber officials claimed the price was put on the publications to discourage "wholesale" distribution of the material.

They claimed the contract with the city did not forbid their selling the materials as a deterrent to wasteful use of the brochures.

The chamber-city contract was canceled by the chamber under pressure from city officials. The council later formed a committee to work on some sort of settlement with the chamber for the money received from the sales.

The chamber claimed, under the approved settlement, that distributing the remainder of the books will cost $7,569 — well over the price of the debt claimed by the city.

Councilman William Kott, who helped work out the settlement, said it showed the chamber members as "gentlemen who were willing to pay off their debt."

Kott has been one of the most outspoken council critics of the chamber.

Watson Named 'Citizen Of Year' In NB

NEWPORT BEACH — Raymond Watson, president of the Irvine Co., was named "Citizen of the Year" Wednesday night at the 70th annual installation banquet of the Newport Harbor Area Chamber of Commerce.

Watson, 50, was selected for his contributions to the community and his ability to deal with both the public and governmental agencies in handling the vast number of Irvine Co. activities.

The event, held at the Marriott Hotel, included the installation of the board of directors to serve under chamber president Dennis Harwood, who succeeds Jim Parker as head of the 1,500-member organization.

Health Seminar

ANAHEIM — The "Total Health Seminar" will be held at the convention center Saturday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Special guest speaker will be Bob Harrington, "The Chaplain of Bourbon Street," whose topic will be "The Total Man."

Nine specialists in natural health will conduct seminars throughout the day.

Tickets for the program may be purchased at the door.

$1 Million School Site Stirs Debate

By RICH SEELEY
Register Staff Writer

MISSION VIEJO — By a 3-2 vote this week, Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees reluctantly approved spending almost $1 million to purchase a 10-acre elementary school site in Laguna Hills.

The vote to spend $975,000 for the site, at Beckenham and Camberwell streets, sparked a debate among trustees over skyrocketing land costs, alleged over-building of schools and the problems of double sessions.

"A few years ago we could have purchased three school sites for this price," said trustee Dennis Smith, who voted for the measure. He asked the district administration if there was a way trustees could freeze the price of future school sites to beat inflation.

Robert Ferguson, director of planning and development, said he knew of no legal way the board could do that. He said state regulations prohibit trustees from buying school sites years in advance of development even though it would allow trustees to get a better price.

Trustee George Henry, who voted against the purchase, said he was concerned that the district was over-building and may eventually end up with empty classrooms, once growth in the district levels off.

"I think we're heading for trouble in the future," he said. "We could end up like Newport-Mesa," he added, citing a district that grew rapidly in the 1960s and is now having to close schools due to declining enrollment.

Smith said the district was following a building program that state school planning experts say will prevent such a problem.

"I think the experts are wrong," Henry said, "and I think we ought to start looking at alternatives."

Asked what alternatives he would suggest, Henry said, "I don't know what the alternatives are but one alternative is to look for alternatives."

Trustee Carole Neustadt, who with Henry voted against the purchase, said she was concerned about the dwindling bond money the district has to purchase and build schools.

"If we don't pass a bond election next year, God forbid, we are going to be out of money to build," she said. "We should start making plans for that now."

Smith and trustee president Loa Young, said they supported continuing the district's building program because they opposed any alternative that involved double school sessions.

"Some of the most hostile board meetings I ever attended were 10 years ago when we didn't have enough schools and we were all on double sessions out here," Mrs. Young said. "It divided the community."

Supt. Richard Welte said he found double sessions "terrible" when he was a school principal in the 1950s.

"Double sessions are fine if it is not your youngster on double sessions," Welte said. Short of double sessions, he said his administration would look for alternatives to the current building program.

County Fair Paid $230,603 By Swap Meet

COSTA MESA — Swap meet attendance at the Orange County fair grounds increased 21 per cent last year funneling $230,603 into the fairground coffers, according to financial records.

The weekend swap meet is the biggest money-making event for the fair, drawing more than a million in 1976. In 1975, the swap meet increased the fair's revenues by $173,000.

The meet now has 900 booths.

Lawsuit Filed In Mesa Death

SANTA ANA — The city of Costa Mesa was sued for wrongful death Wednesday as the result of a police pursuit that ended when the suspect's vehicle collided with a third vehicle.

Alan George, 43, of Santa Ana, died Sept. 10, three days after a car being chased by police crashed into his car at Baker Street and Fairview Road.

When You Plant Under Trees

The trees in landscapes rarely stand alone. Shrubs fill in the conceptual spaces created by their canopies, lawns often sweep great areas beneath them and flowers often bring color to their feet.

But, there are abuses both to the trees and the plants beneath them that the home gardener should be aware of.

A few simple considerations for the needs of the tree and the supplemental plantings make planting under trees simple.

First, consider the space requirement of the tree. At least a one and one-half to two foot diameter watering well should be provided and maintained for thorough deep watering and fertilizing. Lawn trees, especially, should be guaranteed this right.

Weekly lawn irrigations only a few inches deep will not encourage proper deep rooting. Shallow roots will compete with the lawn for water and nutrients and often will not provide adequate anchoring for the tree in high winds.

The water well also will eliminate hand trimming around the tree trunk and will spare the trunk from weakening cuts and nicks caused by lawn mower collisions. And, ground covers such as ivy should not be allowed to grow over the watering well and up the trunk.

When planting under established trees, do not attempt to change the soil level or create a raised bed for annuals by filling in around the trunk with top soil. "Burying" the trunk will encourage rotting and the death of your tree. Instead, build a wall around the trunk to keep the soil from coning in contact with it.

When planting shrubs around trees be sure to give both tree and shrub enough room to stretch out.

Shrubs under large shade trees should probably be adapted to partial or full shade conditions. Consult your nurseryman for suitable companion plantings for shady areas.

One final consideration is the advisability of planting summer water requiring plants near drought tolerant native trees.

Many of our native plants have adapted to dry summers and resent any summer irrigation.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Do you like house plants? A goal of researchers is to produce small and medium-size potted plants that consumers may buy at attractive prices for informal use at the home and office.

Floriculturists at Cornell University already have developed production methods and crop scheduling for some plants for use by plant growers in New York State. Several kinds of flowering and foliage plants, they determined, could be produced efficiently with a minimum of production cost and time.

"This," Prof. Carl F. Gortzig says, "will enable growers to supply florist shops, plant stores, supermarkets and other outlets with quality potted plants that can be retailed at prices ranging from 99 cents to $1.29 a plant." Considering the soaring consumer demand for smaller size potted plants, Gortzig said, consumers want plants they can enjoy in their everyday surroundings — home, office, store or apartment.

Performing well in experiments were clerodendrum, coleus, New Guinea impatiens, marigold, primrose, zinnia, streptocarpus, and polka-dot plant, the researchers said. Clerodendrum, marigold, primrose, zinna and streptocarpus are colorful flowering plants, the first named serving as an attractive foliage vine after frost bloom. The primrose may be set out into the garden if bought in late winter or early spring. Some varieties of the New Guinea impatiens, reported new on the American floricultural scene from the South Pacific — produce flowers. Others are foliage plants, as are coleus and polka-dot.

All of these plants, Gortzig related, had such cost-reducing features as: They need no special or labor-intensive cultural practices such as pinching, disbudding, changes in spacing and special lighting or shading procedures as day-length control; no growth regulators are needed; they are generally free from insect and disease; they can be grown the year-around in succession, four to six weeks in summer and seven to eight weeks in winter.

Seeding and rooting of cuttings are done directly in the (four-inch) container in which the plant will be marketed Gortzig said. Also saving cost are slow-release fertilizers gradually putting nutrients into the soil, and an automatic capillary bench watering system that eliminates daily watering.

The next step at Cornell will be ways to improve market distribution of the plants to help the grower, retailer and consumer, and to identify other plants that can be produced as efficiently.

"If these goals can be met," Gortzig said, "then consumers will be assured of a steady supply of quality plants at highly attractive prices. The consumer's desire to have plants as an integral part of his every day environment for living can be readily served."

GARDENER'S CALENDAR

1. If you haven't already done so, prune and spray rose bushes. If rains are absent, be sure to keep them deeply watered.

2. Keep fallen camellia blossoms picked up to eliminate the possible breeding site for camellia petal blight.

3. Hydrangeas may be pruned to two or three leaf buds above ground.

4. Pinch back carnation plants to force bushy growth and abundant blooms. New plants can also go in now.

5. If you plan to prune an over-grown rhododendron do it within the month even though it will mean sacrificing a few blooms. Better spring growth will result to fill out the shrub!

Popular Apple

The "Empire" apple introduced by the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in 1966, is reported gaining in popularity as a commercial variety. This dark red apple with distinctive striping that ripens two weeks after McIntosh originated from a cross of McIntosh and Delicious.

Empire is a high quality dessert apple, very productive and it stores well.

Group Hopeful Of Tax Limit Vote

LAGUNA HILLS – Organizers of the grassroots Jarvis tax limit proposal say chances of getting the measure on the June 1978 general election ballot are "very good."

"Response across the state to our petition drive to qualify the proposal for the ballot has been very positive," Earle Christo vice chairman of the sponsoring organization, United Organizations of Taxpayers Inc., told more than 100 people at Laguna Hills Mobile Estates this week.

If the petition drive is successful and the proposal is approved by voters, it means that property taxes would be limited to 1 per cent of the cash market value of property. For example, the owner of a home with a cash market value of $40,000 would pay $400 in property taxes. The owner of a home with a cash market value of $80,000 would pay $800 in property taxes.

To qualify for the ballot, petitioners must collect the signatures of 500,000 registered California voters by March 7. However, the United Organizations of taxpayers is shooting for a goal of 1,250,000 valid signatures, Christo said.

At the moment, Christo said that 250,000 petitions with room enough for 1,750,000 signatures are being circulated across California.

"We want the 1,250,000 signatures to show the strength of the movement," Christo said. "All the legislature seems to understand is numbers."

Christo said that pending tax reform bills in the legislature mean nothing. "They will all die a horrible death," he said. "They are carrots the legislature is using to try to appease you. We've got the legislature worried. Don't depend on your elected officials. They created the (tax) disaster."

Organizers believe that if they are successful and the proposal is approved by voters as an amendment to the state constitution, it will force the legislature to close existing tax loopholes.

The proposal was drawn by the group and named for its chairman Howard Jarvis, executive chairman of the Los Angeles Apartment House Association.

Workshop Set On Bond Issue

BREA – An information workshop on the proposed $9.8 million Brea-Olinda Unified School District bond issue is to be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Brea-Olinda High School auditorium, 803 E. Birch St.

The bond issue to go on the March 8 school election ballot includes funding for a new elementary school and additions to Mariposa Elementary, Brea Junior High and Brea-Olinda High school.

Policeman Gets Clothes Back

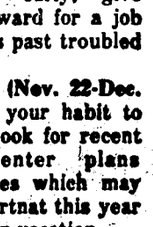

SAN DIEGO (AP) – It was enough to make thieves think twice about a car with a window sticker reading, "Support your local police department."

They took a jacket and sweater from the car owned by George Fisher, a police laboratory technician.

As Fisher drove to police headquarters to report the theft, he spotted his sweater and jacket – on the backs of two hitchikers. Fisher drove on but returned with officers.

The boys, aged 15 and 16 and identified only as runaways from the state of Washington, were taken to juvenile hall.

SATURDAY, JAN. 22

Your birthday today: Opens a year of personal adjustments parlayed so that by year's end you arrive on wholly new ground, doing things far above present skills. Relationships evolve swiftly without major incicent. Today's natives are self-contained, have their own cultural habits, wanderlust. Those born this year will need commercial expertise to apply anywhere, any time, in business. Their imagination becomes salesmanship once motivated by faith in what they have to sell.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Your opinion of what is good for another, however dear, is no more than that, as many factors escape your notice. Let them speak for themselves.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The best pleasures of life are really free, usually elusive. Join forces with others of similar status. Details of ongoing deals are ready for final okay.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Resist sales pitches. You can't afford to tie in with the mavericks in their capers. Important routine needs attention. Tonight indulge in your amusements.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Seek technical advice on problems, a second appraisal to verify it. Lay out plans for travel, this summer's garden, any projects you'd like to be major triumphs.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Group cooperation includes family funds, their uses, security. Review of work situations brings valuable suggestions, a formula for changes or higher pay.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Youngsters ask curious questions, cause temporary difficulty on their way to better understanding of themselves. You can help out with little effort.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Friends offer contradictory or confused views, unreasonable or unrealistic plans on all subjects. Champion your pet idea, present it with energy, enthusiasm.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): It's easier to go it alone than explain or correct discrepancy. Finish early, give yourself a reward for a job well done this past troubled week.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Reverse your habit to rush in, not look for recent changes. Center plans around hobbies which may be more importnat this year than your main vocation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Relieve your life style of clutter. Sell off or give outdated material to charity for a tax deduction. Evening fun runs to excess; go home ahead of it.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Select companions sensibly. In the course of social and sports events you can line up important agreements in principle for future ventures. Tonight relax.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Skip business dealings. First comes a letdown, then natural recovery processes set in smoothly. Personal matters are urgent; fit schedules around them.

Carr, Ex-SC City Manager, Accepts Job

SAN CLEMENTE – City finance director Kenneth Carr will leave his post to become city manager of Alhambra on Feb. 7.

Carr, 49, who was city manager of San Clemente for 11 years, will take the top administrative post of a city of 62,000, nearly triple the size of San Clemente.

Coincidentally, Alhambra is the hometown of Jerry Weeks, San Clemente's current city manager.

Carr, whose salary as finance director is $23,808, will work in a salary range of $32,256 to $39,216 in Alhambra, he said. He stepped down last year as city manager in San Clemente to take the finance director job for personal reasons.

Weeks said he will advertise to seek candidates for the finance director position.

SC Shopping Center Okayed

SAN CLEMENTE – A small shopping center on about 20 acres near Avenida Pico and the San Diego Freeway has been approved by the city council.

Developer Al Wulfeck was granted a rezoning of land from industrial and open space to a commercial designation. The council followed the recommendation of the city planning commission.

The acreage involved caused a controversy in past years when local merchants opposed the planned shopping center, saying local businesses would be hurt. There was no opposition this time.

Cultural Arts Review Slated By Fullerton

FULLERTON – The city council has decided to appoint a 16-member advisory committee to study the city's role in cultural activities.

The council action stems from recent furor concerning the control of the Muckenthaler Cultural Center. Several citizen groups were upset about the firing last November of center director William Gravesmill.

The firing sparked a dispute over who controls the center:

– The city council, which provides the center with about $100,000 in tax funds yearly, or,

– The board of directors of the Cultural Groups Foundation of North Orange County, a 19-member body which has controlled the center. (The board fired Gravesmill.)

The advisory committee will have 60 days to review the city's role in cultural affairs and report back to the council.

Committee members will include representatives of the foundation, Center Circle (a volunteer support group), Cal State Fullerton, the Museum of North Orange County, the League of Women Voters, the Orange County Art Association and local community centers.

In a recent report to the city council, staffers recommended that the city assume more control over cultural activities, terminate the agreement with the foundation board and absorb Muckenthaler Center as a city operation.

Staff members indicated in the report that the major problems in the city's cultural program were a lack of centralized review of cultural expenditures by the council and a lack of coordination of cultural programs.

One visualizes the final round of the Spingold or the Vanderbilt as replete with brilliant bidding and scintillating play, but that is not always the case. Sometimes the experts slip.

Three notrump is a cinch, but it is hard to get to and both pairs arrived at five clubs. A heart was discarded on the ace of diamonds at both tables.

Larry Cohen of the Rosenkrans team discarded a heart on the ace of diamonds, played the ace of spades, ruffed a spade and led a heart to East's 10. A club was returned to dummy's eight, another spade ruffed and a second heart led to East's ace.

East led another trump, but it was to no avail. Larry won in dummy, ruffed another spade, ruffed a heart with dummy's three of trumps, discarded his last heart on dummy's fifth spade and claimed.

The other declarer overlooked the possibility in that fifth spade. He led a heart at trick two to East's 10, his queen and West's king. West led a trump. A second heart went to East's ace and a second trump made it impossible for declarer to ruff more than one heart. Down one!

Possible State Limit On Growth Assailed At Meeting

By GEORGE GREY
Register Staff Writer

LAGUNA NIGUEL — The loss of 30,000 jobs, waste of millions of tax dollars and a possible battle between the county and state governments were predicted by the director of a county development advocacy group after a spirited public hearing over the Aliso Water Management Agency.

More than 150 people attended the afternoon and evening sessions at Niguel Hills Junior High School this week to consider construction of a $34 million sewage treatment plant to serve 43,000 acres of land in South Orange County.

More than two-thirds of the 25 speakers lambasted the State Water Resources Control Board staff recommendations. The recommendations would restrict use of the facility and set limits to future growth and construction of new homes by limiting the number of new homes to be hooked up to the sewage treatment plant.

The water board made the recommendations in cooperation with the state air resources board, which has said expanded sewage facilities would bring a higher population, hence more air pollution, to the area.

Gil Ferguson, executive director of the Council on the Environment, Employment Economy and Development (CEEED), said a "wrong decision" by the state water control board could trigger a clash between powerful state bureaucracies and local government labor and business leaders.

Ferguson accused the State Water Resources Control Board of ignoring the time and tax-dollars spent by local agencies on preparing sewage master-plans and "riding roughshod" over local decision making.

A decision by the Sacramento board to restrict sewage flows, he said, "will cost us valuable jobs in construction, lose us millions in taxes, drive up the prices of homes, insult our local county leaders and impact all the other cities in the county, like Irvine, Tustin, Orange, and others, because that's where all the people will be forced to move if sewer service is curtailed in the South Orange County area."

CEEED is a pro-development lobbying group made up of landowners, builders and construction trades unions.

Another speaker, Jim Beam, director of Building Industry Association of Orange County said he was "astonished" that only one member of the state water resources control board took the time to attend the meeting.

"Most of our comments were directed to Ray Dodson, the only member present," Beam said. "He will carry this public input back to Sacramento to the rest of the board, and we have no way of knowing how it will influence their final decision."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Edith opposes the sexual pornography outlined below. But a small minority are working from the top in our schools and church seminaries to erode religious idealism, as well as nationalism!

CASE K-611: Edith K., aged 24, is a clergyman's irate wife.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "what's wrong with our seminaries?

"My husband is in his last year there and the stuff they are teaching young pastors sounds like nonsense to me!

"For example, one of his professors squanders his class sessions talking about what he terms 'situational ethics.'

"He has the students argue over such hypothetical problems as would a wife be justified in seducing her husband's brother, who was a homosexual?

"For if she thus could wean him away from sexual affairs with his own kind and make him interested in real marriage, wouldn't that justify her adultery?

"Another case deals with an apparently sterile wife who wants a baby but wonders if it isn't her husband's fault that she can't get pregnant.

"So shouldn't she experiment by having secret affairs with other married men who have proved their own potency by having children?

"If she then becomes pregnant and bears her husband children, thereby delighting him, wouldn't her sexual indiscretions be more than justified?

"For she would have pleased the other men with whom she had sex, and would have erased her inferiority complex about not being able to bear a baby.

"Besides, her husband would be happier at having children, especially since he didn't know they weren't really his own.

"Dr. Crane, with all the important problems facing young pastors in their need for better pulpit oratory and rapport with teenagers, why waste their valuable hours in the seminary with 'situational ethics' of the sort I just mentioned?"

RELIGIOUS EROSION

Soil erosion is worrying our agricultural scientists, for it takes 100 years of decaying vegetation just to add a few inches of rich topsoil.

But a few seasons of heavy rainfall then can wash this fertile layer of humus right back to the oceans!

Farmers try to offset this in part by adding costly fertilizers.

But religious erosion can't be effectively treated by trying to add some "moral fertilizers" to our prison population.

Alas, this insidious ethical erosion has contaminated public schools as well as church seminaries, for young clergymen are now leaders of ultra liberal thought, as was true of presidential candidate McGovern, a Garrett Biblical Institute alumnus!

Dr. Kenneth Hutcherson, eminent Louisville ophthalmologist, arranged for me to occupy the downtown pulpit in his church and then invited a few guests to his home for Sunday dinner.

They included a former educator from Cuba, who had escaped just ahead of Castro's minions.

This educator was a zealous anti-communist and had brought out slides and movies showing the Castro regime's terrorism.

He often addressed seminary and public audiences, so he visited the head of the local Catholic Seminary, asking if the Monsignor would like to have him give his lecture and movies.

Since the Catholic Church has long been noted for staunch conservatism, this Cuban refugee was eagerly received.

But when he happened to mention the devastating effects of socialism and communism, the Monsignor regretfully withdrew his invitation, saying:

"Our Seminary students are socialists!"

Sewage Facility Studies Set

SAN CLEMENTE — The next step in the city's bid to upgrade its sewage treatment system will cost $40,850 for three studies to be prepared by consultant firms.

Councilmen this week authorized a $4,350 study by Keith and Associates, Consulting Engineers, of Santa Ana, to "verify cost estimates and needs for the water reclamation plant."

John Carollo Engineers of Fullerton will get $11,500 for a study of "maintenance and operation costs for supplemental environment impact report (EIR)" that must be submitted to the state water resources control board in connection with an ocean outfall project, council members decided.

Sayed Wardani, of Science-Technology-Environmental Company of La Jolla, will receive $25,000 for preparing the EIR necessary to get board approval for the project.

The ocean outfall is a project of the South East Regional Reclamation Authority (SERRA), which San Clemente recently rejoined in order to become eligible for state aid for sewer projects. It had quit SERRA several years ago, hoping to save money.

As a member of SERRA, San Clemente must pipe its treated effluent five miles north along the beach to the regional ocean outfall at Dana Point.

The pipeline project requires an additional EIR for which San Clemente also must pay.

Early Air Mail Pilots Say Job Was Risky

By DAVE ROSE
Register Staff Writer

ANAHEIM – Fifty years ago, Jerry Lederer was a young aeronautical engineer for, of all things, the post office department, doing his best to keep those canvas and baling wire air mail planes in the sky.

He retired not long ago as director of safety for NASA. Without batting an eye, he'll tell you it's a lot safer rocketing to the moon than it was flying the mails back in the 1920's.

Lederer, who now lives in Laguna Hills, recently dropped in at a stamp show at the Disneyland Hotel back where the philatelists were marking the 50th anniversary of Lindbergh's Atlantic flight.

Lindbergh was an air mail pilot during his early flying days, and that's what brought Lederer, now 74, and Eddie Cooper of Van Nuys to Anaheim. They're officers in an organization that's rapidly running out of members – Air Mail Pioneers.

JERRY LEDERER, EDDIE COOPER WITH MEMORABILIA
They Flew Mail For Post Office 50 Years Ago

Lederer's last job was safety director for the Apollo moon landings. He pictures those giant rockets, the sophisticated guidance technology, the soaring launch towers, the banks of computers and the hundreds of ground support personnel and marvels at the exploits of those seat-of-the-pants air mail pilots he knew who were all alone up there.

The captain of the Titanic had a longer life expectancy.

From Dec. 16, 1918, when Carl B. Smith plowed into a field, until another Smith, Walter J., fell into a spin on takeoff and perished on Sept. 8, 1922, 23 pilots and eight ground crewmen lost their lives.

Thirty-one of the first 40 pilots hired by the air mail service were killed.

They disappeared in blinding snowstorms, drenching rains, deadly fog banks and flaming crashes into trees, smokestacks, fences and mountain sides.

And some perished in clear weather when their flimsy planes failed them.

"During those early years, the Cleveland-New York route was a graveyard," Lederer said. "The weather was often very bad and they had to fly low."

Added Cooper, "You've got to remember they had no instruments, no radio, no gyro compass, no artificial horizon and rate-of-climb instruments, no still indicator, no trim tabs, no flaps, no brakes.

"And we knew nothing about icing, or even how it affected a plane and the engine (the carburetor would freeze up, killing the engine). The wing struts and wires would collect ice, and a plane would go down quickly."

The pilots, or most of them, refused to wear parachutes, Cooper said. They preferred to try to ride a stricken aircraft down to a forced landing rather than bail out. Many died trying.

"Lindbergh parachuted twice and was severely criticized by his fellow pilots," Cooper explained. "They didn't think it was right to abandon a plane that could kill someone on the ground."

The first air mail run began on May 15, 1918, with a route between New York and Washington, D. C. Two years later air mail planes were flying as far west as Omaha, Neb., and on Feb. 22, 1921, it became a transcontinental service when San Francisco was added.

During these first few years, pilots flew only during the day, Cooper said. The air mail traveled by train at night, then was put back aboard a plane first thing the next morning. Pilots flew 200-mile hops.

The whole show was run by the post office department, which hoped to show that air mail delivery was feasible, Lederer explained.

What the postal people hoped to do, added Lederer, was interest private enterprise in taking it over. But first it had to prove itself.

It didn't really catch the eye of the businessmen until Lindbergh's Atlantic flight on May 20-21, 1927, a flight Lederer termed "a great event. It gave aviation a terrific boost. It lifted it out of the doldrums."

In the early 1920's it was a different story. With no navigational equipment, pilots flew low when they could. In bad weather, farmers lit bonfires all along the route to guide the pilot to his destination, Cooper said.

Many farmers picked up pocket money by leasing out a small patch of ground as an emergency landing field.

Farmers and pilots even got to be good friends, he said. It wasn't uncommon for a pilot to swoop low over a farmhouse and wave to its occupants who might have fed him the day before when he was forced down.

By the mid-1920's beacons were installed all along the air mail routes, and night flights were added. The mail was being flown around the clock.

Fatalities continued, but they became fewer and fewer until by 1926, the service could boast a 98 per cent efficiency record, Cooper said.

There was only one fatality that year, but it took the life of one of the most famous pilots of the day, still another Smith, this one named Art, who struck a tree and burned.

The last one to die was John F. Milatzo, on April 22, 1927, just months before the post office got out of the air mail business. Milatzo's plane iced over on a night flight, and he crashed and burned.

Who'd want the job anyway? "Most of the pilots had been in the war and they loved to fly. The only jobs open were flying the mail or barnstorming," Cooper explained.

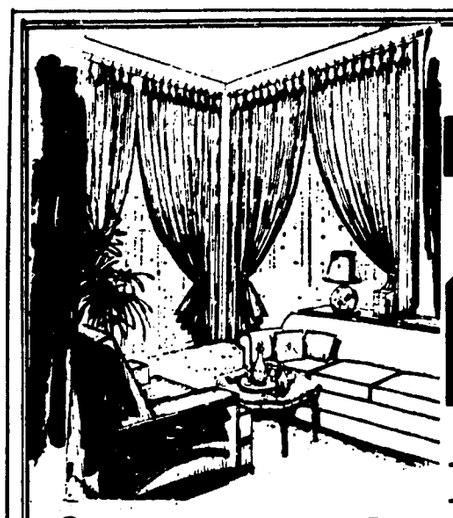

"There was good money in being an air mail pilot. He got $300 a month plus five or six cents a mile. It was eight cents a mile for night flying."

And there was more than just a little glamour to wearing the air mail patch, he added.

Said one pilot back then in a newspaper interview, "I seem to do well with the ladies."

Lederer and Cooper are presiding over an organization that won't be around too much longer. There are fewer than 20 pilots left.

STORK SANCTUARY

Wat Pailom is noisy, crowded and not very clean—strictly for the birds.

Especially Anastomus oscitans, otherwise known as the Open Bill Stork, shown in the pictures on this page. These birds break their annual migration flights to nest, lay eggs and hatch young in the disused temple compound of Wat Pailom, 25 miles northwest of Bangkok, Thailand.

Ornithologists say that the bird, which got its name from having a bill that never seems to close properly, travels from Cambodia and Thailand to India each year with the various monsoons. The storks have only one food—snails, abundant after the seasonal rains.

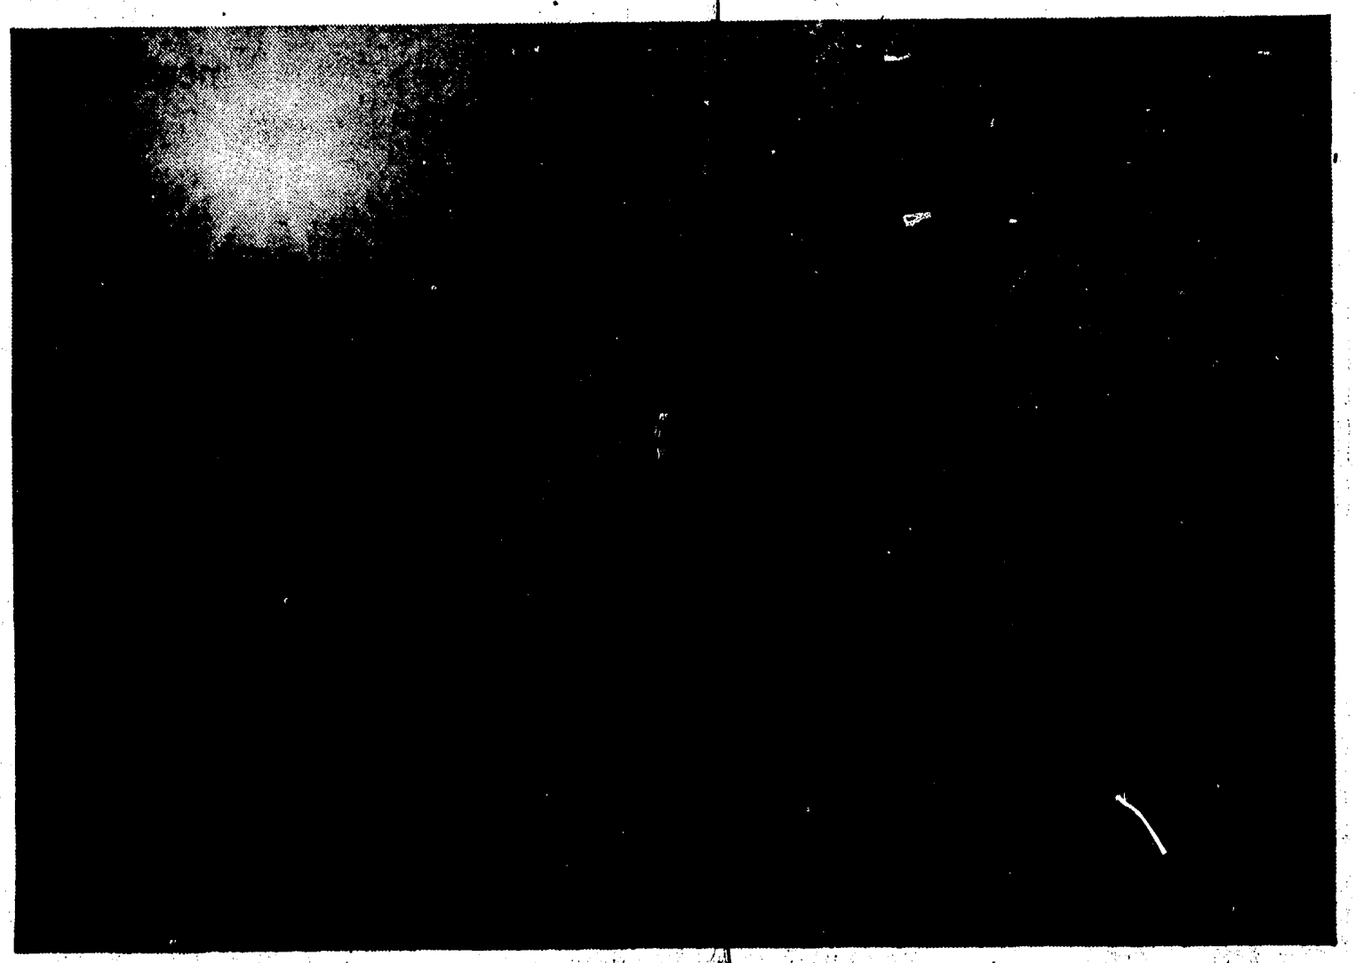

Visitors are welcome at Wat Pailom. But they're also advised to bring hats.

Edison Offers To Install Solar Heating System At Orange Coast

COSTA MESA — A solar energy system is scheduled to be installed at Orange Coast College sometime next summer, according to a college spokesman.

John Potter, physical facilities planning director for the Coast Community College District, said the solar system would be installed in either the college's administration building or the faculty office tutorial center.

The Southern California Edison Company has offered the system to the district as an experimental project. The company would pay installation and maintenance costs for two years, Potter said.

After the two-year period, the system becomes the property of the district.

Potter said the project isn't definite yet, adding that the district is waiting for a fact sheet from Edison.

He said the system will consist of solar panels installed on the roof to gather sunlight, which will heat water to heat the building.

"On many days, the solar system will be sufficient to maintain temperatures in the building," Potter said. On days when more or less heat is needed, the existing temperature controling system also will be used.

Potter said Edison will survey and research the system for the two years to find out if solar energy systems are feasible.

The same system is scheduled to be installed in the KOCE-TV administration building at Golden West College in Huntington Beach, Potter said.

ITALIAN PAINTING

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Memorial Art Gallery of the University of Rochester recently acquired a 16th-century Italian painting it calls "rare and important."

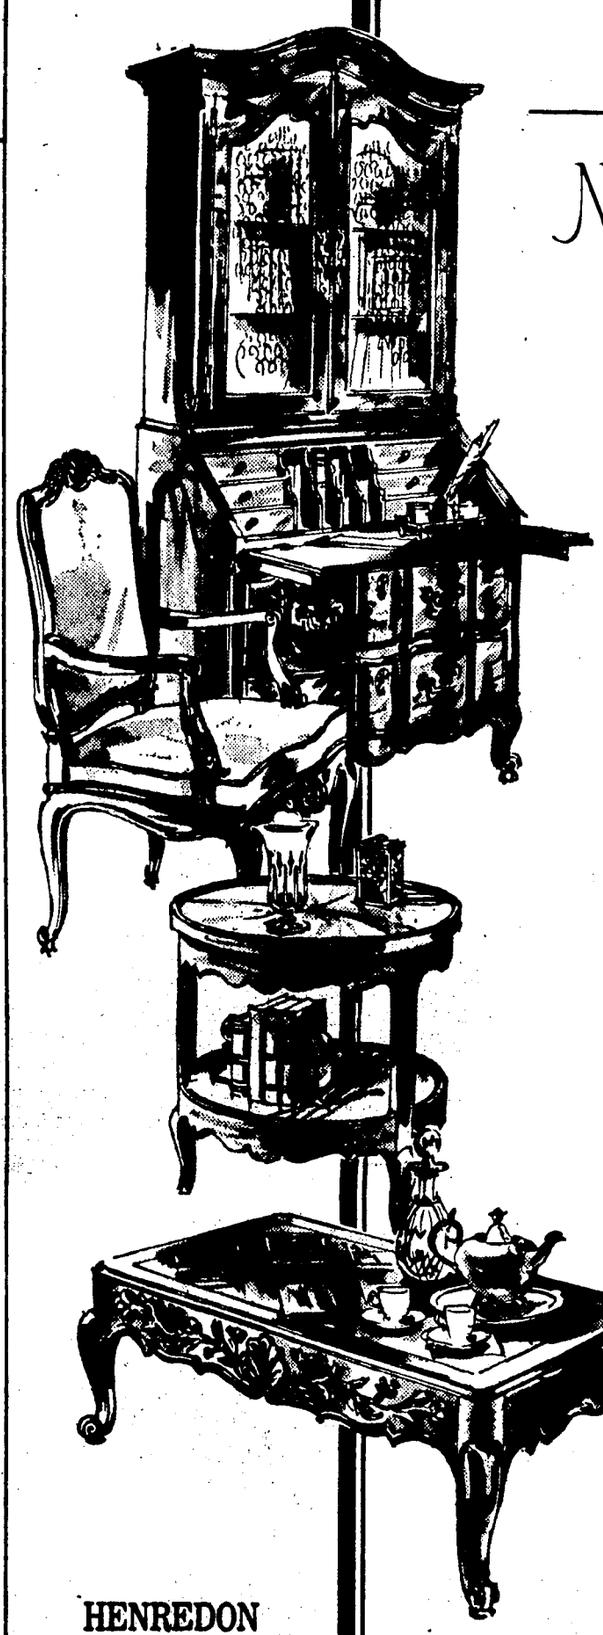

The painting is by Niccolo dell'Abbate. Gallery director John A. Mahey says it was "one of the great acquisitions made by an American museum this year, and certainly one of the greatest in the Memorial Art Gallery's history."

Stuffings Make Omelets Special

BY BARBARA GIBBONS

What do you do with leftover meat, when what's "left over" is barely enough to make a meal? Make an omelet! A stuffed omelet is so much more "special" than a sandwich. More filling and nourishing, too. Eggs are among the best – and cheapest – sources of protein around, and low-calorie as well.

HOW TO MAKE A NO-FAT-ADDED "STUFFED" OMELET – you'll need a small nonstick skillet, or an omelet or crepe pan, and some cooking spray for no fat-frying. Spray the pan well, then heat over moderate flame. Beat the eggs (no liquid added) then pour all at once into the hot pan. Shake the pan lightly, then lift up the edges of the egg, to let the unset portion run underneath. When the surface is nearly set add your filling. Then roll out onto a heated plate. Cover with wax paper, or an upended pie tin and keep warm in the oven while you prepare the sauce. Or, if you are lucky enough to have a microwave oven, reheat briefly to warm the filling through. (It helps if all the filling ingredients are room temperature rather than refrigerated.)

LOW-CHOLESTEROL egg substitutes can also be used. If cholesterol-watching, choose combinations that don't involve cheese or shellfish.

PARMIGIANA OMELET

(for each serving:)

2 eggs, beaten

1 ounce thinly sliced lean leftover roast veal (or turkey)

pinch of organo or Italian seasonings

garlic salt, pepper, red pepper flakes 2 tablespoons shredded part-skim mozzarella

three-quarters cup tomato juice (six ounces)

1 teaspoon onion flakes

Cook omelet according to preceding directions and fill with veal. Sprinkle the veal lightly with seasonings and one tablespoon mozzarella before rolling out onto a plate. Cover and keep warm.

In the same skillet, simmer the tomato juice, onion flakes and additional seasonings – uncovered over high heat – until it evaporates into a thick sauce. Pour the hot sauce over the omelet and sprinkle with additional shredded cheese. Serve immediately, with a tossed salad as a side dish. Each serving, about 305 calories.

MEXICAN ENCHILADA OMELET – follow the preceding recipe, but substitute cooked white meat chicken (or turkey) for the veal, extra-sharp cheddar for the mozzarella. Add a dash of Tabasco to the tomato juice (or used canned bloody mary mix) add a dash of chili powder and cumin to the oregano, and substitute minced green pepper (or dry bell pepper flakes) for the onion. About 310 calories.

FOO YUNG FOR FOUR

8 eggs, beaten

4 ounces lean leftover roast pork, diced

1 cup well drained canned Chinese chop suey vegetables

2 tablespoons finely chopped onion (or 2 teaspoons instant)

3 tablespoons soy sauce

1 cup fat-skimmed beef or chicken broth

2 teaspoons arrowroot or cornstarch

Make four individual omelets in a small skillet or omelet pan, filling each with some of the diced pork, Chinese vegetables and chopped onion. Set aside. To make sauce, combine soy sauce, broth and arrowroot. Heat until mixture simmers and thickens. Pour over omelets. Served with additional soy sauce and hot mustard. About 260 calories each.

OMELETS FOR TWO

(this one needs no sauce!)

8 ounce can chopped spinach, well drained

1 tablespoon dried onion flakes

pinch of nutmeg

salt and pepper

4 eggs, beaten

4 tablespoons shredded or chopped Swiss cheese

2 ounces thinly sliced leftover lean baked ham and delicatessen "boiled" ham or sliced Canadian bacon can be used.

(You may prepare one large omelet in a large skillet and cut in half, or make two smaller omelets separately, dividing the ingredients among each.)

Drain and chop the spinach and combine with onion flakes and a dash of nutmeg. Season lightly with salt and pepper.

Prepare omelet (or two smaller omelets.) When set, fill with spinach, cheese and ham. Roll out onto a plate and heat briefly in a warm oven or microwave oven to warm through and melt cheese. Serve with hot mustard. About 295 calories each.

DEAR MOTHER EARTH

'Plant Experience' Includes Kids

By LYNN AND JOEL RAPP

The Plant Experience is for everyone, and that certainly includes our younger brothers and sisters. Here are a few ideas to share with your children to further their interest in growing (and yours, too!).

Try growing small bulbs in bath sponges (real, not plastic or nylon). Make slits about two inches apart in the largest sponge, insert tiny bulbs (muscari or crocus) and saturate the sponge with water. Arrange some method of suspending the sponge (perhaps resting in a lettuce drainer) in a dark closet, and allow the bulbs to grow as usual. Firmness may be required to restrain your child from dragging the bulbs into the light long before they are ready, but if you can restrain their eagerness, the flowers will later appear, despite the odd planting medium, and that is always a thrill!

A square of wet flannel, a saucer, some seeds and a spot of direct sunlight will also produce fun for a child. Mustard and cress seeds are the best, as they grow quickly. Sow seeds on the damp flannel, which should be kept constantly moist thereafter (moist, not drowning). The fun for the child is to sprinkle the fine seeds through a paper cone into a fanciful pattern, perhaps their own initials.

Best of all is the carrot. Choose a plump carrot and cut it straight across about three inches down from the top. Either set this in a shallow bowl of water held steady by sand or pebbles, or turn it into a carrot beard. Hollow out the core of the carrot from the cut end with a knife or sharp-edged metal spoon. Puncture the sides and thread with a string by which to suspend the carrot. Finally, keep the hollow carrot cup filled with water. Eventually it will produce masses of feathery greenery growing downward, beard-shaped.

Your children have a real appreciation for plants and nature, so don't keep the Plant Experience a secret from them! Happy growing!

Tutor Training Classes Set By Literacy Council

To help combat illiteracy, South Coast Literacy Council (SCLC) is conducting two tutor training classes in teaching English as a second language.

These 30-hour, 10-week courses will be held in San Juan Capistrano beginning Monday from 9 a.m. to noon in the Community Presbyterian Church, 32202 Del Obispo, and Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Regional Occupational Program facility, 26900 Acjachema.

Betty Kent, tutor trainer, will instruct the morning class assisted by Estelle Rosenthal. DonVivrette, SCLC president, and Onaleee Carter, director of tutor training, will teach in the evening.

Tutors do not need to have teaching experience or knowledge of a foreign language, according to Vivrette, and men and women of all ages may take the training course.

Mrs. Carter of Laguna Beach may be contacted for further information.

Cultural Tour Of Los Angeles Set By Society

A cultural heritage tour of Los Angeles historical sites will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, with a bus departing from Bowers Museum, 2002 N. Main St., Santa Ana. The event is sponsored by the Orange County Historical Society.

A docent from the Los Angeles Cultural Heritage Board will guide the tour to such places as St. Viviana Cathedral, the Bradbury Building, Bunker Hill and Pico House. Lunch and sightseeing at Olvera Street will also be included. The tour will return to Bowers at approximately 4 p.m.

The event is open to society members and guests, with remaining seats open to the public. There will be a fee for the tour, and Bowers Museum may be contacted for reservations.

RADIATION TALK

William Wadman, radiation safety officer at UC Irvine, will be guest speaker at the meeting of Stanley Mitnick Chapter, City of Hope, at 7 p.m. Saturday in Mercury Savings and Loan, Valley View Street and Lincoln Avenue, Buena Park.

Talk On Human Sexuality To Be Presented

A program on "Human Sexuality" will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the Newport Harbor Counseling Center, 1151 Dove Street, Suite 230, Newport Beach.

Lee Hachey, a licensed counselor, will discuss the ways in which greater understanding of human sexuality will enhance self-understanding.

The presentation is sponsored by CHARISMA, a group dedicated to enhancement of self-image through intellectual stimulation.

Nutrition Talk

A seminar on "Energy Unlimited – Nutrition is the Key," will be presented from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Sol Center Foundation, 304 Richland St., Santa Ana.

Walter Galovan of the Christian Health Service, Costa Mesa, will conduct the seminar, which emphasizes health, youth, vitality and mental stamina through nutrition.

The foundation may be contacted through telephone directory assistance for additional information and registration.

DANCE CLASSES

Classes in Hawaiian and Arabian dance as well as "rock hustle" will begin Monday sponsored by Anaheim Parks, Recreation and the Arts Department. Locations for the classes will be Loara High School and South Junior High School. Time and registration fee information can be obtained by calling the Anaheim Parks Department.

LUNCHEON

Anaheim Memorial Hospital Guild has planned a potluck luncheon at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Rex Bruhns in Anaheim. A business session will follow the luncheon.

Classic, But Never Dull Fashions Shown

By DANIELA PETROFF
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) – "True elegance is felt rather than seen," says Irene Galitzine, whose spring-summer 1977 high fashion collection opened the second day of the three-day high fashion fling Wednesday.

The Galitzine collection was proof that she practices what she preaches. Never flashy or brash, classical without being dull, the 1977 Galitzine will be noted for who she is, not for what she wears.

Bright and young in a blue pinstriped light wool suit featuring culotte pants worn with a three-quarter-length jacket, beige cossack boots, and a man-tailored white blouse, she will be sure to turn more than one head on a glittering spring morning.

For the more conservative woman, Galitzine proposes a morning look in a two-piece outfit with a tunic top and plisse skirt in beige silk chiffon.

For soft and romantic evenings, Galitzine features ankle-length floral prints in crepe de chine, with ruffles on the sleeves and skirts and an off-the-shoulder neckline, which takes us on a quick flight to Acapulco.

Also Mexican in inspiration are the white and black evening dresses in linen, again with ruffled short sleeves and lace stiching. A midnight blue silk pajama with a kerchief top brings us back to pure Galitzine elegance.

Other morning shows included Tita Rossi and Barocco. Rossi's collection was Polynesian in inspiration with its very wide gathered pants in crepe de chine, huge flowing sleeves like the wings of a seagull and tropical beach colors of ivory, blue and navy.

Barocco's spring summer high fashion collection has made the ruffle into a way of life, putting it on gaily designed chiffon prints or white and black cottons with satin ribbon trimmings, allowing his fun-loving woman to flounce through the day from the beach to the ballroom.

B'NAI B'RITH WOMEN

Anagrove Chapter, B'nai B'rith Women, will meet 8 p.m. Monday at Eastland Savings, 910 S. Brookhurst, Anaheim.

Election of new officers will be held.

CLUB SCENE

Members of Orange and San Bernardino county chapters of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, San Orco District, will discuss legislation during a conference to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Holiday Inn, 2505 E. La Paz Road, Laguna Hills, formerly the Hilton Inn.

Marian Ash, the federation's legislation chairman, will be assisted by San Orco District legislation chairman Elma Werner in conducting a pro and con discussion of the organization's legislation platform.

A speak-off will be held to select the winner of the Young Career Woman award, for women between the ages of 21 and 28 who had worked at least one year in a career or profession. A "Bicentennial Splash" fashion show depicting American women throughout the years will also be featured.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Brea Senior Citizens Forever Young Club has slated a combination fun night and birthday and anniversary party, beginning at 7 p.m. Friday in the Brea Community Center, Elm and Sievers Streets. Those with birthdays or anniversaries in January will be honored. The event is open to all senior citizens in the Brea area.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN

A demonstration on making machine knit fashions will be presented Tuesday during the 6:30 p.m. dinner of the Santa Ana Council, Christian Business and Professional Women in the Estrella Room of Bullock's Fashion Square, Santa Ana.

Brigitta Hanke will give the knitting demonstration. Author Mildred Tengbom will be guest speaker, and vocalist Mrs. Jackie Shinen will entertain.

The event is open to all women, and reservations may be obtained by contacting Mrs. S.H. Freeman of Santa Ana. Sign language interpretation will be available for the hear-of-hearing.

HOME ECONOMISTS

The Orange County Home Economists in Homemaking will hear a presentation on "Making the Most of Your Meat Dollar" and participate in product testing at 10 a.m. Monday in the Alpha Beta Demonstration Kitchen, 950 S. Cypress Ave., La Habra. Mrs. R.B. Trousdale of Santa Ana may be contacted for reservations.

Council Prefers To Ride A Truck

LAGUNA BEACH – William Shakespeare might have been moved to grab the nearest fire extinguisher and put out the flames.

But he hasn't been around for years, so a paraphrase from the bard's work will have to suffice. "To fire truck or not to fire truck, that is the burning question" facing Laguna Beach's self-appointed junior fire department, better known as the city council.

Seems that the council has "unofficially" decided to ride on an antique fire truck during the city's eleventh annual Patriot's Day Parade set for Feb. 19.

But parade officials say that dignitaries dangling from a fire truck is not a part of the dignified demeanor they'd like the council to demonstrate. Instead, the parade association wants to plop the council into a string of Cadillac convertibles.

The council then voted 4-1 to have Mayor Sweeney meet with the parade association to reach an agreement on the fire truck-Cadillac confrontation. The mayor cast the dissenting vote. "Oh, thanks," she said.

"If the council decides to ride on the fire truck and be in costume," said Cal Orcutt, parade co-chairman, "we feel that since they would be at the front of the parade with the other dignitaries, they would look out of place. It would look strange for the city clerk and treasurer to be in Cadillacs and the council to be on the fire truck."

Just one hitch. City Clerk Verna Rollinger and City Treasurer Peg Morreals say they want a piece of the fire truck, too.

"I feel at home with the people of Laguna Beach," said Councilwoman Sally Bellerue. "Cadillac convertibles put us on a pedestal and that's not where we are. I want to be on the fire truck. Put us somewhere else in the parade. Maybe at the end."

SCHEDULE CHANGE SET BY ENCHANTED VILLAGE

BUENA PARK – The new weekends only schedule at Enchanted Village is due to "economic reasons" tied to winter weather problems, president Joe Prevatil said this week.

Prevatil, who noted many amusement parks cut back on operations during winter, said, "It also gives us an opportunity to do some refurbishing and develop new ideas."

Park officials announced last week the Village will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at least until early Spring.

Featured attractions – performing animals, dancers and singers – will continue weekends until the Easter holidays when the normal schedule will be resumed for one week.

Prevatil said plans for April and May are undecided. However, the seven-day schedule will begin again in mid-June and continue through the summer.

Clinic On Blood Pressure Slated By Stanton Hospital

STANTON – Free blood pressure and pulmonary function screening clinics will be offered to the public by the Stanton Community Hospital.

The blood pressure clinic will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 29. Signs of high blood pressure, according to Dr. Robert Van Riet, hospital vice chief of staff, include headaches, blurred vision, insomnia, dizziness, shortness of breath, swelling in the ankles and nosebleeds.

The pulmonary function clinic to detect lung problems will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 19. The test is painless, lasts about two minutes, and involves taking a deep breath and exhaling a volume of air through a mouthpiece, he said.

DOCTOR SAYS

DEAR DR. LAMB – I would like to know something about the pancreas and what it controls in the body, if you please.

My husband has a calcifying pancreas. He drinks quite a bit of beer. He was told by our doctor that he was not to drink a drop of any kind of alcohol, but I am unable to convince him to stop. I am embarrassed to say that he has loose bowels (very loose). He weighs 140 pounds and is 6 foot tall. He is extremely nervous.

I have talked to him nicely and I have scolded him and nothing helps. I told him that I would write to you for information on the hazards involved.

DEAR READER – The pancreas is an important organ in our ability to digest food. It is located just below the stomach and attached to the first part of the small intestine. It is from four to six inches long. The gland in animals is often used for sweetbreads.

There are two parts of the gland, the tissues that form pancreatic juice (we form from one to three quarts a day) and the small islets of Langerhans seeded throughout the pancreas that form insulin.

The pancreatic juice drains into the small intestine through a tube that is joined to the common bile duct. The bile and pancreatic juice mix together with the partially digested food from the stomach.

The pancreatic juice contains the enzymes that accomplish most of the breakdown of starch from various carbohydrate foods. It also contains the enzymes that break down the proteins into amino acids so they can be absorbed through the intestine. And it contains the enzymes that break down fat. So, most of the food we eat must be acted upon by enzymes from the pancreas before it can even be absorbed to do us any good.

Failure to break down food, particularly the fat, leads to diarrhea and large foul-smelling stools. Part of your husband's problem here may be from his pancreas.

The pancreas may have a few small or even larger calcifications in it without being significantly damaged. However, I presume from your letter that your husband does have damage. How much trouble he has, or will have, depends entirely on how much damage there is to the pancreas.

Many people have disease of the pancreas and never drank a drop of alcohol, but alcohol is definitely damaging to the pancreas. Your doctor was 100 per cent correct in saying your husband should not drink a drop. It is a matter of life or death for him and his pancreas will only get worse as long as he continues to drink. The quality of his life, in terms of diarrhea and what he gets out of the food he can't digest will only go downhill from here unless he follows his doctor's instructions to the letter.

Your letter really tells me that your husband has an alcohol problem and that the pancreatic disease is a complication of that problem. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4 on alcohol to give you more information. Others who want to know what alcohol does to the body can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Since you have the same doctor I think you would be wise to talk with the doctor with your husband, or alone if necessary, and try to get his help in getting your husband some assistance locally for his alcohol problem through whatever organizations are available to you there.

"Here we are — I'm the ex-president playing in the Crosby at Pebble Beach. HOW can you DO this to me?"

Awesome Pebble Beach Turns Tame

Green Fires 65 On Rare Calm Day At 'Crosby'

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) – Hubert Green took advantage of the rare, almost windless conditions, subdued awesome Pebble Beach with a seven-under-par 65 and established a one-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $200,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament.

"It's unusual, finding Crosby weather like this," said Green, a three-time winner last season. "Usually it's awful. And this is just outstanding."

But Green, one of the corps of young men rapidly claiming the tour for their own, wasn't counting the tournament won.

"You can't get cocky here," he said. "This golf course can eat your lunch and the bag you brought it in."

But the famed, picturesque layout on the Monterey Peninsula, often a wind-blown tiger, turned into a tame and purring tabby in mild, almost windless weather. Tom Watson, for example, once holed it from a bunker for an eagle three and shot a 66.

Arnold Palmer, who will play with ex-President Ford as his 18-handicap amateur partner in the second and third rounds, went to a disappointing 74 at Cypress Point. Since Palmer's individual score must count as today's team score in the absence of Ford, who was attending the inauguration of President Jimmy Carter. The Ford-Palmer team must improve drastically to qualify for the final round Sunday at Pebble Beach.

"We'll have to shoot about nine under each of the next two days," Palmer said.

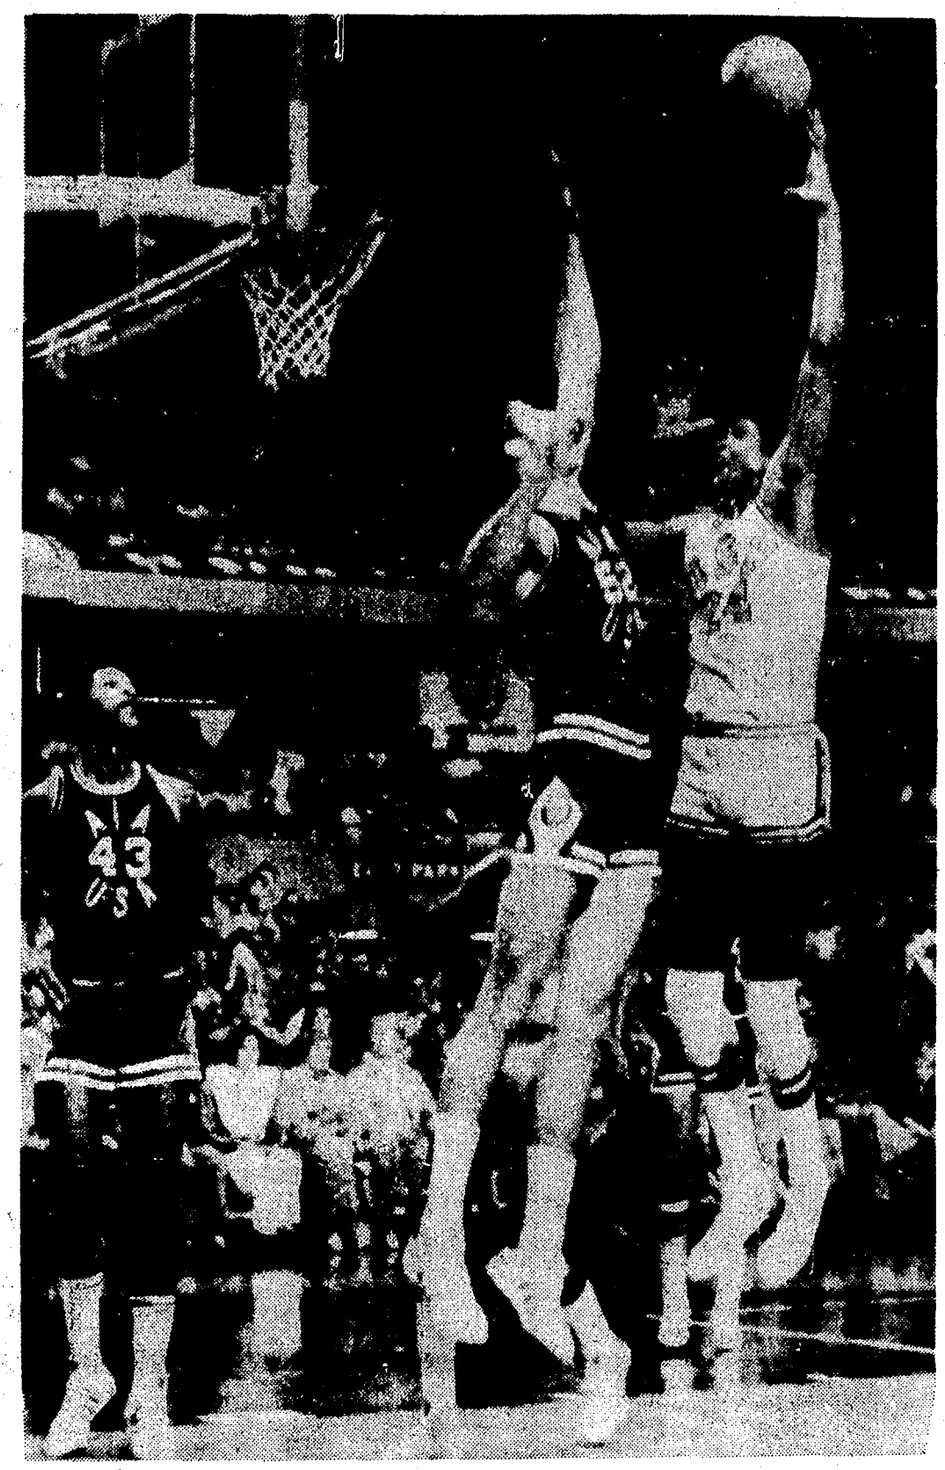

"I just played bad," said the 47-year-old Palmer, who made his first start of the season. He smiled and his eyes twinkled.

"And my partner, I don't know where he was, but he didn't help a bit."

The former president was airborne, enroute to California from Washington. As all the other amateurs in this unique tournament, he and Palmer will play a better ball in the pro-am section of the competition, with Ford getting a stroke a hole off his 18 handicap.

Mexican Victor Regalado had a 67 at the par-71 Shore course at Monterey Peninsula Country Club. Billy Casper, Don Bies, Gene Littler and Tom Kite had 68s on the same

AIA Hands USF 104-85 Setback

By CARL SAWYER

University of San Francisco is No. 1 in the nation but No. 2 in Orange County today following a dazzling 104-85 victory over the Dons by Athletes In Action before 6,715 excited fans Thursday night at Anaheim Convention Center.

Playing their first home game ever, the Tustin-based Athletes In Action teased the appetites of county basketball fans by soundly defeating coach Bob Gaillard's talented Dons. Those fans won't have long to wait for more action because AIA will take on University of Nevada at Las Vegas at comfortable Anaheim CC on January 29.

Orange County got a closeup look at two of this country's best amateur basketball teams and it was a sparkler from start to finish.

AIA, coached by ex-Santa Ana College coach Bill Oates, must have saved something special for their home debut because the Dons are 19-0 in collegiate play this season and are firmly entrenched atop the major college polls.

The loss to AIA in exhibition will have no effect on the rankings.

"We've been playing very well since December, but we played extra well tonight, said Oates, obviously pleased that his multi-talented club made its first home victory a big one.

Oates was impressed with San Francisco, but felt the Dons were probably hurt by the absence of forward James Hardy, the former Long Beach Jordan High phenom. Hardy reinjured his knee in a workout Wednesday at Santa Ana College and was held out of action by Gaillard.

The quickness of Brad Hoffman, Eldon Lawyer, Tery Larrew and Freeman Blade in the AIA backcourt raised havoc with USF as they took turns feeding Irv Kiffin, Bayard Forrest and Ralph Drollinger inside for key baskets that helped AIA build a 49-38 halftime lead.

Bill Cartwright, USF's spectacular 7-0 center, battled fiercely on the boards and poured in 16 points in the first half, but AIA's depth and quickness began to show before the halftime break.

A quick spurt by AIA at the start of the second half expanded the advantage and reached a 75-55 margin with 9:12 to play on a jumper by Hoffman.

Hall, Lawyer and Drollinger took turns firing field goals as AIA turned back USF hopes for a comeback.

Allen Thompson came off the Don bench to give Cartwright scoring help, but AIA maintained its lead between 18 and 20 points the rest of the way with accuracy at the foul line.

Cartwright finished with 27 points to lead all scorers while AIA presented a better balanced attack with six players in double figures led by Hall with 20, Kiffin and Drollinger with 18 each, Hoffman with 13, Lawyer with 12 and Larrew with 11.

Relishing their first ever game before a partisan home crowd, AIA seemed to enjoy the contest as much as the fans who appreciated their first look at the national AAU champions of 1976 and the No. 1 ranked Dons.

SAN FRANCISCO (85) - Williams 4, Cox 6, Cartwright 27, Redmond 18, Boynes 10, Randell 4, Hamilton 2, Thompson 12, Gilberg 1.
AIA (104) - Hoffman 13, Lawyer 12, Hall 20, Kiffin 18, Forrest 8, Drollinger 18, Larrew 11, Blade 4.
Halftime: AIA 49, San Francisco 38.
Fouled Out: Drollinger.
Officials: Lorenzo Clark and Al Hackney.
Attendance: 6,715.

Gals In Glory At 'Crosby'

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) – Gerald R. Ford, with the White House behind him, will be following the girls today in the 36th Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

"The pairings are fantastic! With Ben Crenshaw in front of us and Arnold Palmer and the President behind us, we can't help but have great galleries," said Marianne Bretton who, along with Nancy Lopez made Crosby tournament history Thursday.

The two college sophomores – Bretton from UCLA, Lopez from Tulsa University – became the first women to play in the Crosby, golf's most prestigious pro-am.

Ford, who left office Thursday after the inauguration of Jimmy Carter as President, joins Palmer for today's second round. Hale Irwin and industrialist Darius Keaton complete their foursome, which will be playing at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club directly behind the group including Bretton and Lopez.

"I love big galleries. I'm better with a lot of pressure. I think," said the 19-year-old Bretton, although admitting that Thursday's crowds, the biggest she'd ever played before, helped maker her "very tense the first few holes."

"The galleries were great to us, though. They even applauded some bad shots."

Bretton opened Thursday's round at the Cypress Point course with a double bogey, sending her tee shot into a cluster of trees. Lopez parred the first three holes, barely missing a 20-foot birdie putt at No. 1.

"I shot an 84. Please don't print that," said Bretton, the California Women's Amateur champion and runner-up in the U.S. Amateur last year. "I'll do better. Cypress Point and Pebble Beach are the toughest two courses I've ever played, and we have to play from the men's tees. That makes it a whole new ball game."

Lopez, the women's national collegiate champ, lost her touch after the first three holes, picked up her ball several times and would have been near 90 if her scorecard was completed.

"I think she tried to hit the ball too hard. But she's going to be a great player," said Lopez' partner, Jose Gonzales of Mexico.

Dick Baney: Boy In Girls' Centerfold

A guy with a sense of humor, Joe Stephenson was holding court with several of his fellow baseball scouts. The sleuth who works out of Anaheim for the Boston Red Sox said to them real slow and cagey like: "I am the only major league scout in history who has two distinctions nobody can dispute!"

Those who search the quicksand for kids who can throw, hit and run are hard to impress. "Ha ha," scoffed one old-timer. "So you signed Fred Lynn."

"Touche," responded Stephenson, "and please don't forget that Mr. Lynn became the first-ever rookie to be voted Player of the Year."

Okay, another conceded: "So Lynn made you Scout of the Year. Now what was your other achievement that will ring down through the halls of time?"

For a moment Joe savored his score. He let the suckers swim around his bait. Then he revealed Scoop No. 2. "I," he said slowly, "am the only scout in the history of major league baseball to sign a player who made the centerfold of Playgirl Magazine."

"Playgirl magazine?" the boys gasped. "Who in hell did you ever sign who made the centerfold of Playgirl Magazine?"

THE NAME IS BANEY

His name, Stephenson said cooly, is Dick Baney, an Anaheim High pitcher of 10 years ago. This week Baney is getting more "exposure" than he did at Anaheim, or when he was with the Red Sox, or Seattle (the first time it was in the majors) or even when he was picked up by the Cincinnati Reds and pitched their pennant clincher in relief.

"A couple of the pictures in Playgirl's centerfold were taken at Anaheim Stadium," Joe says. "Of course one or two weren't."

Baney, who tells Stephenson he still hopes to get back in baseball (hopefully with his home town Angels; he's living in San Diego) recalls the odd circumstance surrounding his move from the pitcher's mound to the centerfold. It started when he was with the Reds and met Rona Barrett, a Hollywood gossip columnist.

"You're so handsome, you ought to be in the movies," she told Baney.

The publicity from that remark resulted in a call from Playgirl asking him to appear as a centerfold.

"I turned them down. I did not feel it wise, being a representative of the Reds," explained Baney."

WARMED UP IN HURRY

The incident was put aside. Baney had some modest success with the Reds, and then was sent down to Indianapolis where his career came to a screeching halt on July 4, 1975. "They asked me to warm up in a hurry," Baney recalled. "I guess I wasn't ready when I went in. I threw a pitch and felt something snap. I knew then it was over."

"I was walking at Laguna Beach one day when this girl comes up to me and tells me a lady wants to see me. Sure enough under an umbrella, there's this lady," Baney recalled.

'SHE'S FROM PLAYGIRL"

"She says she's from Playgirl and wants to know if I'd be interested in posing. She said she didn't know who I was and she was surprised when I told her I had been asked before.

"This time though I was out of baseball. She got me top money. I figured, why not?"

But being a star has its problems, such as the other day when Baney walked into a bank.

"I looked at the teller and she was blushing. Seemed like everyone in the bank was whispering. I asked the teller why she was blushing.

"You would ask," she said. "I saw your picture."

Eight Grid Champs In CIF Next Fall

By MIKE WOJCIECHOWSKI

NORWALK — There will be eight high school football champions next fall in the CIF southern Section, it was decided Thursday at the winter meeting of the General Council.

The proposal, submitted by University High principal Vic Sherritt, representing the CIF Playoff Committee, calls for the reduction in the length of the football season to 13 games for the finalists, with each of the eight divisions having 16 teams in the playoffs.

For the past three years playoffs in the 2-A, 3-A, and 4-A divisions have had 32 teams, forcing the finalist to playing an exhausting 14-game schedule.

The advantages of the new concept, according to the proposal are:

1. It would shorten the football playoff season by one week;

2. It would reduce the number of playoff games that an individual youngster would have to engage in from five to four if he were to go all the way to the championship;

3. It would permit athletes who participate in winter sports activities, but are in the playoffs, to be released one week earlier if the present playoff schedule is maintained;

4. With the expanded grouping to eight from four classifications, a better job of grouping leagues on the basis of size and strength could be maintained, possibly resulting in closer competition;

5. By increasing the number of classifications it could double the opportunity for members to have the satisfaction

WAC Fouling Up 'Pacific 10' Plans

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) – The Western Athletic Conference is fouling up plans for a speedy transition into the Pacific-10 Conference by Arizona State University and the University of Arizona, officials of the Arizona schools said Thursday.

The presidents of the six other WAC schools have told their athletic directors not to negotiate with the two Arizona schools, which want to get out of WAC football games scheduled through 1982.

The WAC presidents sent a telegram to ASU and UA saying they feel there is a legal and ethical commitment to honor the schedules. The Arizona schools, which hope to play a seven-game PAC-10 schedule in 1978 to become eligible for Rose Bowl competition, contend there is no legal commitment.

"The other athletic directors can't talk to us officially," said Fred Miller, ASU athletic director. "But we can always call and ask how the weather is. We attempt to say, 'Hey, it's common sense for guys to sit down and negotiate.'"

Miller said the PAC-10 schools have offered to alter schedules to accomodate the WAC.

The two Arizona schools also reportedly have offered WAC schools $75,000 per game for future contests, rather than the flat guarantee of $25,000 they have now.

Kings Overpower Penguins, 5-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Defenseman Dave Hutchison rifled in a 35-foot power play goal in the second period to snap a 3-3 tie and Marcel Dionne added an insurance tally with 1:10 left on another power play as Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 5-3 in a National Hockey League game Thursday night.

The Kings, who connected on four of six power play attempts to post the win, moved to within four points of the second-place Penguins in their Norris Division battle.

It was only the second victory for the Kings over the Penguins in their last eight meetings.

Goalie Rogie Vachon saved the victory for the Kings with 7:08 left to play when he made a spectacular save on Rick Kehoe's breakaway attempt.

The Penguins grabbed an early first-period lead on the first of Ron Schock's two goals, but Butch Goring tied it 1-1 for his 16th goal of the season while the Kings enjoyed a man advantage at 8:22.

Mike Murphy shot Los Angeles into a 2-1 lead to beat goalie Denis Herron. Schock then skated around defenseman Neil Komadoski to beat Vachon fronm 10 feet for his 12th score of the season and tied the contest at 2.

The Kings took the lead again on another power play when Williams fired in his 24th goal of the season to equal his personal career high.

Mrs. Bill Cook Dies

Kathryn Cook, wife of the late famed football coach, Bill Cook, joined him in death Thursday at Laguna Community Hospital.

Funeral services are to be held Monday at 3 p.m. in Pacific View Chapel at Corona del Mar.

She had been suffering from cancer for almost two years and had been in the hospital since Tuesday.

Mrs. Cook was a member of a noted sports family, her father, the late C.C. (Gavy) Cravath having been major league baseball's home run king before the Babe Ruth era. Cravath played for and later managed the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League, and later was Laguna Beach justice of the peace for many years.

Mrs. Cook met Bill Cook when she was working at Anaheim High School. They were married soon after he graduated from USC and became head coach and athletic director of Santa Ana College.

Mrs. Cook is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Virginia (Ginger) McMillan of Laguna Beach, and a sister, Mrs. Charles (Barbara) Jacobs of Costa Mesa.

Titans Rip San Jose St.; Pacific Next

By CHUCK ABAIR

Fullerton State awaits the Saturday arrival of Pacific after walloping visiting San Jose State 84-64 Thursday night to advance from fourth place to third in the PCAA race.

Five Titans hit double figures and 10 scored in the surprising easy triumph over the unimpressive Spartans, who had upset Pacific in their league opener at Stockton.

Fullerton, 10-5 in all, is now 2-1 in the conference compared to 2-0 for Long Beach State and San Diego State. The Aztecs dropped Pacific to 0-2 with an 83-76 overtime win last night.

Kevin Heenan, who sank five of his first six shots, took point honors with 15 followed by Bill Miller and Kerry Davis with 12 each. Miller had 10 by halftime, as did Heenan, after converting eight straight fouls.

Keith Anderson and Greg Bunch were right behind with 11 apiece. Anderson also chalked up five assists and Davis four in a rare easy triumph.

Playing with a strained knee suffered in practice Wednesday, Bunch lacked his usual movement and had shooting problems yet still led a 44-32 rebound advantage with 12. Steve Shaw had 10 as well as nine points.

"This was a very crucial win for us. The guys were really ready to play," said Fullerton coach Bobby Dye. "We passed very well. The three guards (sophomores Bill Miller, Heenan and Anderson) were outstanding. Bunch was slowed by his knee strain."

San Jose, which went tinto the contest 6-7 after two straight good performances, scored the opening basket, but trailed the rest of the night and showed little life. Fullerton got caught up into its play at times as 29 turnovers indicate — 18 by CSF.

The Titans connected on six of their initial eight field attempts in gaining a 10-point lead by midway in the first half. It was 42-29 at intermission with the play much more one-sided.

San Jose got within nine twice in the second half, but Fullerton pulled away quickly to lead by 18 with 14:22 to go and coasted.

Usual Spartan sparkplug Ken Mickey finished fith 10 points after sitting out most of the second half. Stan Hill also had 10.

The Titans, who were 17-for-30 at halftime, totaled 33 field goals in 63 attempts and added 18 free throws in 127 attempts. The Spartans could only make 28 of 72 shots while swishing 8 of 11 fouls.

"I told them to go out and win this game and not worry about tomorrow," Die had said before the game referring to a costly first home loss to San Diego. "I said there might be an earthquake the rest won't matter."

San Jose, 1-1, tries to bounce back at San Diego Saturday when Long Beach invades Fresno State.

SAN JOSE (64) — Haynes 8, Hill 10, Mickey 10, Rank 9, Sincock 9, McKoy 6, Lenzen 6, Davis 2, Washington 2, Ward 2.
FULLERTON ST. (84) — Shaw 9, Davis 12, Anderson 11, Bunch 11, Heenan 15, Niles 4, B. Miller 12, Burt 6, Roper 2, R. Miller 2.
Fouled out — Rank.
Halftime score — Fullerton 42, San Jose 29.

Munson, Yankees 'Happy Again'

NEW YORK (AP) — Thurman Munson, who led the New York Yankees to their first American League pennant in 12 years, has resolved his contract complaints and is a happy pinstriper once again.

Munson, the Most Valuable Player in the American League last season, met with Yankee owner George Steinbrenner on Wednesday. They also had a meeting of the minds.

"We reached an agreement and both sides are happy," Munson said over the telephone from his home in Canton, Ohio.

"I apologized for a few things I said and George apologized for any misunderstandings he might have caused," Munson said. "He asked me if there were any hard feelings that I couldn't get over, and did I want to be traded some place.

"And I said, 'Hey, George, I want to play in New York.'"

Earlier in the week, Munson was not so sure.

When Munson signed a four-year contract last March, he says he was given two verbal promises by Steinbrenner. One was that the owner would renegotiate Munson's contract if the Yankees won the pennant. The second verbal commitment was Steinbrenner's assurance that the Yankee catcher would have the highest salary on the team, with the exception of Catfish Hunter, the $3.5 million man.

On Jan. 6, Munson and Steinbrenner renegotiated the All-Star catcher's contract, adding two years and a bonus. Munson thought his annual salary had surpassed Jackson's. The free-agent outfielder signed with the Yankees last November for an annual salary of $200,000 plus $132,000 in deferred payments, a $400,000 bonus, a large interest-free loan and other deferred payments after retirement.

But Munson charged that Steinbrenner did not mention Jackson's deferred payments on Jan. 6 when they renegotiated the contract.

All of those problems now seem swept under the table.

The 29-year-old Munson, coming off his best season in the majors, has a five-year contract with a no-trade clause. Whether he is or is not the highest paid Yankee, excluding his buddy, Hunter, is no longer an issue.

At the Convention Center he was missed by the men in his business, sports writing, and he will be missed at Anaheim Stadium when the Angels play, at Dodger Stadium when the Dodgers play, at the Coliseum, at Pauley Pavilion, The Forum and Sports Arena and wherever else there is sports action. He always was there—a true professional.

It won't be the same now when the sports writers and other newspapermen assemble. One reason is because Hank always was such a kind and friendly individual—quiet but always smiling and helpful.

More importantly, Hank will be sorely missed by thousands of readers, those who liked his fresh and breezy style and those who respected his authentic reporting and waited for it every day.

I'm not positive but I believe I was with Hank on his last ride. He came over for a press conference relative to last night's University of San Francisco—Athletes in Action game. Smiling and friendly, he appeared as healthy as ever. He expected to be there. He asked meaningful questions, wished his colleagues well. You thought you would see him again soon.

El Toro Hopes To Catch Tritons

BY DAVID OSTERMAN

El Toro High School hopes to catch San Clemente napping tonight when the two teams meet in a key South Coast League game at the Triton gym.

The surprising Chargers are 11-4 on the year and 4-1 in league play while San Clemente is 5-0 in league and winner of its last eight games. But the Tritons may be looking to next week when they face Corona del Mar. The Seas Kings are also undefeated in league and meet Dana Hills tonight.

The key to the Charger attack, which has forged one of the best records in the school's history, are brothers Mark and Mike Hill . Mark, a 6-1 forward has scored 78 points in five league games, while Mike is averaging a little under 10 a game. The other scoring leader for El Toro is 6-0 junior guard, Bob Charles, who had 63 points in five league game and is averaging 17 points a game.

San Clemente has used a big front line of 6-7 Bill Neely, 6-5 John Carson and 6-6 Ted Hettinga, along with sharpshooting guard Tim Dunham to power its attack.

Dunham, an all-league guard, is 6-2 and coming off a 30-point game against Dana Hills on Tuesday,. His passes and playmaking help the Tritons as much as his shooting.

In other key county matchups tonight, Lowell tries to forge a two-game league in the Freeway League when the Patriots invade Buena Park. Brea-Olinda and Fullerton put 3-2 records in the Orange League on the line at Fullerton and Servite and St. Anthony fight for at least a share of the Angelus League lead.

Brea-Olinda and Fullerton are tied with La Habra for second in the Orange League, two games behind undefeated El Dorado. The Wildcats, with a balanced scoring attack upset La Habra, the top-ranked team in 3-A CIF Tuesday, 60-59, while Fullerton was losing to El Dorado, 77-55.

The Indians have a one-two scoring punch in Roger Childs and Hobie Brenner. Childs was averaging 22.8 in league play before Tuesday's game while Brenner, a 6-5 center, had a 20.5 average.

El Dorado will try to keep its comfortable bulge when the Hawks host Sonora, while La Habra hosts Esperanza.

The scrambled Century League leaders, Estancia, Santa Ana Valley and Tustin, jockey for position tonight. Estancia plays Villa Park, while Valley is at Foothill and Santa Ana invades Tustin. The Saints, 3-2 in league, can knock Tustin into third with a victory.

In the Angelus League, Servite, coming off a close 69-68 victory over Mater Dei brings its 2-0 league mark into St. Anthony. St. Anthony is 10-5 on the year. Pius X, also 2-0 in league is at St. Paul.

Bolsa Grande and Los Amigos, both 4-0 in the Garden Grove head for a showdown in next week's games.

The Matadors invade Garden Grove while Los Amigos hosts Santiago tonight.

S.C. Indoor

LONG BEACH – The second annual Southern California Indoor games begin a two-day run at the Long Beach Convention Center today at 8:30 a.m. Before the two-day marathon of events are completed, over 2,700 athletes will compete in the 288 different events, from everything from pole-vault to sprints for youngsters of nine.

While most of the meet will highlight high school, junior college and age group athletes, several open events feature national competitors.

The best open event today promises to be the long jump, with three different men having gone over 26 feet.

The high jump begins at 7 p.m. with the open 1,000 yard run going at 7:37 and the pole vault scheduled for 8 p.m.

Maddox, Blair Trade Teams

NEW YORK (AP) – The defending American League champion New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles completed a three-player deal Thursday involving outfielders Elliott Maddox and Paul Blair.

The Yankees also sent minor league outfielder Rick Blaet from their Syracuse farm team to Baltimore's Rochester club.

The 28-year-old Maddox was the Yankees starting center fielder two seasons ago before injuring his knee. Maddox didn't return to action until late last season, hitting .217 in just 18 games.

Blair, 32, has been the Orioles starting center fielder since 1966. He was an American League All-Star in 1969 and 1973 but has slumped badly in the past two seasons. In 1976, Blair hit .197 with three home runs and 16 RBI.

The Yankees plan to use Blair, known as an excellent fielder, as a backup for regular center fielder Mickey Rivers and as a defensive replacement.

Panthers In Last 'Box' Workout

Chapman College's basketball team practiced in its original gymnasium for the last time Thursday.

Known as "The Box" in recent years and called many other things by visiting coaches, the gym will be torn down starting Tuesday to make room for a new $2 million, 44,000-square foot multi-level sports center.

The present gym was built in 1926 for Orange High School.

Chapman, which moved to Villa Park High for a few years and then returned has been playing at Orange High the past two seasons.

Now 6-10, the Panthers resume play Tuesday at Orange.

Michigan Nips Boilermakers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) · Michigan substitute guard David Baxter scored 10 points in the last 6:13 of the game to help the fifth-ranked Wolverines hold off 19th-ranked Purdue 82-76 in Big Ten basketball action Thursday night.

The victory gave Michigan a 5-0 conference record and sole possession of first place. Purdue suffered its first conference loss. The Boilermakers are 4-1.

Baxter scored Michigan's last eight points – on a pair of fastbreak baskets and four on free throws.

Bud Tucker's TODAY

Big D Takes His Loss Bravely

To begin with, you must understand that Don Drysdale is a man of little imagination.

His restaurant is located in an area of Santa Ana awash with establishments with titles so exotic the average man has no chance with the pronunciation.

Drysdale calls his place "Drysdale's."

What's more, the joint does not have a velvet rope and prices clearly appear on the menu. If you desire imported

Don Drysdale

French wine, you bring it with you in a brown bag. The strolling violinist is an eccentric who wandered in off the street.

Therefore, you hardly expected an inspired speech when the baseball Hall of Fame elections were held the other day and Big D was still on the outside looking in.

"That," Drysdale said with no particular emotion, "is the way it goes."

Gosh, the least you might have expected was him to be barging about the kitchen kicking pots and pans around the floor and throwing dishes at the wall and cream pies in the face of the chef.

That was the manner in which he reacted when he was treated rudely on the mound. Once, Dodger manager Walter Alston came out and asked for the ball and got an argument from Big D who was sure he could get the next guy.

Alston insisted and Drysdale threw him the ball, fuming, "here...stick it."

"You better stick it," Alston replied calmly. "It's the only place you can put it where they won't hit it."

But as for the Hall of Fame matter, Drysdale remains entirely placid.

The point is, of course, that Drysdale deserves to be in the shrine if for no other reason than there are guys occupying niches whose lifetime figures are no better than Big D's. These names will not be mentioned lest it be interpreted to mean these fellows are not entitled, which is not the intention here.

The unclouded view from here is simply that Drysdale should be elected off his highly distinguished career with the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers. His statistics match many of those displayed at Cooperstown and his record of 56 consecutive innings may never be broken.

Of course, the mysterious course of Hall of Fame voting is hardly a news bulletin. One attempting to understand certain aspects of the balloting considers the possibility of a popularity contest in some respects, which is unfortunte.

Consider this. Leonard Koppett, a New York baseball author of no small influence, is on record as saying, "Don Drysdale does not belong in the Hall of Fame."

This is so preposterous, you have to suspect a questionable motive.

The matter of popularity again came to mind when you noted that Ernie Banks was the only player named to the Hall of Fame in the elections of 1977.

La Habra Girls In Title Match

La Habra High will try to become the fourth different school in four years to win the CIF girls' field hockey title when the Highlanders meet colton Saturday at 1 p.m. at Golden West college.

And it might just be the start of things for La Habra which boasts a freshman goalie, Bonnie Nash, who has allowed only six goals in 12 games.

"This is the oldest team I have had," said La Habra head coach Sandy Blumenthal, who has been coaching six years at La Habra.

The rest of the roster includes Martha Dennis (junior) and Germaine Rudfill (sophomore).

La Habra enters the finals with an 11-0-1 record, tying Sonora in Orange League play. La Habra advanced on penetration time against Claremont and Edison in the first two rounds before knocking off Charter Oak, 2-1, in the semifinals.

Colton enters with a perfect 15-0 record, stopping Gladstone, 3-0, and Unviersity, 2-1 before advancing to the finals on penetration time against Sonora.

La Habra has been in the playoffs all four years, losing to Colton in the first two seasons.

Sonora and Charter Oak clash at 11 a.m. Saturday for third place.

There will be no admission charged.

Monday Finally Arrives As A Dodger

By JOHN STELLMAN

It was Monday at Dodger Stadium Thursday.

Rick Monday Came home.

The 31-year-old outfielder who could have walked into the Dodger Stadium clubhouse in 1963, strolled through that door at precisely 10:01 yesterday.

If it had been his decision, the Santa Monica product admitted that he would have accepted a generous offer made by Tommy Lasorda to play in Los Angeles 13 years ago.

Instead, he submitted to the desire of his mother, who wished he would enroll at Arizona State University.

Tommy offered to throw in a bonus jack," Monday kidded after fellow newcomers Johnny Oates and Mike Garman had similarly been introduced to the media during a Stadium Club luncheon.

Long rumored to be heading west, Monday was obtained from the Chicago Cubs along with Garman in exchange for Bill Buckner, Ivan de Jesus and a minor league pitcher.

"Are you going to work out?" questioned Charlie Hough of the Dodgers' newest centerfielder.

"No," Monday replied. "I haven't signed my contract yet."

Meanwhile, in the Dodger offices upstairs, Monday's representatives were huddling with general manager Al Campanis.

"Come on out," Hough neddled as he followed his teammates out to the field for an informal workout, "I want to break a couple of bats."

Monday did appear, eventually. Donned in uniform No. 16, Monday submitted to numerous television interviews, before joining his teammates and the media for lunch.

"It's satisfying to sit down and not have a golden arch over my head," Rick laughed.

The credentials he brings from Wrigley Field are equally satisfying.

Monday put together his greatest season last summer. His 32 home runs were third best in the National League. He drove in 77 runs, scored 107 more and hit .272.

"I've never considered myself a home run hitter," Monday answered, when queried about the 22 home runs he drilled out of cozy Wrigley Field.

It is his glove, however, as much as his bat, that appeals to the Dodgers.

While his slugging percentage of .933 was fourth best in the league, his fielding percentage of .933 was second best.

"I'd like to welcome you all to the major leagues," Lasorda laughingly told the newest Dodgers.

"I'm not a public speaker," responded Oates, obtained from Philadelphia in exchange for Ted Sizemore. "This is the fourth time I've been asked to speak."

Despite injuries that restricted him to 37 games last year, the young catcher hit .253 for the National League East champions.

"I'd like to thank the Dodger organization for taking me out of Chicago, quipped Garman, who is expected to bolster the Dodger bullpen.

"I think we were more impressed with Garman than the Cubs were," Lasorda chuckled. "We really wanted him, but they threw in Monday too."

Garman threw the audience his first curve of the season when somebody wanted to know how he was going to diet 15 pounds off his waist line before his arrival at Vero Beach.

"I'll call Tom once a day and he'll give me a pep talk," Garman chuckled.

The enthusiasm is already bubbling from beneath the catacombs of Dodger Stadium.

The effervescent Lasorda talked of an improved team in 1977, a year that will be the first without Walter Alston since 1954.

The acquisitions of Monday, Garman and Oates, Lasorda believes, will permit the Dodgers to contest Cincinnati in the National League West.

The enthusiasm is shared by Monday, who concluded: "We'll show Cincy that they've got a long way to go."

The drive for Monday is short. Of course, it took him a long time to make it.

Chargers Try To Stay 'Perfect'

NEXT GAMES

TONIGHT (8:00) — Rio Hondo at Cypress, Golden West at L.A. Southwest, Harbor at Los Angeles City.

Coach Don Johnson and his Cypress College basketball team try to complete the first round of Southern Cal Conference play with a perfect 6-0 record tonight at 8 when they host dangerous Rio Hondo College on the Charger court.

Off to their best conference start, the Chargers are 18-1 overall and are ranked No. 5 in California and No. 2 in the Southland.

While Cypress is gunning for its sixth straight conference win without a loss against Rio Hondo, Golden West visits Los Angeles Southwest and Harbor travels to Los Angeles City. Second place Santa Monica draws a bye.

Coach Bob Bland's Roadrunners come to Cypress off a bye date well rested, but are still trying to figure out what was wrong last week when they lost back-to-back to Golden West and Harbor following a 10-4 pre-conference mark that kindled title hopes at the Whittier school.

Steve McGuire, David Koza, Paul Jarvis, Jim Shasky and Al Muniz give Rio Hondo plenty of fire power,but the Roadrunners can't maintain their usual tempo without rebounds and Cypress figures to have the edge on the boards due to the presence of Tyrone Branyon Rory Lovell, Barry Weston and Mike Sedan who all outreach the tallest Roadrunners.

Branyan, who works both ends of the court with equal ability, scored only 14 points in the 67-59 Cypress win at Harbor last Tuesday night, but still leads the Charger scoring with 122 points in five conference starts.

McGuire is the seventh highest scorer in Roadrunner history over two seasons, but will need super help from his teammates to stay in the game with the Chargers who are 18-1 on the season.

Golden West will have a height advantage over Los Angeles Southwest, but Cougar quickness may even accounts. Fred Scarborough is the tallest Cougar at 6-5 and leads his team in scoring and rebounding.

Golden West has three players averaging in double figures in John Hirschler (13.1), Todd Zirbel (12.1) and Dan Bush (10.6), so should have a scoring edge on the Cougars.

Soph guard Steve Hines and frosh phenom Brad Matthews leads Los Angeles City against Harbor the defending champ. Hines was the second leading assist man in the conference as a year ago and is having another good season despite the Cubs' 0-3 mark in conference play.

Biola Bounces Point Loma

Biola College rebounded from a first half deficit Thursday night to defeat Point Loma College 78-68 at the Anaheim Convention Center, and keep its conference record spotless.

The game was a preliminary to the Athletes-In-Action-University of San Francisco confrontation, but it held some of its own importance, as it matched two of the finest NAIA teams on the West Coast.

Phil Flentge scored Biola's first eight points, as the La Mirada school jumped to an early lead. However, Pt. Loma, led by Jeff Armstrong, took the lead halfway through the first half.

Biola (3-0) came back to take a nine-point advantage at halftime. The Eagles kept Pt. Loma at arm's length for the final 20 minutes, sparked by the rebounding and defensive play of 6-8 center Tim Warkentin.

Biola freshmen Tim Siefken and Brad Hoffman provided some strong offensive punch off the bench for the second straight game.

PT. LOMA (68) - Robinson 6, Armstrong 18, Elliot 1, Owen 12, Hanley 6, Balikian 6, Schengel 9, Anderson 6, Burlison 2, Spaite 2

BIOLA (78) - Warkentin 10, Bunn 11, Newkirk 10, Flentge 16, Parker 7, Siefken 12, Hoffman 6, Cole 6

Halftime - Biola 37, Pt. Loma 28

Ex-Poly Star Leaves 49ers

James Hughes, a 6-4 freshman, has left the talent-laden Long Beach State basketball team. Will there be more?

Head coach Dwight Jones conceded in pre-season it would be a major task keeping everyone happy and aware of his role with all eight lettermen back from last year, two standout exredshirts, four freshmen and a JC transfer.

Soccer Benefit At S.A. Bowl

Soccer fans of Orange County will have an opportunity to honor one of their own tonight. Jesus Gonzales (23) of Anaheim was killed early this month when he slipped on wet pavement and fell under wheels of a car.

Gonzales, well known in soccer circles, had played in Mexico along with stints with the Santana Club and Club Avante of Anaheim.

His former teams and teammates are staging a memorial doubleheader tonight at Santa Ana Bowl with the first game starting at 6 o'clock. A second match should take the field at 8:30. Local teams will be playing. All proceeds from the affair will be turned over to the Gonzales family.

CIF Makes Dramatic Changes In Grid Format

of being a CIF-SS champion in football. (The committee might add here that some might feel that this would be cheapening the playoffs, but section members should realize that even with approximately six leagues in a given playoff division, there would be more leagues than many sections in the state now have which declare CIF champions.)

For example: the Los Angeles City section has both 4-A and 3-A champions, yet there are only 25 schools, or approximately four or five leagues in each division;

6. If such a division was successful in football, there is the possibility that this format could be expanded to other sports such as basketball.

The proposal was recommended by a vote of 34 leagues to 11 leagues opposing.

The new proposal doesn't affect eight-man football, which is considered a separate entity from the 11-man football.

Just how the new eight-division setup will affect Orange County's schools is not certain. Obviously, since the county is a hotbed of prep football, teams will be scattered throughout the eight divisions. Decisions will be made at a later date with enrollment and strength of programs top priority.

MEETING ITEMS - Referees at sporting events on the high school level were given a $2 raise, the first raise in pay in three years, by a 25-18 vote...

The Citrus Belt Area releaguing for the 1977-78 season was approved. The Arrowhead League in which Lutheran La Verne, California School for the Deaf (Riverside), San Jacinto, Sherman and Webb making up the rest of the league. The Pinon League in which St. Michael's is a member remains the same. The Ivy League, Citrus Belt and San Andreas Leagues will be eight-team leagues while the De Anza League will have seven members and a new league will be formed to include Barstow, Kennedy (Barstow), Elsinore, Bloomington, Rim of the World and Perris.

Status on two high schools is in the dark. Monrovia's plea to not be placed in the Pacific League for the 1977-78 season was approved forcing a shuffling in that area. Burroughs (Ridgecrest) may be switching to the Central Section of the CIF, pending a vote at next week's state meeting.

The combined seasons of sports for boys and girls was voted back to committee study. The new setup, if approved, would create three seasons of sports for the girls with many of the similar sports being held at the same time as the boys. The seasons of sports for 1977-78 will be made by the executive council with the approval of the general council. It will run basically along the same lines as this season with the possible expansion of some of the girls' sports seasons.

The executive committee reported that last week it approved the Angelus League to be a five-team league in football and that ties in girls' softball will be handled the same way as boys' baseball, namely one-half win and one-half loss.

The Saddleback Valley District submitted an open letter to the council to reconsider its rule which forced the then Mission Viejo High swimming coach Mark Shubert to resign or jeopardize the eligibility of his swimmers in CIF competition in 1975. Shubert is head coach of the successful Mission Viejo High students and students from other high schools.

Seniors Tennis Begins Today

The second annual Winter Seniors Tennis Championships open today at the Laguna Niguel Tennis Club, 23500 Clubhouse Drive, Laguna Niguel.

The event is staged by the Southern California Senior Tennis Society and over 300 entries have been filed, according to club owner Peter Paxton.

Top ranked national junior-veteran and veteran players are in the field with the 35-year old division having seven of the first ten ranked playing. Seven of the eight top ranked players in the 45-year old class are entered.

Horst Ritter, of Pasadena, returns to defend his 35-year-old title. Seeded No. 1 in the 45's is Herm Ahlers of San Juan Capistrano. Dick Ross (Newport Beach) is No. 2 seed. Dick Leach (Laguna Beach), Bill Frantz (Orange), Bob Duesler (Costa Mesa), and Gary Johnson (Tustin) are expected to challenge Ritter.

The public is invited to watch the matches. There is no admission charge. Matches will run from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Young Marathon Runner Praised

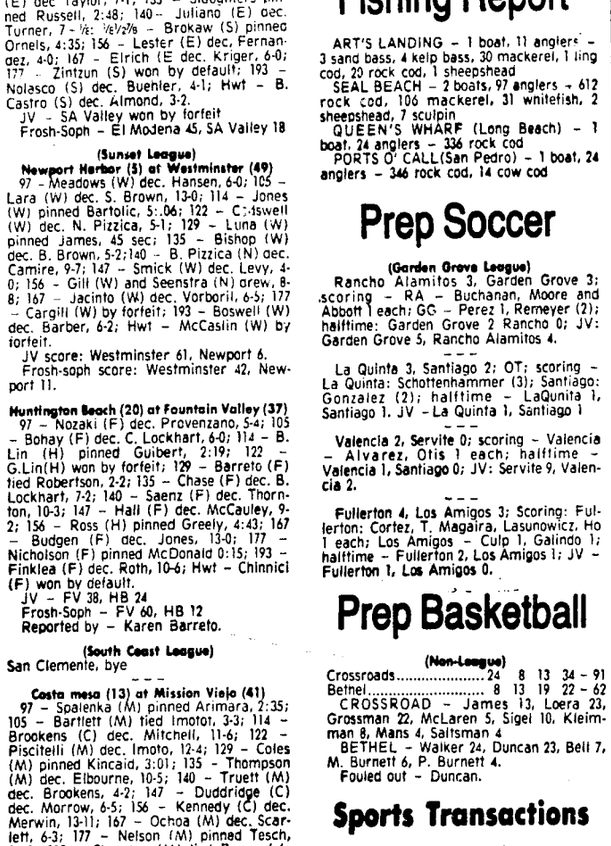

SAN DIEGO (AP) - "He's absolutely the best young marathoner of all time."

That's what his former junior college track coach calls Kirk Pfeffer of the University of Colorado. Last weekend Pfeffer, 20, won the 26-mile Mission Bay Marathon in a record 2 hours, 16 minutes.

"Most marathoners don't hit their peak until they're in their 30s," said Bob Larson of his former charge at nearby Grossmont College.

Cha Cha Ready To Challenge Prudomme

By ART PARRA

Two reputations will be on the line next week when the 17th annual NHRA Winternationals are held at the Pomona Drag Strip.

Don Prudomme, winner of everything in sight, will have his Funny Car domination challenged. Never in the history of drag racing has one individual ruled as Prudomme has in the past two years. His record shows 13 victories in the last 16 major National Hot Rod Assn. events, two consecutive Winston World Championships and a career record of 22 national race titles. His sights are locked in on the 1977 Winternational.

Shirley Muldowney, better known in the sport as "Cha-Cha," has more than a reputation at stake. She is in a battle of dispelling skeptics who still believe her triumphs in the top fuel division are figments of imagination.

"Those doubting Charlies are becoming fewer and fewer," she says. "Kinda like the California Condor, they are being placed on the endangered species list but they are still around."

A win at Pomona along with victories at the Columbus (Ohio) Springnationals and the season-ending Winston World Finals at Ontario would put an end to any nagging doubts about Shirley's status as a Top Fuel favorite.

Her average quarter-mile elapsed time for the last 16 runs is a remarkable 5.964 seconds with an average speed of 239.94 miles per hour. But, the pert driver recognizes it is "side-by-side" wins that make record books, not statistics.

Tickets for the Winternationals, set for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday (Jan. 27-30) are on sale at all Ticketron and Mutual agencies.

Vessels Wins Award

The Academy Award "Oscars" of Off-Road Racing were handed out last Saturday night at the annual SCORE banquet held at the Inn of the Park in Anaheim.

Only two county drivers were recipients of the coveted "Off-Roadsman of the Year" award, provided in 13 four-wheel vehicle divisions and three motorcycle classes.

Frank "Scoop" Vessels III, driver of a Ford Pickup in Class 8, was honored in his division. The 24-year old Vessels is from the family owning Los Alamitos Quarter-horse race track.

"This is the highlight of my racing career," said Vessels. "I want to thank all those who made it possible."

Awards are determined by a vote of racers, and who in the competitors' opinion, have performed well in the 1976 off-road races, plus contributed to the sport in its entirety and displayed honesty, fairness, a willingness to help others and excelled in good sportsmanship.

A.C. Bakken, of Anaheim, was awarded the Class 21 honor for motorcycles. He rides a Hasqvarna.

Several Arla drivers picked up cash prizes in the SCORE drivers point race. Gordon Poff (Seal Beach) was Class 6 winner as Robert Weston (Laguna Beach) was runner-up. In Class 8 it was Mike Power (Newport Beach) winning in a division dominated by county pilots. Stan Gilbert (Cypress) was second and Vessels third. David Farnsworth (Irvine) was the Class 38 winner. Gale Pike (Laguna Beach) was second in Class 3.

PARRA-graphs – Considerable "thunder" has been taken out of the coming Citicorp Cup Can-Am series. Supplementary rules will not include eligibility for cars powered by turbocharged or supercharged engines. This means the "power" will be taken away from this thundering monsters with the hopes this will create closer competition among the cars.

The USAC awards party is set for Saturday night at Indianapolis. In conjunction to this celebration, USAC has announced the prize money for 1976 topped $3.6 million. Johnny Rutherford won the most at $378,508. He was followed by Gordon Johncock $222,056, A.J. Foyt $190,268, Al Unser $167,747, Bobby Unser $137,626, Wally Dallenbach $120,409, Mike Mosley $107,959 and Duane "Pancho" Carter (Huntington Beach) $103,705.

Corona Raceway will kick-off the 1977 season with a 100 lap Open Competition Stock Car race on Sunday. The program will begin at 1 p.m. Preceeding the 100-lapper over the half-mile dirt oval will be trophy dashes and semi mains.

Dodgers, Giants Opener—Finally

The Los Angeles Dodgers will open and close their 1977 season with major promotional events at Dodger Stadium.

The Dodgers are to open their season on Thursday afternoon, April 7, against the San Francisco Giants. It will mark the 20th year for the Dodgers in Los Angeles but the first time the Dodgers have met the Giants in an opening game since the 1958 season when the first National League game was played in Los Angeles.

A souvenir ticket will be prepared for the Dodgers' opener and there will be ceremonies to commemorate the 20th year in Los Angeles.

The Dodgers will close their season on Sunday, Oct. 2, against the Houston Astros.

The Dodgers' promotional list includes Jacket Series (April 11, 12 and 13), Ball Night (April 29), Batting Glove Night (May 6), T-Shirt Night (July 8) and Helmet Weekend (July 22, 23, and 24). Youngsters 14 and under will receive items at each of these dates.

Mail orders now are being accepted by the Dodgers. Box seats are priced at $4.50 and reserved seats at $3. There is a 50 cent charge for postage and handling. Mail orders should be sent to Ticket Manager, Los Angeles Dodgers, Post Office Box 80100, Los Angeles, 90080.

Vanguards Look For Revenge

Five weeks ago Southern Cal College dropped a controversial 90-88 decision to the host team in the finals of the Cal Baptist Tournament.

Tonight at 8, the same two schools meet on the same Riverside court and this time in league play.

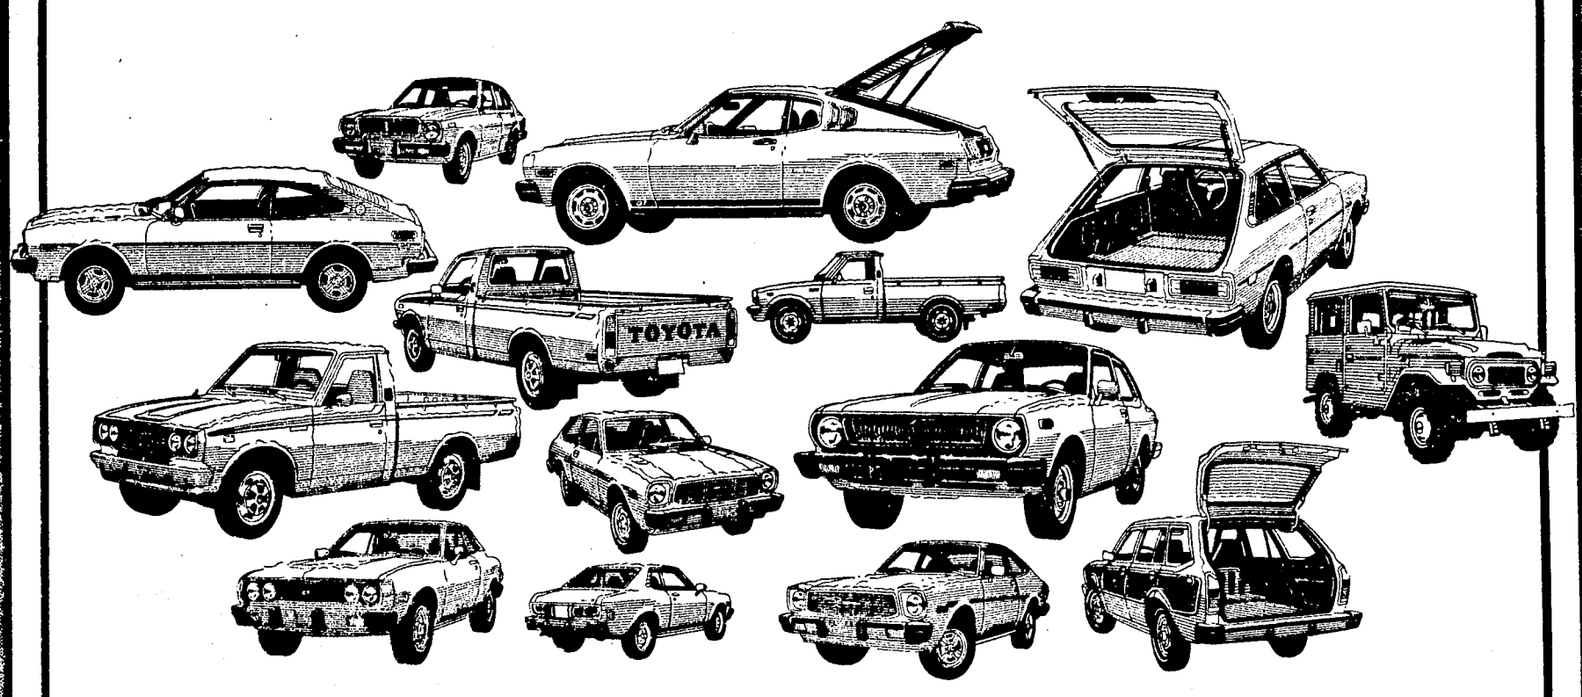

One big difference is that SCC no longer has Tom McCourt, who hit a team high 31 points in the first meeting.

Comingforth In Trials

Comingforth, convincing winner of last month's $186,000 Golden State Futurity, begins the second phase of her winter program tonight in the El Primero Del Ano Derby trials at Los Alamitos.

The swift daughter of Azure Te easily captured the Golden State event on Christmas night in the year's final major two-year-old race and now she will attempt to earn one of the 10 fastest qualifying times from tonight's trials for a shot at the year's first hundred-grander.

Only the 10 quickest sophomores from the 35 that will go postward in four divisions of the trials will qualify for berths in the fifth annual $130,000 Derby Jan. 29.

Comingforth, a finalist in the All-American Futurity last Labor Day at Ruidoso Downs, N.M., collected nearly $80,000 for her Christmas night triumph in the Golden State Futurity and will bring a lifetime bankroll of more than $130,000 into the Derby trials.

She drew into the third division – set to be run as the sixth race on the nine-race program – and figures to get her toughest opposition from Etta Chick, fastest qualifier to last summer's rich Kindergarten Stakes, and Te Adoro, winner of the Consolation Stakes.

Cauthe To Ride At S. Anita

Apprentice sensation Steve Cauthe, runaway leader of New York's Aqueduct jockey standings, may fly to California to ride Sunday's program at Santa Anita.

Trainer Ron McAnally, who will enter both Pocket Park and Rajab in San Fernando stakes, indicated this morning the chances are good that Cauthe may make his first venture west to handle the pair of four-year-olds.

The San Fernando is expected to split into two divisions and under the same Elmendorf ownership, each horse would be assured of running in a separate section.

Through Tuesday, Cauthe has registered 32 winners during the 14-day winter season, more than double his nearest riding rival.

Robert Sangster's Woodsome, heroine of Santa Anita's $45,450 El Encino stakes, reported in fine condition following her impressive three-length victory over favored Lucie Manet Wednesday and will now be pointed for Santa Anita's newest $100,000 race, the Feb. 13 La Canada stakes.

The mile-and-one-eighth event, exclusively for four-year-old fillies, is expected to match Woodsome against the likes of Hail Hilarious, Go March and Pacific Princess.

Runner-up Lucie Manet and Granja Sueno also are expected to take aim on the La Canada as their next probable outings.

Caliente Win Tax Canceled

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) – A plan to impose a 5 per cent tax on winnings at Caliente thoroughbred race track has been dropped.

The tax was proposed Dec. 30 by Mayor Fernando Marquez Arce as a means of producing $1 million in income annually for the city. A spokesman for the mayor confirmed the track's announcement Thursday that the tax is being called off.

A spokesman at Caliente said Marquez Arce "recognizes a tax of that kind would discourage American horse players and kill off the racetrack."

Fullerton Wins Ninth Straight

SACRAMENTO – Nancy Dunkle scored 20 points and Brenda Martin grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday as Fullerton State's Womens basketball team defeated Sacramento State, 80-62.

Hawks, Bullets Trade Players

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) – Forward Len "Truck" Robinson was traded by the National Basketball Association Washington Bullets to the Atlanta Hawks Thursday in exchange for guard Tom Henderson and a draft choice.

Robinson, who was playing out his option with the Bullets, had appeared in all 41 of their games so far this season, averaging 16 points and 8.9 rebounds a game.

Henderson, like Robinson a three-year NBA veteran, has an 11.3 point-per-game scoring average and is second in the league in assists with an average of 8.4 a game.

The Bullets will receive an as yet undecided Atlanta draft choice in the deal.

'Crosby' Turns Tame

layout, which is new to the tournament this year. Bill Rogers shot four under par 68 at Cypress Point.

Jack Nicklaus, the pre-tourney favorite and a three-time Crosby winner, had a strong 69 at Cypress, probably the toughest of the three courses. The pros switch courses today and play one round on each of the three layouts before the Sunday finals at Pebble Beach.

Although the weather conditions were amazingly good for this event that often is visited by rain, cold, wind and sometimes snow, some of the game's premier performers had their difficulties.

Hale Irwin had to play his back nine in five under par to salvage a 71 at Cypress Point. PGA champ Dave Stockton was one over par at the Shore course. Johnny Miller, still complaining of a cold, was two over at the same course. U.S. Open champ Jerry Pate shot 74 at Pebble Beach. And Ben Crenshaw, the defending titleholder, had a 75 at Cypress.

Green, who was disqualified in his only other start this season, had an excellent putting round. He used only 29 strokes on the greens, dropped three birdies in the 15-foot range, once saved par with a tough, twisting eight-footer and scored a pair of deuces from 8-10 feet.

TUNA SANDWICHES – Dr. R.W. Fulches of Chula Vista needed help to hoist this 240-pound yellowfin tuna on the scales at Fisherman's Landing in San Diego. The huge tuna was caught on a trip aboard the Royal Polaris to Socorro Island, off Baja California.

WHOPPER HALIBUT – Ocean angling may be a bit on the slow side during winter months, but not for young Douglas Gay (left). He caught this 32-pound "Flattie" while fishing aboard the Sea Horse out of Dana Wharf. Skipper Ray Duane had to hold the big fish while the happy angler admired his catch. The halibut was taken just off San Clemente.

SEXY SCRUBBER – Eye-catching Rhonda Foxx, a 24-year-old nautical miss from Miami who just happens to be queen of Miami's International Boat Show, knows how to get down to the basics of keeping a boat in top shape. While Rhonda may know something about sailing, she also can take a tack to get a sailor's mind wondering from the sea.

Warm Weather Stirs Yellowtail, Seabass

Unusually warm water temperatures for this time of year are continuing to produce some light catches of yellowtail and white seabass at the Coronado Island, below San Diego, according to officials at Fisherman's Landing and Point Loma Sportfishing in the border city.

Sea surface temperatures have been warming to around the 60-degree mark by mid-afternoon, sources say, a condition which is four to five degrees above the norm.

Live squid has been the preferred bait for the yellows and whites and, although fishermen are averaging less than a fish per rod, the yellowtail have been near the 20-pound mark and the seabass are weighing from 30 to 38 pounds.

John Malthaner at Fisherman's Landing said the best day recently aboard the boat Prowler saw six passengers catching six white seabass, three yellowtail and 42 rockfish. The New Lo-An, from Point Loma Sportfishing, accounted for 19 passengers catching 15 yellowtail, eight bonito and 48 rockfish, and 21 passengers taking six yellowtail, five white seabass, one halibut and 162 rockfish on that vessels top trips.

Yellowtail also made a surprising one-day show at the Deep Hole, above Malibu, last week. A total of 15 passengers on the boat China Clipper from CISCO Landing, Oxnard, caught three yellows and lost several others, according to CISCO owner Jack Ward. In addition, two halibut, 30 calico bass and six barracuda were sacked.

Elsewhere along the coast, however, rockfishing is setting the pace.

Art Gronsky at Art's Landing, Newport Harbor, rates local rockfishing as fair, with salmon grouper, sand bass, mackerel, blue perch, sculpin and sheepshead combining to produce six to 10 fish per sack.

Robbie Robinson at Davey's Locker in Newport Harbor says Southeast Bank and the 14-mile Bank have been fair at best, with six to eight rockfish per rod being the norm most of this week. He says fishermen using heavy jigs are taking some of the better catches, however, including some salmon grouper up to 10 pounds.

Port O'Call Sportfishing in San Pedro is now sending some trips of the boat Freedom to Cherry Bank, were some excellent rockfishing is being enjoyed by passengers. Kirby Boos at Ports O'Call reported that 46 passengers on one Cherry Bank trip returned with 765 rockfish and 59 cowcod.

At Nicolas Island, rockfish catches have been consisting of about 40 per cent red snapper, says Bill Weeks at Queen's Wharf Sportfishing in Long Beach. He says best action has been found in the 500 to 600 foot depths. The boat Californian is handling the San Nicolas run and last week produced 915 rockfish and five cowcod on a single trip.

Cowcod and lingcod are still the offshore heavyweights for most landings. Jack Kennedy of Costa Mesa caught a 17½-pound lingcod at Catalina Island, while fishing aboard the Thunderbird from Davey's Locker and Bill Iida of Costa Mesa decked a 22½-pound cowcod at Santa Barbara Island while aboard the Channel Isle from Art's Landing.

Another Rare Escolar Caught

By CHUCK GARRISON
Register Outdoor Writer

"Shark!" yelled a friend on a surfboard nearby.

But to 18-year-old surfer Chris Larson, who has worked as a deckhand on partyboats, the big fish swimming slowly just west of Newport Pier looked more like some kind of tuna.

So Larson headed his own surfboard toward the fish.

And rammed it.

Some vigorous action ensued, man versus fish, but eventually, shortly before noon, Chris Larson brought ashore the fourth escolar even taken in California waters. It was a 41 1/4-inch male that weighed 28 1/2 pounds.

Of course, Larson did not know it was an escolar. Neither did the dory fishermen to who he showed his catch. But a call to the Department of Fish and Game about the oddball fish brought Robert Decker, a DFG marine warden, to the scene on the double. Decker took possession of the fish and brought it to the State Fisheries Laboratory in Long Beach, where marine biologist Jack Schoot identified it as an escolar.

The escolar is a tropical and subtropical fish considered rare anywhere, but especially so in the northeastern Pacific Ocean. Schott had no difficulty in making the identification, however, because it was only two months ago that an escolar was brought to the laboratory after being caught in a commercial fisherman's net off Point Dume. Before that only two escolars had ever been taken in California: a 29-inch fish cast ashore in Long Beach in 1928, and a 24-inch specimen caught off Marineland in 1960, according to John Fitch, research director of the California State Fisheries Laboratory.

Fitch noted that the preferred habitat of the escolar appears to be 300 to 700 feet deep in tropical and subtropical seas. Their occurrence off California probably is associated with an intrusion of "equatorial" waters – a normal phenomenon each fall for a month or two, but for longer periods some years, he said.

Escolars have gained a measure of notoriety throughout the world as a "castor oil fish" because of the fast and effective laxative effect they have on the human alimentary system when the fish is eaten.

The escolar taken at Newport Beach has been sent to the fish collection of the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County.

Anchovy Vote

By a 3-2 vote last Friday, the California Fish and Game Commission turned down a request by the Department of Fish and Game to increase the seasonal quota of commercially caught anchovies.

Sportfishing interests had virtually unanimously opposed the increase – from 100,000 tons to 200,000 tons in the Southern California area.

The DFG had maintained that the anchovy population is under-harvested and that currently there are about 3.5 million tons of spawning anchovies off Southern California and northern Baja.

The majority of the Commissioners, however, had doubts about the accuracy of that estimate and voted accordingly, to not allow an anchovy increase.

Hot Action

Yellowfin tuna and wahoo fishing continues to be red-hot off the tip of Baja California, at Socorro and San Benedicto islands, according to Bill Poole, owner-operator of the long range boat Royal Polaris, out of Fisherman's Landing in San Diego.

Trout, Bass, Cats Lead Irvine Catch

Fishing for two species improved at Irvine Lake during recent days, as trout, largemouth bass and channel catfish are now being taken by anglers, according to Mrs. Alice Carlson, who manages the Orange County fishing facility.

"Trout fishing's been fair to good, but we also had some limits of bass and catfish recently," Mrs. Carlson reports.

Plastic worms have been the most effective bass lure, although relatively few bass fishermen have been on the lake. Dave Barajas of Orange used plastic worms off the east side cliffs to take his limit of 1-1/2 - to 3-pound bass, while Ed Lishok, Jr., of Norwalk, used plastic worms off Rocky Point to take a largemouth limit topped by a 5-pounder.

Some fishermen combined trout limits with catfish limits. James De Priest of Santa Ana and his son, Joel, took two trout limits from the west shore, while Jerry Adams of Long Beach used limburger cheese to post a limit of trout from the west shore and a limit of channel catfish from Santiago Flats.

Striped bass fishing continues to produce a few limits at Lake Havasu this week, although action is slower than the previous week. Most stripers are being caught by trolling deep running plugs or by jigging spoons in deep water.

John Alexander and Jim Ditslar, both of Lake Havasu City, checked into Havasu Marina with two limits of stripers up to 8 pounds each. Fred Kunkle of Havasu Landing took a 28-pounder on a jigged spoon and Bill Ingram of Black Meadow Landing boated a 14-2 striper.

The Cottonwood Cove area of Lake Mojave is producing fair bass fishing, plus a few large trout, according to Dave Shaw, marina manager.

Homer Burgess of San Jose visited Cottonwood Cove Resort last week and caught a pair of 3-1/2-pound trout plus a 6-pounder, while shore fishing with marshmallows. Tom Meredith and Wayne Cummings, members of the Bass Team fishing club, took 14 bass to 6 pounds on leadhead jigs.

Other reports and big fish catches follow:

CASTAIC LAKE – A few good catches of bass taken on spoons fished deep. Most bass found between 20 and 40 foot depths. George Kramer of Santa Ana and Chuck Boydstun of Rio Hondo had eight bass to 6-8; Richard Trask, West Covina, bass limit to 3-12. Some limits of trout taken on baits and spinners. Striped bass action slow.

LAKE PIRU – Fair to good for trout near dam and below boat docks. A few small bass taken. Crappie fishing slow.

LAKE HENSHAW – Good trout fishing in Santa Cruz and Cachima bays and near east end island. Most trout are pan-sized, but a few to 3 pounds are also being caught. Some good catches of smallmouth bass made on spinners, nightcrawlers and mudsuckers. Lorie Arnold, Garden Grove, 3-0 trout; Frank Liversedge of San Pedro and Eddy Hudson of Lomita, four smallmouth bass and four largemouth bass totalling 16-12.

LAKE CASITAS – Fair for pan-sized trout on bait and trolled lures. bass fishing slow to fair.

SAN ANTONIO LAKE – Fair action for experienced bass fishermen. Redear sunfish fishing good for those using worms at 20 to 30 foot levels.

LAKE HENSHAW – Trout hitting baits and lures. Bass fishing slow. A few bullheads, small crappie hitting. Andy Schmids, Hacienda Heights, 9-8 bass.

LAKE MEAD – (Overton Arm) Fair for bass. Fish averaging about two pounds and hitting plastic worms and jigs. Striped bass fishing scattered and spotty.

BAJA STRIPER – Susan Riley of South Laguna was happy with this 145-pound striped marlin which she caught recently during a trip to Rancho Buena Vista, south of La Paz. It took her more than two hours to land the big fish.

Pro Ski Races At Big Bear

Professional ski racing returns to Snow Summit in the Big Bear Lake area this weekend. The Dodge Pro Ski Classic, featuring internationally-renowned contestants, begins on Saturday and concludes Sunday.

Among racers trying for the Dodge Cup and purse will be Henrif Duvillard, of France. The french star won 15 out of 21 races in 1976 and $66,900 in prize money. He has also captured an event this year, the season opener in Spain earlier this month.

Qualifying on the giant slalom will take place on Saturday morning and finals held in the afternoon. This will be head-and-head competition over the famous dual course.

Sunday the races will follow the same format except the race will be a slalom event.

Trout Plant

The following lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries:

LOS ANGELES – Castaic Lake and Downstream Pool, El Dorado Park Lake, Hansen Reservoir, Pyramid Reservoir.

SAN DIEGO – San Vicente Reservoir.

SAN BERNARDINO – Cucamonga-Guasti Park Lake, Lytle Creek (Middle and North Forks).

VENTURA – Piru Lake.

RIVERSIDE – Cahuilla Lake.

KERN – Hart Park Lake, Kern River (KR3 Powerhouse to Lake Isabella), Kern River State Park.

TULARE – Kern River (Fairview Dam to KR3 Powerhouse, Johnsondale Bridge to Fairview Dam).

S. Anan Sued For Illegal Lobster

The Department of Fish and Game went to court last Monday to seek a minimum of $128,710 in civil damages from a former commercial fisherman accused of illegal possession of California lobsters.

An equal amount is being sought from a number of other defendants, temporarily listed as John Does 1 through 20.

The suit alleges that the defendants took and/or possessed some 2,871 undersized lobsters from state waters, that these lobsters were the property of the people of California, and that the state is entitled to recover damages representing the value of the lobsters the harm to the lobster resource, and punitive damages as well.

Named in the civil action filed in Los Angeles Superior Court by the state attorney general's office was John Mark Emirzian of Santa Ana, along with the defendants who may be named later.

The complaint alleges that on or about March 13, 1974, Emirzian was in possession of approximately 2,871 lobster tails from undersized California spiny lobsters; and that he had taken these lobsters, either himself or from the other defendants, in the full knowledge that the lobsters had been taken wilfully and in violation of state law.

Season Ends For Waterfowl

The last of the 1976-77 general waterfowl seasons in California will close at sunset Sunday, the Department of Fish and Game said in a reminder issued today.

Seasons on ducks, geese, coots, gallinules and jacksnipe all will come to an end then in all areas of the state except in northeastern California where the seasons closed Jan. 9 and in the Colorado River area where the goose season closed Jan. 2.

Oysters To Yellowlegs: A Newport Bay Tour

Did you know that Upper Newport Bay Ecological Reserve is wealthy in native oysters, octopuses, hornsnails, blennies and yellowlegs?

You might if you visit Upper Newport Bay during an upcoming tour scheduled Saturday morning, Jan. 22. The tour is one of six conducted during the fall and winter by the Friends of Newport Bay. Others are scheduled Feb. 19 and March 19.

Purpose of the guided tours is to explain the value of ecological reserves such as Upper Newport Bay and their importance to birds and marine life.

According to Dep. of Fish and Game biologist Ronald Hein of Newport Beach, waterfowl and shorebirds can now be found at the reserve in large numbers. Birds, such as yellowlegs, are one of the highlights of the tour.

Other highlights include talks on plant life, archaelogy and mudflat organisms, such as hornsnails.

Tours start at 9 a.m. at the intersection of East Bluff and Back Bay Drives just off Jamboree Road. The last tour will leave the intersection at about 10:30 a.m.

To reach Upper Newport Bay Ecological Reserve from the Los Angeles or San Diego areas, take the San Diego Freeway (Route 405) to the Jamboree Road turnoff. Travel west on Jamboree to the traffic signal at East Bluff Drive, then turn right on East Bluff and follow to Back Bay Drive. Parking is permitted along East Bluff Drive.

EVER STRIVING FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Weapons Proliferation

With military weapons, ranging all the way from lightweight machine guns to backpacked guided missiles, easily available via the black market to any group of revolutionaries, vigilantes, terrorists or just plain crazies desiring to obtain them, periodic government attempts to deny U.S. citizens ownership or possession of simple hand guns just have to qualify as the unfunniest, macabre jokes of the century. Just how unfunny and macabre was documented by the Wall Street Journal in a Jan. 11 front page news story.

A world in which the word "peace" falls easily from politicians' mouths is glutted with lightweight, low-cost and easy to use lethal weapons, the story said; a condition for which the governments of the "U.S. and the Soviet Union bear about equal responsibilityfor allowing the illicit traffic in military weapons to get out of control. Small, sophisticated arms designed to put more firepower into the hands of individual soldiers are rolling off assembly lines in both countries, and are being shipped to other countries around the globe. Suppliers don't keep track of what happens to them after that."

Ostensibly intended for recipient governments, as often as not the arms land on the black market where they are readily available to anyone with the patience to develop the right connections. The sheer volume of such shipments, the Journal pointed out, makes it often possible to arm a terrorist with a M-11 for as little as $5. (The M-11, sometimes referred to as the "perfect assassination weapon," is a U.S.-made hand machine gun that fires bullets by gas propulsion without sound, flash or smoke.) Made in two pieces, each nine inches long, the M-11 weighs only seven pounds and can empty its 32-round clip in 1.7 seconds. With it, an expert on such matters was quoted as saying, "I could kill a hundred people in the next room and you'd never hear it."

In addition to the glut of lethal weapons already available to just about anyone, an estimated $5 billion in arms that the U.S. abandoned in Vietnam offer a further danger. If the Vietnamese ever begin dispersing that arsenal, the incidence of violence in the world will increase in the years ahead, the Journal warned.

Nor is the flood of weapons confined to conventional firearms. There is the "Strela," a Soviet-made, heat-seeking, precision-guided missile, for instance, reported to be now showing up in "third World" countries, almost all Arab countries, and some African nations, including Mozambique. Listed as having taken delivery of Strelas were the "Third-World" People's Democratic Republic of Yemen (which has proclaimed an alliance with revolutionary movements elsewhere), Egypt, North Korea, and India.

Launched from the ground, the Strela "will knock a jetliner out of the sky at altitudes of up to 6,560 feet," the Journal noted. An indication of the uses to which they may be put was provided in 1973, when Italian police burst in on five Arab terrorists setting up a battery of the missiles (light enough to be carried on a man's back) in an apartment near Rome, directly under the traffic pattern of the Leonardo da Vinci Airport. Shipped originally from the U.S.S.R., to Egypt, it was guessed that these particular Strelas were in turn sold to Libya. Libya's head of state, Moammar Khadafy, is said to be happy to distribute arms to almost anyone who will use them against a government he opposes.

In addition, the Journal story went on to report, Libya is known to have obtained from the Soviets large quantities of RPG-7 rockets, which weigh less than ten pounds and can "destroy a tank, let alone a limousine or speaker's platform," Libya, the Journal pointed out, is believed to be supplying the provisional the Provisional Wing of the IrishRepublican Army with the RPG-7s and other weapons.

The paradox of all this is that the people who are paying for the proliferation of the lethal weapons all over the world are, for the most part, the taxpayers of the U.S.S.R. (where private ownership of firearms is already forbidden) and the U.S.A. (where moves to prohibit or restrict such ownership are continously under way).

A strange world we live in, our masters, in which the trend seems to be toward placing deadly weapons in the hands of everyone except those forced to pick up the tab.

And Now: 'Heightism'

You've heard of sexism, racism, ageism and other prejudicial "isms." To the list add "heightism," a term coined some time ago by sociologist Saul Feldman to describe discrimination against short people.

While it may never become a vogue word, "heightism" is nevertheless an unhappy fact of life for countless men and women, even in this supposedly enlightened age, says Robert Half, president of a nationwide chain of personnel agencies.

He cites a study of University of Pittsburgh graduates which revealed that men 6' 2" or taller received starting salaries 12 per cent higher than equally qualified men who stood 6' or less. Short women received similarly short shrift.

Short people are often stereotyped as being stubborn, cocky or overaggressive, says Half.

"When short people reach the top of the corporate ladder, their well-deserved success is almost invariably attributed to a 'Napoleon complex,' " he notes. "Six-foot executives, on the other hand, are simply credited with drive, skill, ambition and intelligence."

He further notes that in every presidential election from 1900 to 1968, the taller of the two candidates always won. Not until 1968 was the pattern broken by Richard Nixon, who was half an inch shorter than George McGovern.

Unfortunately, certain other shortcomings about the winner were later revealed. Even so, Half is encouraged to believe that the victory of 5'9½" Jimmy Carter over 6'1" Gerald Ford may indicate a healthy change in the way we evaluate and choose our national leaders.

In any event, and in short, "heightism" doesn't make sense, he says. "Prejudice against shorter people, no matter how subtle, is both absurd and intolerable."

We'll go along with that: adding that, prejudice against taller people, no matter how subtle, makes no more sense.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Jan 21, the 21st day of 1977. There are 344 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954, the first atomic submarine, the USS Nautilus, was launched at Groton, Conn.

On this date –

In 1793, King Louis VI of France was beheaded.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis of Mississippi resigned from the U.S. Senate, 12 days after his state had seceded from the Union.

In 1903, the London Naval Conference opened.

In 1924, the Russian revolutionary leader Nikolai Lenin died at 54.

In 1950, a federal jury in New York found former State Department official Alger Hiss guilty of perjury.

In 1970, Iraq thwarted an attempt to overthrow the government, and 12 men were executed.

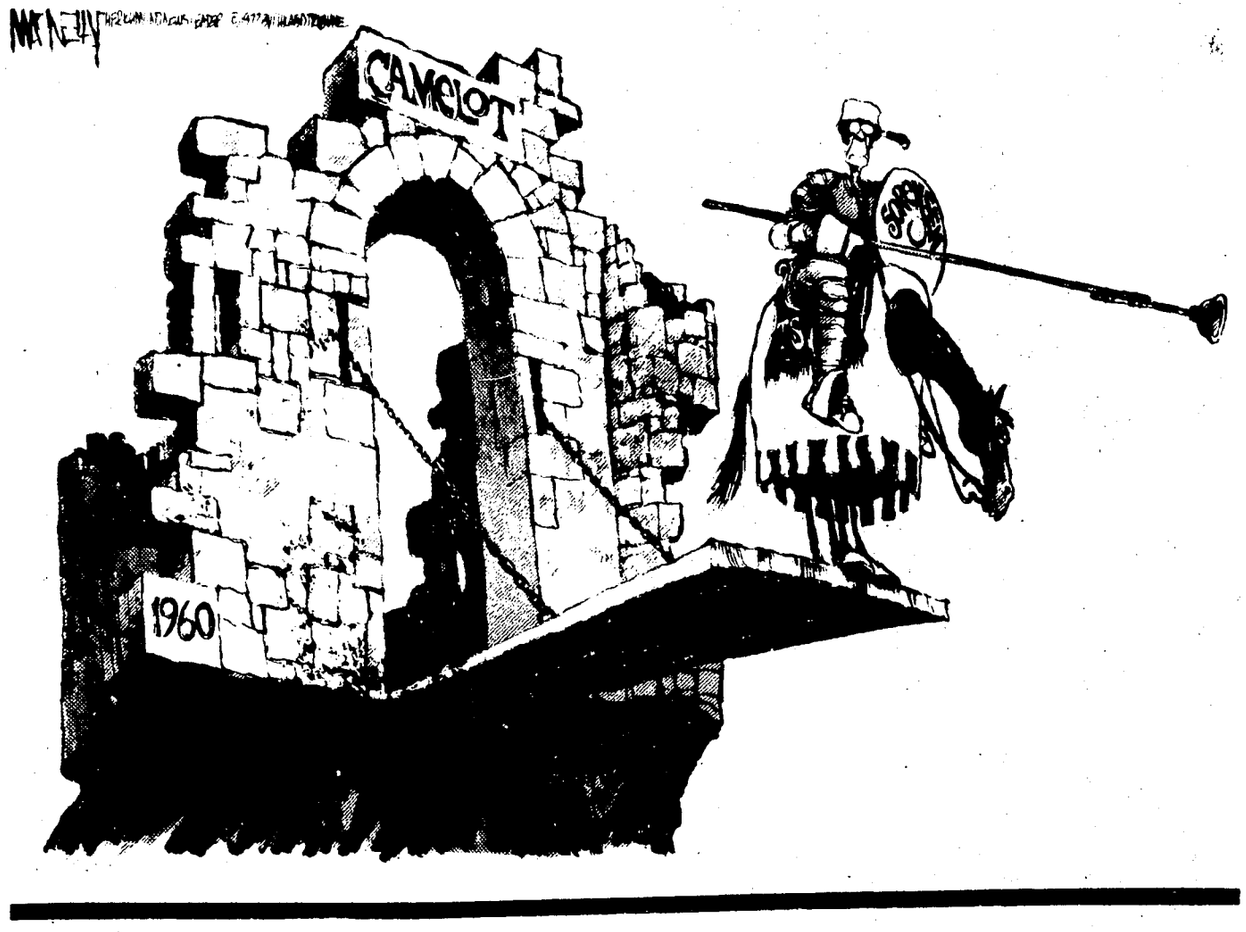

Ten years ago: North Vietnam claimed it had shot down 10 attacking American planes.

Five years ago: Democrats in Congress accused the Nixon Administration of prolonging the war in Vietnam and failing to deal adequately with crime, the ecomomy and the problems of cities.

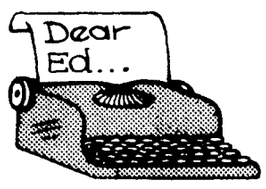

One year ago: The supersonic Concorde airliner was put into service by Britain and France with flights from London to Bahrain and from Paris to Rio De Janeiro.

Today's birthdays: Golfer Jack Nicklaus is 37. Actress Jinx Falkenberg is 58.

Thought for today: "Let us be happy and live within our means – even if we have to borrow the money to do it with." — Artemus Ward, American Revolutionary commander, 1727-1800.

Serve Em Right

We can have our cake and eat it, too, if we do this:

Give complete custody of a death-row criminal to individuals and groups who oppose capital punishment. Let these people assume total responsibility for supporting the criminal and for guaranteeing (as surely as would the criminal's death guarantee) he will never circulate in society again.

This plan would protect the public as voters have requested. It might also expose the hypocrisy of some dreamers, who want full credit for being humanitarian but who want the rest of us to pay the price.

If there are enough sincere opponents of capital punishment to empty death row, the plan should satisfy everyone.

No Longer Good

May I thank you for your quote from Alexis de Toqueville as he is a favorite of mine. Let me suggest another of his statements of wisdom which your irate caller, "Ears To You," Jan. 12 issue, might find more pertinent to our times.

After visiting our country in the 1830's in search of the secret of the genius and greatness of America he said, "America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

Sadly, America has ceased to be good, collectively speaking.

Many of our so called "Christian" churches have turned from the teaching of chastity, virtue and moral righteousness to the acceptance of the anything goes, "new morality," even to the advocating of homosexuality, abortion, fornication and adultery.

Our socialistic state colleges and universities no longer demand moral and/or academic excellence from their students.

Our legislative, judicial and executive ranks of government, local, state and national, are filled with an alarming number of corrupt, self-serving demagogues.

The Sabbath Day is no longer honored. It is a day of self indulgence, sporting events, shopping sprees and business as usual.

Venereal disease and teenage promiscuity has become a social plague with 750,000 reported cases of unwed teen pregnancies in 1974. Venereal disease for all ages has reached pandemic proportions.

Forty-three per cent of all arrests for serious crimes in the U.S. in 1975 involved young people under the age of 18 years of age. The next category, 18-24 years, accounted for 32 per cent of all arrests!

Hundreds of thousands of mothers are leaving their families to enter the work force in search of "self fulfillment" or to acquire material possessions while allowing their children to be raised by others.

Alcoholism is costing the nation more than 10 billion dollars a year. Drug abuse, too, has become a national plague.

Dishonesty for too many has become a way of life.

In 1976 more than one million reported cases of child abuse were recorded.

In our nations capitol there are more abortions than live births!

Yes, America has ceased to be good and is no longer the great nation she ought to be. How sad and disappointed Toqueville would be if he were to visit our shores today.

Wasting Gas

It is amazing that a tremendous amount of water and gas is being wasted, seemingly unnoticed.

Everywhere I go I see people after mowing their lawns, hosing down the sidewalks, then afterward hosing down the gutter, sometimes two city blocks long. This, with the fuel shortage and all, could save a lot of energy if they would use a broom, instead.

Also, lawnsprinkler systems are left running long after the water floods the sidewalks and runs in the gutters. Another thing I see is pool heaters with the dials turned to maximum heat, running at least 12 hours a day and all winter long, with anyone rarely using the pool. This is in apartment complexes.

There are many people who think that water and gas just flow. They do not know that it takes a lot of fuel to create steam and electricity to make the pumps run to get the water to its destination.

It takes a lot of money to get the fuel transported. It takes a lot of money in labor to get the water and gas and electricity to its destination. In some parts of the country right now gas is turned off because of a shortage. And in California some pools (outside) are from 80 to 85 degrees and no one is using the pool.

Vitamin B-17

I wish to take exception to your reference to Laetrile as a drug in the article headed "Patient Files Suit Seeking Laetrile Use", which appeared in the Register, Thursday, Jan. 13.

Laetrile is also known as amygdalin and vitamin B-17. Any competent biochemist can tell you that vitamins are food supplements and not drugs.

The congress of the United States has also declared vitamins as food supplements and not drugs.

Under current United States Law the Federal Food and Drug Administration has no authority to ban B-17 or any other vitamin or food supplement under arbitrary rules and regulations that pertain to drugs.

BRUDNOY'S COMPLAINT

A Time To Resign-From A Masthead

By DAVID BRUDNOY

The death last week of Sir Anthony Eden reminds us not only of this great and good man's lifetime of service to his country, but also of the time he could not in conscience continue in office, and so resigned rather than assent, by his presence in the government, to policies he considered unconscionable. The date was 20 February 1938, the issue is now a detail in a long, complicated story of negotiations with Italy and Spain, and Foreign Secretary Eden's resignation from the government served to protest his prime minister's sloppy, apparently duplistic diplomacy.

I have until this past week never resigned from anything in protest against a policy. I have left jobs to move on to other jobs, I abandoned the chairmanship of the Conservative Party to signal disapproval of the activities of certain nasty individuals within the leadership of that fated mini-party, I have let a membership in this or that lapse after a prolonged period of inactivity. But the act of resigning in protest is new in my experience.

New, but not unrewarding. The question comes up time and again in the lives of people who associate with action groups and publications: how does a dreadful act or an impossible article gain greater legitimacy owing to continued association with the group or publication in question by someone not the initiator of the act or the article? In other words, does one give aid and comfort to evil, even if one has not done the evil thing, by remaining with the agency that committed the evil?

The straw that broke this particular camel's back was an article in last month's issue of The Alternative: An American Spectator, a once hopeful magazine published out of Bloomington, Indiana, with which I have been closely associated for four years, listed as an "Associate" (in imitation of National Review, which also has such a category) on the masthead, and author for a few years of columns on the cinema and various special pieces.

The article, written by someone named Maloney, undertook to malign every single facet of what is called the "gay" movement in America: the lifestyle of any homosexual who dared not to live in terror and secrecy, the claims of homosexuals to equality under the law and in the regard of their fellows, the assertions by non-homosexual friends of gay persons that such individuals were not the scum of the earth, etc., etc., etc.

The article came not out of the blue, but as the latest act in an intermittent war against gay Americans initiated by The Alternative: brief pieces, asides, snide remark piled upon snide remark, had typified the magazine's attitude over the years, with one brief period of exception, during which I published an article and then a rejoinder to a couple of outraged responses, the burden of my message being essentially that queer-baiting (as I termed the phenomenon) was unworthy of serious conservatives, yet typical of way too many otherwise decent people on the Right.

My attempts in the direction of what I took (and take) to be enlightened tolerance occurred in 1973, after which the magazine had reverted to its accustomed philistinism on the subject, culminating in the piece by Mr. Maloney, a piece prominently featured, ballyhooed on the magazine's cover, and containing within its couple thousand words virtually every possible indictment, however ludicrous, against those 20 or 25 million Americans who had the audacity not to live in utter shame even though they had violated the canons of authoritarian conservative bigotry vis a vis homosexuality.

It was not with pleasure that, after pondering the matter for over a month, I wrote at length to The Alternative's editor, an old friend, expressing my outrage and my feeling that I could no longer remain associated with the journal unless some attempt was made to right the wrong with a serious, humane, decent article countering Maloney's. And I presume that it took a certain forced sang froid for the editor to write to me as he then soon after did, a long paragraph replete with vicious attacks on homosexuals and those heterosexuals who could not in conscience excoriate gay persons. "If you want to quit the masthead, that is your decision," my friend Tyrrell wrote. It is, and I have.

The conservatism with which I proudly associate myself has no room in it for fanatical hatreds, for cruelty, for deliberate ignorance. The day Anthony Eden died I severed my association once and for all with The Alternative. I feel cleansed.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Phil Burton's Rise And Fall

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — This is the intriguing saga of the meteoric rise and precipitate fall of "King Phil" Burton, stridently radical San Francisco Congressman who thought he was set to be boss of the House.

Two years ago at the start of the 94th Congress he was soaringly on the ascendant. Cannily pied pipering 75 dewy-eyed young freshmen, Burton made himself chairman of the Democratic Caucus and then, righteously raising the cry of "reform," dethroned three veteran chairmen of powerful committees and menacingly scared the wits out of others.

Blitzing full speed ahead, the pushy, burly Californian seemed headed straight for becoming speaker or majority floor leader. No serious obstacle seemed to be in the way — except Burton!

He undid himself; he was just too much to stomach.

As the months rolled by he was too abrasive, too bossy, too obviously bent on power brokering and having his way — always, of course, in the name of "reform" and "liberalism."

That's why, when the 95th Congress convened several weeks ago, Burton's leftist spiel had lost much of its lure, and on the crucial showdowns he was ditched.

But to hear him tell it, his spectacular axing is not fini. Defiantly he vows:

"I'll be around calling shots for a long time to come. Already some of those who voted against me are sorry. I went my own way before and I'll continue to do so."

Under the circumstances that's about all he can do — for the time being.

His "establishment" victors are assiduously making it their business to keep it that way.

Attempts by Burton to recapture some control by championing so-called "procedural reforms" are quickly and decisively squelched. Latest rebuff was the flat refusal to give Rep. "Pete" Stark, close Burton henchman, a seat on the strategic Budget Committee. Instead it went to Rep. Omar Burleson, Tex., who makes no bones of being against "King Phil."

Helpfully abetting Stark's rejection is his penchant for grandstanding and headline grabbing. The dressy, bombastic Californian is personally no more popular than his mentor Burton.

There are plenty of prima donnas in the House, but the smart ones are discreet about it.

WHO'RE YOU?

It was most disconcerting; downright unimaginable!

Here was Betty Friedan, renowned feminist crusader, at a Washington cocktail party and no one was paying the slightest attention to her. The situation verged on scandalous; certainly it was extraordinary.

Finally a woman, after carefully looking Friedan over, said, "I'm not political, but you look familiar. Are you Mrs. Mondale?"

"No."

"Are you in Congress; in the government?"

"No."

"I'm sure I've seen you somewhere. Who are you?"

"I'm a writer. I write articles and books. Perhaps you have seen or heard of 'The Feminine Mystique.' I wrote that."

"Really! I haven't seen it, but you sure must be brave to write that kind of book. I'd love to have you autograph my prayer book. It's been blessed by five archbishops."

With that she handed Friedan a small white book with a cross on the cover. Holding it gingerly, Friedan signed it and handed it back saying:

"This is a first for me. I've never autographed a prayer book before."

Such is fame.

TIT FOR TAT

Those crocodile tears shed by radical-liberal backers of Sen. Hubert Humphrey over the so-called "desertion" of labor in his grab for Democratic floor leader are as phony as they are unwarranted.

Labor didn't desert the voluble, egotistic Minnesotan. It was the other way around.

AFL-CIO leaders were merely giving him a dose of his own medicine.

On a number of occasions, Humphrey, after promising to vote for labor-favored legislation, did exactly the opposite; opposing instead of supporting it.

Such an instance was his balking at completing development of a supersonic airliner (U.S. version of the British-French Concorde) After assuring AFL-CIO president George Meany he would back it. Continuance of the multi-billion-dollar project meant thousands of jobs and organized labor was strongly for it.

Meany personally asked Humphrey for help, and was told, "You can count on me. Don't give it another thought."

But when the legislation reached the Senate, Humphrey sided with the doves. Still yearning for the White House, he decided the leftists would be more useful and lined up with them — even making a speech against the SST.

Outraged at this "double-cross," as they bluntly called it, the laborites said nothing at the time. But they've never forgotten or forgiven it.

That's the real reason why Humphrey, despite his loud professions of being a "devoted friend of labor" was cooly passed up by them in favor of Sen. Robert Byrd, elected majority leader by acclamation.

Says Andrew Biemiller, veteran AFL-CIO lobbyist, "We always know where Byrd stands. When he gives his word, that's it."

Border Dispute

Driving to and from San Diego County on route 5 one must realize the hypocritical pretence and use of Camp Pendleton with at least 50,000 marines, I am told, to defend what?

Our U. S. borders, including California? Or are they at camp for the "in fighting"?

On the return trip one reduces speed and stops at the immigration station near San Clemente. This returning trip we counted but 7 U. S. Immigration officers on duty, presumably to protect the state of California from illegal aliens, political thugs, dope runners, smuglers, and criminals of all descriptions.

Our elected and politically appointed officials swore to protect the U. S. from foreign and domestic enemies.

Looks as if our "patriotic" domestic enemies will permit all invaders (8000 per week, estimated total, 8 to 12 million already here) to take over at least California as a starter in returning California back to Mexico, with probably other border states to follow.

Will Alaska and the entire USA real estate be "given away" (sold) to the highest bidder? What "super patriots" will "give away" the Panama Canal Territory and what will be their take?.

Our draft evaders are called enemies by some of our "political patriots." At least the draft dodgers were not the "patriots" that sold and gave away our resources, or tax-payers money for foreign aid or sophisticated military equipment, and territory to our enemies, in the name of patriotism! Little wonder we quietly are being taken over by foreign invaders! Our D.C. "patriots" planned it that way !!

Good Work

This is a letter of congratulation to all those doctors who did not cooperate with the government's swine flu inoculation program.

Because you did not allow yourselves to be stampeded into this questionable attack on a hypothetical disease, your patients were not among the thirty or more who died immediately after receiving the vaccine. And because you did not succumb to this exercise in government press-agentry, you have no lurking fears that you might have inflicted Guillain-Barre paralysis on your patients.

The exercise of a doctor's professional independence, based only on personal conscience and skill, becomes more difficult every day. What was non-cooperation in this case may require full civil disobedience of you in the future, when PSRO's, HSA's, FDA's and a host of alphabetized health agencies attempt to capture your professional souls.

By this present show of strength and integrity, however, you have demonstrated to your patients a willingness to fight against manipulation by those who would prescribe their treatment by federal decree. You have established, thereby, the fact that you are the best consumer advocates of all. Keep up the good work!

Wondering About Costs

Hurrah for Commissioner Chapman! And hurrah for you for bringing into focus the immensity of the problem of illegal aliens in this county!

Two other aspects of this problem were not mentioned in the articles that I would like to add. Has anyone ever investigated how much money we are spending on pregnancies, immunizations, and hospitalizations of "visitors" to our country? One person having surgery can easily run $6,000. The average maternity cost runs $1,000.

Has anyone investigated a connection between heroin traffic and our county's barrios? Could this be how many people make the money to get to this country?

I know I must sound awfully cold-hearted and unfeeling but I think our need to see ourselves as the "good guy of the world" is going to leave us in a position where we can't even take care of ourselves. I'm getting really tired of supporting so many non-productive people in our society with my hard work and my measley little paycheck.

Petition Deadline

As every one who is concerned regarding the exorbitant property tax situation in Orange County and the State of California, I want to let you know that the final date for the Citizens 1 per cent Tax Limitation petition dead line is March 1, to be returned to 2210 N. Poplar St., Santa Ana, Ca., 92706

A minimum of 60,000 more signatures should be returned by then, a very small percentage of over 860,000 registered voters. If you haven't signed one yet or secured signatures, call 542-7883 for information of a petitioner close to you.

There are 49 co-chairman through-out the county, besides many circulators, so a petition should be available very close to you.

Don't wait for some one to contact you.

Also, watch for someone with a petition in a shopping center.

"HEAR YE, HEAR YE.... THE HOUSE ETHICS COMMITTEE IS OFFICIALLY GAVELED TO ORDER!"

Soon Bureaucrats Become Like Everyone Else

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON – (NEA) – Over the years I have watched new men come to Washington in one capacity or another in government. They arrive with fresh ideas. Their proposals are sharp and to the point, their words crisp. They are impatient with red tape and bureaucratic stalling, determined to get things done.

I talk to these same men a year or so later. They speak in bureaucratese, find it difficult to come to the point. Their sentences are long and involved, their plans nebulous. They speak ponderously of long-term gains and the need for a slow pace in pushing for change.

Some of these appointees come in rip snorting, shifting bureaucrats right and left, yanking officials almost bodily, replacing them with others. Soon they find to their sorrow that nothing is different. For the bureaucracy digs in and the next layer takes the place of the old.

Some newcomers become discouraged, convinced that no one can get a handle on the bureaucracy. These men usually end up resigning their posts and going back home.

Most newcomers, however, roll with the tide in the end. They become, as suggested above, more like Washingtonians than the Washingtonians and more like the bureaucrats than the bureaucrats themselves.

They're caught in a pattern of encirclement.

When a new department secretary and his assistants take over an agency, the established bureaucracy begins by shunting their way a host of perks – privileges, conveniences and special treatment. The newcomers find a variety of doors quietly opened for themselves and their families on a scale never imagined. They find that officials rush to obey their slightest personal request. They are smothered with everything possible to build their egos, treated with deference. Overwhelmed.

In stage two they're briefed to the gills with endless sophisticated, elaborate briefings, complete with colored slides, charts and whatnot on every conceivable operation in which the agency is engaged. These briefings, in some agencies, occur daily and are carefully designed to obfuscate anything the briefers and their supervisors don't want brought to light.

The bureaucratic staffs follow through by making certain the newcomers are occupied with a myriad of details on everything imaginable. Every insignificant problem is brought to their attention for decision.

With all this, the time and energy the newcomers have left to deal with reorganization or with key agency problems are minimal. They must perforce depend on the subordinates who have been there for years – the established bureaucracy.

When the new department secretary ventures into changes the bureaucracy does not want, he finds something has gone amiss here or there, and what he's requested or ordered doesn't happen. No one refuses to do what he's told. No one defies or argues. But little problems of one sort or another arise one after another – days pass, then weeks and months. Somehow the proposal has disappeared into the woodwork.

In the end little changes.

President-elect Jimmy Carter's people may prove the exception. But I am compelled in fact to agree with the thoughts expressed by Charles Kirbo, who's probably closer to Mr. Carter than any other man, as they appeared in a recent issue of the Washington Post under the by-line of Henry Mitchell:

"What would be the point of me in Washington? . . . The minute you sit down you become part of it, start thinking the same things everybody else does, start listening to the consensus . . ."

Will Poland Recognize Its Dissidents?

By The London Economist

For the first time, a ruling Communist party may be about to have to come to terms with a coalition of disillusioned workers, middle-class critics and rebellious churchmen who between them amount to a center of power outside the governing party. Tell that to Poland's fellow Communist parties in Eastern Europe and they will shudder.

Some time during 1977 a decision will have to be made about how, and when, to cut the subsidies which are fed to Polish consumers like a diet of tranquilizers.

These subsidies which keep prices down at a cost of something like an eighth of the national income in 1976, are as big an economic nonsense as Britain's present level of public spending. The loan Poland cajoled out of Russia in November, like Britain's new IMF money, is a borrowing of time to put the distortion right. But here the comparison with Britain ends.

A one-party state, for all its apparent strength, is short on political flexibility. When it runs into large-scale opposition the choices open to it are to crush the opposition, buy it out – or negotiate with it, which puts a question-mark over the whole one-party system.

A policy of repression is far harder than it used to be. Polish workers who went on strike against the attempt last June to raise prices by cutting subsidies would, in the old days, have been sacked or jailed. The committee of middle-class intellectuals which is trying to help those workers who did get punished after June would have been quietly rounded up. The Roman Catholic church, which has put its weight behind this nascent opposition, would have been told it would lose some of its existing privileges if it did not shut up.

But the government has hesitated to strike hard against any of these centers of dissidence. Some of the June rioters were imprisoned, but then released: their middle-class allies have been bullied by threatening telephone calls, but are still at liberty: the church has not been touched.

The ease of modern communications is one important reason for this new moderation; it is much simpler now than it was in the 1950s and the early 1960s for dissidents in Communist countries to keep in touch with each other or to pick up the telephone and tell their troubles to their friends in the West.

Another reason is Poland's growing economic dependence on the West; it already owes some $6 to $9 billion to Western countries, and wants to borrow more.

Then there is the Polish government's knowledge that any deviation from its present relative self-restraint will be put under the spotlight at the conference which is due to start in Belgrade next summer to examine what has happened since the Helsinki declaration was signed in 1975.

So, presumably, the Polish government's policy for 1977 is to buy off its opponents, not squash them. The industrial labor force may be offered a new wage increase to get it in the right mood for the big price rises that will have to come soon afterwards. To prevent this extra money simply lengthening the lines outside the shops, the loan from Russia will be used to put more consumer goods on the market, and Poland's farmers may be given new incentives to grow more food.

The acquiescence of the Catholic hierarchy can be purchased, it is assumed, by financial concessions and more licenses to build new churches. The intellectuals can be offered a bit more freedom of expression. The disaffected estates of the Polish realm, the theory runs, can be bought off one by one.

But this policy may prove unworkable. For one thing the extra cost of these concessions would eat up a large part of the savings fromt he subsidy cuts – the aim of the whole exercise. And people may no longer be willing to be bought.

Poland, after all, has been this way before, not once, but twice. Wladyslaw Gomulka came to power after the 1956 upheavals, and Edward Gierek took over from Gomulka after the 1970 riots, on the promise that in future the Communist party would govern with the manifest consent of the governed.

Both men failed to carry out their promise, although both started out with honest intentions, because the one-party system closed in on them. That double failure has created a deep sense of disillusionment which has infected industrial workek as well as the more articulate middle class.

So the government's choice will be between old-fashioned repression (using unpopular Russian troops) or something new altogether.

Something new means treating with an opposition which, in a one-party state, is supposed not to exist. Fortunately, the means of doing this do exist. The rudiments of a genuine labor movement, quite separate from the official trade unions which are mere appendages of the ruling party, came into being on the shop-floors of Poland's factories during the June riots.

This movement has its links with middle-class critics of the regime and with that reserve army of any Polish opposition, the Catholic church. The negotiations would not be formal or public; that would be too abrupt a challenge to the party's claim to sole authority and to Russian views. If the government wants to get the country's consent to the measures needed to put the economy right, it may have no alternative to under-the-rug discussion with the people who speak for Poland's opposition.

But even this muffled sort of negotiation would mean that a Communist government would have stepped outside the fiction that it knows what its people want and entered the real world of bargaining for the consent of the governed.

Dairy Support Removal Sought

By ALAN EMORY

WASHINGTON (NANA) – A government watchdog agency has recommended that Congress remove the upper and lower limits on dairy price supports and base them on projected market conditions.

The Agriculture Dept. says, however, that it is difficult to predict market conditions.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), in a report to Congress on government dairy programs, said the department "failed to explain how its efforts to improve dairy market projections can significantly alter the process for setting milk support prices."

The GAO quotes the department as forecasting that, even with supports at the minimum level — they have been pegged at 80 per cent for some time now — it would have to buy from 3.3 billion to 3.7 billion pounds of surplus butter, cheese and milk powder each year through 1981.

The report says the present formula for computing parity does not consider "many relevant economic factors," so the present limits represent more of a constraint than a constructive guide to determine support levels.

It adds that the application of the formula "may have encouraged surplus production in some years."

One repeated suggestion has been to pay farmers directly for the difference between the support level and the price dairy products would bring on the market.

This would allow consumers to buy dairy items at market prices, give consumer demand greater influence on production, guarantee minimum revenue to farmers and provide free competition in U.S. markets for imported products.

It would also carry the potential for greater government expenses when prices fell below support levels, encourage inefficient farmers to stay in dairying and fail to stabilize prices.

The Agriculture Dept. told the GAO direct payments to dairy farmers has "never had the support" of either farmers or Congress, and it opposed the idea. It said more imports would simply mean higher government payments.

The GAO insisted, however, that direct subsidies would make U.S. dairy prices "more competitive with foreign products" and, because of lower prices, the need for import restictions would be reduced.

Terrorist Battle Cry: Vive La France!

By FRANK STARR
Chicago Tribune

WASHINGTON – The next victims of Palestinian terror, whoever they shall be, may die with the bitter words "Vive la France!" on their lips.

For they would die that France's tranquility not be disturbed, that France's oil supply not be interrupted, that France's citizens not be inconvenienced.

Abu Daoud, the apparent planner of the Munich massacre of the Israeli Olympic team, was detained by French police, held four days, and released. Arab governments had demanded his release. The Israeli and West German governments had requested his extradition.

The Israeli request probably was faulty from the legal viewpoint, but not the West German one. To reject the German request a French judge had to find that the German police warrant had not been accompanied by a diplomatic request as required by Article IX, Paragraph 3 of the 1951 extradition treaty.

French authorities, had they wished to act firmly against terrorism, had four days in which to notify their German counterparts that a minor requirement of the treaty had not been fulfilled.

There had been several telephone contacts on both Friday and Saturday followed by cable confirmations of instructions. Yet the French never found it necessary to notify the Germans that one technicality remained unsatisfied. Reminded of this, a French official said, "We weren't asking for extradition – the Germans were. We are not going to do the job of the Germans."

One can only conclude that the French found it politically awkward to hold and extradite Daoud, so they found a way to release him. Indeed, he got a first-class air ticket to Algiers. The incident demonstrated decisively that, with the support of Arab governments, Palestinian terrorists may kill as they wish because Western governments haven't the spine to stop them.

This case is particularly ironic because it was only last November, in response to a German-French initiative, that the 18 member-nations of the Council of Europe unanimously adopted a convention on the suppression of terrorism which stipulates automatic extradition of terrorists or prompt trial in the country which catches them.

That these same two neighboring states with good technical communication between them and presumably a common interest could not coordinate their actions to avoid letting Abu Daoud slip through their fingers is ridiculous to suggest. It insults the pubic intelligence.

The private relief expressed by some in both countries that new acts of terrorism – which most certainly would have followed the arrest and trial of Daoud – have now been avoided is also a foolishly short-sighted attitude. For Daoud, fourth in the Al Fatah hierarchy and a man with numerous assassinations credited to him, is at large. That cannot be a better alternative.

But it is a typical attitude, especially in Western Europe, despite the brave talk of the antiterrorism convention. Another example, just a year ago, was the decision of Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky to facilitate the escape from his country of a band of terrorists without even identifying them. It later was determined that one of them was Illich Ramirez Sanchez, also known as Carlos, one of the most dangerous terrorists in the world.

The French failure to respond cooperatively to the German extradition request is an abject capitulation to pressure which no government worthy of the name can afford.

The French government, however, has often demonstrated its cowardice and its unreliability as an ally as well as its absolute disinterest in international cooperation of any kind that requires a degree of French sacrifice.

This action is deserving only of contempt. But ultimately it will extract innocent lives into the bargain as well.

Vive la France!

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 19, the 19th day of 1977. There are 346 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, Japan invaded Burma early in the Pacific War.

On this date –

In 1736, the inventor of the steam engine, James Watt, was born in Scotland.

In 1795. French forces overran Holland.

In 1807, the Confederate general Robert E. Lee was born in Stratford, Va.

In 1861, Georgia seceded from the Union.

In 1937, Howard Hughes established a trans-continental air record, flying across the United States in seven hours, 28 minutes.

In 1938, General Francisco Franco's air force bombed the Spanish cities of Barcelona and Valencia, killing 700 people.

Ten years ago: A special nine-man committee was formed in the House of Representatives to investigate the qualifications of Harlem's Adam Clayton Powell to serve in Congress.

Five years ago: A student strike was called in Egypt to demand strong action against Israel.

THE REAL THING

'Year Of The Consumer'

For Realtors this is the year of consumerism, disclosure, taxes and independence – and not necessarily in that order.

These were the hot issues discussed Wednesday by California Association of Realtors (CAR) President Jerome Blank at a luncheon meeting with Orange County Realtors.

"This is the year of being concerned with the consumer," Blank told The Register, "for if we are not, we won't continue to have the privilege of serving the public".

In a talk filled with concern over government encroachment into business, confusion over governmental interpretation of employe-employer status, rising property taxes and staving-off further anti-business legislation, Blank outlined the following program: for Boards of Realtors:

– Establishment of local government relation committees that audit city council, and county government meetings with an eye on keeping those entities' budgets in line.

"We want to put an end to excessive spending and other causes for rising property taxes," he said.

– Urge local government to adopt parcel map ordinances which would allow minor lot changes without the owner having to spend vast amounts of money to obtain the change.

Under the present system, the slightest change can cost the owner $1,000 or more, he said.

– Continuing education for Realtors. "We feel people who handle the money on what is the largest purchase for most people – a home – should be highly qualified to do so."

While the Internal Revenue Service remains "quiescent" on the matter of Brokers' employer-employe relationship with sales persons associated in their offices, Blank cited problems with the California Department of Benefit Payments.

He said an "over-zealous auditor from that department" has audited several firms and maintains employer-employe relationships exists on the basis that:

– The broker provided the office.

– The broker provided the phone.

– The listings belonged to the broker.

– The broker carried workman's compensation insurance.

– The broker required the salesperson to carry auto insurance.

He said this is happening despite definitions of employer-employe relationships set forth in California Department of Real Estate and CAR material.

He said funds have been appropriated for a test court case and to set precedent as the latest case law available on the subject is 25-years-old.

"The question is if we still operate under the old English common law where a person has a right to contract for a certain service," Blank said.

Employer-employe status is a very close walk on a tightrope, he said. But if audited, "Don't get panic stricken. A department of Benefit Payments finding is not an order. It is not a judgment. It is an assessment subject to appeal, and is not hopeless.

"Some say we are the last small entrepreneurs," he said. "We want to be independent. Some don't. CAR wants to give its members a choice, that's why we want a test case."

To stave-off further regulation of the industry, Blank cited "positive legislation" CAR supports, such as a bill that would require zoning, building permit and other disclosures to be made by the seller at the time of listing his property.

This in opposition to a bill to be reintroduced by Senator Nichols C. (D-Alameda) requiring much more information.

Blank told of the Habitat conference on housing held last summer in Canada and attended by delegates of 140 countries. Only 32 of those countries supported the idea of private home ownership, he said.

"As more regulation on ownership and the right to transact business grows and fewer can afford to buy homes, our business will shrink," he said.

California will continue to grow, he said. "We must accept growth. We can't keep people from coming here," he said, citing the present frigid temperatures elsewhere in the nation.

"And we must have realistic zoning. Not everyone can afford a single family home, but you can still create apartments for $20,000 to $25,000," he said.

"We need fair growth and fair treatment," Blank said.

In line with Blank's comments, Thomas West president of United Business Investments reports conversion of that brokerage firm's 300 salespersons to employe status.

GAC Officials Deny Fraud

MIAMI (AP) – The president of GAC Corp. denied in an interview Thursday that he and two former officials of the land development company committed fraud in fund transfers as the Securities and Exchange Commission alleges.

S. Hayward Wills, president of the firm; Russell Kemmerer, GAC's former chief financial officer, and chief accountant Paul Stuken were accused by the SEC in U.S. District Court in Washington Wednesday of illegally transferring $39 million from one subsidiary to another.

"We made the transfers, but in my opinion they were legal," said Wills, who retains his title as president and chairman though the companies are now run by two bankruptcy trustees.

One transaction was a buy back of stock in one of GAC's subsidiaries, and the other a sale and leaseback arrangement, Wills said. "The net effect was to put money into properties to do development work," he said.

The SEC charged that the money was used to pay off debt and that the transactions violated agreements with holders of $86 million of GAC Properties Credit debentures. Wills contends the agreements allowed both transactions.

GAC, a $400 million Miami-based company, lost $25 million in 1975. It is undergoing reorganization under Chapter 10 of the Bankruptcy Act.

RCA Bounces Back With 68% Earnings Rise

NEW YORK (AP) – RCA Corp. said Thursday that its 1976 earnings rose 64 per cent over 1975. Fourth quarter profits were 68 per cent higher than a year ago, the company said.

RCA earnings for 1976 reached $177.4 million, or $2.30 a share, compared with $110 million, or $1.40 a share, a year earlier. Revenues rose to $5.4 billion from $4.8 billion in 1975.

In the fourth quarter, RCA earned $56 million, or 73 cents a share, on revenues of $1.5 billion. That compared with $33.4 million, or 43 cents a share, on revenues of $1.4 billion a year earlier.

Record profits were recorded by several RCA subsidiaries including the National Broadcasting Co., Hertz Corp. and publisher Random House, Banquet Foods.

Earnings also were boosted by a "major turnaround in electronics manufacturing opperations", said RCA President Edgar H. Griffiths.

AMC Will Idle 11,000 Workers

DETROIT (AP) – American Motors Corp. said Thursday it will suspend North American car-building operations for all of next week, idling 11,000 hourly workers.

AMC's shutdowns at Kenosha and Milwaukee, Wis., and Brampton, Ont., are the automaker's latest effort to trim small car inventories, which have not sold as well as industry exectives had expected.

Also down next week will be General Motors' Lordstown, Ohio, Vega-Astre subcompact plant. It was shut Jan. 10 for three weeks.

Shut this week are Ford's subcompact Pinto-Bobcat assembly plant in Metuchen, N.J., and Chrysler's compact Volare-Aspen plants in Newark, Del., and St. Louis, Mo.

Meanwhile, the industry was expected to miss its planned output of 181,528 cars this week due to plant shutdowns or short shifts related to the record cold that has gripped the East and Midwest.

The trade journal Automotive News said the industry had planned to build 189,000 cars last week, but the final count was only 178,521 due to plant closings caused by snow storms and high absenteeism. This week, Detroit has been hit by energy and parts shortages, too.

If the car makers meet this week's target, production for the year will total 539,838 units, up from 498,683 through this week in 1976.

The companies built 177,609 cars a year ago this week.

Truck production for the week was scheduled to be 63,578, compared with 63,005 last week and 55,023 a year ago.

8,650 WORKERS

GM Parts Complex Strike

DETROIT (AP) – Some 8,650 hourly workers struck a key General Motors Corp. parts manufacturing complex Thursday, and the automaker warned the walkout could trigger thousands of layoffs on assembly lines around the nation.

Members of United Auto Workers Local 699 set up picket lines at the seven-plant Saginaw Steering Gear complex about 100 miles north of here after bargainers failed to reach agreement on a new three-year local contract before an 11 a.m. EST deadline.

Round-the-clock bargaining, which began Wednesday, broke off shortly before the deadline. A company spokesman said the two sides agreed to resume negotiations at 1 p.m. today.

The Saginaw complex supplies steering components for all GM cars and light trucks. It also supplies Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. However, those companies said the strike would not disrupt their operations.

The GM spokesman said the walkout could force assembly plant shutdowns within a week.

"Continuation of this strike could result in the idling of thousands of hourly employes across the country," the spokesman added in a prepared statement.

He would not disclose the areas of dispute, but said the number of differences had dwindled from an original 900 to four major issues and "a handful" of minor issues.

Local union officials said there were 60 to 70 unresolved issues concerning seniority, transfers, skilled trades workers and promotions.

The local did not confirm plans to resume negotiations, but UAW officials at union headquarters here said talks were to resume Friday.

Chrysler said neither walkout was hampering other operations.

GM and Chrysler forged new three-year national contracts with the UAW last fall, but each plant negotiates a separate local agreement to supplement the master pact. Areas covered by those accords include health and safety matters, job assignments and assembly line speeds.

GM still has not settled with 52 of 143 units, while Chrysler is without pacts at 16 hourly and 40 salaried units.

The twocompanies each face another strike deadline at a key parts plant within the next week. Some 800 members of Local 446 are slated to strike at 12:01 a.m. Saturday at Chrysler's Fostoria, Ohio, foundry, and 7,700 members of Local 668 at GM's Saginaw metal casting complex are scheduled to walk off the job at 11 a.m. Monday.

UAW Local 1226 struck Chrysler Indianapolis Electric on Monday when bargainers failed to meet a 12:01 a.m. strike deadline. There have been no negotiations since the talks broke off at noon Tuesday.

The plant produces a variety of electrical components, ranging from starter motors to wire harnesses.

Across the Detroit River in Windsor, Ont., Thursday, dayshift operations at Chrysler's car and truck assembly plants were suspended because of high absenteeism among workers attending the funeral of slain UAW Local 444 President Charles Brooks.

Brooks, 62, head of the 13,000-member local for two decades, was shot to death at the union hall Monday. A 36-year-old former Chrysler worker fired last year for excessive absenteeism is being held on a second-degree murder charge in Brooks' death.

Fishing Petition

WASHINGTON AP – The state of Virginia asked the Supreme Court to keep a foreign-owned fishing company from operating in its coastal waters.

At issue are two Virginia statutes which restrict fishing to state residents and U. S. citizens.

Honda Feasibility Study Okays U.S.

TOKYO (AP) – Honda Motor Co. said Wednesday a feasibility study indicated that they could produce and sell cars in the U.S. on a profitable basis.

A spokesman for the company said they are considering whether vehicles of a quality equal to those produced in Japan could be built in the U.S.

Livestock Up; Grains Down

CHICAGO (AP) – Livestock futures posted gains on the nation's major exchanges Thursday, but grain futures closed mixed to mostly lower.

Live cattle futures advanced 62 cents per hundredweight, while live hogs were up 50 cents per hundredweight. Pork belly futures climbed to current highs on a rise of up to 192 points.

Shell egg futures were mixed, closing 85 points lower to 190 higher. The expiring spot month advanced to a crop high of 72¾ cents a dozen, but deferred contracts encountered resistance on improving weather and closed mostly lower.

Soybean futures closed mixed along with wheat, oats and iced broilers. Soybean meal was down some $3 a ton, while soy oil gained some 40 points, just under ½ cent. The weakness in broilers was under commercial selling and profit taking after two days of rising prices.

Rising temperatures in the Middle West and improving prospects for marketings contributed to the bearish mood in nearby options in the live cattle pit. Distant options were in demand because some in the trade believe the Friday cattle-on-feed report will favor them.

Another sharp markup in cash level prices stimulated demand for pork belly futures. Some buyers also were influenced by the small increase in national pork belly stocks last month. Live hog buyers were impressed by the firm dressed pork market and the belief that improving weather will stimulate pork buying at the consumer level.

There was a good, early demand for commodities in the soybean complex and soybeans rose 5 cents. Thereafter, profit taking by local professionals and some light commercial selling tended to weaken the price structure. Meal followed the pattern, but oil improved under professional buying late in the day. Late in the session, spreading activity involving purchases of deferred options and sales of nearbys set the pattern for the close

An upward revision by an industry group in the monthly oil stocks figure and some expectations that Friday's planting intentions report will be bearish on soybeans also tended to work on prices.

The acreage figures also were of some concern to corn, wheat and oats traders. The huge stocks of corn and wheat after the 1976 harvest might dictate some cuts in those acreages for this year. Because of the current high soybean price, acreage could be higher for this commodity in 1977.

Wheat, corn and oats trade generally followed the complex activity, but corn eased independently late under commercial selling.

At the close, soybeans were 4 cents a bushel lower to 4 higher, March 7.20½; corn was 1 to 2¼ lower, March 2.58¾; wheat was 1 lower to 1 higher, March 2.78½; and oats were ¾ lower to ¼ higher, March 1.76.

Bank's Hand Indicated In Pound Rise

LONDON (AP) – The pound came back slightly on the London foreign exchange market Thursday after an early morning fall. It closed at $1.7162, down from $1.7189 overnight.

Dealers said the turnaround came after the Bank of England apparently once again intervened in the market as it has over the past several days.

The bank's dual strategy is to hold sterling's rate down by making dollar purchases whenever the currency is moving up and to buoy the pound whenever the rate comes under significant pressure

One dealer said traders feel the bank's minimum lending rate is likely to be cut Friday by ½ percentage point from the current 14 per cent.

This feeling put pressure on sterling early in day and led the bank to support its currency at the $1.7155 level, the dealer said.

Meanwhile, the dollar eased Thursday against most major European currencies in fairly quiet trading

The weakness of the dollar was partially attributed to a technical reaction following the currency's gains over the past two sessions, dealers said.

Against the West German mark, the dollar fell to 2.4050 from 2.4092 overnight. The dollar eased against the Swiss franc to 2.5042 from 2.5068 and against the French franc to 4.9747 from 4.9820.

The dollar regained some ground against the yen following a sharp fall Wednesday, closing at 290.30, up from 289 overnight, but still below Wednesday's late rate of 291.10.

DJIA Drops 9 Points

NEW YORK (AP) – A sell-off in blue chips pushed the stock market lower Thursday as investors' hopes for an Inauguration Day rally went unfulfilled.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials fell 9.64 to 959.03, a new early-1977 low.

That extended the Dow's decline since New Year's to 45.62 points.

Losers held a 9-5 edge on gainers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume remained very active at 26.52 million shares, off just a shade from Wednesday's five-week high of 27.12 million.

The Dow had climbed 6.24 on Wednesday in an upswing inspired by favorable year-end consumer-price figures and hopes that the market would do well as President Carter was sworn in Thursday.

But the best the Dow could manage was a 2-point advance at the outset Thursday, and by mid-morning the average had begun to slip.

Once it became clear that the uptrend had failed to hold, disappointed traders stepped up the selling pace in the afternoon.

Analysts theorized that the market's drop at the start of the year had been taken as a bad omen by some investors.

As a result, they said, those investors decided to sell into rallies like the one that began Wednesday to lighten their stock holdings.

The market's behavior Thursday was "a typical reaction to the failure of a rally," said Charles Jensen at Merkin & Co.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrial stocks fell 1.06 to 114.09, and S&P's 500-stock composite index lost .88 to 102.97.

Middle South Utilities topped the active list as of the NYSE close, up 1/8 at 17. Blocks of 173,100 and 100,000 shares traded at 17-1/4.

Blue chips under pressure included Eastman Kodak, down 2-3/4 at 79; U.S. Steel, off 7/8 at 46, and Du Pont, down 3/4 at 128-1/4.

Among notable losers in the glamor sector, IBM was off 4-1/2 at 273; Philip Morris dropped 1-1/4 to 56-3/4, and Walt Disney Productions gave up 1 to 43-3/8.

General Motors dropped 1/2 to 74-5/8 as a strike was called at an important supply plant.

Marine Midland Banks picked up 5/8 to 12-7/8. The company posted a fourth quarter profit against a year-earlier loss, and got regulatory approval to pay a dividend in the first quarter.

Indian Claims Cloud Maine's Bond Market

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) – Maine's Financial Advisory Council recommended Thursday that the state's Municipal Bond Bank reenter the bond market to test the financial community's reaction to Indian claims to 60 per cent of Maine land.

Bangor Banker William C. Bullock Jr. who chairs the council, said his panel would not have made the recommendation unless it felt there was a "more positive environment" in the financial community today than last fall.

Last fall, the bond bank canceled a $27 million sale of securities for towns, schools and hospitals because of problems caused by claims of Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians to 12.5 million acres of Maine land.

The bond bank buys bonds from local government, then sells its own securities which are backed by the local issues.

When the ownership of the property is in doubt, the ability of a government to tax property to retire debts is clouded.

Bullock said investors around the country have had time to digest the legal ramifications of the suit.

He reported that local governments have been successful in selling tax anticipation notes to finance government operations through 1977 and that no mortgages have been denied because of the land claims.

Recently, the U.S. Interior Department recommended that the Justice Department amend a 1972 suit against the state to seek return of all the land to the tribes plus $300 million in rent and damages.

Philippines Want Higher Sugar Price

BAGUIO CITY, The Philippines (AP) – President Ferdinand E. Marcos said Wednesday the Philippines is renegotiating the terms of its sugar export agreement with American buyers to set a price higher than its own production cost of 12 cents a pound.

The move could mean higher sugar prices to American consumers.

Two weeks ago raw sugar was selling in New York at around eight cents a pound but reports of new Philippine sales to China and the Soviet Union pushed the raw price in New York to more than 11 cents and in London to more than 12 cents.

A typical five-pound sack of sugar sold for $1.03, or slightly more than 20 cents a pound, in a New York grocery store Wednesday.

Marcos confirmed some of the reports of major exports and told reporters "We have practically solved the sugar glut."

Late last year, the Philippines had a sugar stockpile of 1½ million metric tons. The country produces annually more than two million metric tons, most of which it exports to the United States. A metric ton is 2,200 pounds.

For sales to the United States, the Philippine export price currently fluctuates from delivery to delivery, based on the prevailing U.S. domestic price minus a margin to cover refining, overhead and distribution.

Those were the terms of the five-year contract the Philippines signed last year with three major American firms – Sucrest, Great Western and Imperial.

Metals Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Spot nonferrous metal prices Thursday: copper 65⅛ cents a pound, U.S. destinations; lead 26½ cents a pound; zinc 37 cents a pound, delivered; tin $4.6706 a pound, New York; gold $132.70 per troy ounce, New York; silver $4.390 per troy ounce, New York; quicksilver $134.50 nominal per flask, New York.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh scrap steel No. 1 heavy was quoted Thursday by Iron Age at $72.00-73.00.

Odd Lots

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange reported these odd lot transactions by principal dealers for Jan. 19: purchases of 195,097 shares; sales of 310,547 shares including 2,811 shares sold short.

Wells Fargo Record

SAN FRANCISCO – (BW) – Wells Fargo & Co. recorded the highest earnings in its history in 1976, Richard P. Cooley, president and chief executive officer, said Thursday.

Earnings (income before securities transactions) for the year were $63,471,000, or $3.16 a share, compared with $56,145,000, or $2.80 a share, in 1975.

The per-share increase was about 13 per cent.

SCE Earnings At $3.70/Share

ROSEMEAD – Southern California Edison Company's 1976 earnings were $3.70 per share, compared with $3.07 per share in 1975, Jack L. Horton, board chairman and chief executive officer, reported Thursday.

Per share earnings were based on a weighted average of 48,678,116 shares outstanding in 1976, and 47,964,883 in 1975.

Horton pointed out that about two-thirds of the gain in earnings was due to an increase in the won-cash credit for allowance for funds used during construction. This credit results from the accounting offset of the financing costs expended in connection with the construction of new plant facilities, such as Edison's nuclear units at San Onofre.

Sunkist Growers' Revenue Declines

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The Sunkist Growers Inc. annual report has listed its first revenue drop in five years.

Roy Utke, president of the growers' cooperative, Wednesday announced the decline, blaming the frost-ruined orange crop and generally lower wholesale citrus prices.

However, he told the annual meeting the 1975-76 sales were still the second highest in the 83-year history of the 7,500-member grower cooperative.

"We've gone through the worst," he said after the meeting. "We're optimistic about this year and especially about next year."

He said that the current frost in Florida will not affect Sunkist much because the emphasis in that state is on orange concentrate and California deals more in fresh fruit.

Utke said sales for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1976, totaled $452.3 million, down 6.3 per cent from the previous year's record of $482.9 million.

In addition to problems caused by bad weather, Utke said citrus sales were hurt because hot weather in Europe brought their local fruits to market early. As a result, he said, citrus from California and Arizona met increasingly tough competition.

Wheat Crop Was Worth $6.2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) – Last year's wheat crop was worth about $6.2 billion to farmers, down 18 per cent from a record of nearly $7.6 billion for the 1975 harvest, according to the Agriculture Department.

But the 1976 corn crop, including its value as feed on farms where it was grown, was worth a record of $14.74 billion, slightly more than the 1975 harvest, officials said Wednesday in a year-end review.

The so-called season price of 1976 wheat was reported at $2.89 a bushel, compared with $3.55 for the 1975 crop. Corn prices were estimated at $2.37 a bushel, compared with $2.54 in 1975.

The soybean crop value was nearly $8.5 billion or $6.71 a bushel, compared with $7.6 billion and $4.92 a bushel for 1975 production.

Other big-value crops included: Baled hay, $6.8 billion for 1976 and less than $6.5 billion in 1975; Cotton, $3.35 billion and $2.04 billion; and tobacco, $2.38 billion and $2.24 billion.

Over-all, the list of more than 100 crops produced last year were valued at about $56.69 billion, slightly below $56.79 billion in 1975. Those included vegetables, fruit and many other specialty crops ranging from hairy vetch seed to pomegranates and garlic.

Bonds Mixed In Quiet Trade

NEW YORK (AP) – Bond prices were mixed in quiet trading Thursday, the investment banking firm of Salomon Brothers said.

In the corporate sector, industrials and utilities were off 1/8 point and rails were unchanged.

Governments were off from 3/32 to 6/32 in price.

Municipals, however, were up 1/4-point in moderate trading.

Yields on three-month Treasury bills were unchanged at 4.63 per cent; while six-month and one-year bills rose 3 basis points to 4.84 per cent and 5.06 per cent, respectively

Federal funds were 4-5/8 bid and 4-11/16 asked.

SEA OF TRADE GOODS AT O.C. FAIRGROUNDS – ONE MAN'S JUNK IS ANOTHER MAN'S TREASURE

Swap Meets Part Of The OC Scene

'...It's A Form Of Recreation'

By CHERYL PRUETT Register Staff Writer

The things you can't buy at a swap meet probably can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

But the list of items available as a buyer walks among hundreds of stalls is endless. The sight is a carnival to the eyes and usually a savings to the pocketbook.

In 11 years since swap meets began to appear on the Orange County scene, the flea markets have grown from 20 sellers at a given location to nearly 1,000 selling their wares to thousands and thousands of buyers.

The two largest swap meets in the county are held at the Orange Drive-In Theater and the Orange County Fair grounds. Harbor Drive-In Theater, Santa Ana, also holds swap meets every Saturday and Sunday. Movie World Cars of the Stars, Buena Park, has once-a-month swap meets.

"You can find almost anything you're looking for at a swap meet," said Bob Fisher, manager of the giant Orange meet. "It's like going to a county fair."

Fisher said people attend swap meets for two reasons. They're looking for antiques "from what we call junkies" or clothes and other items at a discount.

People also go to swap meets, he said, because they like to watch other people – it's a form of recreation.

Socializing and bargaining are part of the game at swap meets, he said.

Fisher also noted a trend toward new products being offered rather than just garage-sale type items discarded from the home.

"Lots of stores in town use the swap meet as an outlet for last year's products and seconds," said Fisher. "There's a definite trend toward selling new items."

He said that a pair of Levis that would cost $14 in town would sell for $8.50 at a swap meet...only one example of swap meet bargains that draw 20,000 to 30,000 people a day on weekends.

Fisher said the Orange swap meet started 10 years ago with 20 to 25 sellers per week. Today, that figure has grown to 900. About the same number of sellers now set up shop each week at the Orange County Fairgrounds swap meet.

The fairgrounds swap meet, which started in 1969, now is expanding its parking facilities to accommodate all the buyers.

According to a spokesman for Tel Phil Enterprises, which operates the fairgrounds meet in Costa Mesa, there is an average of 20,000 buyers on Saturday and 30,000 to 35,000 each Sunday.

"People can still get good bargains," said the spokesman. "The best thing is people go out to meet other people, look and shop. It's an inexpensive way to spend the day."

The swap meets charge 50 cents per person to spend as many hours browsing as their legs can stand walking. The average rental for a selling stall is $5 per day.

The items that aren't permitted to be sold at swap meets include pets, mattresses, cars, guns, ammunition and foods.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are permitted, but not home-canned goods. Swap meets run their own concession stands for hungry shoppers.

Typically, swap meets reserve some percentage of their sales space in advance (often 50 per cent) while the remainder is alotted on a first-come, first serve basis.

TAP 'ROOTS' DRAMA ON TV

You'll Be Planted In Front Of Tube 8 Straight Nights

This is a weekend of milestones on TV.

First, on Saturday night KTLA will recall some of the early milestones that helped provide the foundations for TV as known today, both in Southern California and nationally.

Then on Sunday night ABC will launch an eight-night drama that is a milestone in TV in its own way.

The Saturday night show on KTLA, starting at 8 p.m., is "Happy Birthday, Los Angeles," which marks the 30th anniversary, to the day, on which KTLA took the air as the first commercial TV station in this area.

The program brings clips of early programming and personalities, plus some of those personalities as they are today. Many of them not only appeared in Los Angeles, but also became national figures in early TV.

Sunday night at 9, ABC (Channels 7 and 39), will show the first episode of "Roots," a 12-hour drama telling the story of a black family from the days an early ancestor was captured in Africa as a youth of 17 and brought to this country as a slave.

The two-hour episode Sunday marks the first of eight consecutive nights on which either one- or two-hour episodes will be shown on the network, a format not attempted bedfore in presenting lengthy dramas.

The drama has not been previewed by The Register, but others recommend it highly.

There's one thing. If you hope to watch all of "Roots," you'll have to figure on being home every night next week. The second episode will run two hours on Monday, followed by one-hour episodes on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, another two hours on Sunday, Jan. 30.

For sports fans, the Bing Crosby clambake at Pebble Beach will be on ABC at 3 p.m. Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday.

UCLA's Bruins are on the NBC basketball schedule again Sunday as they invade Notre Dame, seeking revenge for an earlier loss in Pauley Pavilion. Game time is 10:30 a.m. There's other college basketball, too, so check the listings.

Haydn Concert In SB

SEAL BEACH – The Haydn Orchestra will perform a concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in First United Methodist Church, 148 Tenth St.

The program will feature violinist Lawrence Sonderling performing Mozart's Concerto No. 5 (the "Turkish") and Grieg's "Holberg Suite" for strings, Alan Parker conducting. The public is invited. Donations are suggested.

Do-It-Yourself Show Featuring Exhibits, Hints, Opens Today

PASADENA – One hundred exhibits in do-it-yourself home-improvement projects are being featured this weekend in the Pasadena Convention Center, 300 E. Green St.

Show organizer Pete Castas said the heavy emphasis will be on kitchen and bath improvements.

Lecturers will cover subjects such as flooring, tiling, replacing kitchen cabinets, decorative lighting, removal of wallpaper and painting your own house.

"The idea," Castas said, "is to eliminate the typical do-it-yourself headaches that arise when unexpected problems arise."

On hand will be a number of experienced contractors who will advise on types of projects that ought not to be undertaken by inexperienced artisans.

Show hours today are 3 to 10 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sunday noon to 8 p.m.

RAMBLIN' ROSE by Dave Rose

Joe Hughes of Huntington Beach, who has about the most successful air show in the business, is never one to overlook a sure thing. He rides the wings of change as effortlessly as he pilots his Stearman. In keeping with the times, Joe will have a female wing walker for the 1977 season that will again take him from coast to coast and throughout Canada.

She's a little doll named Donna Behrendt, an 18-year-old grad of Huntington Beach High and a gymnast. Joe's happy and so's Donna. "She just loves it," Joe enthused the other day as he put his newest charge through final ground training for those difficult routines.

Donna hasn't been up in the air yet. That acid test starts next week. Joe's not worried. "She told me, and she really meant it, 'I'm going to do it.' "

Hughes is his own best press agent. Last year he took 108 people up on the wings of his plane, strapped upright so solidly they couldn't even move. Just a short hop then down again. Most were newspaper and TV reporters. One was a congressman from Arizona.

It was a cinch for the politico. After walking a tightrope all these years, what's a little wing walk?

Hughes leaves for New York this weekend to tape a segment for TV's "To Tell The Truth" on Tuesday for showing at a later date. Then it's back into the air March 26 when he opens the season at Albany, Ga.

A first class young group back at Jasper's in South Coast Village starting Tuesday after a two-week vacation. They're Tony Carr, Nancy Humphries and Todd Hartman who bill themselves as TNT.

Carr sings and plays the guitar, Humphries just sings (and that's good enough) and Hartman keeps the three tightly glued with his keyboard work, a highly accomplished musician who's busy trying to crack the hard shell of pop music writing.

Carr has recorded for Capitol and also the Sun label out of Nashville. He cut a disc with Ray Stevens, "For No One," that was up for a Grammy a few years back.

Humphries hit number 29 on the Top 40s list not long ago with "Gone," recording under name of Nancy Wayne for 20th Century. She was the first female vocalist for 20th to cut a country western.

The harmonizing of this group is just about the best you'll hear anywhere. And the atmosphere at Jasper's, which faces on MacArthur just north of the Edwards Cinema, is just right for relaxing and listening.

Bill McClure's making things hum at Mr. Mikes on Edinger at the Newport Freeway in Santa Ana. The place used to be closed on Sundays, but McClure's changed all that, bringing in top local guest talent for the sabath gigs. Last week it was Roberta Linn, this Sunday, Debi Wilson from Adamos.

It will be local talent three Sunday's each month, then a biggie on the fourth. Bill hasn't been able to firm up any commitments yet on the big ones, but judging from some inquiries he's received, they'll be b-i-g, believe me.

It's still tough trying to bring top attractions into the county. "You phone them and they ask you where you're

Young Folks' Photo, Poster Contest On Pets Nears Deadline

A giant photo and poster contest is under way for young people, age 5 through 18, but you'll have to hurry to make the deadline.

Entries are due on or before Tuesday.

The contest is being held to publicize the Pet Faire that is slated at the Orange County Fair Grounds, Feb. 4-6.

The drawings or photos must depict animals.

Posters should be no larger than 16x20 inches. Photos no larger than 8x10. They can be less.

Each entry should identify the contestant by name, age, address and phone number. The works will be judged according to the contestants' ages. You can send in more than one, but all become the property of Pet Faire and will not be returned.

All entries should be addressed to Pet Faire Photo and Poster Contest, Orange County Fair and Exposition Center, 88 Fair Drive, Costa Mesa 92626.

Double-Edged Show

BUENA PARK – The International Edged Weapons Society will present an Arms and Edged Weapons Show and Sale in Movie World Exhibit Center here.

The display runs from bowie knives to Japanese Samari swords.

A special exhibit will be a federally licensed collection of machineguns.

Movieworld Exhibit Center is located at 6900 Orangethorpe Blvd. Show hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday.

Saddle Up, See Horses In Trail Trials Sunday

YORBA LINDA – If you like the idea of watching an intelligent horse shun his natural fear of water and wobbly objects and perform all the duties expected on the trail a hundred years ago, you can see it done here Sunday.

You don't have to journey into the wilderness. The Yorba Linda Country Riders is sponsoring the trail competition in a close-to-nature setting in Orange County.

About 200 horses and riders will pick their way along a natural trail in the Yorba Linda lakebed off Lake View and Buena Vista avenues in Yorba Linda.

A convenient way to reach the area: Take the Riverside Freeway east to the Imperial Highway offramp, Imperial north two miles to Buena Vista, Buena Vista west one-half mile to Lake View.

The untimed event will test the horses' willingness to negotiate 10 obstacles in the lakebed.

Even though it is not being held in an arena, the trail trials can be watched from spectator seating along the lakebed.

Competition starts about 8 a.m. Each horse is expected to take about two hours to get through the course.

Her Specialty? She Sings 'Em All, Ballads To Rock

She can belt 'em out or sing 'em soft, from the top 40s to soft rock, the blues, folk ballads and the big band stuff of 40 years ago.

The word for Debi Wilson is versatility. And backed by the talented duo of Gary Jones on the keyboard and Bill Holmes on drums, she's been playing to a full house at Adamos in Anaheim for the past five months.

It's her first group since she performed for one of the Southland's better vocal-show organizations, The Sound Royale, where she played such noted Orange County night spots as the Newporter Inn, Mr. Stox and the Disneyland Hotel as well as Del Webb's Townehouse in Phoenix and the Regency Hyatt in San Fran.

Prior to her Adamos engagement, she was a vocalist for noted county keyboard performer Bill McClure at Mr. Mikes in Santa Ana for two years.

Her specialty at Adamos each night is a 30-minute medley of top songs from such Broadway shows as "Cabaret" and "Sweet Charity."

For this portion of her gig, she mixes with the crowd. "It gives me a chance to get close to them, like an entertainer should," she explained.

Debi's been going so strong of late that owner Joe Adamo has added a midnight show on Fridays and Saturdays to go with her regular 10:30 weekday stint.

DEBI WILSON

2-PRONGED HEMET EVENT

Barbed Wire Show Slated

HEMET – The California Barbed Wire Collectors Association (CBWCA) will sponsor an Antique Barbed Wire and Collectable Show here Saturday and Sunday.

The show will be held at the Colonial Country Club, 25115 Kirby St. Show hours will be 9 to 5 Saturday and 9 to 3 Sunday. Food will be available and there will be plenty of free parking. Admission to the show is without charge.

CBWCA members and friends will attend a club dinner and business meeting which will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Quarterhorse in San Jacinto.

Exhibits at the show will include guns, fencing tools, bottles, insulators, date nails and more.

At least 446 patents are known to have been granted on barbed wire by the U.S. government since 1867. More than 500 types will be exhibited at the Hemet show, nearly all of which have been off the market since 1900. Some of these bring from $20 to $300 per 18-inch length among collectors.

The California Barbed Wire Collectors Association is a non-profit organization, incorporated under the laws of the State of California for the express purpose of presenting these quarterly shows to the public without charge.

CBWCA has 160 family memberships at the present time.

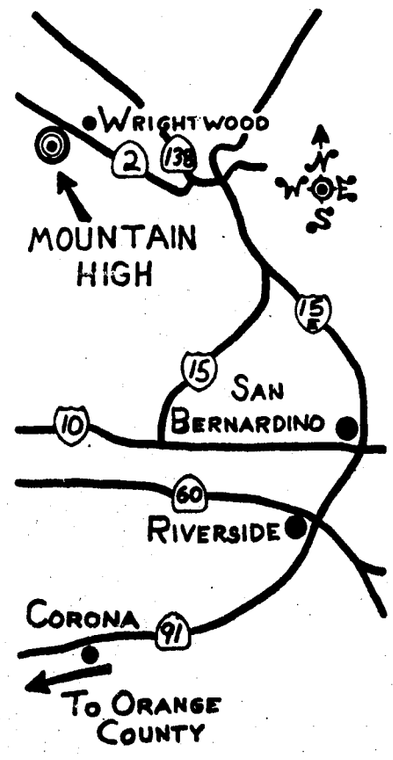

Trip Of The Week

If Skiing Gives You A Lift, Try Mountain High Resort

By MARTIN BENTSON
Register Staff Writer

Mountain High Ski Area on the west side of Wrightwood, an attractive snow-recreation area for the entire family, is within easy driving distance from Orange County.

The winter sports area is only 70 miles from Fullerton and can be reached in an hour and 15 minutes, driving on freeways and good highways without any mountain driving. Chains are hardly ever need to reach Wrightwood. But it may be useful to have a pair in the car in case they should be needed at the Ski resort area.

With four to six feet of snow, skiing conditions are excellent at the ski resort which operates 15 ski runs and two double chairlifts. While the adults are skiing or taking lessons, their youngsters may be entertained in a supervised snow area equipped with toboggans and other snow-coasting equipment. Children also may be observed on the slopes, skiing with their parents.

Ski lifts run from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. All-day tickets are $8.50. Tickets go on sale at 7 a.m. and are usually sold out by 9 a.m.

Any skier without equipment may rent skis, boots and poles, all for $8.

Mountain High operates a school for those who want to learn how to ski. Group lessons are $6.

Facilities at the ski resort include lodging, a restaurant, rental shop and machinery for making snow where natural snow is adequate.

Ski runs slope toward the north from the peak of the 8,200-foot-high Mountain High ski area, formerly known as the Blue Ridge ski area.

Mountain High can be reached by taking the Pomona Freeway (Route 57) to the San Bernardino Freeway (Route 10). On Route 10 proceed east to Interstate 15 and north on 15 to Cajon Junction, thence northwest on Route 138 to Route 2. Drive west on Route 2 through Wrightwood to the entrance to the ski resort.

Even non-skiers may enjoy a day's outing in the Wrightwood area. They can frolic in the snow and enjoy the great outdoors.

But warm clothing and good boots are a "must".

A Nostalgic Look At TV

BY LARRY DISTEL
Register TV Editor

Everyone that's here now wasn't here 30 years ago.

Elementary, you may tell Dr. Watson, but then I don't mean only that more than half of the population is now somewhat under that 30-year age level, they tell us.

But even the rest of the population here, and by here I mean in Southern California, wasn't here or anywhere near here 30 years ago.

They've come from Boston, New York, and the rest of the northeast, they've come from Florida, Georgia and the vast south and southeast portions of the country, they've come from such remote areas as Texas and Oklahoma, as well as from across the midwest and plains states.

No matter where they've come from I suspect a great many folks now in the area are apt to find familiar faces and things in the television special KTLA, channel 5, will present at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

The show is called, "Happy Birthday, Los Angeles Television," and marks the 30th anniversary, to the day, that KTLA went on the air as the first commercial TV station in Los Angeles.

The title of the show is why I've taken an offbeat way of telling you all that the show isn't restricted entirely to the Los Angeles area. KTLA itself emphasizes that it is not intended to cover only its own history, but that of all early TV in the area.

But what should be of interest to the folks who have moved this way from all those diverse points across the nation is that many of the personalities and shows that will be recalled in Saturday's special also were seen back home in the early days of TV.

Art Linkletter hosts the special to start with, and he, of course, earned a major spot in TV's world years back.

But there are so many others who didn't achieve his prominence, although when television got its start they became daily visitors in many homes.

There was the combination of Beany and Cecil, which made its debut on KTLA and later was spread across the country as a children's show.

There was Peter Potter, who was tied up with several of the earlier game and variety shows that popped up on screens everywhere.

Broderick Crawford's "Highway Patrol" not only was seen first-run nationally, but still shows up on screens in many markets in the umpteenth rerun stage.

Dick Sinclair comes along with his "Polka Parade," which I'm sure some folks who saw it in their home cities long ago thought was a local program, though it originated in Los Angeles.

"Space Patrol" was a space fiction show which made its dent on TV way back before most folks even dreamed Alan Shepherd would be shot a few hundred miles through space, much less the later space orbits and eventually landings on the moon.

It predated such later favorites as "Space Cadets" and "Star Trek" by many years, and its stars included Virginia Hewitt and Ed Kemmer, who became familiar to many viewers.

Criswell, there's another name. He was great for predicting the future, began his TV career in the early days of Los Angeles TV, and was seen in most other parts of the country.

Korla Pandit apparently was an early favorite in these parts, though I don't recall him showing up on the screen back home, but I wouldn't say he didn't.

Some others more local included Dick Lane, who started with TV on Los Angeles and only a short time ago disappeared as a regular, though he still can be seen on occasion.

Some of the wrestling fans, and there were many of them when television started, may remember Baron Michele Leone, though again I'd suggest he's more familiar to natives of the area than he might be to more recent residents.

The good thing about the Saturday night special is that not only does KTLA come up with films, kinescopes or whatever of some of those early shows, but many of the personalities who helped establish a beachhead for TV in these parts and nationally, are on hand for the show.

The nostalgia buffs should have a field day watching many of those already mentioned, plus Hilo Hattie, Cliffie Stone, Harry Owens, Mike Stokey, and such children's favorites as Engineer Bill, Tom Hatten, Sheriff John and Skipper Frank.

Taping Boxoffice Open On Weekend

OK, you folks who have had problems getting to Anaheim Convention Center during the day this week to get your tickets for the taping of the All-Star Almost Anything Goes show on Jan. 28, we've got news for you!

The boxoffice at the convention center will be open Saturday and Sunday, from 10 to 6 each day for those wishing to buy tickets at the low price of $1 each.

Boxoffice, of course, also will continue to be open the other days of the week from 10 to 6, with purchases possible so long as the 7,000 tickets last.

As of Wednesday, more than 1,400 of the tickets had been sold, as many have foreseen that the TV taping provides a great family outing at a price anyone can afford.

Also, ticket purchases help contribute to The Register Charities, and thus to a group of organizations in Orange County which provide a variety of services.

To answer some other questions. The tickets are not reserved. Doors at the convention center on Friday, Jan. 28, will open at 6:30 p.m. with seats going on a first-come, first-served basis.

Doors will be closed at 7:30 p.m., in accord with most such policies involved television tapings.

The taping is expected to start about 8 p.m. Sam Riddle, indicates that there will be two half-hour shows taped, instead of the one-hour originally scheduled, providing for more competition, and probably a longer list of participating personalities.

For those who wonder how long into the evening the tapings may continue, Riddle suggests it should all be over by 10:30 p.m., possibly 11 at the latest, thus providing no serious problems for those with youngsters as it will be a Friday night.

Bob Hanner Associates, the producing organization, now has booked some of the stars who will be appearing.

Lawrence-Hilton Jacobs, one of the sweathogs on the popular "Welcome Back,Kotter" show (Washington), will be competing. Others names so far are Rita Moreno, Fred Williamson and Stacy Keach, who have been more active in movies than TV, and Barbara Rhoades, who is the new series, "Busting Loose."

A popular baseball figure in this area is almost certainly going to serve as master of ceremonies, but contracts had not been signed late Thursday.

So, there'll be some fun personalities doing lots of fun things. And the whole thing will be lots of fun for the whole family.

IRISH SETTER CLUB

The Irish Setter Club of Southern California will sponsor an open meeting at 8 p.m. Friday in Great Western Savings and Loan, Buena Park. A new film on Setters produced by the American Kennel Club will be shown during the evening. Additional information about the group which includes members from Santa Barbara to San Diego may be obtained by calling Mrs. Donald Farrington of Garden Grove, president.

The Register ENTERTAINMENT

ON THE GO ---With Doris Crandall

DON'T USE THE SOY SAUCE when you dine at KAPP'S Chinese-American Restaurant in Anaheim on North Euclid just a few blocks north on Anaheim Plaza. I stopped for lunch and was super-impressed with all, especially the beautiful sauces and fresh flavors.

It began with appetizers of chicken balls, egg roll (the best I've ever had, hot and crisp, much like tiny burritos) and crispy milk-creamy delicious. It is prepared by freezing milk in a pan, cutting into squares, dipping in egg, flour batter then deep frying. Next came a bowl of steaming hot Wonton soup. My entrees were excellent. The sweet and sour pork large, crunchy pieces fragrant, crystal clear, persimmon-colored sauce were mingled with crisp bell pepper, cucumber, water chestnut slices (for the first time-I'm a fan of a sweet and sour dish). I also had a lovely shrimp and chicken dish with almonds, mildly spicy.

The menu for lunch and dinner is large, offering a variety treats, the usual and many not so usual--there are baked crab with scallions and ginger; spicy and salty shrimp; the grilled shrimp in shell with tomato sauce; the grilled squab with oyster sauce (advance order); special lemon duckling; the crystal milk, shrimp balls; baked dried mushroom with oyster sauce...

A special luncheon is served daily from 11:30 until 3 p.m. for $1.79- it includes egg rolls, soup, fried rice with pork and a choice of one entree from a selection of nine that include sweet and sour pork; crisp chicken ball; beef with green pepper; chicken tenderloin in lemon sauce...

Chef Pang (formerly of Hongkong and Laos) is an expert in Oriental cuisine.

A new restaurant-KAPP'S (derived from the initials of the three owners Keenan, Paul and Chef Pan) is actually two restaurants under one roof...The American food is prepared by Don Halburton (formerly with the original Branding Iron. His menu offers breakfast, lunch and dinner beginning daily at 6 a.m. A favorite breakfast includes hot biscuits with old fashioned cream gravy.

KAPP'S is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday-Friday and Saturday nights until 10 p.m.

BOB'S BIG BOY RESTAURANTS are featuring another money saver through Jan. 31. You will be able to get my favorite B.B. entree for $2.19- four pieces of Pappy Parker fried chicken, a salad (choice of dressing), French fries and a buttered bun. An Anaheim location is on Euclid near Lincoln.

Henri Will Be Provided For

By AARON GOLD
Chicago Tribune

Everyone knows that Elizabeth Taylor now is Mrs. John Warner. And that her ex (times two), Richard Burton, is happily married to Susan Hunt. But what about poor (in more ways than one?) Henri Wynberg who consoled Elizabeth during the unhappy transition? Well don't worry about Henri. Elizabeth seems to have done the proper thing – as her close friends and business associates say she always does – and "provided" for Wynberg.

He reportedly is in possession of a document Elizabeth signed and Burton witnessed in August of 1975 (with a carbon copy to their attorney Aaron Frosch) giving him rights to an Elizabeth Taylor cosmetics line for the grand sum of $100. And though Wynberg reportedly sold the manufacturing rights to a company that is expected to produce the beauty products line this year, he will get a large percentage of the royalties. So they all get to live happily ever after.

How nice that NBC-TV intends to promote the Feb. 13 Broadway opening of "Hellzapoppin," costarring Jerry Lewis and Lynn Redgrave, by telecasting the first half hour of the show on its "Big Event." Of course, no one is supposed to know that NBC has a financial interest in the production as well as the rights to a variety series with Lewis based on "Hellzapoppin."...One of the reasons Roz Kelly was aced out of a costarring spot on Nancy Walker's "Mrs. Blansky's Beauties" (the new ABC-TV series originally was to be Kelly's vehicle), is her overinflated ego. She became so difficult to work with that the producer (and reportedly Walker, too) decided to put a stop to her star act before it went any further.

Not only is Donna McKechnie (the new Mrs. Michael Bennett) laughing at reports that she's pregnant, she's returning to the Broadway company of "A Chorus Line" this week...Bill Friedkin has to curtail his directing chores for the next few months to concentrate on producing the March 28 Academy Awards telecast; the nominations will be announced Feb. 11....And Irving Wallace's new book will be another almanac type in which he'll reveal, among thousands of other items of

Toshiro Mifune Flies Here For Role; Keeps Busy

LOS ANGELES (AP) – This could be a record: 12,000 miles of travel for a one-day acting job.

Toshiro Mifune flew all the way from Tokyo to play a cameo role in "Winter Kills," a stellar movie about presidential assassination and international intrigue. Was that trip necessary?

"I wanted to do it," said the Japanese star with a smile. "It's a small role but important. And I wanted to be associated with John Huston and with Richard Boone. I went bill-fishing with Boone in Hawaii last summer and we became good friends."

The cast also includes Jeff Bridges, Eli Wallach, Dorothy Malone, Sterling Hayden and Ralph Meeker. Young William Richert wrote the script from the Richard Condon novel and is directing for Winter Gold Productions. The Carolco organization has the foreign distribution rights.

Mifune played his role in English, not an easy chore for him. His English is improving, but he prefers to conduct interviews with the aid of his lovely interpreter, Miiko Taka, Marlon Brando's leading lady in "Sayonara."

The 56-year-old actor finds himself making more international films – "Paper Tiger" with David Niven, "Midway" with Charlton Heston, Henry Fonda, etc. – and fewer in Japan. In fact, he hasn't made a feature movie at home for four years. He and

Fullerton Schedules Jazz Concert

"Fascinatin' Rhythm" is the theme for a combined concert of the Fullerton college Jazz Band and the Vocal Jazz Ensemble.

Slated for 8 p.m. Feb. 25 and 26 in the Campus Theatre, the concert will spotlight Terry Blackley's Jazz Band and the Vocal Jazz Emsemble, directed by Brent Pierce, in a special arrangement of "Fascinatin' Rhythm." They'll also join forces in "Passin' By," an original work for vocal and instrumental music.

Don Trimble of Anaheim will be featured on tenor sax for the Jazz Band's "Piece for Two," aided by tenor saxist Karl Denson of Santa Ana, drummer Curtis Bradley. Anaheim's Dave Eckes is in the solo trombone spotlight for Nestice's "Tall Cotton;" while Dave Connors of Placentia is showcased in Chuck Mangione's new offering, "Echano."

The vocal group will not only feature Placentia vocalist Becca Goldinez in "Up A Lazy River," but also premiere a new Blackley arrangement, "Watch What Happens." Soloist will be Tim Reeder of Orange.

Tickets are available through the Bursar's Office on campus or at the Campus Theatre Box Office 45 minutes before showtime.

Foreign Films Enter Oscar Race This Year

Twenty-four counties have submitted entries for consideration for Best Foreign Language Film Award achievements in this year's Oscar Awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

The films are:

"The Weasels" (Argentina); "High Street" (Belgium); "Xica Da Silva" (Brazil); "Eight Hundred Heroes" (Republic of China); "One Silver Piece" (Czechoslovakia); "The Olsen Gang Sees Red" (Denmark); "Whom We Must Shoot" (Egypt); "Cousin, Cousine" (France); "Jakob, the Liar" (East Germany); "The Clown" (West Germany); "The Last Tempest" (Hong Kong); and "The Fifth Seal" (Hungary).

Also, "Chomana Dudi" (India); "Seven Beauties" (Italy); "Black and White in Color" (Ivory Coast); "Length of War" (Mexico); "Max Havelaar" (The Netherlands); "Nights and Days" (Poland); "The Doom" (Romania); "Raise Ravens" (Spain); "City of My Dreams" (Sweden); "Jonah Who Will Be 25 in the Year 2000" (Switzerland); "They Fought for Their Motherland" (Russia); and "The Rat Saviour" (Yugoslavia).

The Foreign Language Film Award Committee, with George Cukor and Robert M. W. Vogel as co-chairmen, will screen all entries before voting to nominate five achievements.

Every country is invited to submit its best film to the Academy. Selection of the best picture from each country is made by one group or organization, or by a jury or committee composed of representatives from several organizations in the country. Only one film entry is accepted from each country.

Only feature-length films with basically non-English sound tracks first released in the country of origin between Nov. 1, 1975, and Oct. 31, 1976, and shown in a commercial theater for the profit of the producer and exhibitor, are eligible. The picture need not have been released in the United States.

located. You say 'Orange County' and they say 'oh' and that's it," he lamented. There's a change coming. Some of the biggies are already realizing there's $$$ in Orange County.

And speaking of the big ones, whatever became of Bobby Sherman?

Register staff writer Marci Dodson still getting the fallout from her Hollywood Squares bonanza of a few months back.

She walked into her apartment the other night and there was a washer in the middle of the living room. Says it's got to go. Clashes with the drapes. Other goodies still trickling in she says, and how do you get rid of all that stuff? And then there's the tax man...

Guitar man and vocalist Burt Leyva has moved into the Ancient Mariner on Tustin Avenue in Santa Ana, one of the county's cozier bars, replacing guitar man and vocalist Pat Colgan.

Colgan gave notice a few weeks back that he was leaving for minor throat surgery. Then was told he didn't need it after all. Colgan rushed to the phone, called entertainment director Doug Rhys and said, "Guess what?" Rhys, who'd already signed Leyva replied, "Guess what?"

But Pat's due to move into Mariner's Rusty Pelican in Newport Beach soon.

Wally Ruth and his jazz trio has found a home at the Marriott in Newport Beach. Ruth is an oldie in the biz, going back to the days when he was with western band leader the late Spade Cooley of radio and early TV fame.

Ruth plays in the Capriccio Lounge Wednesday through Saturday with a "jazz at noun" gig every Friday in the Main Barge when amateur jazz musicians are invited to sit in. Very popular.

The group's drawing so well it prompted hotel manager Joe Rothman to tell your correspondent, "We hope they're here for a long time to come." They've been there six months.

Three great ones of the jazz world at Orange Coast College this Sunday--Trumpeter Bobby Shew, tenor saxaphonist Pete Christlieb and Carl Fontana on the trombone doing solo work with three OCC jazz groups.

The marathon starts at 2 p.m. in the auditorium and you can get tickets at the door for $2. Some kind of bargain. They'll be performing works by Alf Clausen, Buddy Rich, Woody Herman, Herbie Hancock et al.

Also at OCC Friday, Jan. 28, at 8 p.m. noted jazz flautist Paul Horn doing benefit for whales and dolphins. Honest. Whales and dolphins get in for half price. For rest of you folks it's $5 per. Horn's a good one, a past winner of Down Beat and Playboy jazz polls. Also on same program are folk singer-writers Steve Fiske, John Buckley and Juniper.

Big shot in the arm for theater groups and would-be theater groups in south county area. Construction's underway on new supermodern 425-seat theater at Saddleback College. Due to open January, 1978, and will be available to community "little theater" groups throughtout the area, say college officials.

Kind of a sad note. Popular blues singer Jimmy Witherspoon, at Hungry Joe's tonight through Sunday, has never made one penny in record royalties. In 27 years he's cut 30 albums and 500 singles.

"But that's changing now," he said recently. He's got a new manager and a new organization, Far Out Productions.

CSF Award-Winning Play To Be Performed

California State University, Fullerton's winning entry in the American College Theater Festival will be restaged next Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28-29, prior to regional competition.

"The Country Girl," Clifford Odets' backstage drama, will be performed at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater.

For those who missed the original November showings, tickets will go on sale Monday, Jan. 24, at the Performing Arts Box Office. Reservations will be taken by phone from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1½ hours before performances.

Three other entries will be performed with "The Country Girl" at the American College Theater Festival southwest regionals.

Japanese Actor Busy

director Akira Kurosawa, with whom he had a series of classics in the 1950s ("Rashomon," "Seven Samurai," "Throne of Blood"), have been trying to arrange a reunion film. The last of their 14 films together was "Red Beard" seven years ago.

"The Japanese film industry is in very bad condition," Mifune reported. "The cause is not only television. The Japanese also have so much leisure time, and they spend it in skiing, travel and many other things. They are not so interested in movies anymore.

"Part of the reason for the decline is the producers themselves. They thought only about making money, and they failed to train new talent to carry on the business. In Hollywood there is a new breed which is making exciting films. Not in Japan."

He sees no help for the beleagured industry from the Japanese government – "the politicians are only concerned with keeping their seats in parliament."

Mifune has not waited for the industry to revive. His studio has produced 150 television hours, and he himself has appeared in 50 of them. He has a script about the breaking of the Japanse code during World War 11; he hopes to film it this year with Lee Marvin, his costar of "Hell in the Pacific."

"Kurosawa and I would like to make a film version of 'King Lear,' setting it in the sumurai era," said the actor. "The only thing holding us back is the budget. The picture would cost $7 million, and it would be the most expensive film ever made in Japan."

Although the film business has been ailing in Japan, certain foreign releases can still make huge money. Among the recent standouts: "Jaws," "Emanuelle" and "Midway."

Tuba Concert

LONG BEACH – The Faculty Recital Series at California State University, Long Beach continues with a tuba concert by James Self Saturday, Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. in the Studio Theatre, 6101 E. 7th St., Long Beach.

Self received his B.A. from Indiana University in Pa., his M.A. from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. and his Ph.D. from the University of Southern California.

Tickets will be on sale at the door the evening of performance.

trivia, the 12 best sellers written in prison, the 20 most well-known illegitimate children, and the 12 most forbidden books on the Catholic Index list.

TICKER TIP: If you have been waiting to see the epic film "All This and World War II" that has been in the works for the last two years, forget it. At least for now. It received such brutal reviews from the critics in New York and L. A. that 20th Century-Fox has yanked it out of release for re-editing and a new ad campaign. A spokesman says that the new release date will be fall. But then, 20th pulled its multimillion-dollar, all-star "Blue Bird" out of theaters across the country, too, and it never was seen again.

Greek Pianist To Perform Here

FULLERTON — Greek pianist Vasso Devetzi, who has won the praise of critics throughout the world, brings her musical majesty to the Fullerton College stage Friday, Feb. 18.

Under the auspices of the Fullerton College Artist-Lecture Series, the Angel Records artist will be presented in concert at 8 p.m. in the Campus Theatre.

A Hurok presentation, Miss Devetzi's program will include the works of Haydn, Mozart, Schumann and Chopin in her concert.

Born in Salonika in an environment of amateur musicians, she began piano studies in her motherland, continued them in Vienna and later journeyed to Paris, where her art was polished with Marguerite Long and Jacques Fevrier.

Vasso Devetzi has appeared with every major European orchestra and recorded with most of them, performed at all of Europe's music festivals and served on the juries of both the Marguerite Long International Competition in Paris and the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow.

Earthquake Comedy Scheduled

"Cracking Up," a wild comedy depicting reactions to a future California earthquake, has been acquired by American International for release Feb. 18. It was made by the producers of the recent hit "Tunnelvision," and is one of AIP's prime attractions for the George Washington's Birthday holiday.

Top improvisional humor groups star in the fun film. They depict television newsmen who "cover" the embarrassing, intimate and naughty situations when an earthquake suddenly exposes what some people are doing.

Starring are The Ace Trucking Co., The Credibility Gap, Proctor & Bergman, The Graduates, Neil Israel, and Kansas City Bob McClurg.

MOVIE GUIDE FOR FAMILIES

G: "General Audiences." Film contains no material most parents are likely to consider objectionable even for younger children.

PG: "Parental Guidance Suggested." Rating cautions parents they might consider some material unsuitable for children. It urges parents to inquire about the film before deciding on attendance.

R: "Restricted." Film contains adult-type material and those under 17 years of age are not admitted except in the company of a parent or an adult guardian.

X: This is patently an adult-type film and no one under 17 is admitted. The age limit may be higher in some places.

Strike Threat Looms In Movie Industry

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Claiming screenwriters' demands represent "jurisdictional piracy," film and television directors are threatening to strike if the writers win rights which directors say belong to them.

"We think these demands are wild," director Stanley Kramer declared at a news conference Wednesday.

Screenwriters are currently negotiating with the Writers Guild of America. Members of the Directors Guild of America said one of the demands would require a screenwriter to be present on the set for any change in script.

Kramer said such demands "show a complete lack of knowledge of what is necessary to put a picture on the screen."

Other directors who attended the news conference were Frank Capra, Mel Brooks, King Vidor and William Wilder.

Kramer suggested that if writers won their demands, an actor would not be able to change the word "cannot" to "can't" without getting the okay from the screenwriter.

Directors' Guild President Robert Aldrich read a resolution of the guild's national board which said the guild would reject any effort "to alter the traditional rights and duties of directors."

He said if employers gave in to writers' demands, that would lead to the "immediate withholding of Guild-wide services."

ON BROADWAY
Premier Performance

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Arts Writer

NEW YORK (AP) – Merce Cunningham, the ardent nonconformist of dance, accents whimsy in his latest innovation, "Travelogue."

The piece, performed for the first time as the highlight of the opening performance Tuesday night by Cunningham's company at Broadway's Minskoff Theater, is choreographic jabberwocky.

There's plenty in it for those familiar with the highly skilled company's artistic eccentricty, and sheer bogglement – aside from some pictorial fragments – for the uninitiated.

Teamed with Cunningham in creation are two frequent collaborators, avant garde composer John Cage, and eclectic sculptor Robert Rauschenberg.

Eight performers, including the maestro, weave disjointed patterns of interaction against the aural counterpoint of Cage's utterly unrelated score, which is entitled "Telephone and Birds." The sound tape ranges through horse race results, busy signals, bits of diala-prayer, weather reports, the twitter of ornithological rarities and plane flight information.

The sonic bombardment of daily existence doesn't connect with the dancers' disciplined enigmas nearly as much as the Rauschenberg effects, which they are either wearing or entangled with.

During one segment, a heavy rope upon which are strung tin canisters and colored cloths, is used to background a solo turn. The most impressive prop is the set of chairs, on individual pedestals and separated by bicycle wheels, in which the company makes initial entrance.

The opening program also included three prior works, "Summerspace," "Rebus" and a rather feline "Solo" by the maestro.

The Minskoff visit, through Jan. 23, is the first individual Broadway engagement by the company, which was previously on the Main Stem as part of a festival in 1969.

In honor of the event, the company received a citation from the city in which Mayor Abraham Beame lauded Cunningham for having "freed dance from the tyranny of narrative and music." It was a neat summary of all that ensued.

Friedkin Signed For 'Oscarcast'

LOS ANGELES (AP) – William Friedkin, winner of an Academy Award for his direction of "The French Connection" in 1971, will produce the 49th Annual Oscar Show at the Music Center March 28.

Nominations for the awards will close Feb. 4, and the nominees will be announced Feb. 11

THE IRON DUKE

The heart of Sunbird is Pontiac's new cast iron 2.5 litre (151 CID) engine. It's tough. The block is cast from high grade alloy iron for the kind of durability you expect of Pontiac. It's very smooth. Sitting at a light you'll swear there's a six, maybe even a V8 under the hood. The cast iron engine is a remarkably rugged new engine, and ONLY Pontiac has it.

Make your best deal on a new Pacer and AMC will make it $253 better.

AMC has extended our $253 Cash Rebate Offer on all new 1976 and 1977 Pacers and Pacer Wagons.

Since we started our $253 Cash Rebate offer last November, AMC has been selling so many Pacers, we've decided to extend the offer. To thank you for your great response. And to help us sell a lot more Pacers, too.

So now you've got until March 10 to take advantage of our offer. All you have to do is pick your Pacer and make your best deal with your AMC dealer. AMC will send you the $253. Or you can apply the $253 to the down payment. After you've made your best deal, of course.

The $253 Cash Rebate offer is good on all new 1976 and 1977 AMC Pacer and Pacer Wagons delivered from dealer stock by March 10 or ordered by February 10. Sorry, but no fleet sales or overseas military purchases are included.

BUYER PROTECTION PLAN® II
The only full 2-year, 24,000 mile warranty on engine and drive train.
The only full 1-year or 12,000 mile warranty protecting everything else on your car except tires.

Scudder Verdict: 2 Guilty

By LARRY WELBORN
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Two men were convicted Thursday of kidnaping potato chip heir John H. "Jack" Scudder last Aug. 19.

Superior Court Judge Richard J. Beacom scheduled sentencing for William R. "Rudy" Weason, 44, of Tustin, and his brother-in-law Ricki Dale Sellers, 21, of Long Beach, for Feb. 9.

Their attorney, Michael Quigley, said immediately after the verdicts were announced that he plans to seek a new trial on the ground that Judge Beacom erred in admitting certain evidence during the eight-week trial.

Weason and Sellers stood quietly as the verdicts were read.

The two men face possible life prison terms.

The nine-woman, three-man jury deliberated for five days before returning with the verdicts just before noon.

They acquitted Sellers on an additional charge of assault, and also found that Sellers and Wesson did not inflict great bodily injury on Scudder during the kidnaping.

A finding that they did inflict great bodily injury would have resulted in life prison terms for both men without possibility of parole. Wesson and Sellers could be paroled now in approximately seven years, depending on how Beacon sentences them.

Quigley said Sellers could be sentenced under the "youthful offender" status of the state's penal code, and therefore could be released after serving only six months.

The pair has been incarcer-

PROTESTER DIES – Robert H. Simpson, 96, Sacramento's self-styled 'muckraker-in-chief' at the state Capitol, died Thursday. He is shown here during one of his hundreds of protest appearances both at the Capitol and Sacramento courthouses, where salty slogans upset many legislators. Arrested hundreds of times under an earlier law, Simpson saw a new law passed, dubbed the Simpson Law. The arrests stopped, but the picketing didn't.

President Hosts Demo Faithfuls

WASHINGTON (AP) – The keys finally his, Jimmy Carter opened the White House today to the once-fellow outsiders who helped put him there, a triumph celebrated in hopes that their "joy and friendship and caring for each other" would continue the next four years.

After a rigorous inaugural day highlighted by a brisk walk in the first light of his presidency – and the traditional waltzes on the first night of it – the 39th chief executive settled back and welcomed his friends and top appointees to his new home.

More than 1,000 persons who had opened their homes to the Carter family during the campaign were greeted by the President and his wife, Rosalynn, one by one at the White House front lobby. Carter and the First Lady greeted them with a combination of laughter, tears, hugs, kisses and handshakes.

The guests at later receptions during the day included governors, Cabinet members, the Democratic National Committee, state campaign managers, party finance committee members, those in labor, business and entertainment who helped the Carter cause and Robert Fulbright, who published Carter's campaign biography: "Why Not the Best?"

"These are all my cousins," Carter said jokingly at one point.

Before the guests met the president, they were treated to refreshments and music in the East Room. Then, they toured the Green, Blue and Red rooms and went in to meet their host.

Vice President Walter Mondale and his wife greeted guests at the entrance to the huge State Dining Room, one of two rooms lined with long buffet tables serving orange and tomato juice and sweet rolls and cake.

Each family that shared their home with the Carters received a bronze plaque engraved in black saying: "A member of the Jimmy Carter family stayed in this house during the 1976 presidential campaign."

Thursday night, Carter and his wife Rosalynn climaxed the inaugural day with a rapid-fire tour of seven parties spread throughout the city at four hotels, the railroad station, a government building and an armory. Each was jammed with thousands of persons, all of whom paid $25 to get in, a bargain price as inaugural balls go.

Accompanied by daughter Amy, 9, at the first two nighttime events, the President and Mrs. Carter took several whirls around the dance floor, and he kissed her on the cheek once or twice.

At each event, Carter made

Carter Pardons Draft Evaders

WASHINGTTN (AP) – In his first executive order, President Carter today fulfilled his campaign promise and granted a full, complete and unconditional pardon to all Vietnam draft evaders who were not involved in any violent act.

Deserters from the military forces were not included, but Carter ordered an immediate study of their cases and also of the possible upgrading of bad conduct or undesirable discharges.

Press Secretary Jody Powell said there are "no good estimates of the number (of persons) that might be affected" by the pardon but that it is probably "well up to the hundreds of thousands, including people who failed to register for the draft." There are an unknown number of persons whose failure to register has never come to official attention.

Draft evaders who are now overseas may return home under Carter's action, Powell said.

Those who have become citizens of another country can come home to visit families "without fear of prosecution," but if they wish to regain American citizenship they will have to apply under the same terms and conditions as any other alien, he said.

Carter's pardon included an order that the government "forever give up its right to prosecute" any of the draft evaders covered, Powell said. He explained that the Carter administration was taking "an abundance of caution" in doing this, so that no future administration or any future attorney general could reinstate prosecution and so that

First Flu Outbreak Reported

ATLANTA (AP) – An outbreak of flu – the first in the nation this winter – was reported at Nashville, Tenn., today by the national Center for Disease Control.

The outbreak of Influenza B, similar to the B-Hong Kong flu of several years ago, was reported among students at Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Richard O'Brien, a medical epidemiologist at the CDC, said Vanderbilt authorities reported that physicians in the university's health center were seeing about 60 or 70 patients a day with an influenza-like illness.

There have been scattered reports of Influenza B in Pennsylvania and Tennessee, but the Vanderbilt illnesses are the first outbreak to be reported, O'Brien said.

An occurrence of flu is considered to be an outbreak when there is a marked increase in the number of patients in a given population.

Influenza B usually attacks children and young adults. Its mortality rate is much lower than Influenza A. The difference between the two types can be determined only in a laboratory.

If you have either one, you feel just as bad with headaches, body ache and rising temperature, doctors said.

Swine flu is a type-A influenza.

There have been only five isolates – laboratory confir-

Fast Thaw Stirs Fear Of Runaway Ice Floes

By The Associated Press

Warmer temperatures posed the spectre of massive runaway ice floes on the ice-jammed Mississippi River today, but they came too late to save damaged Southern crops and did little to remedy a natural gas shortage in the East.

Schools and factories in a number of states remained closed for another day due to shortages of energy and materials.

Temperatures in St. Louis rose to just under freezing Thursday, the highest since Dec. 28, and a Coast Guard spokesman warned that any quick thaw could cause havoc on the river.

The Mississippi currently is blocked by a huge ice gorge, now 58 miles long, above Cairo, Ill.

"If that should let go suddenly," said the Coast Guard spokesman in St. Louis, "it would take everything with it. The barges stranded along the banks and out in the ice would take a beating."

The slightly warmer temperatures forecast for Florida came too late to save much of the citrus and vegetable crop. Also at stake are the jobs of 33,000 harvesters and packinghouse workers, officials said.

The multimillion-dollar citrus industry was the cause of the most worry. The Florida Citrus Mutual, representing 1,600 growers, said up to 35 per cent of the crop was affected by the freeze in the 300-mile-long, 150-mile wide citrus-growing belt.

The freeze also damaged sugar cane, cabbage and carrot crops and demolished up to 45,000 acres of tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, peppers, and watermelon, industry officials said. Tomato losses alone were $43 million, they said.

Gas shortages forced officials to tell pupils in 80 per cent of Georgia's 188 school districts to stay home until Monday. And 24 western Ohio counties were told to close

Sunny, Cool

A 50 per cent chance of continued rain is forecast for Orange County tonight, but Saturday is expected to be clear except for some showers near the mountains.

Variable high clouds are forecast through the weekend with temperatures on the cool side. Highs in the upper 60s can be expected Saturday following overnight lows in the 50s.

The storm, which began late Thursday afternoon and continued weakly through the early morning hours, dropped less than a half an inch of rain on the county and caused no major problems.

Mexican Guerrillas Kill 2, Including American Exec

MEXICO CITY (AP) – An American and a Mexican businessman were shot to death by urban guerrillas Thursday in Mexico City in what has become a wave of terrorism, police said.

The dead American was identified by the U.S. Embassy as Mitchell Andreski, president of the Duraflex Corp., of Hartford, Conn.

An embassy spokesman said Andreski and Guillermo Flores Franco, 30, were visiting a construction firm in the northeast part of the city when they encountered men handing out guerrilla propaganda.

In Hartford, neither company nor family representatives would comment or give details of Andreski's trip.

The Mexico City police said the two men tried to stop the distribution of the pamphlets and were shot to death. The police said the Communist 23rd of September League, the most notorious of a dozen Mexican guerrilla groups, was responsible for the slayings.

It was the third time in a week that September League guerrillas had struck in Mexico City.

Wednesday night, three men and two women of the league robbed a Mexico City store and killed two policemen, the police said.

Last Sunday, at least 14 members of the league, including a woman, shot and killed three policemen and a cashier while robbing a government commodities store just two blocks from the Foreign Ministry.

The outbreak of guerrilla violence was the first terrorist activity since last August when September League guerrillas shot up the car of President Jose Lopez Portillo's sister in an assassination attempt.

The 23rd of September League takes its name after the date of a shootout about 12 years ago between student activists and soldiers at an army barracks in the northern state of Chihuahua.

The league wants to spark a revolution in Mexico for the overthrow of the government, but with only about three dozen hard-core members, according to Mexican police intelligence sources, has little chance of success.

Guilty Verdict 'Disappoints' Yoshimura

OAKLAND (AP) – A "disappointed" Wendy Yoshimura remained free on bail today after a jury reached a last-minute compromise verdict in her weapons and explosives trial that could send Patricia Hearst's last underground roommate to prison for 25 years.

Jurors, who had planned to quit deliberations after Thursday night, deadlocked on a charge that could have brought Miss Yoshimura a life sentence – that of possession with intent to injure people and destroy property.

"I'm very disappointed in the verdict, but I'll be okay," the 34-year-old defendant told reporters after the verdict, which stemmed from her rental of a Berkeley garage that police raided as a bomb factory in 1972 – years before she encountered Miss Hearst.

Alameda County Superior Court Judge Martin Pulich refused a prosecutor's motion to revoke Miss Yoshimura's $25,000 bail, which had been collected by the Japanese-

Mt. Baldy Slide Kills Alta Loma Cub Scout Hiker

ONTARIO (AP) — A 9-year-old Cub Scout on an after-school outing was killed in an avalanche when his hiking group wandered into a section of Mt. Baldy where avalanche warning signs had been removed.

David Merrell of Alta Loma was buried Thursday under three feet of snow just north of the Movie Slope ski area at the 6,300-foot level. He was dug out by other Scouts, but was pronounced dead at Doctor's Hospital in Montclair.

Another boy, Kit Layton, injured his arm when the hard-packed snow and ice came cascading down a natural mountain chute, but the other five Scouts and their den mother, Mona Barruso, were unhurt.

San Bernardino County Sheriff's Capt. Keith Larson said the area had been posted as avalanche-prone earlier in the day, but the signs had been removed.

Larson said such signs frequently are taken by persons who use them as tobaggans.

Pittsburgh Blast Probed By Police

PITTSBURGH (AP) – When Bernie Payne rushed from a nearby classroom and saw the twisted rubble that seconds before had been a University of Pittsburgh lecture hall, he thought of his fellow students and said, "My God, I hope there weren't a lot in there."

There weren't, but two of the 20 or so people inside – early arrivals for a lecture – were killed when an explosion destroyed the science hall auditorium Thursday. Dozens more were injured.

Had the blast come 20 minutes later, the auditorium would have been filled with 150 students.

Police were investigating the possibility that laboratory chemicals or gases caused the explosion. There was no evidence of foul play, they said.

The building was steamheated, and Alex Kaminsky, director of plant services, said the natural gas line that led to a burner on a lab table could not have been the cause.

An adjoining auditorium in the 16-year-old hall was undamaged, and an adjacent five-story complex of three buildings was evacuated safely. There was no fire, but dozens of windows in the area were shattered.

Obedience School Trains Dog Owners

By ROBERT SCHWABACH
Knight News Wire

WILMINGTON, Del. – The western branch of the Wilmington YMCA started offering dog obedience classes from the dog's point of view last week.

To get the dog's point of view you get down on your hands and knees and squint upwards at the world. If your dog is a particularly small one, you get down on your belly.

Not much more than that is known about how dogs see the world. Virginia Dorsman, who teaches this class, says the underlying assumption is that the dog sees the world like people see the world, and would like to be treated kindly.

This means that if the dog will not sit when you tell it to sit, you do not swat it on the rear end with a rolled-up edition of a newspaper. Instead, you gently roll your arm around behind its rear legs until it is forced to sit because it is about to fall on its haunches. When it does fall backward on its rump, you say "nice doggie" or "sweet snookums" or whatever endearments come to mind at the moment. In this way, the world of dog owners and dogs progresses.

"This method was developed by Milo and Margaret Pearsall," Dorsman said, "and if you have read much literature in the field you will know how startlingly revolutionary and effective this method of obedience training is."

Dorsman's own dog, a German shepherd named Lita, acted hard to handle during the opening two classes and was kept in a cage.

"She's nervous with all these strange dogs around," Dorsman explained.

Everybody's dog was nervous.

Their point of view was ably demonstrated when Chivas, a 8-month-old Irish wolfhound and the largest dog around for the training sessions, was quickly taken out by a mongrel sheep dog named Tojo.

Tojo's owner did the sportsmanlike thing and got the Lysol and cleaned up the blood from Chivas' mangled ear. "I don't know why he's named Tojo," she said. "The name makes no sense whatever to me." (Thus are the lessons of history lost in the rush of events.)

While things did not seem to be going at all well at first, Dorsman explained that this was a get-acquainted session and the serious obedience training would come later.

"You must learn to socialize your dog," she told the dozen owners assembled for the class.

"Take him out with you and introduce him to new sights and let him meet new people. A dog who's been places and done things is a better dog."

"I just want her to come when I call her," Claire Dworkin of Wilmington said of her toy poodle, Sassy. "The kids would probably enjoy it if she sat up and begged for something, too."

NEWS BRIEFS

Officers Admit Shooting Hostage

LOS ANGELES (AP) – A police spokesman "regretfully announced" that four gun shots were pumped into a hostage by officers pursuing the victim's captor in a high speed car chase.

Lt. Charles Higbie announced at a Thursday news conference that Ruben Cortez Jr., 37, of Alhambra, died of wounds inflicted by officers. Cortez had been forced to drive the car after he was abducted from the medical office he managed.

The vehicle crashed into another after the shooting, a spokesman said. A coroner's spokesman said Cortez was killed by one of the four bullets, a .38-caliber gunshot wound to the head.

The alleged abductor, Redentor A. Ayson, 39, of San Fernando, was reported in critical condition at County-USC medical Center.

Mental Patient Freezes Atop Train

LOS ANGELES (AP) – A 15-year-old mental patient whose frozen body was found atop a railroad car in New Mexico apparently died from exposure during the long ride over the snow-covered Rocky Mountains, authorities say.

The youth was tentatively identified as John Michael Block of Cerritos, who disappeared from Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk on Sunday after he left with his mother on a lunchtime pass.

The mother, Virginia Block, later called the hospital to report he had run away from her at a Cerritos shopping center.

24-Foot Fall Kills Duarte Worker

SANTA ANA – A construction worker was killed Thursday when he fell 24 feet from the roof he was working on to the ground, coroner's officials reported.

Investigators said Paul Dennis McGrade, 35, of Duarte, was working on the roof of a building under construction at 1801 E. Dyer Road about 7:30 p.m. when he tumbled through an unpaned skylight covered with plywood.

McGrade was pronounced dead on arrival at Tustin Community Hospital.

Poisonous Gas Sickens 44

AACHEN, West Germany (AP) – Poisonous gas escaping from a needle factory sickened at least 44 persons in the Aachen area before the drifting cloud of gas started dispersing on the Dutch border, police said Thursday.

The gas forced the closure of schools and highways as it drifted over the border into Holland, police said.

Police said the fumes were created when workers in the Aachen suburb of Stolberg erroneously began piping nitric acid from a railway tank car into a vat of sulphuric acid.

Workers who inhaled the concentrated gas formed from the acids had to be hospitalized for treatment of possible lung damage and skin eruptions. Several others at a nearby soap factory were hospitalized after the fumes drifted in through an open widow.

Scientists Detect 2nd Marsquake

HONOLULU (AP) – Scientists have detected what they are fairly certain is a second "Marsquake," according to a scientist associated with the Viking II seismology experiment.

The second quake occurred in mid-November and registered about 3.0 on the Richter scale, said Fred K. Duennebier of the University of Hawaii.

The tremor was centered about 24 miles from the Viking II landing craft on Mars, Duemmebier said Thursday at a meeting of the American Astronomical Society's Division for Planetary Sciences.

Scientists in early January announced the recording of a possible quake on Mars in early November. They said the tremor registered between 6 and 7 on the Richter scale, a measure of ground motion recorded on seismographs.

"It proves to us Mars is not a cold, dead planet but can support greater stress differences than here on earth," he said.

Political Policeman Sentenced

LISBON, Portugal (AP) – A former inspector of political police was sentenced Thursday to eight years and eight months in prison on charges of torturing prisoners under Portugal's deposed right-wing dictatorship.

Henrique de Sa Seixas, 71, was found guilty of torturing and ordering others to torture political prisoners while serving for 42 years in the secret police (PIDE) under the late dictator Antonio Salazar. Marcello Caetano succeeded Salazar as head of the government, which was overthrown by the military in April 1974.

Seixas, who served as Salazar's bodyguard, spent nearly three years in jail awaiting trial. He denied all charges

Pleading illness, Seixas asked to be taken back to Caxias military prison, five miles west of Lisbon, during the adjournment before sentencing.

Seixas was arrested, along with 1,300 other PIDE agents, after the military coup.

He will serve 4½ more years in prison and pay a small fine

Only a handful of the 1,300 secret police agents have yet to be tried. Most have been freed or fled the country.

Passengers Plucked Off Cruiser

MIAMI (AP) – The 110 passengers of a sailing cruise ship that ran aground off Eluthera Island in the eastern Bahamas were taken off Thursday. Commercial tugs were en route to try to free the vessel.

The Navy tug Petrel and the Coast Guard cutter Steadfast took the four-masted Fantome's passengers to Nassau, which they had left Tuesday on what was to be a week-long island-hopping cruise to Freeport.

The Coast Guard said the passengers and the Fantome's 27-member crew, some of whom were left aboard, were never in any danger.

The Fantome drifted aground on a sand bar after losing power early Wednesday, the Coast Guard said. The vessel couldn't use its sails because of 10-15 foot seas and winds up to 50 knots, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Letter Bombs Found In NY

NEW YORK (AP) – The FBI is trying to find whomever is responsible for the letter bombs – discovered in various spots around the city – addressed to President Carter, former President Ford, the governor of Puerto Rico and the FBI itself.

Four of the devices ignited but were deactivated before any damage was done. No one was hurt.

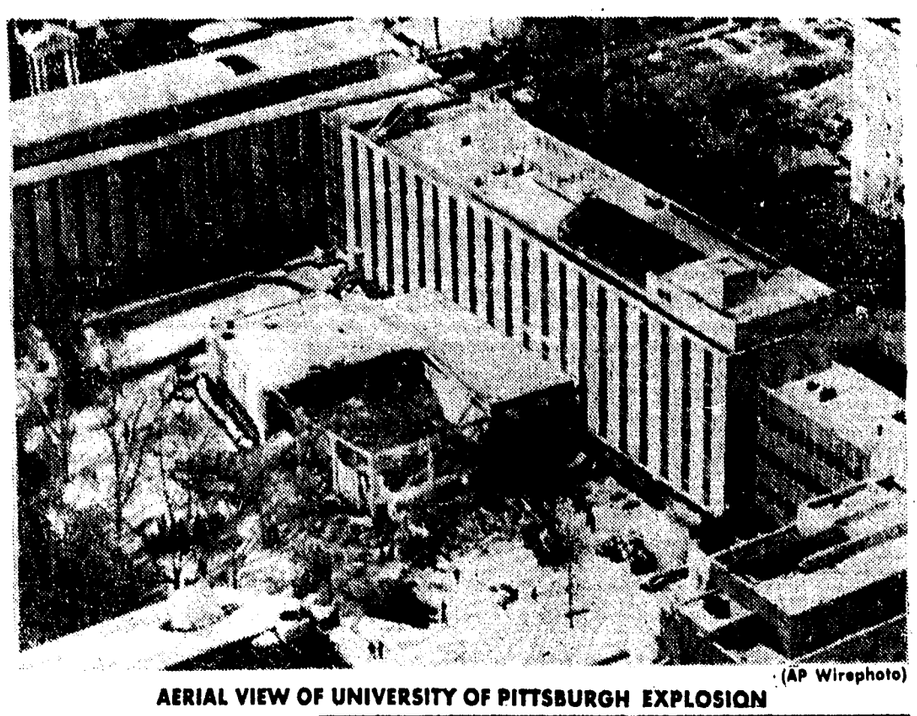

Three were found Thursday in mid-Mahattan sidewalk mailboxes by letter carriers who noticed smoke coming from the letters as they were handled.

Later, a fourth ignited in a carrier's bag as he entered the postal station in Grand Central Terminal. A few minutes later a letter carrier became suspicious when he felt something inside an envelope which turned out to be batteries.

The last device, addressed to the FBI, was deactivated by police before it could ignite.

One of the addresses was wiped out when the bomb ignited.

The FBI said it was investigating because the incidents constituted "attempted assaults" on the President and former President.

"All we could see were girders," said Payne. "And the cement was sliding and rolling down. The building was still crumbling. You could see that one of the lecture halls had just crumbled inward."

Shelley Dubin, who was in the adjacent auditorium, said, "I turned around and looked back, and I just saw cement and steel falling. It was just like a movie."

A total of 45 people were treated at four hospitals, including about a dozen firemen who inhaled toxic gases stored in basement laboratories.

Three of the injured were in guarded condition, two were in serious condition and two were in fair condition. The remainder were treated and released.

The dead were identified as Carleen Curry, 35, a secretary from nearby Shadyside, and Patricia Hostetler, 20, a student from Donegal. Both had been crushed

Students stood in the snow and cold for hours while rescue crews used cranes and bulldozers to search for other victims.

The search was interrupted while a check for radiation dispelled fears that contaminated lab specimens might have leaked out.

Meanwhile, the university, the police department, newspapers and coroner's offices were swamped with calls from panicking parents.

Scudder Kidnap

ated in the county jail since their arrest last Aug. 20.

Scudder, an heir to the Laura Scudder potato chip fortune, was kidnaped in the early afternoon of Aug. 19 after a visit to his dentist in Huntington Beach.

He testified during the trial that Sellers pointed a gun at him and demanded that he enter a motor home where he as gagged and blind-folded with a ski cap.

He testified that he knew there were two men in the motor home, but he said he could not identify Wesson, a longtime friend, because of the blindfold and the fact that the abductors took his eye glasses.

Scudder, 64, of Newport Beach, said he escaped from the kidnapers after one of the men (apparently Wesson) left the motorhome to make a $250,000 ransom call to Scudder's wife Valerie.

Scudder said he faked a heart attack during a drive through Orange County, and then grappled briefly with Sellers after the motor home was brought to a halt. He said he was sprayed with mace before tumbling out of the vehicle.

Evidence introduced during the trial revealed that Scudder had seven teeth knocked out during the episode, and suffered a severe gash on his head which required stitching.

Scudder said he was injured during the scuffle with Sellers.

But Quigley asserted throughout the lengthy trial that Scudder was a willing kidnap victim because he was seeking adventure and excitment.

Both Wesson and Sellers testified in their own behalf that Scudder agreed to kidnaping and was completely cooperative until he suddenly started fighting with Sellers.

Sellers testified that Scudder suffered his injuries when he suddenly stopped the motor home and Scudder smashed his face into an overhanging cupboard.

Scudder, called as a rebuttal witness by prosecutor Bill Morrisey, denied those allegations.

Quigley said following the verdict that he was not disappointed with the judge or the jury, but that he was "disappointed with the outcome."

Inaugural Reaction Abroad Tempered

LONDON (AP) – Commentators outside the United States greeted President Carter's inaugural address with low-key approval or mild criticism. Some papers complained that they still knew little about him.

"Mr.Carter is more of an unknown quantity than anyone else elected to the Presidency in recent times," said the Times of London.

"Despite all the exposure, Carter remains as enigmatic as ever," wrote Political Editor Terence Lancaster of London's tabloid Daily Mirror.

The independent Brussels Le Soir said Carter "remains the enigma he was during his electoral campaign ... Washington is ready, but it doesn't know what for."

Soviet television showed several minutes of the inauguration, and the Soviet Union's top America-watcher, Georgy Arbatov, told the official news agency Tass the inaugural address was "heartening."

"Attention is caught by the section in Jimmy Carter's speech where he pledges perseverance and wisdom in the efforts to limit the world's armaments and his intention to move this year a step toward elimination of all nuclear weapons from the earth," Arbatov said.

President Hosts Demo Faithfuls

a brief, campaign-style talk, asking over and over, "Wasn't this a good day?"

"Yes!" came the inevitable roar

"Isn't this a great country?"

Again, cheers.

"Can it be greater in the future – and will you help me?"

And with the next outburst, Carter, in tuxedo, went on to tell the partygoers that six years ago Rosalynn had worn the same floor-length blue and gold gown, when he was elected governor of Georgia. "Don't you like my wife's old dress?" he'd ask.

"Today is the greatest day in the life of the Carter family," he said. "I see here so many of you who helped me when I didn't have any friends ... I want this evening of joy and friendship and caring for each other to last for the next four years."

"We have the greatest nation on earth," said Carter at every party. "I want you all to remember, this is just as much your country as it is mine."

But at one stop, perhaps reflecting the strain of the long day, Carter got the line reversed and said: "I want you all to remember, this is my country, as much as it is yours."

In all, the round of partygoing lasted 3½ hours, and the Carters were home for their first night in the White House at 12:30 a.m., about 1½ hours earlier than planned, though other celebrants continued way into the morning.

The Carters had good reason to be tired. Earlier in the day, as millions watched via television, he had given the nation a sight never before seen, a new President strolling all the way down Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol to the White House, his wife holding his hand. Daughter Amy walked several blocks with her parents.

That act, symbolic of his oft-repeated campaign promise to stay close to the people, came as a complete surprise to all but the Secret Service, whom he informed of his plan three weeks earlier.

And despite the icy temperatures of the day, the President obviously enjoyed the mile and one-half stroll. It capped, he said, a "perfect day."

His innaugural address was a short, solemn speech in which the new president declared that "I have no new dream to set forth today, but rather urge a fresh faith in the old dream."

But the line that seemed to draw the greatest appreciation was the one which he opened: "For myself and for our nation, I want to thank my predecessor for all he has done to heal our land."

With that, Gerald R. Ford, a private citizen who planned to be out golfing today in Southern California, bit his lip to stifle the tears while the audience confirmed Carter's tribute with hearty applause.

Between festivities, Carter quickly got down to his first official business as president, signing a document that formally nominated his Cabinet.

The Senate then confirmed eight Cabinet members by voice vote, but deferred action on the other three because of requests for roll call votes. Those will come later, probably next week, for Joseph Califano as secretary of health, education and welfare; F. Ray Marshall as secretary of labor and Griffin B. Bell as attorney general.

At dusk Thursday, Carter was behind his new desk in the Oval Office, which looked a bit bare without the personal items that Ford had taken with him. At the last minute, a secretary stuck five books on a desk corner "to make it look a bit better."

There, the president announced that he will meet next Tuesday with congressional leaders, and will convene the full Cabinet later in the week. His press secretary, Jody Powell, added later that Carter planned a tour around the nation early in his term, because he "is very concerned about not becoming isolated."

But for the first two days of his presidency, at least, Jimmy Carter was certainly not isolated.

Except for three minor knots of demonstrators, off the route of the two-hour parade led by the new president, it was just the day that Carter could have hoped, one of harmony and unity.

From their solar-heated reviewing stand, the Carters and Vice President Walter F. Mondale and wife Joan took the salute of the full procession of floats, bands and marching units from every state.

Then, prior to the evening's partygoing, the president and Rosalynn Carter took a stroll through the executive mansion. "I thought I'd look around," he said. "I never have seen it."

Mondale and his wife, meanwhile, headed for their official residence, becoming the first true occupants of the vice presidential mansion in a residential section far from the White House.

Congress authorized the property for the nation's second family some time ago, but Nelson A. Rockefeller, who was the first to qualify, chose not to live there.

The Mondales later made a complete tour of the inaugural balls, just as the Carters did, and the couples crossed paths at one of them.

Mondale told one group that "One of the reasons for celebrating is that today we saw again the vitality and strength of our blessed country. We changed power and we did it peaceably. There wasn't a tank or a gun. We didn't need them. We did it with joy. We did it with celebration, and that's a pretty good way to begin our third century."

Florida Produce Profits Freeze Solid On Vines

MIAMI – South Florida's bitterest cold wave in 19 years has apparently caused severe economic damage in most of the state's prime agricultural areas, but its effect in dollar terms may not be certain for several days.

Still, early estimates by farming sources created a bleak picture, with talk of losses ranging from hundreds of thousands of dollars into the millions.

A Miami food broker said that within a week's time, consumers would begin to pay higher market prices.

"I just checked the price of fresh green beans," he said. "They were $8 a bushel a few days ago, and today they were $15 a bushel," he said Thursday.

He also predicted that the quality would be inferior while availability declined and prices rose – again because of the cold.

Citrus crops, as of Wednesday, had not been severely damaged, but two more days of serious cold, as predicted by weather forecasters, could quickly inflate the prices of oranges, grapefruit and limes.

One thing seemed certain – northerners aren't going to be buying as much Florida produce as usual this year.

"Those folks up in the Northeast who are used to eating those nice Florida spring vegetables are going to be just out of luck because there just aren't going to be any," said Richard Van Brackle, spokesman for the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

Tom Gartland, president of 5,000-acre Hobe Groves, said a broker told him the price of frozen orange juice concentrate will increase by 80 per cent.

It's a different story for those growing flowers, house plants and nursery plants. That's big business in Martin County, Fla. where Ed Miller's 77 acres of chrysanthemums, foliage and nursery plants were wiped out.

"It gets into hundreds of thousands of dollars," Miller said.

South of Miami, Gary Schackelford bent over rows of destroyed tomato plants blackening in the sun.

"If it keeps up, there won't be anything left," he said. "This place looks like a graveyard."

Farmers became despondent after predictions of more freezing temperatures Thursday night and cold continuing into the weekend.

Several farmers hired helicopters at $250 an hour each to fly over pole bean fields to create downdrafts. They had hoped to trap warmer air radiating from the ground and force it back down.

But the efforts of the helicopters, flying at 40 miles an hour with rotor blades a foot wide and 37 feet long, were in vain.

Herman Lucerne, manager and owner of Grove Services Inc., one of the largest lime, avocado and mango growers in South Dade County, said that about 85 per cent of the lime crop was destroyed. South Dade produces 95 per cent of the limes used in this country.

Lucerne estimated that he would lose from 40 to 60 per cent of this summer's crop of avocados.

Lucerne said many of the growers tried to protect their trees from freezing by using overhead irrigation – spraying water on the trees to raise ground temperature a few degrees.

The effort proved ruinously counterproductive. It was so cold that the water turned to ice, bearing down upon and breaking off many branches – which now will bear no fruit.

mations – of A-Victoria flu virus in the nation this winter, O'Brien said.

Influenza B occurs in outbreaks only about every third year, O'Brien said. Isolates of A-Victoria have been reported in California, Michigan, Alaska, South Carolina and most recently in North Carolina, the CDC said.

"We have in effect a most extensive search for flu virus ever undertaken," O'Brien said in an interview. "When you consider that two of these isolates (California and Michigan) were imported by visitors from foreign countries, it is an indication that our network is working and that there is little A-Victoria."

There have been only three cases of A-New Jersey (swine flu) reported, the CDC said. All of these were associated with swine farming.

But possible transmission of swine flu among humans was reported last week involving two persons who came in close contact with a 13-year-old boy who had swine flu in Wisconsin.

O'Brien said there have been no indications of further transmission from human to human.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare is considering a recommendation from the CDC to resume the federal swine flu vaccination program, which was suspended pending an investigation of any possible connection between it and the Gullain Barre syndrome, a mysterious illness that has occurred in some of the persons vaccinated.

Freak Storm Kills One In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) – A freak storm packing winds up to 70 miles an hour roared through several Sydney suburbs today, killing an elderly woman, injuring seven other persons and causing extensive damage.

The woman was struck by a six-foot-high wooden fence knocked down by an extremely strong gust of wind, police said.

Seven persons were slightly injured in a hotel in Sydney's southern suburbs when a chimney crashed through the roof of the hotel bar. Police said one woman suffered a broken pelvis and cuts, and the six others were treated for cuts and bruises.

The roofs of more than 100 buildings were ripped off, power lines were brought down, trees were uprooted, and road, rail and harbor traffic were disrupted, police said. Damage was estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The storm badly damaged a public library at Granville, only 100 yards from the scene of Tuesday's commuter train disaster, in which 80 persons were killed when a train crashed into a highway bridge. There were no injuries in the library.

Nuclear-Armed Missiles Made By Red China

TOKYO (AP) – A Peking newspaper reported today that China has succeeded in manufacturing missiles with nuclear warheads, the Kyodo news service reported from the Chinese capital.

The Japanese correspondent said the Kwangming Daily, an organ of Chinese minority parties, reported: "China succeeded in the trial manufacture of atomic and hydrogen bombs and nuclear-armed missiles at a relatively early date after the founding of the People's Republic, ending the monopoly of such weapons by the Russian revisionists and American imperialists."

Kyodo said this was the first confirmation that the Chinese were now manufacturing nuclear-armed missiles.

The dispatch said the article was written by a group of theoreticians among officials of the national defense industry.

The Kyodo report did not give further details.

The Chinese exploded their first nuclear test in 1964, 15 years after the Communists completed their conquest of mainland China. They have set off 20 atomic or hydrogen bombs since then. Reports from Peking in November after the 21st test said Western military sources in Peking concluded that the test indicated the Chinese had completed a hydrogen warhead for long-range missiles.

The sources also said the Chinese were believed to have developed ICBMs (intercontinental ballistic missiles) with a range of 2,100 to 4,000 miles.

Sentencing was set for Feb. 24. Miss Yoshimura could receive a maximum of one 15 year prison term and two five year terms.

The jury found her guilty of possessing an explosive, a machine gun, and materials with intent to make a destructive device.

Prosecutor Jeff Horner said he may seek a new trial on the disputed charge, on which the panel declared itself hopelessly deadlocked after more than 44 hours of deliberations spanning six days.

Foreman Robert W. Loge, drawn and exhausted afer 11 straight hours of deliberations, told Pulich there was "no possible way to reach a decision" on the charge.

Pulich declared a mistrial on the deadlocked count, and prosecutor Jeff Horner said he would evaluate the verdicts before deciding on a possible new trial.

Woman Drowns Beneath Ice

JUNE LAKE (AP) – A Simi Valley woman plunged to her death in the icy waters beneath a hockey rink after the efforts of five other skaters failed to save her, authorities said.

The Mono County Sheriff's office said searchers finally recovered the body of Diana Hanna, 39, three hours after the five members of the June Lake community hockey team rescued her husband, Frank.

One of the hockey players, Larry Miller, 25, stripped down to his shorts and dove into the water twice in unsuccessful attempts to locate the woman.

the draft evaders need have no fear of future jeopardy.

Draft evaders who joined a re-entry clemency program set up by President Ford's administration are automatically pardoned, too, under the terms of this proclamation and they would no longer be required to continue service jobs, Powell said.

Carter made his pledge to pardon the draft evaders in 1975 while campaigning to win the Democratic presidential nomination. He said that in his first week in office he would issue a full pardon for those who evaded the draft in the Vietnam war. He did it on his first full day there.

According to the executive order, the pardons covered the period between Aug. 4, 1964, and March 28, 1973, which has been accepted as the Vietnam era.

IN S. AFRICA

Catholic Schools Defy Apartheid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) – Roman Catholic schools, defying apartheid laws, have opened their doors to all races, prompting government threats Thursday to close the schools.

Five private Catholic schools in the Johannesburg area, two in Port Elizabeth in the Cape province and two in Windhoek, South-West Africa, admitted about 80 black, Indian or mixed race students.

The administrator of the Cape Province, L.A. Munnik, said that unless the schools meet the requirement that they teach only European-origin children, the withdrawal of their registration and the closing of schools enrolling nonwhite pupils would be considered.

In a statement, Munnik said: "It has come to my attention via press reports that two private schools in Port Elizabeth, registered for European pupils with this administration, have admitted non-European children in the past few days."

The Holy Rosary Convent in Port Elizabeth admitted 32 black and mixed race girls. One pupil of mixed race – or colored, in South African usage – was enrolled at St. Dominicus Priory.

In Johannesburg, where 40 nonwhites were enrolled, the Irish-born principal of St. Catherine's Convent, Sister Feehan, said the convent was "merely following the teachings of Christ to whom the color of children's skins means nothing."

The Catholic move violates a number of apartheid laws, including the Group Areas Act, which specifies where races can live, the Separate Amenities Act, which designates public facilities for each race, and various local school ordinances.

Referring to the Port Elizabeth schools, Munnik said they are registered under law with the provincial administration and one condition to which they are subject reads: "Only European teaching staff shall be used for the instruction of European pupils. No non-European pupil may be admitted to a school for European pupils."

Neither parents nor children made any public fuss about the new classmates. Sharon Ladler, 13, of St. Catherine's, said: "The colored girls are nice. I don't mind going to the same school. I'm not sure what my parents think."

Last year in Cape Town, the Dominican order admitted some mixed race pupils to test pupil and parent reaction, apparently without the knowledge of authorities.

About 45,000 pupils, or 5 per cent of the nation's white students, are in private schools. The government spends about $550 per year on each white student and $50 per year per black student.

Until the mid-1950s, blacks were instructed in separate missionary schools. Separate schools for different races became law after the National party came to power in 1948. The Bantu Education Act of 1953 put the schooling of blacks under government control, although private schools were allowed to continue operating in black areas.

The Catholic church had schools for whites in the cities and suburbs and other schools for blacks in the African townships built in segregated areas.

The schools that admitted nonwhites Wednesday, the first day of classes for whites, were located in metropolitan areas where whites live. It was the first time a large and organized group has attempted to open a crack in the apartheid wall built by the government around the country's 4.5 million whites.

Among the nation's 18 million blacks there are about five million students in government schools. Figures for blacks in other schools were not readily available.

A Staggering Blow: Penalty Fees Uniform

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Those long first-of-the-year lines at the Department of Motor Vehicles are gone this year, but so are graduated penalties for late registration.

Now it costs 50 per cent of your fees for being late, no matter how late you are.

Motor Vehicle Director Herman Sillas warned Thursday that the law which provided for staggered registration dates also abolished the graduated penalties.

If you're late, the only incentive to register as soon as possible is that you might get a ticket for driving an unregistered vehicle.

Under the old law, which required everybody to renew registration at the start of the year, there was a 10 per cent penalty for being up to 30 days late. After 30 days it was 100 per cent of the $11 registration fee and 50 per cent of the license fee.

CUT YOUR OWN TAXES—13

Give Close Attention To All Contributions

By RAY De CRANE

Of course you will list as charitable contributions on your tax return whatever you gave to your church, synagogue or favorite charity.

But if you stop there you may be cheating yourself.

Don't forget also to include payments to Community Chest or Red Feather agencies – it makes no difference if they were a payroll deduction or an out-of-pocket payment, as well as contributions to war veterans' groups, civil defense organizations, payments to a building fund for an educational institution or for scientific, literary purposes, or to an organization dedicated to the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.

In addition to your cash layouts, did you contribute clothing, furniture or appliances to a qualifying charitable organization? If you did, and you have an appraisal from the organization on the value of your gifts, list that among your contributions.

In the absence of an appraisal, list the fair market value of the merchandise contributed. By this is meant what you could expect to receive for it in a private sale. For your own protection, be conservative in this estimate.

A volunteer worker for a charitable organization also could have a deduction that could be claimed here. This could include transportation expenses at the rate of seven cents a mile for the use of your own car, the cost of required uniforms and their laundering, plus reasonable charges for lunches, parking fees and toll charges incurred while performing such volunteer work.

RETURNING HOME – An Air Force honor guard escorts the remains of one of the military men killed Monday when a Navy launch collided with a Spanish freighter in the harbor at Barcelona, Spain. Gandhi Lifts Emergency Rule Prior To Elections

NEW DELHI, India (AP) – Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government restored key democratic rights Thursday after 19 months of stern emergency rule – ordering the release of political prisoners, lifting press censorship and revoking a ban on public rallies.

The government said the decisions were taken to speed the revival of political normalcy as the country prepares for parliamentary elections in March.

Even before the series of announcements, four non-Communist opposition parties made known that they had buried their political differences to form a united front against Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party in the coming elections.

The government announcements, just two days after Mrs. Gandhi's pledge to permit the revival of legitimate political activity, amount to a major dismantling of the emergency apparatus set up in June 1975. The government suspended civil liberties at that time to meet what Mrs. Gandhi described as a threat to internal order following her conviction on election fraud charges.

In an order sent to all states, the government told local authorities to expedite the release of political prisoners held under the Maintenance of Internal Security Act, the main weapon used to detain persons without trial for up to two years. The government also said the security act should be used in the future only in exceptional cases.

There was no official disclosure of how many political prisoners would be freed, but opposition political sources claimed the release order would affect several thousand of rank-and-file party members. Most opposition leaders were released in the past few months.

The end of censorship on the nation's press represented one of the most dramatic actions symbolizing the relaxation of the emergency.

The government invoked censorship in the first hours of the emergency on June 26, 1975, and opposition leaders later acknowledged that the rigid press restrictions had done more than anything else to crush vocal dissent against Mrs. Gandhi's rule.

Newspapers were barred from publishing items that could "denigrate the institution of the prime minister" or "bring into hatred or contempt the government established by law in the country."

During the emergency, the government gradually let newspapers censor themselves, but until Thursday's action editors were still subject to periodic prepublication orders and advisories from the censor.

Former Deputy Prime Minister Morarji Desai made the confident announcement of formation of the new Janta – People's political party. "We hope to win a thumping majority, not just a small majority," he said.

The 80-year-old Desai, who was released from prison two days ago after being detained since June 1975, said the Janta party would put up a single slate of candidates in the various parliamentary constituencies to ensure that their supporters' vote was not split.

The tactic is designed to limit the chances of Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party winning the elections by a mere plurality of votes, as has happened in the five previous general elections held since independence in 1947.

Firm Told To Halt Money Order Sale

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The state Superintendent of Banks Thursday ordered a financially troubled Culver City firm to stop selling money orders immediately and to return the funds its agents have collected to the California Banking Department.

Superintendent Carl Schmitt issued the order to the estimated 700 agents of Universal Money Order Company (UMO).

The action followed the seizure of the firm's California assets by the department Jan. 12. UMO is an affiliate of a New York firm, International Express Co., which encountered financial difficulties in that state. International Express filed bankruptcy proceedings in New York shortly after the seizure of UMO's assets here.

The collapse of the parent firm left thousands of UMO customers with money orders which cannot be honored, Schmitt said. He proposed a legislative package to "protect Californians in the future from the type of consequences which resulted from UMO's financial difficulties" and said the department was pressing for the reimbursement of UMO's California customers while the bankruptcy proceedings of the parent firm are under way.

Schmitt's proposed legislation would require a large bond to be posted by all money order firms doing business in the state and would establish an insurance pool funded by assessments of money order companies to protect customers in case of future bankruptcies.

Astronomers Confirm Existence Of Water Beyond Earth's Galaxy

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) – Astronomers using a giant West German radio-telescope have confirmed for the first time the existence of water outside the earth's galaxy, according to the Max Planck Scientific Society.

The discovery by the society's Institute for Radio-Astronomy strengthened the possibility that planets resembling earth may exist in the universe's other spiral galaxies beyond the Milky Way.

The scientists used the Effelsberg radio-telescope in the Eifel Mountains near Bonn to pinpoint a cloud of water vapor about 2.2 million light years from earth. They located it in a nebula known as "IC 133," on the edge of a spiral galaxy called "M 33."

Radio signals emanating from the extragalactic water molecules were unusually strong, the scientific society said.

The Effelsberg radio-telescope utilizes a dish-shaped antenna about 100 yards in diameter.

The society said the scientists used a new technique to suppress natural disturbances from electronic components of the huge dish antenna. Helium was used to cool the system down to minus 432 degrees Fahrenheit, quadrupling the antenna's sensitivity.

Ford Shows Emotion At Cinderella Hour

'You Can't Help Being A Little Sentimental'

MONTEREY (AP) – "I don't deny I got a little sentimental," said Gerald Ford, his eyes clouding over. "I tried not to expose it, to keep it within myself.

"But we've had 2½ great years and you can't help but be a little emotional and sentimental."

A pause.

"I'm human like everybody else," said Ford. He was now a private citizen, but not like everybody else. And never would be.

It was a few hours after affairs of state became Jimmy Carter's concern; after a last, sentimental circling over the capital; and after a poignant leave-taking with 21-gun salute military honor guard and crowds come to say goodby.

Jerry Ford was flying westward Thursday to take part in a celebrity golf tournament. But more, away from Washington, away from decisions, away from pressure and away from scrutiny of everything but his golf score.

"We had prepared ourselves," he said of the personal transition he and his wife Betty were making. "We certainly took the attitude that our time had ended and President Carter's time had begun.

"I said to him that we wished him the very best, that I was available to help. If he wanted to call me, please feel free – we would do whatever we could to be beneficial."

Did he indicate that he would be calling you? The presidential word weighing returned momentarily. "I don't think I should make any comment on that."

The trappings of power woven around Ford for 2½ years did not unravel at the Cinderella hour of noon decreed by the Constitution.

The helicopter ride to Andrews Air Force Base ... the Secret Service escort ... the troops ... the booming howitzers ... the ruffles and flourishes ... instant departure on boarding ... the Ford family pictures decorating the walls of the airplane ... the Signal Corps technician ready to place an airborne call to anywhere ... the privilege of taking two dogs aboard and allowing them to roam....

There were tears in Ford's eyes this day. There were tears in his wife's.

"The only time that I really felt emotionally, perhaps upset, was when we left the Capitol," she said. "Because after all, Jerry and I were married in October (1948) and he was elected in November and our whole married life has been spent at the Capitol."

And leaving the White House?

"Naturally, we loved it and we enjoyed every minute we were there, but I think it was time to go."

The Fords came back to talk with a handful of reporters who flew west with them aboard the presidential aircraft that is known as Air Force One, when the President is aboard. This day it was just another Boeing 707.

Ford had been asked how he prepared himself for leaving. Now it was Betty's turn.

"There are lot of First Ladies," she said.

"She gave me a hard time," said her husband. They laughed, and hugged.

The traditional 10-minute ride from the White House to the inaugural platform at the Capitol, incoming and outgoing presidents side by side, intrigues historians. What did the two men, the victorious and the defeated, talk about?

"It was mainly just very nice pleasantries, small talk," said Ford.

Carter's inaugural address?

"I thought it was good. I thought it hit the right tone and I naturally was very grateful for his opening comment and kind remarks."

Carter had opened his inaugural speech by thanking "my predecessor for all he has done to heal our land."

Did we see tears? The former president was asked.

"If you didn't see them I'm not going to comment on them."

In his final days as president, Ford had tossed out the word "maybe" at least three times, each one a tantalizing reference to make one think he might run again. How serious is the 'maybe,' looking down the road four years?

"We've got a lot of things to do between now and then," said Citizen Ford. "I just want people to do a little thinking and speculating. I don't want anyone to move in and preempt the field without thinking they'll have a challenge from an old timer who's got the spirit."

After Ford had gone forward into his cabin, Mrs. Ford said she didn't want him to run again.

"No, emphatically no," she said. "Twenty-eight years is a good number for public service."

There were cheers, and tears, and hugs when the Fords left Washington and the crowds there to see him off made it seem more like a presidential arrival than a non-presidential departure. And it was the same when, 5-1/2 hours later, Ford landed at the Monterey Peninsula Airport. The crowd was even bigger there.

It was just as if the presidential days had not ended.

Cities In Egypt Quiet After 45 Die In Riots

CAIRO (AP) – Egyptian cities quieted down Thursday after two days of bloody rioting over price increases on food and other products. The riots left 45 dead and many injured.

Army paratroopers patrolled districts in the capital, where the government reduced a nightime curfew by three hours as conditions improved.

Alexandria, 126 miles north of Cairo, and other cities where there were disturbances also were reported calm.

Some uneasiness was visible near bakeries as people crowded around to get bread but there were no disturbances.

The Ministry of Interior said it still was compiling figures of dead, injured and arrested. But police sources said at least 40 persons were killed in Cairo and 250 injured. They said five persons were killed in Alexandria and 132 wounded.

Newspapers reports said 439 persons were arrested, among them many leftists and Communists that the Ministry of Interior charged were responsible for a plot "to burn Cairo."

The newspapers said the arrested Communists included three university students believed to be members of a secret organization called the "Egyptian Communist Workers party." The group was reported financed by "extremist parties" in some Arab countries.

A plan for activities by the three Communist students during the disturbances was found in their possession, in addition to thousands of antigovernment pamphlets, the reports added.

President Anwar Sadat, who returned from the winter resort of Aswan because of the crisis, met with Prime Minister Mamdouh Salem, but the official Middle East News Agency and Cairo radio gave no details of their discussions.

Singer Jerry Lee Lewis Hospitalized; Van Houten Venue Change Nixed

Singer JERRY LEE LEWIS, 41, is expected to be in the hospital for about a week recovering from surgery for removal of his gallbladder. The 55-minute operation, performed by Dr. Leslie Shumake in Memphis, was completed satisfactorily, said hospital administrator Tharon Lee. Lewis has been in Doctors hospital since Monday.

LESLIE VAN HOUTEN, claiming her legal rights were prejudiced by a prosecutor's best-selling book on the Manson murders, was refused a change of venue Thursday for her retrial in Los Angeles on two of the notorious killings. Superior Court Judge E. Talbot Callister issued his ruling after Maxwell Keith, attorney for the former Charles Manson follower, argued that the book, "Helter Skelter," and a subsequent televised movie biased the public against the 27-year-old Miss Van Houten. "It cast Leslie in a very false light," Keith said of the movie derived from the book. "It depicts her as a very depraved, malevolent young lady, an unrepentant murderer. That's not fair. She is back here for retrial and she is presumed innocent."

In addition to her bodyguards, PATRICIA HEARST is reported to have a trained German shepherd named "Arrow" to keep her company. The San Francisco Chronicle said Thursday she took the dog home recently after it received two week's training at the home of former San Mateo County deputy sheriff Robert Outman. The story said the newspaper-heiress, who is free on $1.25 million bail while she awaits the results of the appeal of her bank robbery conviction, attended the canine obedience classes with several other dog owners.

A jury of seven men and five women was selected Thursday in Cincinnati after eight days of challenges in the obscenity trial of Hustler magazine publisher LARRY FLYNT and three others. Lawyers for both sides were to spend today selecting alternate jurors. Opening arguments were expected to follow. Flynt; his wife, ALTHEA LEASURE FLYNT; his brother, JIMMY R. FLYNT, and circulation manager AL VAN SCHAIK are charged with engaging in organized crime and pandering obscenity. Hustler, a men's magazine published in Columbus, Ohio, distributes 1,448,000 copies monthly, according to the most recently audited circulation figures.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

President Carter has chosen CLIFFORD L. ALEXANDER JR., a 43-year-old Washington black attorney, to be secretary of the Army. Being nominated as the secretary of the Navy in the incoming administration is GRAHAM WILLIAM CLAYTOR JR., 61, board chairman of the Southern Railway Co. Other nominations announced included THOMAS B. ROSS, 47, who until recently was chief of the Washington bureau of the Chicago Sun-Times, to be assistant secretary of defense for public affairs. Alexander is the first black to be nominated to head one of the uniformed services. A graduate of Harvard University and Yale Law School, he served on the White House staffs of Democratic Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Sen. GAYLORD NELSON, D-Wis., was appointed to head a special Senate committee to draw up a code of ethics for senators. The Senate voted to establish the 15-member committee, which will have until March 1 to present a draft code to the full Senate. Senate Democratic Leader ROBERT C. BYRD of West Virginia appointed the eight Democrats on the committee. Besides Nelson they are Sen. ABRAHAM RIBICOFF of Connecticut, DANIEL INOUYE of Hawaii, THOMAS EAGLETON of Missouri, SAM NUNN of Georgia, DICK CLARK of Iowa, JOHN GLENN of Ohio and JOHN MELCHER of Montana.

when a lawyer suggested that at 67 she was too old to act regularly. Miss Sothern was testifying in a suit in Jacksonville, Fla., against former owners of the Thunderbird Motor Hotel where, the suit says, she was injured by a falling pole during a performance of "Everybody Loves Opal" at the motel's dinner theater on Aug. 15, 1973. Damages were not specified. The question that provoked the tears was, "Don't you feel that when a person reaches the age of 67, you should not expect to work as often as you did when you were younger?" "Acting is my life," she replied.

Exiled Soviet dissident VLADIMIR BUKOVSKY, visiting Leiden University in Amsterdam where he was invited to continue his biology studies, says he's still undecided about where to settle in the west. "First I want to see from which country I can best fight for Soviet political prisoners," said the 34-year-old Russian. University officials said Bukovsky would visit West Germany, Switzerland, France, Britain and the United States before he makes his decision. Bukovsky was exchanged Dec. 18 in Zurich for Chilean Communist party leader Luis Corvalan.

The University of Chicago has announced that outgoing U.S. Atty. Gen. EDWARD LEVI, former president of the university, will return there as Glen A. Lloyd Distinguished Service Professor of Law.

Country music singer JERRY JEFF WALKER was charged with running a red light, drunkenness and driving under the influence of drink after an accident on snow-covered streets. Walker, 34, told Memphis police he lost control of his car temporarily when he tried to stop on the snow. Police said Walker's car struck another auto at an intersection. He was released on $50 bond on each charge.

A movie sound man injured in a stagecoach accident at Lake Sherwood last month has filed a damage suit in Superior Court in Ventura against French movie director CLAUDE LELOUCH. DENNIS C. JONES, the sound man, is seeking damages from Lelouch and 30 unnamed persons. Jones suffered a fractured vertebra in his back on Dec. 30 when the stagecoach in which he was riding during a movie scene plunged over an embankment and overturned.

Retired western actor RANDOLPH SCOTT is hospitalized for what Mayo Clinic spokesman described as routine tests. A friend said the tests were part

Stock Raisers Get Help

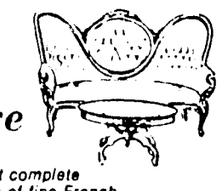

SACRAMENTO (AP) – President Ford declared a drought emergency in California Thursday, making livestock raisers in 23 counties eligible for federal money to help buy feed.

The government will pay eligible farmers half the cost of emergency feed they must buy, up to 20 cents a day per animal.

One cattleman said it means the government will pay about a quarter of the cost of feeding hay to range cattle, which now costs $89 to $105 a ton.

An estimated 10,000 California ranchers will be eligible for payments totaling about $16.5 million, said Bob Stevens, regional director of the federal Disaster Assistance Administration in San Francisco. He said it would help them feed more than 780,000 cattle and sheep.

BUSINESS, UNION LEADERS CRITICAL

Brown Hit For Role In Dow Decision

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Some business and union leaders Thursday blamed Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. for Dow Chemical Co.'s decision to quit trying for state approval of a petrochemical plant.

On Wednesday, the firm said excessive red tape made it shelve its bid to win government okay for a $500 million plant in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta 40 miles south of Sacramento.

"We're very disappointed," said Tony Cannata, secretary-treasurer of the Contra Costa Central Labor Council.

"I think the governor is responsible. They may as well put out a sign that industry is not welcome in California."

Bill Press, Brown's planning and research director, denied the allegations against Brown, saying "the governor personally led the effort" by state agencies to give Dow's bid a fair hearing.

In another development, Atlantic Richfield Co., which owns land next to the Dow site, said it had not decided if it would still try for government approval of a $1 billion petrochemical plant there.

"We are taking a long hard look at the Dow Chemical announcement," ARCO spokesman Al Greenstein said in Los Angeles. "We have no intention of changing our own plans (because of Dow). Whatever action we take will be the result of our own business decisions."

The Democratic governor, who was out of the state Thursday attending President Jimmy Carter's inauguration, never took a stand on the proposed plant, which was strongly backed by unions and business.

On the other side, conservationists opposed the plant, saying it would damage air and water quality in the rural dry rolling hills area northeast of San Francisco.

The firm said it used up two years and $4 million in a battle for more than 60 state, local and federal permits, and in the end the cost was too much.

Dow's announcement of its decision mentioned Brown's effort to consolidate and speed up the state agencies' hearings late last year on the Dow application.

No decision had been reached by those state agencies when Dow announced its decision, but state officials said the decision would have been forthcoming in the next 70 days.

Those consolidated hearings and the Brown administration actions concerning the plant brought at least one cynical comment from a union lobbyist, who declined to be named.

"I think those hearings were a bunch of window dressing for the public," he snapped. "If the governor wanted that project to go, he would have got to those agencies and made it known."

The plant permit application before the San Francisco Air Pollution Control District had been rejected, but that ruling was under appeal.

Ted McHugh, the district's spokesman, defended the ruling Thursday, saying the district "acted properly in denying the Dow permit in accordance with the (federal) Clean Air Act."

On the topic of the Brown administration's role in the Dow matter, Bill Press, Brown's aide, said, "Where Brown could affect the process, he did. He has no jurisdiction over the Bay Area board or federal agencies" which also had to grant Dow permits."

Press acknowledged the permit process had become too lengthy and costly and that it was in need of "great improvement. It doesn't have to take forever to make good environmental decisions."

William Struble of the California Chamber of Commerce was critical of Brown's role.

"I wouldn't want to say you can pin this all on Gov. Brown because a lot of what has happened to Dow has been built up over a period of time.

"However, I think most of Dow's troubles have occurred during his administration, and I think the philosophy expressed by the governor and his people is hostile to this kind of business development," Struble said.

He paused and then added: "I am only too well aware the governor doesn't want to project that kind of image and he will tell you to the contrary."

Struble said the issue involved far more than the 1,000 employes Dow would have hired. He said the plant would have prompted much additional business in industries using its products and in firms supporting the employes' daily needs.

Assemblyman Paul Priolo, leader of the Assembly Republicans, criticized Brown's role on the Dow issue and referred to a meeting Brown had Wednesday with about 20 business executives in New York.

"After two years of anti-business, anti-growth, anti-job attitudes, he has a lot more jawboning ahead," Priolo said.

Jimmy Lee, head of the Building and Construction Trades Council of California, said Brown had tried to streamline the permit process.

But Lee said it was "disgusting" that the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board had denied the Dow permit and blocked the plant's construction.

Marine Charged In KKK Printing

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) – The U.S. Marine Corps says a Marine member of the Ku Klux Klan will be tried before a special courtmartial for printing KKK literature at government expense.

The Corps ordered the action this week against Pfc. Dennis L. Campbell, who was among a group of Marines admitting KKK membership after a racial brawl Nov. 13 brought presence of a Klan cell on base to light. The KKK members were targets of an attack by a group of black Marines who mistakenly assaulted another group of Marines living in the same barracks as the Klan members.

The marine corps said Campbell will be tried for using a government photocopier to produce racist literature and for illegal distribution of the material on base.

If found guilty, he could be reduced to private or given a bad conduct discharge, or could face six months at hard labor and forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay for six months.

Following the fight that sent six whites to the hospital, the Marine Corps uncovered the names of 17 alleged KKK members. At least 12 were transferred to other bases to ease racial tension at Pendleton.

Campbell, who had been sent to Cherry Point, N.C., was returned to Pendleton earlier this month to testify in pretrial hearings to determine what charges will be brought against black leathernecks, 14 of whom were arrested in the Nov. 13 incident.

Campbell and the other two KKK members called to testify were punished, with Campbell being fined $70, for taking a long weekend in San Diego and failing to appear at a hearing as ordered.

That happened earlier this month.

A base spokesman said no date has been set for Campbell's trial. The pretrial hearings for the black Marines have been underway for some weeks.

5 Held In Kidnaping Of SF Land Heir

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) – Five men were in custody today in connection with the abduction of a wealthy grocery store operator and land heir and demands for $400,000 ransom.

Gregory Mock, 27, was rescued Thursday by police who raided a San Mateo motel where he had been held while bids for ransom were telephoned to his wife at their home.

Police said the plot was masterminded by Leland Kong, 23, who they identified as a social friend of Mock and his wife. He and four others were held for investigation of kidnap, conspiracy and robbery charges.

The last to be arrested, Elias Lee, 24, was still making telephoned ransom demands after Mock was found, police said.

Mock, part-owner of three markets and heir to a California farm fortune, was weak but otherwise in good condition when rescued, just under 48 hours after he was abducted from in front of his home.

He said his abductors "didn't treat me that bad. It could have been a lot worse." But he said they warned him to be calm or be killed, advice he said only made him more nervous.

Mock was tied hand and foot with wire, gagged and had a mail bag over his head when police broke into the motel room. Arrested at the motel was Mickie Chinn, 25, who police said was asleep with a pistol nearby.

Also taken into custody were Jerry Yee, 26, and Randall George Lau, 23. All five were San Francisco residents.

Police said the major break in the case came when Mrs. Mock recognized the voice of one of the callers and late Wednesday police started making arrests.

Kemp To Address CRA Board

SAN DIEGO (AP) – Grassroots Republicans in California begin a series of political meetings this weekend with a former football star taking the spotlight.

Republican Congressman Jack Kemp of Buffalo, former professional football quarterback for the San Diego Chargers and Buffalo Bills, is to be keynote speaker for the two-day California Republican Assembly board of directors meeting here.

The convention is the first of a half-dozen GOP off-year grassroots affairs scheduled for the first half of the year.

Other speakers include Robert Carleson, former U.S. Commissioner of Welfare and architect of former Gov. Ronald Reagan's welfare reforms, and Congressman Clair Burgener of Rancho Santa Fe.

Missing from the program are the rumored contenders for the GOP nomination for governor in 1978, San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson, Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger, and Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis

Judge Rejects Plan To Use Sealed Bids For Irvine Co. Sale

By LARRY PETERSON
Register Staff Writer

SANTA ANA – Superior Court Judge James F. Judge Thursday rejected a proposal to settle a dispute over the future of the Irvine Co. with sealed bids.

First he turned down a plan offered by the firm's majority owner, the James Irvine Foundation, which is seeking court approval of a bid by Mobil Corp. to buy the entire company for $281.9 million in cash.

Then he refused to implement a different sealed-bids plan offered by Howard Friedman, attorney for minority company shareholder, Joan Irvine Smith.

Judge retains jurisdiction over disposition of the company following a 1975 court order which barred sale of the company pending the outcome of a 1974 lawsuit by Mrs. Smith against an earlier offer by Mobil to buy the company.

The foundation plan would have given two other potential buyers of the company until Feb. 18 to submit sealed bids. The bids would be kept secret and considered only if Judge refused to approve the Mobil offer.

Judge said he doubts that potential buyers would submit bids if the bids were to be considered only if he rejects the Mobil offer.

Mrs. Smith's proposal called for all parties to agree to abide by sealed bids. But the foundations and Mobil won't participate in sealed bidding unless that process is merely a backup method in case Judge rejects Mobil's current $281.9 million offer.

Judge said the Smith proposal would be "all right" if the foundation agreed to it, but added that it is not the job of the court to impose a method of settlement before trial of the case.

Friedman also asked Judge to order the foundation's law firm to reveal how much it has been paid to represent Mobil on other matters while working for the foundation in its dealings with Mobil.

Foundation lawyer Howard Privett conceded that his firm is representing Mobil on 11 other matters but claimed Friedman's request violates court-set trial guidelines.

Friedman has claimed, and Privett has denied, that the law firms work for Mobil represents a conflict of interest and hampers its chances of getting the best possible price for the company.

Judge is expected to rule on Friedman's request before the sale proposal trial resumes Jan. 31.

Mrs. Smith claims the Mobil offer is too low and that, if it is approved, she will be forced to sell her 22 per cent interest in the company against her will.

Detroit Plans 'Garage Sale' To Raise Cash

DETROIT (AP) – Detroit's second "world's largest garage sale" is planned for April 13 and 14 at Cobo Hall.

This year, suburbs are being invited to bring their surplus furniture, equipment and miscellaneous junk to the huge sale in downtown Detroit.

The sale last year netted the city government about $92,000, with crowds lined up to get a chance at such things as old fire boxes, worn-out school clocks, machinery and antique claw-footed bathtubs.

Patti Knox, cochairman of the sale, said the invitation was being extended to the suburbs to give the city and its satellites "an opportunity to work together."

Campus System Officials Push For Higher Pay

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Officials of the 19-campus state University and Colleges system are campaigning for higher teacher pay raises than Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s offer of 2.2 per cent.

Brown's proposal in the 1977-78 budget is the lowest for any state employes except judges, whose salaries are frozen until July 1978. Other state workers would get 5 per cent.

Marjorie Downing Wagner, vice chancellor for faculty and staff of the state University and Colleges, met Wednesday with Marty Morgenstern, Brown's employe relations director, and Charles Gocke, top schooling aide in the governor's Finance Department.

Laetrile Defendants Ask For Import Ban Proof

SAN DIEGO (AP) – Four men on trial for smuggling the compound Laetrile into the United States insist the government should produce documents showing it prohibits importation of the alleged cancer cure

The four leaders in the Laetrile movement in California are representing themselves in the case and U. S. District Court Judge William Enright was forced Thursday to overrule motions by the men because of legal technicalities with which the defendants seemed unfamiliar.

Government witnesses appearing in the third day of a trial that may last two months hammered at one theme: by listing Laetrile as a nonsignificant cancer treatment and prohibiting interstate shipment, the Food and Drug Administration has made Laetrile illegal for importation.

The four men now on trial are among 16 American and foreign nationals indicted in what the government says was a profitable Laetrile-smuggling operation that spanned several years.

Other defendants, who will be tried later, also include three Mexican corporations

Now on trial are Dr. John A Richardson, 53, an Albany, Calif., physician banned from practice for administering Laetrile; his associate, Ralph Bowman, 48, of El Cerrito; Robert W. Bradford, 45, of Menlo Park, president of the Committee for Freedom of Choice in Cancer Therapy and Frank Salaman, 41, vice president of the committee and Bradford's partner in a distributing firm.

Herbert Hoffman, the government's prosecutor, Thursday called Louis Richenberger of the Drug Enforcement Administration, who is a former customs agent, and Inspector Gary Vermilyea of the Customs Service to outline Laetrile seizures at the border between San Diego and Tijuana, Mexico.

The United States pays about one-third of the operating expenses of the United Nations. The second largest contributor is the Soviet Union, which pays 14 per cent

Patrick Henry Gets Life Without Liberty

TROYES, France (AP) – A jury Thursday convicted 24 year-old French salesman Patrick Henry of the kidnap-slaying of a 7-year-old boy but in a surprise move said he should be imprisoned for life, not executed by guillotine.

His attorney had called the death penalty a "bloody ritual from another age" that neither deters crime nor eases the suffering of the victim's family

Outside the courtroom a crowd jeered the verdict and chanted, "justice is corrupt"

Henry, who testified he kidnaped Philippe Bertrand because he wanted to pay off debts, was arrested Feb. 17 in a hotel room where the boy's body was found wrapped in a blanket under the bed.

CONVICTION UPHELD

Officer's Laughter Valid

DENVER (AP) – The Colorado Court of Appeals upheld on Thursday the conviction of Filbert G. Maestas, who claimed his constitutional rights were violated when police laughed at him for stealing from a meat processing plant the rectums of 1,200 butchered animals

Maestas and a companion had been arrested outside a meat warehouse by two officers who found several boxes of meat in their car

The officers summoned the warehouse manager and he confirmed the rectums, known in the trade as rennets, had been processed by his firm

Maestas and his companion were being driven to jail when one of the arresting officer began laughing. He asked the policeman what was so amusing and the officer told him that the beef rennets are inedible rectal tissue usable only in curing cheese

In plainer language the officer told Maestas what he had stolen

Maestas replied, 'If I go to jail for stealing 1,200 (rennets) I'm really going to be mad"

That statement was used against him in his trial Maestas appealed that the remark was obtained illegally, and he was thrown off guard because the officer was laughing.

The court disregarded that argument, saying the officer had reason to laugh

Well-Stocked Ships Stuck In Clogged Saudi Harbors

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) – Hundreds of ships loaded with vehicles, food, cement and other goods clog Saudi Arabia's two main ports as this kingdom tries to buy its way into the modern age.

American helicopters and landing craft, German barges and thousands of Arab stevedores working 10 hours a day have barely eased the logjam caused by imports purchased with oil billions. One firm is looking into the possibility of using balloons as giant flying cranes.

About 160 ships carrying 20,000 vehicles and half a million tons of other goods are waiting to unload outside this Red Sea commercial capital. Dammam, Saudi Arabia's other main sea outlet, on the Persian Gulf, is similarly choked.

Waiting time to unload is now about two months in Jidda and 40 days in Dammam. It was running about four months at both ports a few months ago.

The bottleneck began when the government, after the quadrupling of oil prices in 1973-74, began a $142 billion, five-year development plan to set up an industrial base against the day when the oil runs out. Saudi Arabia is the leading oil exporting nation. A flood of imports ensued, everything from grapefruit juice to power stations, to be blocked by woefully inadequate facilities.

The ports are too small, the road networks insufficient, and procedures too slow, shipping sources said. The glut sometimes holds back the very equipment needed to reduce it.

The government has signed contracts worth $2.1 billion for expansion of its harbors and construction of new ones. But this will take more than a year.

Nigeria, another oil country enjoying sudden riches, also has suffered major shipping jams. In October 1975 officials in Lagos said 381 ships were waiting to be unloaded there – about 250 of them carrying 2½ million tons of cement.

Freight rates usually have a surcharge of up to 85 per cent of the normal cost as a penalty for delays in unloading. No official figures are available on what this is costing, but knowledgeable sources say it runs into the millions of dollars.

Some shippers have been capitalizing on this, using rusty old tubs that earn more money just sitting off Jidda than chugging from port to port. Fayez Badr, director of the harbor administration, recently banned ships from coming here if they are more than 15 years old, unless they are specially certified as seaworthy and are equipped with modern offloading facilities.

Many firms are being advised to ship to the Dutch port of Rotterdam, with the goods then put on trucks to Saudi Arabia and Gulf ports, a two-week trip. European truck drivers have made a fortune, says one source, buying new trucks, hauling the goods here and then selling the badly needed vehicles.

Authorities have resorted to imaginative solutions to handle the emergency. Hence the helicopter operation.

An American firm, Carson Helicopter Co. of Perkasie, Pa., has brought in nine Sikorsky choppers solely to unload cement and speed up housing and other construction project.

Flown by Vietnam veterans, the choppers hover low over a freighter, hook a sling onto a two-ton load of cement, and deposit it near trucks to be transported inland.

The helicopters never stop during daylight hours. They refuel with their engines running, in two minutes.

They are now unloading 3,000 tons of cement daily, and pilots say none is lost. Cement that leaks out of split bags is sucked up by two huge mobile vacuum cleaners and repacked.

In the seven months since the helicopter operation began, the price of cement in Jidda has been halved to $5.7 for a 110-pound bag.

The landing craft, surplus U.S. Navy equipment, operate at a beachhead, disgorging material from their ramps and then darting out to the ships again. The motorized barges have contracted to offload two million tons of goods per year.

There are only 14 berths in the Jidda harbor. Until it is dredged and enlarged to match Saudi Arabia's new status in the world, the logjam will continue, shipping experts said.

'Limited' Busing Plan Approved

LOS ANGELES (AP) – The Los Angeles school board has approved a limited integration plan which calls for the busing of some students.

However, the board, which is under court order to desegregate city schools, Monday turned down a proposal by a citizens committee to stipulate that "there shall be no schools of one race" in the district. That proposal would have required busing about 10 per cent of the district's 600,000 students.

Instead, the board gave 4-3 approval to a motion to require that "by 1979-80, every student in the district will be participating in a significant integrated educational and instructional program."

Board member Diane Watson claimed such language left the door open to permitting some schools to retain nearly all-minority enrollments and would make the district guilty of condoning segregation.

Voting after an oftimes noisy six-hour public hearing, the board:

– – Approved by 5-2 the mandatory busing of fourth through sixth-graders to specialized, integrated learning centers for a nine-week period each year. During the rest of the year, they would remain in their neighborhood schools.

– – Approved 4-3 the mandatory busing of seventh through ninth-graders for nine-week periods beginning next year, and of high school students the year after.

– – Voted 5-2 to exempt all kindergarten through third-grade students from mandatory busing, although voluntary busing would be encouraged.

The board's actions set policy and the matter will now be turned over to district planners to develop the specific details to meet the board action and court orders. The final plan must be approved by the Superior Court under guidelines from the state Supreme Court.

The plans approved – basically followed the recommendations of the board-appointed citizens committee although in a milder form – must be approved again by the board after the planners finish their final draft.

Board President Julian Nava said he voted for the limited integration plan, fearing that more extensive busing would "produce another Inglewood, if not a Compton."

Inglewood and Compton school districts are now both largely black.

The board's plan is said to be modeled in part after an integration plan being used in Dallas schools, under which busing is mandatory but bus trips cannot exceed 20 minutes.

FROSTY THE FIRE TRUCK — Jack Frost nipped at the hoses of a Louisville, Ky. fire truck early this week as more than 100 firemen battled a three-alarm blaze at Brinly-Hardy farm equipment plant and Abe Silas Furniture Co. in sub-zero temperatures. Some 14 fire fighters had to be treated for smoke inhalation and frostbite, and the truck was left frozen at the scene.

150-FIRE SPREE

14 Youths Held On Arson Counts

SACRAMENTO (AP) – Fourteen juveniles who called themselves "The Group" were arrested for investigation of arson in connection with over 150 Riverside County fires, state officials said Thursday.

The California Department of Forestry said the arrests during the last week concluded an 18-month investigation and focused on fires set in the Rubidoux-Sunnyslope area in the last two years.

Riverside County fire officials said the cost of the fires could be over half a million dollars and investigation costs alone would total at least $30,000.

"In talking to them, none of them ever came up with a good reason about why they did it other than they were out cruising and decided to set a fire," said Riverside County fire prevention officer Ray Hebrard.

Hebrard said the youths were all high school males 16 and 17 with the exception of one 15-year-old. He added they were all white with the exception of one Mexican-American.

"They all lived in the same geographical area. They ran around together. They were somewhere in the middle income. They were not poor kids," said Hebrard.

The 14 youths, who were returned to their parents' custody after their arrests, will be the subject of a petition filed in Riverside juvenile court next week, Hebrard said.

Juvenile authorities will decide whether the 14 should be tried as adults. If they are, they will face felony charges of two to 20 years in state prison for structural fires and one to 10 years for wildland fires, Hebrard said.

Investigators said "The Group" set fires that included 300 acres of watershed, haystacks, palm trees, vacant houses.

Son's Kidney Successfully Given To Dad

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) – In an unusual operation, surgeons successfully transplanted a kidney from son to father Thursday at Louisville's Jewish Hospital.

"As far as we know, this is the first transplant of a perfectly matched kidney from son to father," said a spokesman for the hospital, referring to the organ's genetic composition.

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said the father, Dr. David C. Asher, 50, of Pineville, Ky., was routinely listed in serious condition because he was recovering in the hospital's intensive care unit following the two-hour operation.

Asher's 27-year-old son, David, was listed in good condition, the spokesman said.

The best kidney donors usually are brother and sister since they share their parents' genetic mix. If the recipient's genetic composition is different from the donor's, his body tends to reject the transplanted organ.

What made the operation possible and increased its chances of success, said Dr. Denis G. Martin, was the high rate of intermarriage among the pioneer families which settled in eastern Kentucky.

"In times when transportation was limited, there was a lot of intermarriage," Martin said. "Dr. Asher's former wife (the mother of David) is obviously distantly related to him.

"Without the intermarriage, it would be excessively rare for a son and a father to have identical genes," he added.

Health Agency Reveals Plan For Enforcing Asbestos Law

SACRAMENTO (AP) – The Department of Health announced plans Thursday to begin enforcing a law limiting use of cancer-causing asbestos in buildings – 18 months after the measure took effect.

The department has been under fire since it was discovered that no state agency was enforcing the law, which took effect July 1, 1975.

Under the law, any substance containing more than one-half of one per cent asbestos cannot be sprayed on a building during construction, alteration or repair.

Attention was drawn to the law after it was discovered that several schools and many homes in California have high concentrations of asbestos in their ceiling material.

Scientists say that breathing asbestos fibers can cause lung cancer.

Charles Coogan, supervising architect in the Department of Health, said that information would be sent in the next few days to local governments advising them of the laws and their enforcement authority.

He also said that the department is asking the state fire marshal, the departments of General Services, Industrial Relations and Housing and Community Development to aid enforcement efforts.

Bartlett's Cancer Removed

NEW YORK (AP) – Sen. Dewey Bartlett, R-Okla., underwent successful surgery on a cancerous right lung Thursday, a spokesman for Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center said.

The hospital said Dr. Edward J. Beattie removed a malignant tumor two inches in diameter along with the right upper lobe of the 57-year-old senator's lung.

The cancer had spread to some lymph nodes in Bartlett's chest, the hospital said, adding that they were also removed in the 5½-hour operation.

Warning Given To Watch Russ Who Invites Worker To Lunch

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) – The FBI is warning industrial workers to beware of Russians who invite them to lunch.

Louis Giovanetti, chief FBI agent in New Jersey issued the warning Thursday after former Russian seaman Ivan Rogalsky's indictment on charges of passing U.S. space secrets to a Soviet diplomat.

Soviet spies, he said, have traded their grim countenances and black suits for charm and "the latest in American clothes."

"A high percentage of Soviets being sent to the United States today are younger men in their late 20s, 30s and early 40s," Giovanetti said. "They represent the new generation in the Soviet Union – more sociable and spontaneous than the so-called Stalinist generation. In past years Soviet intelligence officers lacked this social polish and charm, but this is no longer the case.

They are now well dressed, highly poised, excellent mixers. They speak excellent English (including American slang), wear the latest in American clothes and seem to thoroughly enjoy 'capitalist luxuries,'" he said.

Rogalsky, 34, arrested Jan. 7, doesn't entirely fit Giovanetti's description. His neighbors in Jackson Township said he tried hard to make friends, but usually didn't succeed. Some said they suspected him immediately of being a spy.

"The Soviets are interested in making personal and friendly contacts with American businessmen, scientists, industrial executives and employes – or any other person who may be exploited for their purposes," Giovanetti said.

"If an American is contacted by a Soviet and perhaps invited to lunch or a social function, he should start asking himself, 'Why is this Soviet interested in me?' For the Russians, friendship always has a purpose."

LIZ LIKES TO STAY HOME AND FEED THE CHICKENS

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) – Elizabeth Taylor said Thursday she doesn't like to go out much anymore, preferring instead "to stay home and feed the chickens and watch the cows."

The movie actress recently married former Secretary of the Navy John Warner – her sixth husband – who owns a large farm in Loudoun County, Va.

Miss Taylor, speaking at a drama seminar at the University of Virginia, said she isn't as active as she used to be, adding she's been thinking about directing films.

"I think it's time for me to have a change," she said. "A lot of films I've made I've never gone to see. You just sort of know when they're going to be bad."

She said her best movie was "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" because "at 32 I had to play a woman in her late 40s or early 50s."

Miss Taylor said she is "an instinctive actress" and when in front of the camera her "stomach tightens and it's an exciting feeling."

Lack Of Crime Closes Watts Police Station

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Police have abandoned the aging brick substation on 103rd Street in Watts – a commercial strip known as "Charcoal Alley" in the 1965 riots – citing a lack of crime.

For most of its 50 years, only five to six crime reports were taken daily at the station, the height of the action there coming during the August riots of mere 12 years ago, when police used it as a command post. Buildings were burned and looted nearby, 34 persons died, 1,000 were injured and property damage was estimated at $40 million from the six days of turmoil.

But in recent years, officers said, the number of crime reports handled at the station dropped to as few as one a day.

So the six men in blue moved out, giving up office space to patrol the 2.5-square-mile area in squad cars.

The old building still houses municipal offices which serve Watts, annexed to the city in 1926. But those who want to report a crime must call headquarters for the 77th St. Division.

"The unique thing about the substation was that the community didn't look upon it merely as a police station," said police Capt. Ed Henry, 56, now a harbor department port warden. He worked at the station from 1947 to 1954. "I hate to see it closed down. I believe the community will miss it."

He explained that local residents took their everyday problems there. It was a place to discuss financial matters, children who wouldn't attend school, and other family affairs.

The final noteworthy incident in the site's 50-year history as a police station came last month when a fleeing man was shot by his wife in the building's parking lot.

Jimmy's March Hardly Surprise To His Agents

By JOSEPH VOLZ
New York News

WASHINGTON – President Carter's abrupt decision to walk the length of the Inaugural Parade route before a crowd of 350,000 disturbed the Secret Service but agents knew about it in advance it was learned.

Although Carter's move did not catch the Service by surprise, one source noted that the service would never recommend that the chief executive become a target by walking down the middle of the street with his family.

Carter said the Secret Service was informed three weeks ago that he planned to walk the entire way. The President said the Service did not object provided "we kept it quiet."

"The President knows how we feel," the official said. "But he's the commander in chief."

He said that the Service was given "enough advance warning" of Carter's decision but would not be specific. Originally, Carter had planned to walk only the two blocks on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House before spectators who paid $25 apiece for bleacher seats.

Local police whose main duty was crowd control were taken by surprise at the walk. A high U.S. Park Police official was "horrified" when Carter started marching. But he also "admired" Carter's desire to be accessible to the people.

A Metropolitan Police spokesman said that the 4300-member Force was operating under the assumption that Carter would walk only the last two blocks. The police had men on rooftops to guard against snipers but there were no incidents.

In fact, police said the festive atmosphere of the city was in marked contrast to the Nixon Inaugural four years ago when peace demonstrators geared up early. Nevertheless, city workers opened up every manhole on the parade route to make sure there were no bombs and then sprayed over the cover so that any last minute opening would be detected.

The walk was a break with a long tradition which began when Thomas Jefferson rode horseback from his second inauguration in 1804 and began the practice of inaugural parades.

For the first few blocks, President and Mrs. Carter walked alone but as the procession slowed to round an intersection onto Pennsylvania Avenue, sons Jack, Chip and Jeff and Chip's wife, Caron, jumped out of their cars and joined the march.

The Carters walked for about 40 minutes along the mile-and a-half route, briskly at first but slowing to a leisurely stroll as they neared the reviewing stand in front of the White House.

Convict Babysits, Says Amy 'Fine'

WASHINGTON (AP) – Mary Fitzpatrick, a convicted murderess on special leave from a Georgia prison, renewed her acquaintance Thursday with the daughter of the nation's new President and then found herself babysitting during the inaugural parties.

"Amy's fine. We're having a great time," said the 32-year-old woman who as a prison trusty was a nurse to Jimmy Carter's daughter for four years while Carter was governor of Georgia.

"We've been outside playing and we've had dinner and now we're watching television," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said. "The Carters asked me to stay with Amy while they go to the parties, but I don't know if I'll be staying overnight. I do think I'll be with Amy tomorrow, though."

Amy Carter, asked if she was happy to see Mrs. Fitzpatrick, replied shyly: "Yes. We're having a good time."

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was granted a 3½-day out-of-state leave by the Georgia Board of Pardons and Paroles to attend Carter's inauguration through the efforts of Mrs. Tate and Edith Primm, who work as volunteers at the Women's Work Release Center in Atlanta.

The two women and five other members of the Junior League donated the money for her trip.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was convicted seven years ago in Stewart County in southwest Georgia for the April 11, 1970, slaying of a man identified as John Bynum. Officials at the Women's Work Release Center have refused to provide further details of her case.

"I've put that behind me and started a new life and I have nothing to say about that," Mrs. Fitzpatrick said Thursday.

Described as a model prisoner by the director of the work release center, she is scheduled for parole consideration in April.

Mondale Fretted; Greeted Wallace

WASHINGTON (AP) – Walter Frederick Mondale, sworn in Thursday as the 42nd vice president, said that while taking his oath he was thinking about the "sobering experience" of becoming vice president.

And when a reporter suggested he was facing a new life, Mondale said, "I'm optimistic and hopeful."

Chatting with reporters toward the end of the day, Mondale said he had thought he would have trouble repeating the simple oath of his new office.

"I was sure I was going to blow it," he said.

Mondale was sworn in at 11:58 a.m., two minutes before the inaugural oath was administered to Jimmy Carter, who lifted Mondale from the relative obscurity of a junior senator when he asked him to run for vice president six months ago.

During the inaugural parade, Mondale left his car once to shake hands with members of the Oil City, Pa., high school band, who shouted, "M-O-N-D-A-L-E, Yea Mondale."

He heard that cheer once before, during a campaign stop in the northeastern Pennsylvania city in October, when the same group greeted him.

Later, walking the final block in the parade, he spied Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace sitting in his wheelchair along the parade route and said to the governor: "I hope you-all have a wonderful day."

"You-all look great," Wallace said. "Thank you-all for saying hello."

'So Much For Solar Energy'

WASHINGTON (AP) – The new administration's interest in solar heating notwithstanding, its first demonstration left Vice President Walter Mondale less than convinced.

Mondale sat for two hours next to President Carter in the inaugural parade reviewing stand, which was equipped with a solar heater. He emerged rubbing his hands briskly against the cold and remarked: "So much for solar energy."

First Of Seven Such Events In D.C. Thursday Night

Susan Enrolls

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) – Not long after her father relinquished the presidency Thursday, Susan Ford enrolled as a sophomore in liberal arts at the University of Kansas.

She said she held off just long enough to watch him on television, then made the enrollment lines, trailed by two Secret Service agents and a crush of TV cameras and newsmen.

Miss Ford has taken an apartment in Topeka, where she has a part-time job with the Topeka Capitol-Journal, on which she was a summer intern in 1975. She will commute the 30 miles to campus.

She said she is carrying 12 hours, including two journalism courses. A transfer from Mt. Vernon College in suburban Washington, she plans to major in photojournalism, but does not have enough credits to be admitted to journalism school this year.

Bag Transfer Marked Start

By ALDO BECKMAN
Chicago Tribune

WASHINGTON – Jimmy Carter had been President for less than five seconds. The applause was just beginning to swell, and few noticed the two young military aides who stood quietly at the rear or the inauguration platform.

But the real transfer of power took place as the Marine aide, without fanfare, handed the black bag he had been carrying all day to the Naval aide.

This simple exchange of the bag, sometimes called the "football," carried more significance for Carter than the oath of office or the handshakes or the applause.

At that instant, he assumed responsibility for reacting to any international crisis that might involve possible retaliation against an aggressor.

The secrets are well-kept, but the black bag is known to include the super-secret codes which Carter can invoke to trigger, in minutes, an all-out military attack – including nuclear force.

The Marine aide, who was assigned to President Ford, stayed with his old boss until he got onto the helicopter for the flight to Andrews Air Force Base. Then he caught a ride back to the White House, where he will remain several months, awaiting a new assignment.

'Miss Lillian' Is Chatty; Amy Yawns

WASHINGTON (AP) – Nine-year-old Amy Carter, the new president's daughter, sat quietly through his inauguration Thursday while his mother, 78-year-old "Miss Lillian" chatted and smiled with schoolgirl glee.

The solemn ceremony, climax of years of hope and effort, brought a mixture of emotions to the faces of Carter's close family.

"Miss Lillian" chatted animatedly with Betty Ford and Happy Rockefeller, the wives of the departing president and vice president before the ceremony.

She and Carter's wife, Rosalynn, and other family members were already at their places in the inaugural stand when Carter was formally escorted in.

Carter blew a fingertips-kiss to his wife, standing a few feet to his right, then reached over and they shook hands.

Mrs. Carter, wearing a green coat and gloves, stood with head bowed during the invocation, then kept a steady, serious gaze on her husband as he took the oath of office as President of the United States.

Apparently moved, she could muster only a weak smile as the brief swearing-in, administered by U.S. Chief Justice Warren L. Burger, ended.

Clad in a blue coat and gloves and wearing glasses, her long hair hanging loose down her back, Amy sat quietly with her mother through Carter's inaugural speech, occasionally looking down at the floor.

"Miss Lillian," her legs covered by a blanket tucked in by Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Rockefeller, leaned over and whispered to her neighbors when Carter mentioned that he had just taken the oath on a Bible given to him as a boy by his mother.

As the speech ended, Carter's family rose and joined in the applause, and Amy walked over to hug her father, then shook hands with former vice president Nelson Rockefeller.

Again Mrs. Carter and Amy stood with heads bowed during the closing prayer, this time standing close to Carter who kept one hand around Mrs. Carter's waist and the other on Amy's shoulder.

As the prayer continued, Amy glanced around and yawned a few times.

Then it was over. Carter was President. The "First Family" spent a few minutes talking and shaking hands with well-wishers on the platform and left together for a luncheon in a room in the east front of the Capitol.

Despite the current round of Washington jokes about a peanut diet and the right wine to serve with grits, Carter's inaugural lunch was light and tasteful:

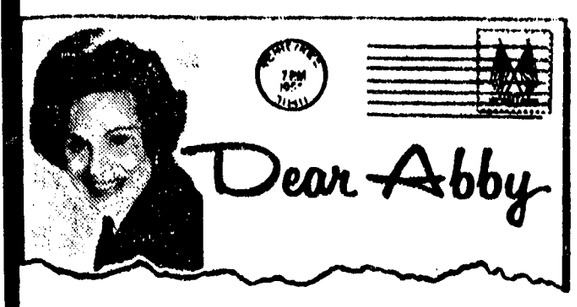

"Madison Hospitable Bouillon"; avocado stuffed with shrimp and topped with remoulade sauce; grapefuit sections with devilled eggs; bread and butter; fresh vegetables with a dip; eclairs; and a choice of coffee, tea, milk or buttermilk.

During the outdoor inaugural ceremony, those on the Capitol steps had one transcending practical interest in common: a spirited defense against the biting cold.

Many ambassadors, as well as Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., sported fur hats, but two Arab diplomats took full advantage of native dress, wearing heavy woolen floor-length robes and headgear that covered their foreheads and swept back down their shoulders.

Sis Retaliates With A Low Blow

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: The clan gathered at my sister-in-law's house for a holiday dinner. Everyone was nice and friendly until Sis turned to me and in a very loud voice said, "Say, what color would your hair really be if you didn't dye it? Gray?"

Taken competely by surprise, I said the first thing that came to mind: "I'll tell you what color my hair really is if you tell me how much you really weigh." (Sis is very fat. She claims she has a thyroid condition, but she eats constantly.)

Well, things got pretty hot around there, and now the whole family—including my husband—is furious with me for insulting the hostess.

I don't see why her privacy is any more sacred than mine, but if you think I should apologize, I will.

NOT IRISH FOR NOTHING

DEAR IRISH: Even though she struck the first blow, you were childish and unkind to have struck a lower one. If it will restore peace in the family, apologize.

DEAR ABBY: I have always believed in God, and in His goodness, but I am now having doubts.

There are 365 days in every year, yet on my wedding anniversary, the most joyous day of the year for me, God chose to take my beloved mother from this earth. So now, instead of celebrating my anniversary, it has become a day of sadness and mourning.

Then I had a son. On his 10th birthday, God chose to take my beloved father from me. Again, a happy day was turned into a sad one.

Have you any words of comfort for me, Abby? I feel as though the Lord has punished me, but for what, I do not know.

Another thing. People describe themselves as "God-fearing Christians." I have read the Scriptures and can find nothing in them that says we should FEAR God.

So, when people want to describe themselves as "good Christians," why do they say the are "God-fearing" Christians?

HAVING DOUBTS

DEAR HAVING: Read the Book of Job again and restore your faith in the Lord. According to my dictionary, "God-fearing" means "devout."

The Old Testament tells us (in Ecclesiastes) to "Fear God and keep His commandments."

DEAR ABBY: When letters come to you asking about whether a girl should wear a bra or not, you should take the opportunity to say, "Yes," with a capital "Y," and then explain that girls who have ample bosoms and fail to support them become victims of Cooper's Syndrome.

To further explain: Native African women whose pictures you see in the National Geographic magazine have never known what a brassiere was, and consequently their breasts are all stretched out and hang practically to their waists. They are victims of Cooper's Syndrome...or Cooper's droop.

Please tell girls that as soon as they have something to hold up, they should invest in a brassiere, and wear it faithfully.

When I see young girls with full bosoms going braless, bobbing up and down and thinking they are liberated, I want to cry. It's too late for me, so sign me...

FLIP-FLOP IN GARDEN CITY

DEAR FLIP: I'll pass your works of warning and wisdom on to my readers. Girls, hie thee to a corsetiere!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Justices Rule Some 'Illegal' Wiretaps OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled this week that some evidence gathered from a secret wiretap which is technically illegal can be used in criminal trials.

But the court refused to ease legal obligations which federal prosecutors must meet before employing secret wiretaps to gather evidence.

The law requires prosecutors to name the persons whose conversations they expect to intercept and the court reaffirmed that requirement. But the court ruled that the restriction was not so important as to require exclusion of evidence gained from conversations of persons the prosecutors had not named.

Deciding a case arising out of gambling prosecutions in northern Ohio area, the court reversed a decision by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court that evidence gathered against two suspects could not be used at their trial because the suspects were not named in the government's application for a wiretap.

The high court voted six-to-three that although the government is required to name all known persons whose conversations it intends to intercept, the conversations of persons not named cannot be suppressed as evidence.

The court voted 8-to-1, with only Chief Justice Warren E. Burger dissenting, that the Justice Department was wrong in its contention that only "principal targets" had to be named when federal agents asked courts to approve a wiretap.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. wrote the court's majority opinion. The court's decision on the admissibility of evidence gathered against unnamed suspects drew the dissents of Justices Thurgood Marshall, William J. Brennan Jr. and John Paul Stevens.

The lower court had ruled that evidence gathered against gambling supects Joseph Merlo and Jacob Lauer must be suppressed because their names, although not known at the start of the investigation, were not supplied to a judge when the two were overheard and became suspects.

The circuit court also ruled that evidence obtained against three other gambling suspects, Thomas W. Donovan, Dominic Buzzacco and Vanis Robbins, could not be used because federal agents knew their identities before applying for the wiretap but did not include their names in the application for court approval.

Carter's Planks To Be Used To Finish Walkway

WASHINGTON (AP) — The City of Wildwood, N.J., which started rebuilding its deteriorating seaside boardwalk with planks left over from Richard Nixon's presidential inauguration in 1972, is going to finish the job with lumber left over from President Carter's inauguration.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., announced Wednesday that the community at the southern tip of the New Jersey seacoast has negotiated to buy the lumber used in the platform from which reporters will watch the inauguration on Thursday.

Williams said he assisted the Wildwood commissioners, both in 1972 and this year, in securing the used lumber.

Wilbur Ostrander, a Wildwood commissioner who represented the city in the negotiations, said nine blocks of the boardwalk were redecked with the Nixon boards. The Carter planks will be sufficient to cover three more blocks, he said.

THE TROUBLE SHOOTER

The Trouble Shooter cannot accept phone calls. Please communicate by mail to address below.

TUXEDO PATTERN
Dear Trouble Shooter

My sister is getting married in May. She is making her own wedding gown and wants very much to make her fiance's tuxedo, with tails.

This is where I hope one of your readers can be of assistance. Would one of them have a tuxedo pattern with tails (men's size 40 jacket) and be willing to sell, rent or lend it to my sister?.

S. S.
Huntington Beach

Doesn't do any harm to ask, does it? The phone number, for anyone who can help, is 894-4903.

SHARE-A-RIDE?
Dear Trouble Shooter

My husband recently underwent very serious and complicated eye surgery which solved some of his problem, but he is now visually handicapped to the extent that he will not be able to drive for some time. This is causing some problems.

I work close to our home in Placentia and have been driving him to his place of employment in Riverside before I go to work. I am able to keep this up for a temporary period, but would like to get in touch with someone who leaves for Riverside between 6 and 6:30 a.m. Picking him up after I'm through work isn't too much of a hardship. It's just that 60-mile round trip in the morning!

If we can find a car pool for that time of the morning, our 12-year-old daughter won't have to get herself ready for school and I can be there to see her before I have to leave, as well as being more alert when I arrive for work.

We'll be happy to share expenses with the driver.

We have filed an application with Commuter Computer, contacted the Lions Club and have posted notices on market bulletin boards in our area. No luck. You're the best contact we can think of. Can you help?

N.L.
Placentia

Best the Ol' Trouble Shooter can do is ask anyone who can help to give you a jingle after 4 p.m. at 528-6196.

NEW VENTURE
Dear Trouble Shooter

I am a volunteer for the American Cancer Society which is opening its very first thrift shop March 1 in San Clemente.

If your kind readers will merely clean out a drawer or a closet, give us the odd pieces of crystal and china they no longer use, the clothes they are tired of looking at, the lamp they wish they hadn't bought and any other white elephants that are lying around, they would certainly help our shop get off to a good start.

The funds raised from this shop will be used to finance research, public and professional education and assistance to cancer victims and their families.

We'll issue a receipt for all donations which, of course, are tax deductible. Your readers can call our unit office (714)752-8600 for pickups or they can call me at 998-3737.

C. LaV.

Happy to give your new OCS Thrift Shop a "plug," and hope folks all over Orange County can come up with things you can sell.

YOUR REUNION?
Dear Trouble Shooter

We are planning an all-years reunion of the Cougars of Capistrano Union High School April 23 at the Mission Viejo Country Club. We'd like to hear from all alumni from the years 1922 to 1955.

Please ask them to write: Eloise Houston Dunn, P.O. Box 263, San Juan Capistrano 92675.

E. D.
San Juan Capistrano

Always happy to help round folks up for their class reunions, Ma'am. Hope you have a good time at yours. And, while we're on the topic, let's mention some others.

Hoover High School (Glendale) Class of 1952 is trying to round up its members for a 25-year reunion. For further details, get in touch with Janice Fortner Black at 644-7438 evenings only.

Kearney State College (Kearney, Nebr.) will hold its second Southern California Alumni reunion Jan. 29 with a 2 p.m. buffet luncheon at the Jolly Roger in Anaheim.

Folks who need more information should contact Dorothy Holcomb Lowe at (213) 645-5925.

CAN YOU HELP?
Dear Trouble Shooter

The Mental Health Association is in need of weight lifting equipment for use at the Methadone Maintenance Clinic in Santa Ana. The clinic assists in the rehabilitation of drug abusers.

Here is a list of the equipment needed: stationary bicycle, lightweight dumbells, long bench, strap-on leg weights, incline bar for sit-ups, ballet bar and two sets of batacas.

Will you ask if your readers can spare any of the needed items?

A. G.
Santa Ana

You betcha! Let's ask anyone who can help to give you a jingle at 547-7559.

CRISIS 'HOT-LINE'
Dear Trouble Shooter

Our rape crisis group needs volunteers. South Orange County Women Against Rape (SOCWAR) is comprised mainly of non-professionals who care about the problems of rape. The group is sponsored by the Women's Center at UCI.

We have a 24-hour hot line which is staffed by volunteers. Calls are received by an answering service and plugged into the home of the volunteer. In addition to our hot line, we also need volunteers to fill speaking requests, accompany rape victims to hospitals, police stations and court trials, conduct research and maintain liaison with public agencies like police departments, etc.

If any of your readers would like further information, please have them call 831-9110.

G
No City

SCHOOL PROJECT
Dear Trouble Shooter

I am desperate to get information on Cuba from National Geographic magazines of September 1933, January 1947 and March 1961. I'm in the sixth grade at Thomas Paine Elementary School in the Garden Grove School District and I need Cuba pictures for a school report. I have looked everywhere!

B.B.
Westminster

Many of the thrift shops in these parts carry back editions of National Geographic, young podnah, and so do some swap meet exhibitors.

However, chances are that a reader can come up with the specific issues you need, or at least some pictures about Cuba from them. If so, let's suggest they get in touch pronto with "Bob" at 554-4117, all right?

RECORD SURPLUS
Dear Trouble Shooter

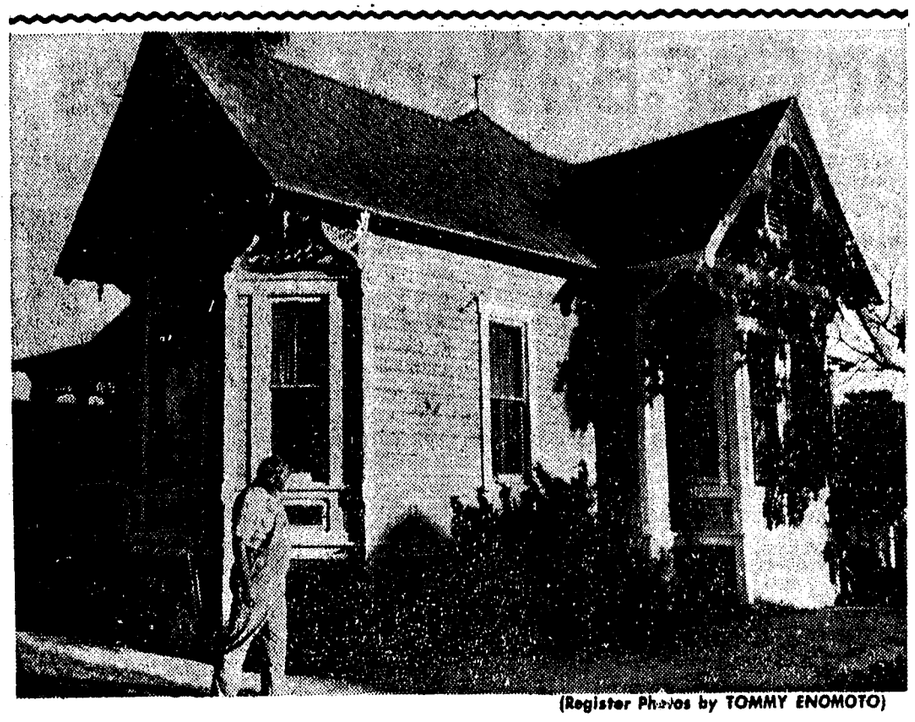

I have a surplus of old 45 and 78 r.p.m. phonograph records that are perfect for juke boxes, although some of them are too scratched for the ordinary record player. (In a juke box, a few scratches don't seem to matter.)

I'm going to be disposing of them at a dime or a quarter each on Saturday and Sunday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., if any of your readers are interested

G.M.
Garden Grove

Sounds like musical bonanza for folks lucky enough to have a juke box, podnah. The Trouble Shooter knows the offer is on the "up and up," since it comes from his record collecting sidekick, George Moore, 12051 Kathy Lane, Garden Grove. If folks need further details, they can give George a jingle at 536-0162.

Got a Problem? Write The Trouble Shooter, P.O. Box 11626, Santa Ana, Calif., 92711. PLEASE DO NOT TELEPHONE YOUR PROBLEM TO US. Due to the volume of mail, not all letters can be answered or acknowledged. Those published will be signed with initials only, but you must include your name, address and telephone number.

VICTORIAN HOUSE DECKED WITH GINGERBREAD EMITS A NOSTALGIC CHARM
Bill Rardon Surveys His 'Dream House' On Broadway In Anaheim

Man Finds His Dream In A Victorian House

By CHERYL PRUETT
Register Staff Writer

ANAHEIM – For a man who looks like he just stepped out of "The Waltons," Bill J. Rardon is in the right business and he bought the right house, he said.

Rardon sports a gray mustache and sideburns, blue overalls and friendly grin. He bought an 1892 vintage home complete with gingerbreading and porch and swing.

And he's restoring it – just as he has been doing professionally for others the past 10 years in his restoring business.

A builder, Rardon said he had been looking for a house like the one at 312 E. Broadway for at least 10 years.

"I wanted a Victorian house that hadn't been worn out," said Rardon. The Broadway house fit the bill.

"It's only had three owners in its 85 years," he said. "There's not one piece of gingerbread missing; it's just as solid as when it was built. Every piece of wood in the house is clear redwood – frame, siding, windows, doors."

He extols the virtues of old houses such as his.

"It isn't built to meet present-day codes, but it has withstood quakes, floods, feuds and fire," he said.

The two-bedroom, one-bath house has a walk-in pantry off the kitchen in which Rardon installed a Franklin stove. Other charms include bay windows, stained glass fireplace with a mirror above it, 12-foot-high ceilings, built-in buffet cabinet and a bathtub with four iron feet.

Rardon is furnishing it with Victorian furniture and is reworking the fixtures.

"There's lots of charm in these old houses," he said. "They take us back from the confusion of today...back to times we've heard talked about."

Across the street from Rardon's old fashioned home, which is on the south side of Broadway, is one of the boundary lines for a proposed redevelopment by the city. At first plans included a park and tourist center in the area bounded by Broadway Harbor Boulevard, Cypress and East streets.

But, according to a spokesman for the city, the possibility of redevelopment in the section depends on interested developers coming to the city. Even then, said the spokesman, redevelopment may mean rehabilitation and many old homes will be preserved.

Rardon's home is exempt from such a project. His gingerbread "dream house" will be untouched.

And Rardon is content to continue to "restore and create the charms of yesteryear."

SJC Building Tax Passed

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO — A split city council facing a packed chamber full of protesters passed a controversial ordinance setting tax fees on all new homes and commercial developments to finance agricultural preservation.

In a 3-2 vote, the council adopted the new measure setting a tax of $500 on all new homes and $1,000 per acre on all commercial and industrial developments.

The total fees, estimated at $250,000 per year, will go into a special fund and will be used in a still undetermined program to "preserve" agriculture.

More than a dozen speakers voiced objections to the proposal, and many demanded the measure be put on the ballot to be voted on "by the people."

Many speakers contended that the same idea was rejected by voters last March when a so-called agricultural preservation program was defeated by the voters 2-1 at the polls.

The new measure has a stormy history. A crowd of opponents also appeared when the ordinance was introduced for first reading two weeks ago. The measure passed its final reading Wednesday night.

Exactly how the funds will be used has not been disclosed. Mayor Doug Nash, the main supporter of the plan, occasionally has mentioned such concepts as "subsidy" or tax relief, and references have been made in past discussions to the possible purchase of certain lands.

A special committee, headed by Nash, has been meeting in recent months to develop a specific plan for using the special tax funds to save the farmlands. The new ordinance does not spell out how the monies will be used.

WON'T SEEK NEW FUNDS

OC Youth Officer Raps No-Lock Law

SANTA ANA – Orange County's probation officer won't seek any new funds to house wayward youths in "no lock" facilities until a state law is changed – and until she knows just how it is changed.

County probation officer Margaret Grier said the 20-day-old law that unlocks doors on some juvenile detention facilities is creating such "chaos" that the law should be rewritten. She hinted she might propose some changes herself.

By unlocking the doors at one county facility to comply with the law, she told county supervisors Thursday almost half of the youngsters sent there since Jan. 1 have run away.

Under the new law, she said, parents are relieved of responsibility for the children. The county isn't given enough authority to force them to stay in a facility and many of the youths are taking advantage of the situation by simply leaving.

"Give them (children) total control and you're going to have chaos," Miss Grier warned. "Not a better society but a worse one."

She assured county supervisors during their hearings on her $20.5 million-a-year department she wouldn't ask for more money for more facilities until she knows how the law is amended.

County Administrative Officer Robert Thomassaid the cost of implementing the new law this year is "running close" to the $540,000 he had predicted.

Called the Dixon Act, the law was an attempt to reform children picked up on charges that wouldn't be crimes if they were adults. The so-called "status offenders" are chronic truants, incorrigibles at home, runaways and curfew violators.

Instead of housing them in juvenile hall with youths held on adult-type crimes, the law says they are to be held for no more than 21 days in "no lock" facilities for counseling instead of punishment.

Miss Grier said she hasn't had to worry about the length of stay. Because of the runaway problem, the average stay has only been three-and-a-half days. "Some don't even stay long enough to be interviewed," she said.

Since David McMillan School at 1207 E. Fruit St. Santa Ana, was set up Jan. 1 to handle 60 youths to comply with the law almost 50 per cent of the youths taken there have run away.

"It's a comfortable place where they can get a change of clothes, a meal, a place to sleep," Miss Grier said.

Anita Lees, McMillan superintendent, told supervisors the situation is creating "a strain on morale. The staff feels a sense of responsibility for the children. They can't stand to see children pick up and leave and not know where they're going."

Miss Grier said state law gives her more authority in handling dependent children, those who are abused or constitute a danger to themselves or society but who have committed no crime.

Modoc County has refused to enforce the law, she said, and some parents have expressed displeasure with it.

Parents of a runaway from Rhode Island had to be told their picked-up child had run away from McMillan School before he could be sent home. Miss Grier said. "Their reaction is, 'why aren't you doing something to protect my child?.'"

Orange County Juvenile Court Judge Raymond Vincent has challenged the law on his own by decreeing that a youth who runs away from McMillan School must return there if caught or face going to juvenile hall, a lockup facility, on worse charges.

Assembly OKs Postponing Workmen's Liability Law

By JOHN O'DELL
Register Staff Writer

A bill to postpone a new law extending workmen's compensation coverage to casual household employes, such as babysitters, has been sent to the state Senate after passing the Assembly 67-6 Thursday.

The measure, AB 133 by Assemblyman Richard Robinson, D-Santa Ana, is opposed by the AFL-CIO and lobbyists for the insurance industry.

If approved by the Senate and signed by Gov. Edmund Brown, Jr., it would delay for one year a law that places worker's compensation liability on every household in the state.

The new worker's compensation extension, which took effect Jan. 1, says homeowners and renters in the state are liable for any work-connected injury or illness to persons hired to work around the house or yard — including babysitters, maids and gardeners.

One problem with the law, said Robinson, is that a state legislative counsel ruled last week that it doesn't apply to employes of renters.

Robinson said that if the counsel's ruling is upheld by the courts, the whole law probably would be unconstitutional "on grounds it doesn't offer equal protection" to the workers.

Additionally, the law granted automatic worker's comp. coverage on Jan. 1 to homeowners who have comprehensive liabilty insurance as part ot their homeowner's policy — but it failed to grant automatic coverage to renters with the same types of policies.

Robinson said that means more than three million households in the state are "probably now uninsured for the new liabilities" for occasional or full-time workers.

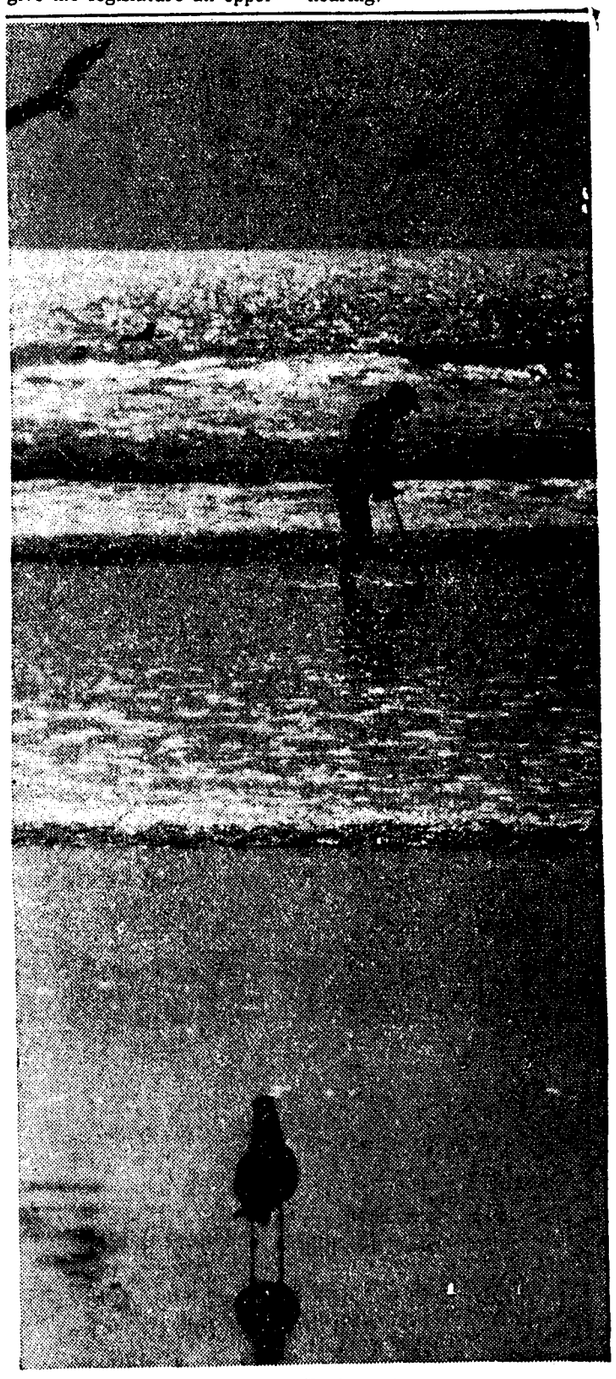

AB 133 is designed to take the law off the books until next year, Robinson said, to give the legislature an opportunity to correct such problems.

The bill is scheduled to be heard by the Senate Industrial Relations Committee, but no date has been set for the hearing.

CORRECTION

ANAHEIM — The city's holdout stance on sale of a piece of property at 721 N. Euclid St. — waiting to get the $91,410 price paid for the parcel in 1969 — as reported in Thurday's editions of The Register erred in one detail.

The article stated that the city had bought the property from Dinkler Management Corp. through condemnation. The sale price was, in fact, negotiated between buying and selling parties and not arrived at through condemnation proceedings. The Register regrets the error.

CLAMMERS – A gull pauses from its poking in the sands along the shore of Huntington Beach to watch a clammer plunging his probe again and again seeking that tell-tale thunk that announces a buried chowder essential. Minus tides brought out many diggers to the sparkling Pacific to seek the beach city's delicacy, which is said to rival those of famed Pismo Beach to the north.

Can't Start? Check Your Car Battery Cables

Read Dear Abby Daily

By RAY HILL

If you climb in your car one morning, turn the ignition switch, and the engine doesn't start – chances are good that your battery cables need cleaning. "It's probably safe to say," a friend of mine who runs a gas station told me recently, "that two out of every three no-starts we get are caused by nothing more than dirty or corroded battery cables."

How do you know if that's your problem? If you turn the key and the engine doesn't turn over, yet the headlights and radio work – dirty battery cables are a good bet.

Cleaning them is relatively easy, but if you want to try to get the car started without cleaning them, you may be able to do it. You can sometimes improve the contact between the cables and battery posts enough so that the car will start by pecking lightly with a hammer, screwdriver, rock, etc. on the cable terminals where they wrap around the battery posts. This is strictly a temporary measure, though. The terminals should be cleaned at the earliest opportunity.

Don't be fooled into thinking the cable connections are okay because they don't look corroded on the outside. What's on the outside doesn't matter. What's important is the contact you can't see – between the cable connections and battery posts.

To clean the cables and posts, first remove the cables from the battery. Cables are attached in three different ways. Some are bolted around the battery posts. Remove this type by loosening the bolts and lifting them off.

Other types are fastened to the battery posts with spring-type terminals. The ends of the cables simply clamp around the posts. To remove them, use pliers to squeeze the cable terminal apart and lift it off the battery post.

Some cables are attached to the battery with bolts. A bolt screws through the middle of the cable terminal into the battery. To remove these cables you just unscrew the bolt and pull the cable out.

When removing and replacing battery cables, remove the ground cable first. The ground cable is the one marked with a minus on or near the battery post. And when replacing cables, replace the ground cable last. This prevents sparks that might fly should your pliers, screwdriver or wrench accidentlally touch other nearby metal parts at the same time it's against the "hot" cable terminal; that's the cable marked with a plus sign on or near the battery post.

When removing the type of cables that wrap around the battery posts, don't pull the cable terminals straight up. First rotate each cable back and forth until it breaks free of the battery post. If you pull straight up while the cable is still stuck to the battery post you may damage the battery by pulling the post loose.

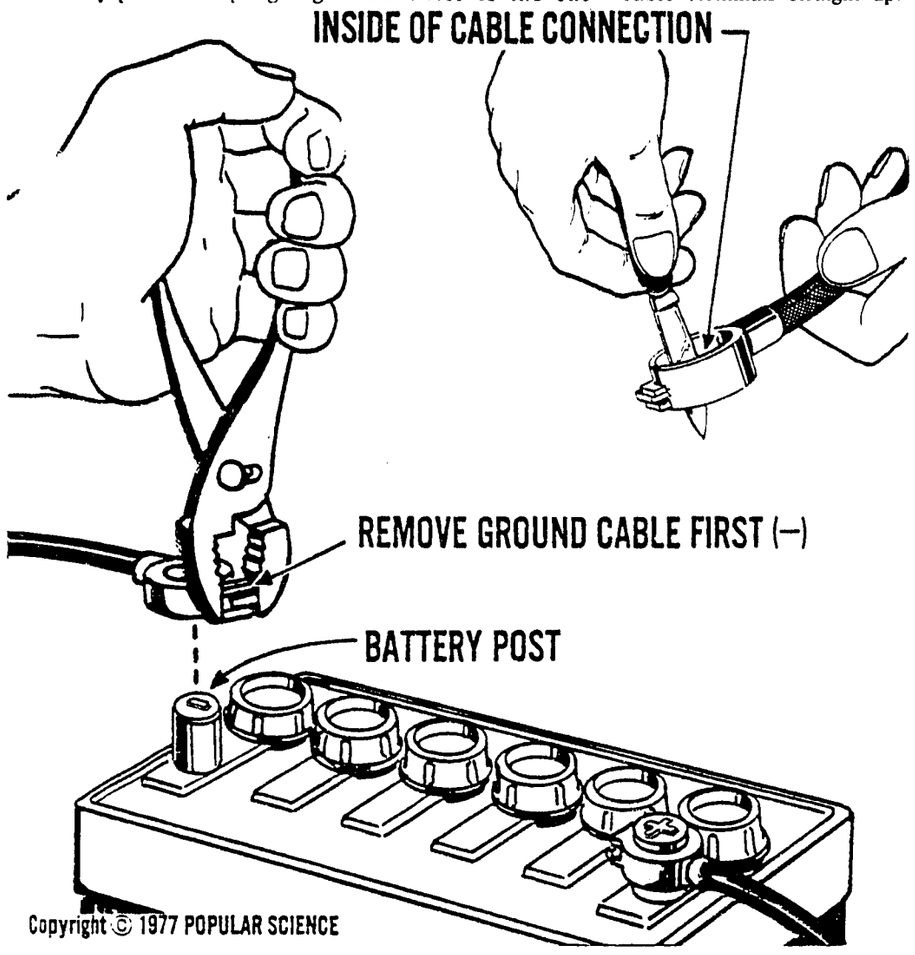

Once the cables are off, you're ready to clean them. Battery cable-and-post cleaners are inexpensive and available in auto parts supply stores. If you don't have one, use a knife. In a pinch even a screwdriver will do.

Scrape the inside of each battery cable terminal (where it encircles the battery post) until it is bright and shiny. Scrape the outside of each battery post until it is bright and shiny. Put the cables back on, and chances are good your car will start.

If you clean your battery cables every five or six months and at each tuneup, you will greatly improve your chances for avoiding the cost and inconvenience you suffer when your car won't start.

Plan To Bomb Wrecked Tanker Ires Fishermen

FALMOUTH, Mass. (AP) – A Coast Guard proposal to bomb the remains of the wrecked tanker Argo Merchant has drawn fire from fishermen and marine biologists who say it would disrupt the spawning cycle of several species of fish.

"Surely technology exists somewhere to solve this problem in a less drastic measure," said Tom Walsh, spokesman for the cape Cod Commercial Fishermen's Association, at a public hearing this week.

The Coast Guard says the sunken bow of the Argo, just below the surface of the water off Nantucket, presents a hazard to the traffic that frequents the nearby fishing grounds.

The Liberian-registered tanker, loaded with 7.6 million gallons of oil, ran aground Dec. 15 and broke up in stormy heavy seas a week later.

It's believed there may be up to 1.3 million gallons of oil trapped in the bow, which would be released if the wreck is bombed. But Capt. Walter Folger of the Coast Guard's Regional Response Team said pumping out the oil would be "an extremely dangerous and costly procedure."

Substitutes For Coffee Suggested

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) – If the cost of coffee has you looking for a substitute, local gourmets suggest trying a cup of steaming, freshly brewed figs, dandelions or chicory.

Figs, oven-dried and ground, make a fine alternative for coffee boycotters, said Micahel Farano, who does a television cooking show.

"I defy anyone to taste the difference," he said, adding that figs cost only 55 cents a pound.

Farano said chicory also makes a good coffee substitute. Some people use the herb as a coffee extender after drying and roasting, he said.

Loma Yeager, a Wenatchee homemaker, said drying and roasting dandelion roots produces an acceptable mock coffee.

If the thought of waking to a cup of weeds doesn't appeal to you, she has a recipe, taken from an 1894 cookbook, for a potion called "prairie coffee." It's a concoction of cornmeal, molasses, flour, salt and water that is cut into cakes, dried and roasted dark brown.

Ratchetjaw Kids Jam Trouble Calls

NEW ORLEANS (AP) – Teddybear's a rachetjaw, and somebody's liable to get killed because of it.

From 3:30 in the afternoon until the more entertaining television programs come on, Citizens Band Channel 7 crackles with chit-chat about homework, teachers, who has a crush on whom – the myriad fascinating bits of childrens' gossip that used to tie up the family telephone.

Now the gossip ties up the CB channel adopted as an emergency frequency by hunters and fishermen in Louisiana marshes and inland waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

"These Teddybears are real rachetjaws," said Tom Burke, lapsing into CB jargon. "Rachetjaw" is the way CBers describe anyone who monopolizes the air waves. A "Teddybear," since the sentimental country-western song with that title, refers to children at the microphone.

Burke doesn't think they're cute. He's a member of the Louisiana chapter of the Long Beach Air-Marine Rescue Unit, which monitors the emergency channel.

"We have two or three trouble calls a day – more when shrimping season is booming," he said.

"We had a fisherman this week who got in trouble and called till his batteries ran down. Nobody could hear him because of all the chatter on Channel 7.

"I don't blame the kids. It's the adults who buy the CBs and put them in the kids' rooms.

"But no matter who's to blame, somebody's liable to get killed out there because they can't get help.

"The kids here seem to have hit on Channel 7 for their gossip line, because a lot of them have fathers who are fishermen or hunters. The family base station is always on that channel. It's their own fathers they're liable to kill."

The situation is made even worse by the thousands of walkie-talkies sold as Christmas toys, Burke said.

"There's nothing inside them, so they bleed all over all 23 channels. From Christmas to the end of January, it's impossible. I just turn my radio off," he said.

"The walkie-talkies last about a month, then it's okay again. Drop them a couple of times, and they break."

He switched on his base set. After a minute or so of silence, a childish voice shouted, "Can you hear me?" Another child's voice responded, "I can hear you good – loud and clear. Can you hear me?"

The walkie-talkie conversation between the two children continued, audible on every channel as Burke twisted the dial on his set.

"They're cheaply engineered so they can keep the cost down and sell them as toys," Burke explained. "They're supposed to broadcast on one channel – Channel 14, for instance – but they're not precise, and you can hear them all over the dial when they're close to you."

Look At Transcripts Denied By Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has turned down a request by the National Archives to review the transcripts of his telephone conversations.

He was immediately challenged by James B. Rhoads, archivist of the United States, and Rep. Jack Brooks, the Texas Democrat who chairs the House Government Operations committee.

In a letter released Wednesday, Kissinger rejected a Rhoads proposal that General Service Administration archivists review the telephone transcripts to decide whether they are the secretary's personal property or belong to the government.

Kissinger has maintained the documents are his property, although he gave in to adverse publicity last month and donated the transcripts to the Library of Congress along with other papers and copies of official documents.

The problem is that Kissinger has restricted access to his collection, ordering them closed for 25 years unless he and other people involved give prior approval.

Further, Kissinger has ordered aides to review the transcripts and place extracts in the State Department of any portions dealing with public business.

If Kissinger loses his claim, then the archives, the State Department and any other agency involved would review each document and decide on what, if any, security classification would be necessary.

In some cases, a transcript could be made public immediately, in others it might be kept out of circulation for several years.

Kissinger's letter to Rhoads and earlier messages to Brooks cited a memorandum by State Department Legal Adviser Monroe Leigh as the basis for the rejection.

Leigh said Kissinger has met all State Department regulations and general government standards in dealing with his papers. Leigh added that the GSA is not an appropriate agency to review the documents because it is actively seeking to change government regulations for distinguishing personal from official papers

$3.6 Million In Sales Tax Funds Shared

More than $3.6 million has been distributed to Orange County and its 26 cities in the January allocation of local sales and use tax receipts, the State Board of Equalization reported.

County government's slice amounts to $207,500, and the 26 cities shared more than $3.4 million. The county also received $925,000 from the special 0.25 per cent transportation tax.

The funds represent the second advance payment for the fourth quarter of 1976.

Anaheim led the cities in tax revenues with $512,000, followed by Santa Ana with $475,000; Costa Mesa, $347,500; Orange, $300,000; Huntington Beach, $250,000; Garden Grove, $205,000, and Fullerton, $202,500.

In all, the cities of the state received $38.8 million and the counties $6.4 million for a combined cities and counties distribution of $45.2 million.

The State Board of Equalization administers the six per cent sales and use tax. The state receives 4.75 per cent and 1.25 per cent is distributed to the counties and cities.

SV Trustees Reject Runoff Election Idea

MISSION VIEJO — If there is ever a tie vote in a trustee election in the Saddleback Valley Unified School District, lady luck and not the voters will cast the deciding vote.

Trustees rejected 3-2 this week Supt. Richard Welte's recommendation that a run-off election be held in the event of a tie.

Welte's staff estimated that a run-off election would cost the district $26,029.

"There is a price that must be paid for democracy," the superintendent said.

But trustees George Henry, Carole Neustadt and Loa Young believed the price was too high and voted against the plan.

"I'm for flipping a coin and saving the money," said Henry.

After defeating the run-off election proposal, trustees voted unanimously to decide any ties by lot.

"It will probably never happen anyway," Mrs. Young said after the issue was decided.

Anaheim C-C Drops Charge For Brochures

ANAHEIM — The chamber of commerce has agreed to settle its dispute with the city over the sale of city-printed material by distributing the remainder of such material free.

The city was seeking repayment of $6,380, which officials claimed the chamber received from the sale of city promotional materials, printed at taxpayers' expense.

The chamber sold the publications while under contract to the city to distribute such brochures. Chamber officials claimed the price was put on the publications to discourage "wholesale" distribution of the material.

They claimed the contract with the city did not forbid their selling the materials as a deterrent to wasteful use of the brochures.

The chamber-city contract was canceled by the chamber under pressure from city officials. The council later formed a committee to work on some sort of settlement with the chamber for the money received from the sales.

The chamber claimed under the approved settlement, that distributing the remainder of the books will cost $7,569 — well over the price of the debt claimed by the city.

Councilman William Kott, who helped work out the settlement, said it showed the chamber members as "gentlemen who were willing to pay off their debt."

Kott has been one of the most outspoken council critics of the chamber

Watson Named 'Citizen Of Year' In NB

NEWPORT BEACH — Raymond Watson, president of the Irvine Co., was named "Citizen of the Year" Wednesday night at the 70th annual installation banquet of the Newport Harbor Area Chamber of Commerce.

Watson, 50, was selected for his contributions to the community and his ability to deal with both the public and governmental agencies in handling the vast number of Irvine Co. activities.

The event, held at the Marriott Hotel, included the installation of the board of directors to serve under chamber president Dennis Harwood, who succeeds Jim Parker as head of the 1,500-member organization.

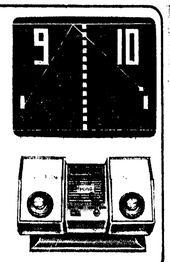

Health Seminar

ANAHEIM — The "Total Health Seminar" will be held at the convention center Saturday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Special guest speaker will be Bob Harrington, "The Chaplain of Bourbon Street," whose topic will be "The Total Man."

Nine specialists in natural health will conduct seminars throughout the day.

Tickets for the program may be purchased at the door.

$1 Million School Site Stirs Debate

By RICH SEELEY
Register Staff Writer

MISSION VIEJO — By a 3-2 vote this week, Saddleback Valley Unified School District trustees reluctantly approved spending almost $1 million to purchase a 10-acre elementary school site in Laguna Hills.

The vote to spend $975,000 for the site, at Beckenham and Camberwell streets, sparked a debate among trustees over skyrocketing land costs, alleged over-building of schools and the problems of double sessions.

"A few years ago we could have purchased three school sites for this price," said trustee Dennis Smith, who voted for the measure. He asked the district administration if there was a way trustees could freeze the price of future school sites to beat inflation.

Robert Ferguson, director of planning and development, said he knew of no legal way the board could do that. He said state regulations prohibit trustees from buying school sites years in advance of development even though it would allow trustees to get a better price.

Trustee George Henry, who voted against the purchase, said he was concerned that the district was over-building and may eventually end up with empty classrooms, once growth in the district levels off.

"I think we're heading for trouble in the future," he said. "We could end up like Newport-Mesa," he added, citing a district that grew rapidly in the 1960s and is now having to close schools due to declining enrollment.

Smith said the district was following a building program that state school planning experts say will prevent such a problem.

"I think the experts are wrong," Henry said, "and I think we ought to start looking at alternatives."

Asked what alternatives he would suggest, Henry said, "I don't know what the alternatives are but one alternative is to look for alternatives."

Trustee Carole Neustadt, who with Henry voted against the purchase, said she was concerned about the dwindling bond money the district has to purchase and build schools.

"If we don't pass a bond election next year, God forbid, we are going to be out of money to build," she said. "We should start making plans for that now."

Smith and trustee president Loa Young, said they supported continuing the district's building program because they opposed any alternative that involved double school sessions.

"Some of the most hostile board meetings I ever attended were 10 years ago when we didn't have enough schools and we were all on double sessions out here," Mrs. Young said. "It divided the community."

Supt. Richard Welte said he found double sessions "terrible" when he was a school principal in the 1950s.

"Double sessions are fine if it is not your youngster on double sessions," Welte said. Short of double sessions, he said his administration would look for alternatives to the current building program.

County Fair Paid $230,603 By Swap Meet

COSTA MESA — Swap meet attendance at the Orange County fair grounds increased 21 per cent last year funneling $230,603 into the fairground coffers, according to financial records.

The weekend swap meet is the biggest money-making event for the fair, drawing more than a million in 1976. In 1975, the swap meet increased the fair's revenues by $173,000.

The meet now has 900 booths.

Lawsuit Filed In Mesa Death

SANTA ANA — The city of Costa Mesa was sued for wrongful death Wednesday as the result of a police pursuit that ended when the suspect's vehicle collided with a third vehicle.

Alan George, 43, of Santa Ana, died Sept. 10, three days after a car being chased by police crashed into his car at Baker Street and Fairview Road.

When You Plant Under Trees

The trees in landscapes rarely stand alone. Shrubs fill in the conceptual spaces created by their canopies, lawns often sweep great areas beneath them and flowers often bring color to their feet.

But, there are abuses both to the trees and the plants beneath them that the home gardener should be aware of.

A few simple considerations for the needs of the tree and the supplemental plantings make planting under trees simple.

First, consider the space requirement of the tree. At least a one and one-half to two foot diameter watering well should be provided and maintained for thorough deep watering and fertilizing. Lawn trees, especially, should be guaranteed this right.

Weekly lawn irrigations only a few inches deep will not encourage proper deep rooting. Shallow roots will compete with the lawn for water and nutrients and often will not provide adequate anchoring for the tree in high winds.

The water well also will eliminate hand trimming around the tree trunk and will spare the trunk from weakening cuts and nicks caused by lawn mower collisions. And, ground covers such as ivy should not be allowed to grow over the watering well and up the trunk.

When planting under established trees, do not attempt to change the soil level or create a raised bed for annuals by filling in around the trunk with top soil. "Burying" the trunk will encourage rotting and the death of your tree. Instead, build a wall around the trunk to keep the soil from coming in contact with it.

When planting shrubs around trees be sure to give both tree and shrub enough room to stretch out.

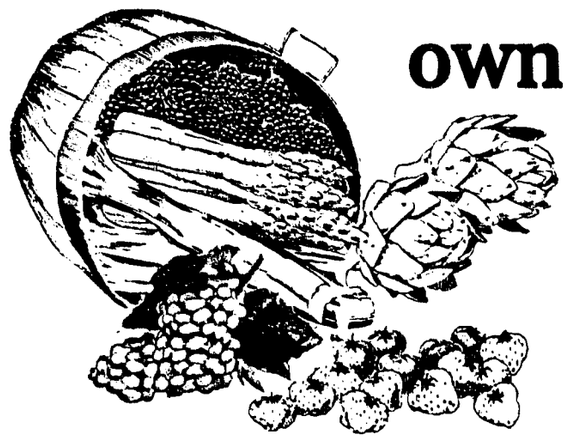

Shrubs under large shade trees should probably be adapted to partial or full shade conditions. Consult your nurseryman for suitable companion plantings for shady areas.

One final consideration is the advisability of planting summer water requiring plants near drought tolerant native trees.

Many of our native plants have adapted to dry summers and resent any summer irrigation.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Do you like house plants? A goal of researchers is to produce small and medium-size potted plants that consumers may buy at attractive prices for informal use at the home and office.

Floriculturists at Cornell University already have developed production methods and crop scheduling for some plants for use by plant growers in New York State. Several kinds of flowering and foliage plants, they determined, could be produced efficiently with a minimum of production cost and time.

"This," Prof. Carl F. Gortzig says, "will enable growers to supply florist shops, plant stores, supermarkets and other outlets with quality potted plants that can be retailed at prices ranging from 99 cents to $1.29 a plant." Considering the soaring consumer demand for smaller size potted plants, Gortzig said, consumers want plants they can enjoy in their everyday surroundings — home, office, store or apartment.

Performing well in experiments were clerodendrum, coleus, New Guinea impatiens, marigold, primrose, zinnia, streptocarpus, and polka-dot plant, the researchers said.

GARDENER'S CALENDAR

1. If you haven't already done so, prune and spray rose bushes. If rains are absent, be sure to keep them deeply watered.

2. Keep fallen camellia blossoms picked up to eliminate the possible breeding site for camellia petal blight.

3. Hydrangeas may be pruned to two or three leaf buds above ground.

4. Pinch back carnation plants to force bushy growth and abundant blooms. New plants can also go in now.

5. If you plan to prune an over-grown rhododendron do it within the month even though it will mean sacrificing a few blooms. Better spring growth will result to fill out the shrub!

Clerodendrum, marigold, primrose, zinna and streptocarpus are colorful flowering plants, the first named serving as an attractive foliage vine after frost bloom. The primrose may be set out into the garden if bought in late winter or early spring. Some varieties of the New Guinea impatiens, reported new on the American floricultural scene from the South Pacific — produce flowers. Others are foliage plants, as are coleus and polka-dot.

All of these plants, Gortzig related, had such cost-reducing features as: They need no special or labor-intensive cultural practices such as pinching, disbudding, changes in spacing and special lighting or shading procedures as day-length control; no growth regulators are needed; they are generally free from insect and disease; they can be grown the year-around in succession, four to six weeks in summer and seven to eight weeks in winter.

Seeding and rooting of cuttings are done directly in the (four-inch) container in which the plant will be marketed Gortzig said. Also saving cost are slow-release fertilizers gradually putting nutrients into the soil, and an automatic capillary bench watering system that eliminates daily watering.

The next step at Cornell will be ways to improve market distribution of the plants to help the grower, retailer and consumer, and to identify other plants that can be produced as efficiently.

"If these goals can be met," Gortzig said, "then consumers will be assured of a steady supply of quality plants at highly attractive prices. The consumer's desire to have plants as an integral part of his every day environment for living can be readily served."

Popular Apple

The "Empire" apple introduced by the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station in 1966, is reported gaining in popularity as a commercial variety. This dark red apple with distinctive striping that ripens two weeks after McIntosh originated from a cross of McIntosh and Delicious.

Empire is a high quality dessert apple, very productive and it stores well.

Group Hopeful Of Tax Limit Vote

LAGUNA HILLS – Organizers of the grassroots Jarvis tax limit proposal say chances of getting the measure on the June 1978 general election ballot are "very good."

"Response across the state to our petition drive to qualify the proposal for the ballot has been very positive," Earle Christo vice chairman of the sponsoring organization, United Organizations of Taxpayers Inc., told more than 100 people at Laguna Hills Mobile Estates this week.

If the petition drive is successful and the proposal is approved by voters, it means that property taxes would be limited to 1 per cent of the cash market value of property. For example, the owner of a home with a cash market value of $40,000 would pay $400 in property taxes. The owner of a home with a cash market value of $80,000 would pay $800 in property taxes.

To qualify for the ballot, petitioners must collect the signatures of 500,000 registered California voters by March 7. However, the United Organizations of taxpayers is shooting for a goal of 1,250,000 valid signatures, Christo said.

At the moment, Christo said that 250,000 petitions with room enough for 1,750,000 signatures are being circulated across California.

"We want the 1,250,000 signatures to show the strength of the movement," Christo said. "All the legislature seems to understand is numbers."

Christo said that pending tax reform bills in the legislature mean nothing. "They will all die a horrible death," he said. "They are carrots the legislature is using to try to appease you. We've got the legislature worried. Don't depend on your elected officials. They created the (tax) disaster."

Organizers believe that if they are successful and the proposal is approved by voters as an amendment to the state constitution, it will force the legislature to close existing tax loopholes.

The proposal was drawn by the group and named for its chairman Howard Jarvis, executive chairman of the Los Angeles Apartment House Association.

Workshop Set On Bond Issue

BREA – An information workshop on the proposed $9.8 million Brea-Olinda Unified School District bond issue is to be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Brea-Olinda High School auditorium, 803 E. Birch St.

The bond issue to go on the March 8 school election ballot includes funding for a new elementary school and additions to Mariposa Elementary, Brea Junior High and Brea-Olinda High school.

Policeman Gets Clothes Back

SAN DIEGO (AP) – It was enough to make thieves think twice about a car with a window sticker reading, "Support your local police department."

They took a jacket and sweater from the car owned by George Fisher, a police laboratory technician.

As Fisher drove to police headquarters to report the theft, he spotted his sweater and jacket – on the backs of two hitchikers. Fisher drove on but returned with officers.

The boys, aged 15 and 16 and identified only as runaways from the state of Washington, were taken to juvenile hall.

SATURDAY, JAN. 22

Your birthday today: Opens a year of personal adjustments parlayed so that by year's end you arrive on wholly new ground, doing things far above present skills. Relationships evolve swiftly without major incicent. Today's natives are self-contained, have their own cultural habits, wanderlust. Those born this year will need commercial expertise to apply anywhere, any time, in business. Their imagination becomes salesmanship once motivated by faith in what they have to sell.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Your opinion of what is good for another, however dear, is no more than that, as many factors escape your notice. Let them speak for themselves.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The best pleasures of life are really free, usually elusive. Join forces with others of similar status. Details of ongoing deals are ready for final okay.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Resist sales pitches. You can't afford to tie in with the mavericks in their capers. Important routine needs attention. Tonight indulge in your amusements.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Seek technical advice on problems, a second appraisal to verify it. Lay out plans for travel, this summer's garden, any projects you'd like to be major triumphs.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Group cooperation includes family funds, their uses, security. Review of work situations brings valuable suggestions, a formula for changes or higher pay.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Youngsters ask curious questions, cause temporary difficulty on their way to better understanding of themselves. You can help out with little effort.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Friends offer contradictory or confused views, unreasonable or unrealistic plans on all subjects. Champion your pet idea, present it with energy, enthusiasm.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): It's easier to go it alone than explain or correct discrepancy. Finish early, give yourself a reward for a job well done this past troubled week.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Reverse your habit to rush in, not look for recent changes. Center plans around hobbies which may be more importnat this year than your main vocation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Relieve your life style of clutter. Sell off or give outdated material to charity for a tax deduction. Evening fun runs to excess; go home ahead of it.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Select companions sensibly. In the course of social and sports events you can line up important agreements in principle for future ventures. Tonight relax.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Skip business dealings. First comes a letdown, then natural recovery processes set in smoothly. Personal matters are urgent; fit schedules around them.

Carr, Ex-SC City Manager, Accepts Job

SAN CLEMENTE - City finance director Kenneth Carr will leave his post to become city manager of Alhambra on Feb. 7.

Carr, 49, who was city manager of San Clemente for 11 years, will take the top administrative post of a city of 62,000, nearly triple the size of San Clemente.

Coincidentally, Alhambra is the hometown of Jerry Weeks, San Clemente's current city manager.

Carr, whose salary as finance director is $23,808, will work in a salary range of $32,256 to $39,216 in Alhambra, he said. He stepped down last year as city manager in San Clemente to take the finance director job for personal reasons.

Weeks said he will advertise to seek candidates for the finance director position.

SC Shopping Center Okayed

SAN CLEMENTE - A small shopping center on about 20 acres near Avenida Pico and the San Diego Freeway has been approved by the city council.

Developer Al Wulfeck was granted a rezoning of land from industrial and open space to a commercial designation. The council followed the recommendation of the city planning commission.

The acreage involved caused a controversy in past years when local merchants opposed the planned shopping center, saying local businesses would be hurt. There was no opposition this time.

Cultural Arts Review Slated By Fullerton

FULLERTON – The city council has decided to appoint a 16-member advisory committee to study the city's role in cultural activities.

The council action stems from recent furor concerning the control of the Muckenthaler Cultural Center. Several citizen groups were upset about the firing last November of center director William Gravesmill.

The firing sparked a dispute over who controls the center:

– The city council, which provides the center with about $100,000 in tax funds yearly, or,

– The board of directors of the Cultural Groups Foundation of North Orange County, a 19-member body which has controlled the center. (The board fired Gravesmill.)

The advisory committee will have 60 days to review the city's role in cultural affairs and report back to the council.

Committee members will include representatives of the foundation, Center Circle (a volunteer support group), Cal State Fullerton, the Museum of North Orange County, the League of Women Voters, the Orange County Art Association and local community centers.

In a recent report to the city council, staffers recommended that the city assume more control over cultural activities, terminate the agreement with the foundation board and absorb Muckenthaler Center as a city operation.

Staff members indicated in the report that the major problems in the city's cultural program were a lack of centralized review of cultural expenditures by the council and a lack of coordination of cultural programs.

One visualizes the final round of the Spingold or the Vanderbilt as replete with brilliant bidding and scintilating play, but that is not always the case. Sometimes the experts slip.

Three notrump is a cinch, but it is hard to get to and both pairs arrived at five clubs. A heart was discarded on the ace of diamonds at both tables.

Larry Cohen of the Rosenkranz team discarded a heart on the ace of diamonds, played the ace of spades, ruffed a spade and led a heart to East's 10. A club was returned to dummy's eight, another spade ruffed and a second heart led to East's ace.

East led another trump, but it was to no avail. Larry won in dummy, ruffed another spade, ruffed a heart with dummy's three of trumps, discarded his last heart on dummy's fifth spade and claimed.

The other declarer overlooked the possibility in that fifth spade. He led a heart at trick two to East's 10, his queen and West's king. West led a trump. A second heart went to East's ace and a second trump made it impossible for declarer to ruff more than one heart. Down one!

Possible State Limit On Growth Assailed At Meeting

By GEORGE GREY
Register Staff Writer

LAGUNA NIGUEL – The loss of 30,000 jobs, waste of millions of tax dollars and a possible battle between the county and state governments were predicted by the director of a county development advocacy group after a spirited public hearing over the Aliso Water Management Agency.

More than 150 people attended the afternoon and evening sessions at Niguel Hills Junior High School this week to consider construction of a $34 million sewage treatment plant to serve 43,000 acres of land in South Orange County.

More than two-thirds of the 25 speakers lambasted the State Water Resources Control Board staff recommendations. The recommendations would restrict use of the facility and set limits to future growth and construction of new homes by limiting the number of new homes to be hooked up to the sewage treatment plant.

The water board made the recommendations in cooperation with the state air resources board, which has said expanded sewage facilities would bring a higher population, hence more air pollution, to the area.

Gil Ferguson, executive director of the Council on the Environment, Employment Economy and Development (CEEED), said a "wrong decision" by the state water control board could trigger a clash between powerful state bureaucracies and local government labor and business leaders.

Ferguson accused the State Water Resources Control Board of ignoring the time and tax-dollars spent by local agencies on preparing sewage master-plans and "riding roughshod" over local decision making.

A decision by the Sacramento board to restrict sewage flows, he said, "will cost us valuable jobs in construction, lose us millions in taxes, drive up the prices of homes, insult our local county leaders and impact all the other cities in the county, like Irvine, Tustin, Orange, and others, because that's where all the people will be forced to move if sewer service is curtailed in the South Orange County area."

CEEED is a pro-development lobbying group made up of landowners, builders and construction trades unions.

Another speaker, Jim Beam, director of Building Industry Association of Orange County said he was "astonished" that only one member of the state water resources control board took the time to attend the meeting.

"Most of our comments were directed to Ray Dodson, the only member present," Beam said. "He will carry this public input back to Sacramento to the rest of the board, and we have no way of knowing how it will influence their final decision."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Edith opposes the sexual pornography outlined below. But a small minority are working from the top in our schools and church seminaries to erode religious idealism, as well as nationalism!

CASE K-611: Edith K., aged 24, is a clergyman's irate wife.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "what's wrong with our seminaries?

"My husband is in his last year there and the stuff they are teaching young pastors sounds like nonsense to me!

"For example, one of his professors squanders his class sessions talking about what he terms 'situational ethics.'

"He has the students argue over such hypothetical problems as would a wife be justified in seducing her husband's brother, who was a homosexual?

"For if she thus could wean him away from sexual affairs with his own kind and make him interested in real marriage, wouldn't that justify her adultery?

"Another case deals with an apparently sterile wife who wants a baby but wonders if it isn't her husband's fault that she can't get pregnant.

"So shouldn't she experiment by having secret affairs with other married men who have proved their own potency by having children?

"If she then becomes pregnant and bears her husband children, thereby delighting him, wouldn't her sexual indiscretions be more than justified?

"For she would have pleased the other men with whom she had sex, and would have erased her inferiority complex about not being able to bear a baby.

"Besides, her husband would be happier at having children, especially since he didn't know they weren't really his own.

"Dr. Crane, with all the important problems facing young pastors in their need for better pulpit oratory and rapport with teenagers, why waste their valuable hours in the seminary with 'situational ethics' of the sort I just mentioned?"

RELIGIOUS EROSION

Soil erosion is worrying our agricultural scientists, for it takes 100 years of decaying vegetation just to add a few inches of rich topsoil.

But a few seasons of heavy rainfall then can wash this fertile layer of humus right back to the oceans!

Farmers try to offset this in part by adding costly fertilizers.

But religious erosion can't be effectively treated by trying to add some "moral fertilizers" to our prison population.

Alas, this insidious ethical erosion has contaminated public schools as well as church seminaries, for young clergymen are now leaders of ultra liberal thought, as was true of presidential candidate McGovern, a Garrett Biblical Institute alumnus!

Dr. Kenneth Hutcherson, eminent Louisville ophthalmologist, arranged for me to occupy the downtown pulpit in his church and then invited a few guests to his home for Sunday dinner.

They included a former educator from Cuba, who had escaped just ahead of Castro's minions.

This educator was a zealous anti-communist and had brought out slides and movies showing the Castro regime's terrorism.

He often addressed seminary and public audiences, so he visited the head of the local Catholic Seminary, asking if the Monsignor would like to have him give his lecture and movies.

Since the Catholic Church has long been noted for staunch conservatism, this Cuban refugee was eagerly received.

But when he happened to mention the devastating effects of socialism and communism, the Monsignor regretfully withdrew his invitation, saying:

"Our Seminary students are socialists!"

Sewage Facility Studies Set

SAN CLEMENTE – The next step in the city's bid to upgrade its sewage treatment system will cost $40,850 for three studies to be prepared by consultant firms.

Councilmen this week authorized a $4,350 study by Keith and Associates, Consulting Engineers, of Santa Ana, to "verify cost estimates and needs for the water reclamation plant."

John Carollo Engineers of Fullerton will get $11,500 for a study of "maintenance and operation costs for supplemental environment impact report (EIR)" that must be submitted to the state water resources control board in connection with an ocean outfall project, council members decided.

Sayed Wardani, of Science-Technology-Environmental Company of La Jolla, will receive $25,000 for preparing the EIR necessary to get board approval for the project.

The ocean outfall is a project of the South East Regional Reclamation Authority (SERRA), which San Clemente recently rejoined in order to become eligible for state aid for sewer projects. It had quit SERRA several years ago, hoping to save money.

As a member of SERRA, San Clemente must pipe its treated effluent five miles north along the beach to the regional ocean outfall at Dana Point.

The pipeline project requires an additional EIR for which San Clemente also must pay.

Early Air Mail Pilots Say Job Was Risky

By DAVE ROSE
Register Staff Writer

ANAHEIM – Fifty years ago, Jerry Lederer was a young aeronautical engineer for, of all things, the post office department, doing his best to keep those canvas and baling wire air mail planes in the sky.

He retired not long ago as director of safety for NASA. Without batting an eye, he'll tell you it's a lot safer rocketing to the moon than it was flying the mails back in the 1920's.

Lederer, who now lives in Laguna Hills, recently dropped in at a stamp show at the Disneyland Hotel back where the philatelists were marking the 50th anniversary of Lindbergh's Atlantic flight.

Lindbergh was an air mail pilot during his early flying days, and that's what brought Lederer, now 74, and Eddie Cooper of Van Nuys to Anaheim. They're officers in an organization that's rapidly running out of members – Air Mail Pioneers.

Lederer's last job was safety director for the Apollo moon landings. He pictures those giant rockets, the sophisticated guidance technology, the soaring launch towers, the banks of computers and the hundreds of ground support personnel and marvels at the exploits of those seat-of-the-pants air mail pilots he knew who were all alone up there.

The captain of the Titanic had a longer life expectancy.

From Dec. 16, 1918, when Carl B. Smith plowed into a field, until another Smith, Walter J., fell into a spin on takeoff and perished on Sept. 8, 1922, 23 pilots and eight ground crewmen lost their lives.

Thirty-one of the first 40 pilots hired by the air mail service were killed.

They disappeared in blinding snowstorms, drenching rains, deadly fog banks and flaming crashes into trees, smokestacks, fences and mountain sides.

And some perished in clear weather when their flimsy planes failed them.

"During those early years, the Cleveland-New York route was a graveyard," Lederer said. "The weather was often very bad and they had to fly low."

Added Cooper, "You've got to remember they had no instruments, no radio, no gyro compass, no artificial horizon and rate-of-climb instruments, no stall indicator, no trim tabs, no flaps, no brakes.

"And we knew nothing about icing, or even how it affected a plane and the engine (the carburetor would freeze up, killing the engine). The wing struts and wires would collect ice, and a plane would go down quickly."

The pilots, or most of them, refused to wear parachutes. Cooper said. They preferred to try to ride a stricken aircraft down to a forced landing rather than bail out. Many died trying.

"Lindbergh parachuted twice and was severely criticized by his fellow pilots," Cooper explained. "They didn't think it was right to abandon a plane that could kill someone on the ground."

The first air mail run began on May 15, 1918, with a route between New York and Washington, D. C. Two years later air mail planes were flying as far west as Omaha, Neb., and on Feb. 22, 1921, it became a transcontinental service when San Francisco was added.

During these first few years, pilots flew only during the day, Cooper said. The air mail traveled by train at night, then was put back aboard a plane first thing the next morning. Pilots flew 200-mile hops.

The whole show was run by the post office department, which hoped to show that air mail delivery was feasible, Lederer explained.

What the postal people hoped to do, added Lederer, was interest private enterprise in taking it over. But first it had to prove itself.

It didn't really catch the eye of the businessmen until Lindbergh's Atlantic flight on May 20-21, 1927, a flight Lederer termed "a great event. It gave aviation a terrific boost. It lifted it out of the doldrums."

In the early 1920's it was a different story. With no navigational equipment, pilots flew low when they could. In bad weather, farmers lit bonfires all along the route to guide the pilot to his destination, Cooper said.

Many farmers picked up pocket money by leasing out a small patch of ground as an emergency landing field.

Farmers and pilots even got to be good friends, he said. It wasn't uncommon for a pilot to swoop low over a farmhouse and wave to its occupants who might have fed him the day before when he was forced down.

By the mid-1920's beacons were installed all along the air mail routes, and night flights were added. The mail was being flown around the clock.

Fatalities continued, but they became fewer and fewer until by 1926, the service could boast a 98 per cent efficiency record, Cooper said.

There was only one fatality that year, but it took the life of one of the most famous pilots of the day, still another Smith, this one named Art, who struck a tree and burned.

The last one to die was John F. Milatzo, on April 22, 1927, just months before the post office got out of the air mail business. Milatzo's plane iced over on a night flight, and he crashed and burned.

Who'd want the job anyway? "Most of the pilots had been in the war and they loved to fly. The only jobs open were flying the mail or barnstorming," Cooper explained.

"There was good money in being an air mail pilot. He got $300 a month plus five or six cents a mile. It was eight cents a mile for night flying."

And there was more than just a little glamour to wearing the air mail patch, he added.

Said one pilot back then in a newspaper interview, "I seem to do well with the ladies."

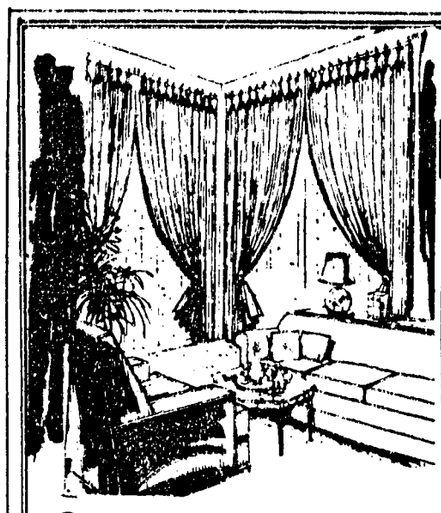

Lederer and Cooper are presiding over an organization that won't be around too much longer. There are fewer than 20 pilots left.

STORK SANCTUARY

Wat Pailom is noisy, crowded and not very clean—strictly for the birds.

Especially Anastomus oscitans, otherwise known as the Open Bill Stork, shown in the pictures on this page. These birds break their annual migration flights to nest, lay eggs and hatch young in the disused temple compound of Wat Pailom, 25 miles northwest of Bangkok, Thailand.

Ornithologists say that the bird, which got its name from having a bill that never seems to close properly, travels from Cambodia and Thailand to India each year with the various monsoons. The storks have only one food—snails, abundant after the seasonal rains.

Visitors are welcome at Wat Pailom, But they're also advised to bring hats.

Edison Offers To Install Solar Heating System At Orange Coast

COSTA MESA — A solar energy system is scheduled to be installed at Orange Coast College sometime next summer, according to a college spokesman.

John Potter, physical facilities planning director for the Coast Community College District, said the solar system would be installed in either the college's administration building or the faculty office tutorial center.

The Southern California Edison Company has offered the system to the district as an experimental project. The company would pay installation and maintenance costs for two years, Potter said.

After the two-year period, the system becomes the property of the district.

Potter said the project isn't definite yet, adding that the district is waiting for a fact sheet from Edison.

He said the system will consist of solar panels installed on the roof to gather sunlight, which will heat water to heat the building.

"On many days, the solar system will be sufficient to maintain temperatures in the building," Potter said. On days when more or less heat is needed, the existing temperature controling system also will be used.

Potter said Edison will survey and research the system for the two years to find out if solar energy systems are feasible.

The same system is scheduled to be installed in the KOCE-TV administration building at Golden West College in Huntington Beach, Potter said.

ITALIAN PAINTING

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) – The Memorial Art Gallery of the University of Rochester recently acquired a 16th-century Italian painting it calls "rare and important."

The painting is by Niccolo dell'Abbate. Gallery director John A. Mahey says it was "one of the great acquisitions made by an American museum this year, and certainly one of the greatest in the Memorial Art Gallery's history."

Stuffings Make Omelets Special

BY BARBARA GIBBONS

What do you do with leftover meat, when what's "left over" is barely enough to make a meal? Make an omelet! A stuffed omelet is so much more "special" than a sandwich. More filling and nourishing, too. Eggs are among the best – and cheapest – sources of protein around, and low-calorie as well.

HOW TO MAKE A NO-FAT-ADDED "STUFFED" OMELET – you'll need a small nonstick skillet, or an omelet or crepe pan, and some cooking spray for no fat-frying. Spray the pan well, then heat over moderate flame. Beat the eggs (no liquid added) then pour all at once into the hot pan. Shake the pan lightly, then lift up the edges of the egg, to let the unset portion run underneath. When the surface is nearly set add your filling. Then roll out onto a heated plate. Cover with wax paper, or an upended pie tin and keep warm in the oven while you prepare the sauce. Or, if you are lucky enough to have a microwave oven, reheat briefly to warm the filling through. (It helps if all the filling ingredients are room temperature rather than refrigerated.)

LOW-CHOLESTEROL egg substitutes can also be used. If cholesterol-watching, choose combinations that don't involve cheese or shellfish.

PARMIGIANA OMELET

(for each serving:)

2 eggs, beaten

1 ounce thinly sliced lean leftover roast veal (or turkey)

pinch of organo or Italian seasonings

garlic salt, pepper, red pepper flakes 2 tablespoons shredded part-skim mozzarella

three-quarters cup tomato juice (six ounces)

1 teaspoon onion flakes

Cook omelet according to preceding directions and fill with veal. Sprinkle the veal lightly with seasonings and one tablespoon mozzarella before rolling out onto a plate. Cover and keep warm.

In the same skillet, simmer the tomato juice, onion flakes and additional seasonings – uncovered over high heat – until it evaporates into a thick sauce. Pour the hot sauce over the omelet and sprinkle with additional shredded cheese. Serve immediately, with a tossed salad as a side dish. Each serving, about 305 calories.

MEXICAN ENCHILADA OMELET – follow the preceding recipe, but substitute cooked white meat chicken (or turkey) for the veal, extra-sharp cheddar for the mozzarella. Add a dash of Tabasco to the tomato juice (or used canned bloody mary mix) add a dash of chili powder and cumin to the oregano, and substitute minced green pepper (or dry bell pepper flakes) for the onion. About 310 calories.

FOO YUNG FOR FOUR

8 eggs, beaten

4 ounces lean leftover roast pork, diced

1 cup well drained canned Chinese chop suey vegetables

2 tablespoons finely chopped onion (or 2 teaspoons instant)

3 tablespoons soy sauce

1 cup fat-skimmed beef or chicken broth

2 teaspoons arrowroot or cornstarch

Make four individual omelets in a small skillet or omelet pan, filling each with some of the diced pork, Chinese vegetables and chopped onion. Set aside. To make sauce, combine soy sauce, broth and arrowroot. Heat until mixture simmers and thickens. Pour over omelets. Served with additional soy sauce and hot mustard. About 260 calories each.

OMELETS FOR TWO

(this one needs no sauce!)

8 ounce can chopped spinach, well drained

1 tablespoon dried onion flakes

pinch of nutmeg

salt and pepper

4 eggs, beaten

4 tablespoons shredded or chopped Swiss cheese

2 ounces thinly sliced leftover lean baked ham and delicatessen "boiled" ham or sliced Canadian bacon can be used.

(You may prepare one large omelet in a large skillet and cut in half, or make two smaller omelets separately, dividing the ingredients among each.)

Drain and chop the spinach and combine with onion flakes and a dash of nutmeg. Season lightly with salt and pepper.

Prepare omelet (or two smaller omelets.) When set, fill with spinach, cheese and ham. Roll out onto a plate and heat briefly in a warm oven or microwave oven to warm through and melt cheese. Serve with hot mustard. About 295 calories each.

SPRING FASHIONS – Roman fashion designer Galitzine created this special make-up "Riviera look" to go with this taffeta brown and yellow tones evening skirt matching with a pure silk yellow shirt with wide big sleeves.

Classic, But Never Dull Fashions Shown

By DANIELA PETROFF
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) – "True elegance is felt rather than seen," says Irene Galitzine, whose spring-summer 1977 high fashion collection opened the second day of the three-day high fashion fling Wednesday.

The Galitzine collection was proof that she practices what she preaches. Never flashy or brash, classical without being dull, the 1977 Galitzine will be noted for who she is, not for what she wears.

Bright and young in a blue pinstriped light wool suit featuring culotte pants worn with a three-quarter-length jacket, beige cossack boots, and a man-tailored white blouse, she will be sure to turn more than one head on a glittering spring morning.

For the more conservative woman, Galitzine proposes a morning look in a two-piece outfit with a tunic top and plisse skirt in beige silk chiffon.

For soft and romantic evenings, Galitzine features ankle-length floral prints in crepe de chine, with ruffles on the sleeves and skirts and an off-the-shoulder neckline, which takes us on a quick flight to Acapulco.

Also Mexican in inspiration are the white and black evening dresses in linen, again with ruffled short sleeves and lace stiching. A midnight blue silk pajama with a kerchief top brings us back to pure Galitzine elegance.

Other morning shows included Tita Rossi and Barocco. Rossi's collection was Polynesian in inspiration with its very wide gathered pants in crepe de chine, huge flowing sleeves like the wings of a seagull and tropical beach colors of ivory, blue and navy.

Barocco's spring summer high fashion collection has made the ruffle into a way of life, putting it on gaily designed chiffon prints or white and black cottons with satin ribbon trimmings, allowing his fun-loving woman to flounce through the day from the beach to the ballroom.

CLUB SCENE

Members of Orange and San Bernardino county chapters of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, San Orco District, will discuss legislation during a conference to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Holiday Inn, 2505 E. La Paz Road, Laguna Hills, formerly the Hilton Inn.

Marian Ash, the federation's legislation chairman, will be assisted by San Orco District legislation chairman Elma Werner in conducting a pro and con discussion of the organization's legislation platform.

A speak-off will be held to select the winner of the Young Career Woman award, for women between the ages of 21 and 28 who have worked at least one year in a career or profession. A "Bicentennial Splash" fashion show depicting American women throughout the years will also be featured.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Brea Senior Citizens Forever Young Club has slated a combination fun night and birthday and anniversary party, beginning at 7 p.m. Friday in the Brea Community Center, Elm and Sievers Streets. Those with birthdays or anniversaries in January will be honored. The event is open to all senior citizens in the Brea area.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN

A demonstration on making machine knit fashions will be presented Tuesday during the 6:30 p.m. dinner of the Santa Ana Council, Christian Business and Professional Women in the Estrella Room of Bullock's Fashion Square, Santa Ana.

Brigitta Hanke will give the knitting demonstration. Author Mildred Tengbom will be guest speaker, and vocalist Mrs. Jackie Shinen will entertain.

The event is open to all women, and reservations may be obtained by contacting Mrs. S.H. Freeman of Santa Ana. Sign language interpretation will be available for the hard-of-hearing.

HOME ECONOMISTS

The Orange County Home Economists in Homemaking will hear a presentation on "Making the Most of Your Meat Dollar" and participate in product testing at 10 a.m. Monday in the Alpha Beta Demonstration Kitchen, 850 S. Cypress Ave., La Habra. Mrs. R.B. Trousdale of Santa Ana may be contacted for reservations.

B'NAI B'RITH WOMEN

Anagrove Chapter, B'nai B'rith Women, will meet 8 p.m. Monday at Eastland Savings, 910 S. Brookhurst, Anaheim.

Election of new officers will be held.

DEAR MOTHER EARTH

'Plant Experience' Includes Kids

By LYNN AND JOEL RAPP

The Plant Experience is for everyone, and that certainly includes our younger brothers and sisters. Here are a few ideas to share with your children to further their interest in growing (and yours, too!).

Try growing small bulbs in bath sponges (real, not plastic or nylon). Make slits about two inches apart in the largest sponge, insert tiny bulbs (muscari or crocus) and saturate the sponge with water. Arrange some method of suspending the sponge (perhaps resting in a lettuce drainer) in a dark closet, and allow the bulbs to grow as usual. Firmness may be required to restrain your child from dragging the bulbs into the light long before they are ready, but if you can restrain their eagerness, the flowers will later appear, despite the odd planting medium, and that is always a thrill!

A square of wet flannel, a saucer, some seeds and a spot of direct sunlight will also produce fun for a child. Mustard and cress seeds are the best, as they grow quickly. Sow seeds on the damp flannel, which should be kept constantly moist thereafter (moist, not drowning). The fun for the child is to sprinkle the fine seeds through a paper cone into a fanciful pattern, perhaps their own initials.

Best of all is the carrot. Choose a plump carrot and cut it straight across about three inches down from the top. Either set this in a shallow bowl of water held steady by sand or pebbles, or turn it into a carrot beard. Hollow out the core of the carrot from the cut end with a knife or sharp-edged metal spoon. Puncture the sides and thread with a string by which to suspend the carrot. Finally, keep the hollow carrot cup filled with water. Eventually it will produce masses of feathery greenery growing downward, beard-shaped.

Your children have a real appreciation for plants and nature, so don't keep the Plant Experience a secret from them! Happy growing!

Tutor Training Classes Set By Literacy Council

To help combat illiteracy, South Coast Literacy Council (SCLC) is conducting two tutor training classes in teaching English as a second languarge.

These 30-hour, 10-week courses will be held in San Juan Capistrano beginning Monday from 9 a.m. to noon in the Community Presbyterian Church, 32202 Del Obispo, and Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Regional Occupational Program facility, 26900 Acjachema.

Betty Kent, tutor trainer, will instruct the morning class assisted by Estelle Rosenthal. Don Vivrette, SCLC president, and Onalee Carter, director of tutor training, will teach in the evening.

Tutors do not need to have teaching experience or knowledge of a foreign language, according to Vivrette, and men and women of all ages may take the training course.

Mrs. Carter of Laguna Beach may be contacted for further information.

RADIATION TALK

William Wadman, radiation safety officer at UC Irvine, will be guest speaker at the meeting of Stanley Mitnick Chapter, City of Hope, at 7 p.m. Saturday in Mercury Savings and Loan, Valley View Street and Lincoln Avenue, Buena Park.

Cultural Tour Of Los Angeles Set By Society

A cultural heritage tour of Los Angeles historical sites will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, with a bus departing from Bowers Museum, 2002 N. Main St., Santa Ana. The event is sponsored by the Orange County Historical Society.

A docent from the Los Angeles Cultural Heritage Board will guide the tour to such places as St. Vibiana Cathedral, the Bradbury Building, Bunker Hill and Pico House. Lunch and sightseeing at Olvera Street will also be included. The tour will return to Bowers at approximately 4 p.m.

The event is open to society members and guests, with remaining seats open to the public. There will be a fee for the tour, and Bowers Museum may be contacted for reservations.

Talk On Human Sexuality To Be Presented

A program on "Human Sexuality" will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the Newport Harbor Counseling Center, 1151 Dove Street, Suite 230, Newport Beach.

Lee Hachey, a licensed counselor, will discuss the ways in which greater understanding of human sexuality will enhance self-understanding.

The presentation is sponsored by CHARISMA, a group dedicated to enhancement of self-image through intellectual stimulation.

Nutrition Talk

A seminar on "Energy Unlimited – Nutrition is the Key," will be presented from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Sol Center Foundation, 304 Richland St., Santa Ana.

Walter Galovan of the Christian Health Service, Costa Mesa, will conduct the seminar, which emphasizes health, youth, vitality and mental stamina through nutrition.

The foundation may be contacted through telephone directory assistance for additional information and registration.

DANCE CLASSES

Classes in Hawaiian and Arabian dance as well as "rock hustle" will begin Monday sponsored by Anaheim Parks, Recreation and the Arts Department. Locations for the classes will be Loara High School and South Junior High School. Time and registration fee information can be obtained by calling the Anaheim Parks Department.

LUNCHEON

Anaheim Memorial Hospital Guild has planned a potluck luncheon at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Rex Bruhns in Anaheim. A business session will follow the luncheon.

Council Prefers To Ride A Truck

LAGUNA BEACH – William Shakespeare might have been moved to grab the nearest fire extinguisher and put out the flames.

But he hasn't been around for years, so a paraphrase from the bard's work will have to suffice. "To fire truck or not to fire truck, that is the burning question" facing Laguna Beach's self-appointed junior fire department, better known as the city council.

Seems that the council has "unofficially" decided to ride on an antique fire truck during the city's eleventh annual Patriot's Day Parade set for Feb. 19.

But parade officials say that dignitaries dangling from a fire truck is not a part of the dignified demeanor they'd like the council to demonstrate. Instead, the parade association wants to plop the council into a string of Cadillac convertibles.

The council then voted 4-1 to have Mayor Sweeney meet with the parade association to reach an agreement on the fire truck-Cadillac confrontation. The mayor cast the dissenting vote. "Oh, thanks," she said.

"If the council decides to ride on the fire truck and be in costume," said Cal Orcutt, parade co-chairman, "we feel that since they would be at the front of the parade with the other dignitaries, they would look out of place. It would look strange for the city clerk and treasurer to be in Cadillacs and the council to be on the fire truck."

Just one hitch. City Clerk Verna Rollinger and City Treasurer Peg Morreals say they want a piece of the fire truck, too.

"I feel at home with the people of Laguna Beach," said Councilwoman Sally Bellerue. "Cadillac convertibles put us on a pedestal and that's not where we are. I want to be on the fire truck. Put us somewhere else in the parade. Maybe at the end."

SCHEDULE CHANGE SET BY ENCHANTED VILLAGE

BUENA PARK – The new weekends only schedule at Enchanted Village is due to "economic reasons" tied to winter weather problems, president Joe Prevatil said this week.

Prevatil, who noted many amusement parks cut back on operations during winter, said, "It also gives us an opportunity to do some refurbishing and develop new ideas."

Park officials announced last week the Village will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at least until early Spring.

Featured attractions – performing animals, dancers and singers – will continue weekends until the Easter holidays when the normal schedule will be resumed for one week.

Prevatil said plans for April and May are undecided. However, the seven-day schedule will begin again in mid-June and continue through the summer.

Clinic On Blood Pressure Slated By Stanton Hospital

STANTON – Free blood pressure and pulmonary function screening clinics will be offered to the public by the Stanton Community Hospital.

The blood pressure clinic will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 29. Signs of high blood pressure, according to Dr. Robert Van Riet, hospital vice chief of staff, include headaches, blurred vision, insomnia, dizziness, shortness of breath, swelling in the ankles and nosebleeds.

The pulmonary function clinic to detect lung problems will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 19. The test is painless, lasts about two minutes, and involves taking a deep breath and exhaling a volume of air through a mouthpiece, he said.

DOCTOR SAYS

DEAR DR. LAMB – I would like to know something about the pancreas and what it controls in the body, if you please.

My husband has a calcifying pancreas. He drinks quite a bit of beer. He was told by our doctor that he was not to drink a drop of any kind of alcohol, but I am unable to convince him to stop. I am embarrassed to say that he has loose bowels (very loose). He weighs 140 pounds and is 6 foot tall. He is extremely nervous.

I have talked to him nicely and I have scolded him and nothing helps. I told him that I would write to you for information on the hazards involved.

DEAR READER – The pancreas is an important organ in our ability to digest food. It is located just below the stomach and attached to the first part of the small intestine. It is from four to six inches long. The gland in animals is often used for sweetbreads.

There are two parts of the gland, the tissues that form pancreatic juice (we form from one to three quarts a day) and the small islets of Langerhans seeded throughout the pancreas that form insulin.

The pancreatic juice drains into the small intestine through a tube that is joined to the common bile duct. The bile and pancreatic juice mix together with the partially digested food from the stomach.

The pancreatic juice contains the enzymes that accomplish most of the breakdown of starch from various carbohydrate foods. It also contains the enzymes that break down the proteins into amino acids so they can be absorbed through the intestine. And it contains the enzymes that break down fat. So, most of the food we eat must be acted upon by enzymes from the pancreas before it can even be absorbed to do us any good.

Failure to break down food, particularly the fat, leads to diarrhea and large foul-smelling stools. Part of your husband's problem here may be from his pancreas.

The pancreas may have a few small or even larger calcifications in it without being significantly damaged. However, I presume from your letter that your husband does have damage. How much trouble he has, or will have, depends entirely on how much damage there is to the pancreas.

Many people have disease of the pancreas and never drank a drop of alcohol, but alcohol is definitely damaging to the pancreas. Your doctor was 100 per cent correct in saying your husband should not drink a drop. It is a matter of life or death for him and his pancreas will only get worse as long as he continues to drink. The quality of his life, in terms of diarrhea and what he gets out of the food he can't digest will only go downhill from here unless he follows his doctor's instructions to the letter.

Your letter really tells me that your husband has an alcohol problem and that the pancreatic disease is a complication of that problem. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4 on alcohol to give you more information. Others who want to know what alcohol does to the body can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Since you have the same doctor I think you would be wise to talk with the doctor with your husband, or alone if necessary, and try to get his help in getting your husband some assistance locally for his alcohol problem through whatever organizations are available to you there.

"Here we are — I'm the ex-president playing in the Crosby at Pebble Beach. HOW can you DO this to me?"

Awesome Pebble Beach Turns Tame

Green Fires 65 On Rare Calm Day At 'Crosby'

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) – Hubert Green took advantage of the rare, almost windless conditions, subdued awesome Pebble Beach with a seven-under-par 65 and established a one-stroke lead Thursday in the first round of the $200,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament.

"It's unusual, finding Crosby weather like this," said Green, a three-time winner last season. "Usually it's awful. And this is just outstanding."

But Green, one of the corps of young men rapidly claiming the tour for their own, wasn't counting the tournament won.

"You can't get cocky here," he said. "This golf course can eat your lunch and the bag you brought it in."

But the famed, picturesque layout on the Monterey Peninsula, often a wind-blown tiger, turned into a tame and purring tabby in mild, almost windless weather. Tom Watson, for example, once holed it from a bunker for an eagle three and shot a 66.

Arnold Palmer, who will play with ex-President Ford as his 18-handicap amateur partner in the second and third rounds, went to a disappointing 74 at Cypress Point. Since Palmer's individual score must count as today's team score in the absence of Ford, who was attending the inauguration of President Jimmy Carter. The Ford-Palmer team must improve drastically to qualify for the final round Sunday at Pebble Beach.

"We'll have to shoot about nine under each of the next two days," Palmer said.

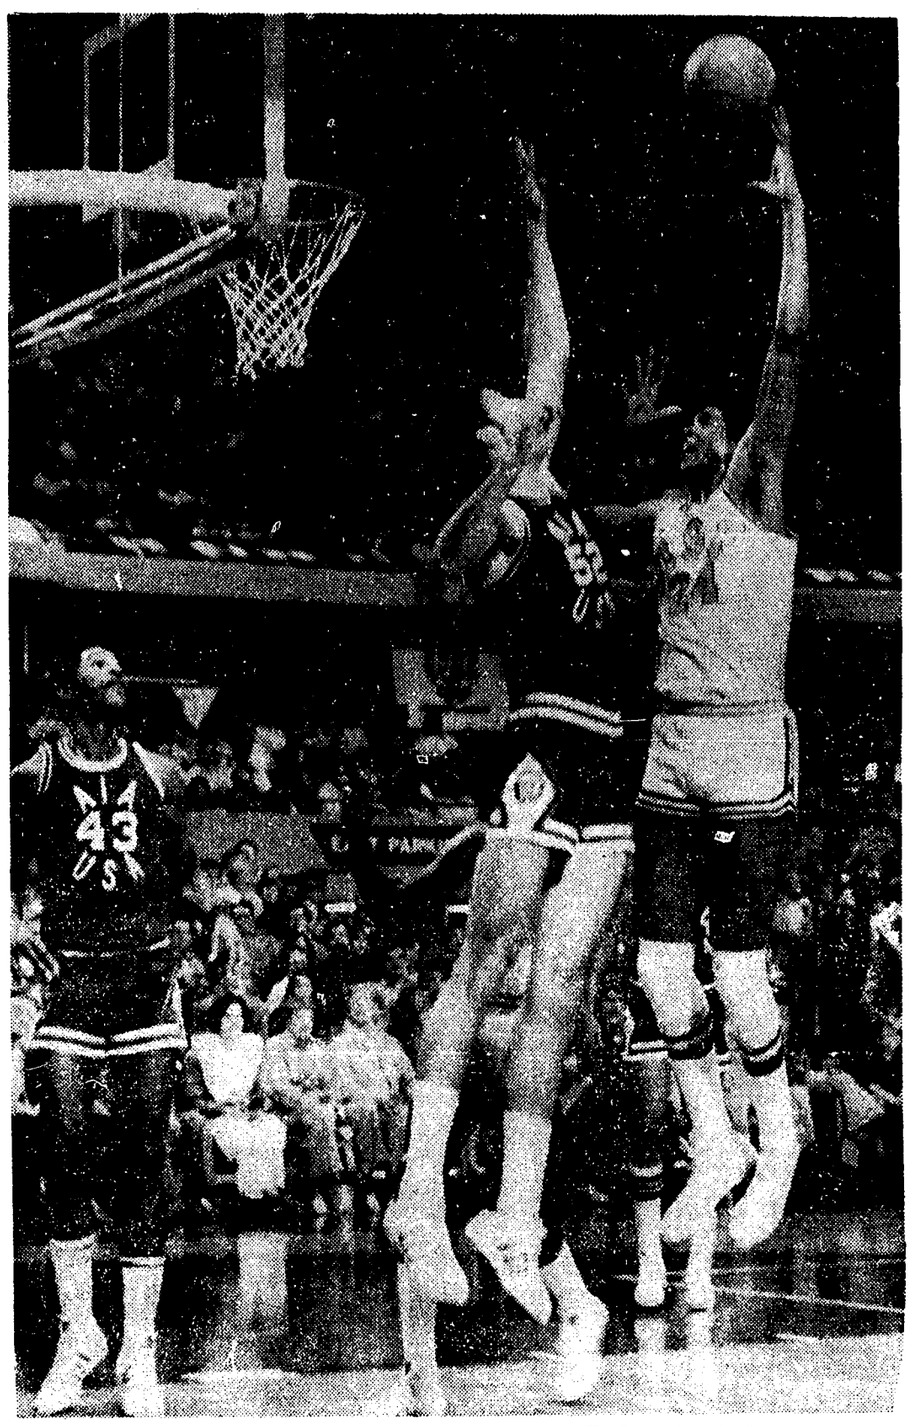

"I just played bad," said the 47-year-old Palmer, who made his first start of the season. He smiled and his eyes twinkled.

"And my partner, I don't know where he was, but he didn't help a bit."

The former president was airborne, enroute to California from Washington. As all the other amateurs in this unique tournament, he and Palmer will play a better ball in the pro-am section of the competition, with Ford getting a stroke a hole off his 18 handicap.

Mexican Victor Regalado had a 67 at the par-71 Shore course at Monterey Peninsula Country Club. Billy Casper, Don Bies, Gene Littler and Tom Kite had 68s on the same

SKY HOOK – Part of last night's interesting matchup of No. 1-ranked USF and the AIA was this battle of seven-foot centers. Above, Bill Cartwright (24) got off a high hook shot over Ralph Drollinger as AIA forward Irv Kiffin (43) watched at left. The independent AIA cagers handed a somewhat crippled Don team its first loss of the season, 104-85. Drollinger scored 18 points for the winners while Cartwright tallied 27 for USF.

AIA Hands USF 104-85 Setback

By CARL SAWYER

University of San Francisco is No. 1 in the nation but No. 2 in Orange County today following a dazzling 104-85 victory over the Dons by Athletes In Action before 6,715 excited fans Thursday night at Anaheim Convention Center.

Playing their first home game ever, the Tustin-based Athletes In Action teased the appetites of county basketball fans by soundly defeating coach Bob Gaillard's talented Dons. Those fans won't have long to wait for more action because AIA will take on University of Nevada at Las Vegas at comfortable Anaheim CC on January 29.

Orange County got a closeup look at two of this country's best amateur basketball teams and it was a sparkler from start to finish.

AIA, coached by ex-Santa Ana College coach Bill Oates, must have saved something special for their home debut because the Dons are 19-0 in collegiate play this season and are firmly entrenched atop the major college polls.

The loss to AIA in exhibition will have no effect on the rankings.

"We've been playing very well since December, but we played extra well tonight, said Oates, obviously pleased that his multi-talented club made its first home victory a big one.

Oates was impressed with San Francisco, but felt the Dons were probably hurt by the absence of forward James Hardy, the former Long Beach Jordan High phenom. Hardy reinjured his knee in a workout Wednesday at Santa Ana College and was held out of action by Gaillard.

"It's tough to get the kids up for a no-count game," said Bob Gaillard, the USF coach, "but it's good experience for our players to play against this caliber of a team."

After Thursday night's 104-85 thrashing by Athletes in Action, USF's record remains 19-0, but the loss may hang like an albatross around the Dons' necks. The AP basketball pollsterss will see the unmarked record, but may also remember the 0-1 record in exhibitions.

The quickness of Brad Hoffman, Eldon Lawyer, Tery Larrew and Freeman Blade in the AIA backcourt raised havoc with USF as they took turns feeding Irv Kiffin, Bayard Forrest and Ralph Drollinger inside for key baskets that helped AIA build a 49-38 halftime lead.

Bill Cartwright, USF's spectacular 7-0 center, battled fiercely on the boards and poured in 16 points in the first half, but AIA's depth and quickness began to show before the halftime break.

A quick spurt by AIA at the start of the second half expanded the advantage and reached a 75-55 margin with 9:12 to play on a jumper by Hoffman.

Hall, Lawyer and Drollinger took turns firing field goals as AIA turned back USF hopes for a comeback.

Allen Thompson came off the Don bench to give Cartwright scoring help, but AIA maintained its lead between 18 and 20 points the rest of the way with accuracy at the foul line.

Relishing their first ever game before a partisan home crowd, AIA seemed to enjoy the contest as much as the fans who appreciated their first look at the national AAU champions of 1976 and the No. 1 ranked Dons.

SAN FRANCISCO (85) - Williams 4, Cox 6, Cartwright 27, Redmond 18, Boynes 10, Randell 4, Hamilton 2, Thompson 12, Gilberg 1.
AIA (104) - Hoffman 13, Lawyer 12, Hall 20, Kiffin 18, Forrest 8, Drollinger 18, Larrew 11, Blade 4.
Halftime: AIA 49, San Francisco 38.
Fouled Out: Drollinger.
Officials: Lorenzo Clark and Al Hackney.
Attendance: 6,715.

Gals In Glory At 'Crosby'

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) – Gerald R. Ford, with the White House behind him, will be following the girls today in the 36th Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

"The pairings are fantastic! With Ben Crenshaw in front of us and Arnold Palmer and the President behind us, we can't help but have great galleries," said Marianne Bretton who, along with Nancy Lopez made Crosby tournament history Thursday.

The two college sophomores – Bretton from UCLA, Lopez from Tulsa University – became the first women to play in the Crosby, golf's most prestigious pro-am.

Ford, who left office Thursday after the inauguration of Jimmy Carter as President, joins Palmer for today's second round. Hale Irwin and industrialist Darius Keaton complete their foursome, which will be playing at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club directly behind the group including Bretton and Lopez.

"I love big galleries. I'm better with a lot of pressure, I think," said the 19-year-old Bretton, although admitting that Thursday's crowds, the biggest she'd ever played before, helped maker her "very tense the first few holes."

"The galleries were great to us, though. They even applauded some bad shots."

Bretton opened Thursday's round at the Cypress Point course with a double bogey, sending her tee shot into a cluster of trees. Lopez parred the first three holes, barely missing a 20-foot birdie putt at No. 1.

"I shot an 84. Please don't print that," said Bretton, the California Women's Amateur champion and runner-up in the U.S. Amateur last year. "I'll do better. Cypress Point and Pebble Beach are the toughest two courses I've ever played, and we have to play from the men's tees. That makes it a whole new ball game."

Lopez, the women's national collegiate champ, lost her touch after the first three holes, picked up her ball several times and would have been near 90 if her scorecard was completed.

"I think she tried to hit the ball too hard. But she's going to be a great player," said Lopez' partner, Jose Gonzales of Mexico.

Dick Baney: Boy In Girls' Centerfold

A guy with a sense of humor, Joe Stephenson was holding court with several of his fellow baseball scouts. The sleuth who works out of Anaheim for the Boston Red Sox said to them real slow and cagey like: "I am the only major league scout in history who has two distinctions nobody can dispute!"

Those who search the quicksand for kids who can throw, hit and run are hard to impress. "Ha ha," scoffed one old-timer. "So you signed Fred Lynn."

"Touche," responded Stephenson, "and please don't forget that Mr. Lynn became the first-ever rookie to be voted Player of the Year."

Okay, another conceded: "So Lynn made you Scout of the Year. Now what was your other achievement that will ring down through the halls of time?"

For a moment Joe savored his score. He let the suckers swim around his bait. Then he revealed Scoop No. 2. "I," he said slowly, "am the only scout in the history of major league baseball to sign a player who made the centerfold of Playgirl Magazine."

"Playgirl magazine?" the boys gasped. "Who in hell did you ever sign who made the centerfold of Playgirl Magazine?"

THE NAME IS BANEY

His name, Stephenson said cooly, is Dick Baney, an Anaheim High pitcher of 10 years ago. This week Baney is getting more "exposure" than he did at Anaheim, or when he was with the Red Sox, or Seattle (the first time it was in the majors) or even when he was picked up by the Cincinnati Reds and pitched their pennant clincher in relief.

"A couple of the pictures in Playgirl's centerfold were taken at Anaheim Stadium," Joe says. "Of course one or two weren't."

Baney, who tells Stephenson he still hopes to get back in baseball (hopefully with his home town Angels; he's living in San Diego) recalls the odd circumstance surrounding his move from the pitcher's mound to the centerfold. It started when he was with the Reds and met Rona Barrett, a Hollywood gossip columnist.

"You're so handsome, you ought to be in the movies," she told Baney.

The publicity from that remark resulted in a call from Playgirl asking him to appear as a centerfold.

"I turned them down. I did not feel it wise, being a representative of the Reds," explained Baney."

WARMED UP IN HURRY

The incident was put aside. Baney had some modest success with the Reds, and then was sent down to Indianapolis where his career came to a screeching halt on July 4, 1975. "They asked me to warm up in a hurry," Baney recalled. "I guess I wasn't ready when I went in. I threw a pitch and felt something snap. I knew then it was over."

"I was walking at Laguna Beach one day when this girl comes up to me and tells me a lady wants to see me. Sure enough under an umbrella, there's this lady," Baney recalled.

'SHE'S FROM PLAYGIRL"

"She says she's from Playgirl and wants to know if I'd be interested in posing. She said she didn't know who I was and she was surprised when I told her I had been asked before.

"This time though I was out of baseball. She got me top money. I figured, why not?"

But being a star has its problems, such as the other day when Baney walked into a bank.

"I looked at the teller and she was blushing. Seemed like everyone in the bank was whispering. I asked the teller why she was blushing.

"You would ask," she said. "I saw your picture."

HANK: A NICE GUY

Space had been reserved for Hank Hollingsworth in Press Row at the Anaheim Convention Center last night. He was to have covered the USF-AIA basketball game for his newspaper, the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram. But Hank couldn't make it. He died

Eight Grid Champs In CIF Next Fall

By MIKE WOJCIECHOWSKI

NORWALK — There will be eight high school football champions next fall in the CIF southern Section, it was decided Thursday at the winter meeting of the General Council.

The proposal, submitted by University High principal Vic Sherritt, representing the CIF Playoff Committee, calls for the reduction in the length of the football season to 13 games for the finalists, with each of the eight divisions having 16 teams in the playoffs.

For the past three years playoffs in the 2-A, 3-A, and 4-A divisions have had 32 teams, forcing the finalist to playing an exhausting 14-game schedule.

The advantages of the new concept, according to the proposal are:

1. It would shorten the football playoff season by one week;

2. It would reduce the number of playoff games that an individual youngster would have to engage in from five to four if he were to go all the way to the championship;

3. It would permit athletes who participate in winter sports activities, but are in the playoffs, to be released one week earlier if the present playoff schedule is maintained;

4. With the expanded grouping to eight from four classifications, a better job of grouping leagues on the basis of size and strength could be maintained, possibly resulting in closer competition;

5. By increasing the number of classifications it could double the opportunity for members to have the satisfaction

Lakers Try To Keep Rolling

Fresh from winning five-of-seven for their best road trip in NBA history, the Lakers try to pick up where they left off on a 14-game home winning streak tonight at 8 at The Forum against the New York Knicks.

The home stand continues Sunday at 7 against Indiana and Tuesday at 8 when Seattle visits for a Pacific Division game. Then Philadelphia arrives next Friday.

Trailing Portland by two games, Los Angeles plays six of the next seven contests at home while the leaders are traveling.

The Lakers now have the third best NBA record of 27-15 after winning 22 of 30 since mid-November, but they have lost their only two meetings with the Knicks – one at the Forum where the record is 18-2.

Panthers In Last 'Box' Workout

Chapman College's basketball team practiced in its original gymnasium for the last time Thursday.

Known as "The Box" in recent years and called many other things by visiting coaches, the gym will be torn down starting Tuesday to make room for a new $2 million, 44,000-square foot multi-level sports center.

The present gym was built in 1926 for Orange High School.

Kings Overpower Penguins, 5-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Defenseman Dave Hutchison rifled in a 35-foot power play goal in the second period to snap a 3-3 tie and Marcel Dionne added an insurance tally with 1:10 left on another power play as Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 5-3 in a National Hockey League game Thursday night.

The Kings, who connected on four of six power play attempts to post the win, moved to within four points of the second-place Penguins in their Norris Division battle.

It was only the second victory for the Kings over the Penguins in their last eight meetings.

Goalie Rogie Vachon saved the victory for the Kings with 7:08 left to play when he made a spectacular save on Rick Kehoe's breakaway attempt.

The Penguins grabbed an early first-period lead on the first of Ron Schock's two goals, but Butch Goring tied it 1-1 for his 16th goal of the season while the Kings enjoyed a man advantage at 8:22.

Mike Murphy shot Los Angeles into a 2-1 lead to beat goalie Denis Herron. Schock then skated around defenseman Neil Komadoski to beat Vachon from 10 feet for his 12th score of the season and tied the contest at 2.

The Kings took the lead again on another power play when Williams fired in his 24th goal of the season to equal his personal career high.

Mrs. Bill Cook Dies

Kathryn Cook, wife of the late famed football coach, Bill Cook, joined him in death Thursday at Laguna Community Hospital.

Funeral services are to be held Monday at 3 p.m. in Pacific View Chapel at Corona del Mar.

She had been suffering from cancer for almost two years and had been in the hospital since Tuesday.

Mrs. Cook was a member of a noted sports family, her father, the late C.C. (Gavy) Cravath having been major league baseball's home run king before the Babe Ruth era. Cravath played for and later managed the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League, and later was Laguna Beach justice of the peace for many years.

Mrs. Cook met Bill Cook when she was working at Anaheim High School. They were married soon after he graduated from USC and became head coach and athletic director of Santa Ana College.

Mrs. Cook is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Virginia (Ginger) McMillan of Laguna Beach, and a sister, Mrs. Charles (Barbara) Jacobs of Costa Mesa.

Titans Rip San Jose St.; Pacific Next

By CHUCK ABAIR

Fullerton State awaits the Saturday arrival of Pacific after walloping visiting San Jose State 84-64 Thursday night to advance from fourth place to third in the PCAA race.

Five Titans hit double figures and 10 scored in the surprisingly easy triumph over the unimpressive Spartans, who had upset Pacific in their league opener at Stockton.

Fullerton, 10-5 in all, is now 2-1 in the conference compared to 2-0 for Long Beach State and San Diego State. The Aztecs dropped Pacific to 0-2 with an 83-76 overtime win last night.

Kevin Heenan, who sank five of his first six shots, took point honors with 15 followed by Bill Miller and Kerry Davis with 12 each. Miller had 10 by halftime, as did Heenan, after converting eight straight fouls.

Keith Anderson and Greg Bunch were right behind with 11 apiece. Anderson also chalked up five assists and Davis four in a rare easy triumph.

Playing with a strained knee suffered in practice Wednesday, Bunch lacked his usual movement and had shooting problems yet still led a 44-32 rebound advantage with 12. Steve Shaw had 10 as well as nine points.

"This was a very crucial win for us. The guys were really ready to play," said Fullerton coach Bobby Dye. "We passed very well. The three guards (sophomores Bill Miller, Heenan and Anderson) were outstanding. Bunch was slowed by his knee strain."

San Jose, which went into the contest 6-7 after two straight good performances, scored the opening basket, but trailed the rest of the night and showed little life. Fullerton got caught up into its play at times as 29 turnovers indicate — 18 by CSF.

The Titans connected on six of their initial eight field attempts in gaining a 10-point lead by midway in the first half. It was 42-29 at intermission with the play much more one-sided.

San Jose got within nine twice in the second half, but Fullerton pulled away quickly to lead by 18 with 14:22 to go and coasted.

Usual Spartan sparkplug Ken Mickey finished fifth 10 points after sitting out most of the second half. Stan Hill also had 10.

The Titans, who were 17-for-30 at halftime, totaled 33 field goals in 63 attempts and added 18 free throws in 27 attempts. The Spartans could only make 28 of 72 shots while swishing 8 of 11 fouls.

"I told them to go out and win this game and not worry about tomorrow," Die had said before the game referring to a costly first home loss to San Diego. "I said there might be an earthquake and the rest won't matter."

San Jose, 1-1, tries to bounce back at San Diego Saturday when Long Beach invades Fresno State.

El Toro Hopes To Catch Tritons

BY DAVID OSTERMAN

El Toro High School hopes to catch San Clemente napping tonight when the two teams meet in a key South Coast League game at the Triton gym.

The surprising Chargers are 11-4 on the year and 4-1 in league play while San Clemente is 5-0 in league and winner of its last eight games. But the Tritons may be looking to next week when they face Corona del Mar. The Seas Kings are also undefeated in league and meet Dana Hills tonight.

The key to the Charger attack, which has forged one of the best records in the school's history, are brothers Mark and Mike Hill . Mark, a 6-1 forward has scored 78 points in five league games, while Mike is averaging a little under 10 a game. The other scoring leader for El Toro is 6-0 junior guard, Bob Charles, who had 63 points in five league game and is averaging 17 points a game.

San Clemente has used a big front line of 6-7 Bill Neely, 6-5 John Carson and 6-6 Ted Hettinga, along with sharpshooting guard Tim Dunham to power its attack.

Dunham, an all-league guard, is 6-2 and coming off a 30-point game against Dana Hills on Tuesday.. His passes and playmaking help the Tritons as much as his shooting.

In other key county matchups tonight, Lowell tries to forge a two-game league in the Freeway League when the Patriots invade Buena Park. Brea-Olinda and Fullerton put 3-2 records in the Orange League on the line at Fullerton and Servite and St. Anthony fight for at least a share of the Angelus League lead.

Lowell, with a 5-0 mark faces a surprising Buena Park team, which is 4-1. The Coyotes were 1-8 in preleague, but have lost only to Sunny Hills over the last three weeks.

Brea-Olinda and Fullerton are tied with La Habra for second in the Orange League, two games behind undefeated El Dorado. The Wildcats, with a balanced scoring attack upset La Habra, the top-ranked team in 3-A CIF Tuesday, 60-59, while Fullerton was losing to El Dorado, 77-55.

The Indians have a one-two scoring punch in Roger Childs and Hobie Brenner. Childs was averaging 22.8 in league play before Tuesday's game while Brenner, a 6-5 center, had a 20.5 average.

El Dorado will try to keep its comfortable bulge when the Hawks host Sonora, while La Habra hosts Esperanza.

The scrambled Century League leaders, Estancia, Santa Ana Valley and Tustin, jockey for position tonight. Estancia plays Villa Park, while Valley is at Foothill and Santa Ana invades Tustin. The Saints, 3-2 in league, can knock Tustin into third with a victory.

In the Angelus League, Servite, coming off a close 69-68 victory over Mater Dei brings its 2-0 league mark into St. Anthony. St. Anthony is 10-5 on the year. Pius X, also 2-0 in league is at St. Paul.

Bolsa Grande and Los Amigos, both 4-0 in the Garden Grove head for a showdown in next week's games.

The Matadors invade Garden Grove while Los Amigos hosts Santiago tonight.

Irish Tune Up For UCLA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) – Notre Dame, fresh from its long-delayed eighth victory of the season, is busy preparing for Sunday's nationally televised basketball game against 10th-rated UCLA – a game Irish Coach Digger Phelps says could pose difficulties for his team.

But Phelps pledges: "Believe me. We'll be ready."

"I think it's a great rivalry, probably the best rivalry in college basketball today," Phelps said Thursday night. "We should really be juiced up."

The Irish started the season with a rush, winning their first seven games and climbing to the No. 2 ranking in The Associated Press poll. But then they went into a tailspin, losing to Kentucky, Princeton, Villanova and Marquette before thrashing little Stonehill College in a mismatch Monday night.

Now it is time again to prepare for the Bruins, a team Notre Dame upset in Los Angeles, 66-63, earlier this season.

More than anything else, Phelps expresses concern about the Bruins' depth and his team's deficiency in that department.

"I don't think we can match 'em nine guys against nine guys," Phelps said. "If we do it, we've got to be able to do it with six or seven men. We just haven't got much mileage out of the rest of our bench."

Agosto's Break: Foreman Fight

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) – Pedro Agosto calls himself the heavyweight champion of the Caribbean, but Saturday he will just be the substitute they brought in to fight George Foreman.

For Foreman, the scheduled 10-round bout at the Municipal Auditorium is seen as a chance to keep busy and pick up $250,000.

For Agosto it is his biggest payday – $15,000 plus expenses – in a winning but undistinguished career and the break all fighters talk about, especially fighters who never get one.

"Nobody wants to fight with me," said Agosto, who has a 26-6-1 record, with 19 knockouts, but who will be fighting for just the fifth time since 1973. "Guys with prospects don't want to take a chance. The guys who are established are afraid to take a chance.

"Don King offered me a break, and I take it," said the 28-year-old Puerto Rican who holds a $250 a week job as a maintenance worker with the city of Oradell, N.J.

Agosto got the call when Larry Middleton, who was to fight Foreman, failed to pass his physical.

Mile Dominates Philly Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) – Ireland's Eammon Coghlan, who gave up a Dublin bank job to pursue the indoor track circuit in the United States, heads a seven-man field in the mile tonight at the 10th Philadelphia Track Classic.

Coghlan, who won the mile at a recent meet at College Park, Md., faces a field that includes veteran Marty Liquori, Italy's Vittorio Fontanella, Ken Schappert of the New York A.C., Villanova's Phil Kane, George Mallery of Penn State, and Princeton's Craig Masback.

The Short Circuit

Munson, Yanks Make Peace

NEW YORK (AP) – The case of Thurman Munson, the unhappy star catcher, is closed. And everyone seems to be happy.

"We reached an agreement and both sides are happy," Munson, the AL's All-Star catcher, said Thursday by telephone from his home in Canton, Ohio.

"I apologized for a few things I said and George apologized for any misunderstandings he might have caused," Munson said. "He asked me if there were any hard feelings that I couldn't get over, and did I want to be traded some place.

"And I said, 'Hey, George, I want to play in New York.'"

Colts Fire GM Joe Thomas

BALTIMORE (AP) – Joe Thomas, who dismantled the Baltimore Colts and then rebuilt them into a National Football League power, has been fired as the team's general manager and executive vice president, it was announced today.

In a one-sentence statement released by a team spokesman, Robert Irsay, the Colts' owner, said Thomas' "employment and his employment contract with the Baltimore Colts were terminated" Thursday.

Baylor Grid Coach Quits

WACO, Tex. (AP) – Carroll Dawson, head basketball coach at Baylor University for the past three and a half years, announced Thursday that he was resigning the post effective immediately.

Dawson said the purpose of the resignation was to "give the team new direction."

Aztec QB Has More Surgery

SAN DIEGO (AP) – Pete Tereschuk, starting quarterback for San Diego State's football team, underwent his second major arterial operation within three months today.

Texas Loses Star Forward Goodner

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) – The Texas Longhorn basketball team, which has less depth than any team Coach Abe Lemons can remember, has lost its star forward for the season.

Gary Goodner of Denton, 6-7, the team's strongest player and best jumper, has been declared ineligible for failure to complete work on a beginning geography course last fall.

yesterday morning in his home at Lakewood. He was a heart victim at age 52

At the Convention Center he was missed by the men in his business, sports writing, and he will be missed at Anaheim Stadium when the Angels play, at Dodger Stadium when the Dodgers play, at the Coliseum, at Pauley Pavilion, The Forum and Sports Arena and wherever else there is sports action. He always was there – a true professional.

It won't be the same now when the sports writers and other newspapermen assemble. One reason is because Hank always was such a kind and friendly individual – quiet but always smiling and helpful.

More importantly, Hank will be sorely missed by thousands of readers, those who liked his fresh and breezy style and those who respected his authentic reporting and waited for it every day.

I'm not positive but I believe I was with Hank on his last ride. He came over for a press conference relative to last night's University of San Francisco – Athletes in Action game. Smiling and friendly, he appeared as healthy as ever. He expected to be there. He asked meaningful questions, wished his colleagues well. You thought you would see him again soon.

Bud Tucker's TODAY

Big D Takes His Loss Bravely

To begin with, you must understand that Don Drysdale is a man of little imagination.

His restaurant is located in an area of Santa Ana awash with establishments with titles so exotic the average man has no chance with the pronunciation.

Drysdale calls his place "Drysdale's."

What's more, the joint does not have a velvet rope and prices clearly appear on the menu. If you desire imported

Don Drysdale

French wine, you bring it with you in a brown bag. The strolling violinist is an eccentric who wandered in off the street.

Therefore, you hardly expected an inspired speech when the baseball Hall of Fame elections were held the other day and Big D was still on the outside looking in.

"That," Drysdale said with no particular emotion, "is the way it goes."

Gosh, the least you might have expected was him to be barging about the kitchen kicking pots and pans around the floor and throwing dishes at the wall and cream pies in the face of the chef.

That was the manner in which he reacted when he was treated rudely on the mound. Once, Dodger manager Walter Alston came out and asked for the ball and got an argument from Big D who was sure he could get the next guy.

Alston insisted and Drysdale threw him the ball, fuming, "here...stick it."

"You better stick it," Alston replied calmly. "It's the only place you can put it where they won't hit it."

But as for the Hall of Fame matter, Drysdale remains entirely placid.

The point is, of course, that Drysdale deserves to be in the shrine if for no other reason than there are guys occupying niches whose lifetime figures are no better than Big D's. These names will not be mentioned lest it be interpreted to mean these fellows are not entitled, which is not the intention here.

The unclouded view from here is simply that Drysdale should be elected off his highly distinguished career with the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers. His statistics match many of those displayed at Cooperstown and his record of 56 consecutive innings may never be broken.

Of course, the mysterious course of Hall of Fame voting is hardly a news bulletin. One attempting to understand certain aspects of the balloting considers the possibility of a popularity contest in some respects, which is unfortunte.

Consider this. Leonard Koppett, a New York baseball author of no small influence, is on record as saying, "Don Drysdale does not belong in the Hall of Fame."

This is so preposterous, you have to suspect a questionable motive.

The matter of popularity again came to mind when you noted that Ernie Banks was the only player named to the Hall of Fame in the elections of 1977.

La Habra Girls In Title Match

La Habra High will try to become the fourth different school in four years to win the CIF girls' field hockey title when the Highlanders meet colton Saturday at 1 p.m. at Golden West college.

And it might just be the start of things for La Habra which boasts a freshman goalie, Bonnie Nash, who has allowed only six goals in 12 games.

"This is the oldest team I have had," said La Habra head coach Sandy Blumenthal, who has been coaching six years at La Habra.

The rest of the roster includes Martha Dennis (junior) and Germaine Rudfill (sophomore).

La Habra enters the finals with an 11-0-1 record, tying Sonora in Orange League play. La Habra advanced on penetration time against Claremont and Edison in the first two rounds before knocking off Charter Oak, 2-1, in the semifinals.

Colton enters with a perfect 15-0 record, stonping Gladstone, 3-0, and Unviersity, 2-1 before advancing to the finals on penetration time against Sonora.

La Habra has been in the playoffs all four years, losing to Colton in the first two seasons.

Sonora and Charter Oak clash at 11 a.m. Saturday for third place.

There will be no admission charged.

Monday Finally Arrives As A Dodger

By JOHN STELLMAN

It was Monday at Dodger Stadium Thursday.

Rick Monday came home.

The 31-year-old outfielder who could have walked into the Dodger Stadium clubhouse in 1963, strolled through that door at precisely 10:01 yesterday.

If it had been his decision, the Santa Monica product admitted that he would have accepted a generous offer made by Tommy Lasorda to play in Los Angeles 13 years ago.

Instead, he submitted to the desire of his mother, who wished he would enroll at Arizona State University.

"Tommy offered to throw in a bonus jack," Monday kidded after fellow newcomers Johnny Oates and Mike Garman had similarly been introduced to the media during a Stadium Club luncheon.

Long rumored to be heading west, Monday was obtained from the Chicago Cubs along with Garman in exchange for Bill Buckner, Ivan de Jesus and a minor league pitcher.

"Are you going to work out?" questioned Charlie Hough of the Dodgers' newest centerfielder.

"No," Monday replied. "I haven't signed my contract yet."

Meanwhile, in the Dodger offices upstairs, Monday's representatives were huddling with general manager Al Campanis.

"Come on out," Hough neddled as he followed his teammates out to the field for an informal workout, "I want to break a couple of bats."

Monday did appear, eventually. Donned in uniform No. 16, Monday submitted to numerous television interviews, before joining his teammates and the media for lunch.

"It's satisfying to sit down and not have a golden arch over my head," Rick laughed.

The credentials he brings from Wrigley Field are equally satisfying.

Monday put together his greatest season last summer. His 32 home runs were third best in the National League. He drove in 77 runs, scored 107 more and hit .272.

"I've never considered myself a home run hitter," Monday answered, when queried about the 22 home runs he drilled out of cozy Wrigley Field.

It is his glove, however, as much as his bat, that appeals to the Dodgers.

While his slugging percentage of .507 was fourth best in the league, his fielding percentage of .933 was second best.

"I'd like to welcome you all to the major leagues," Lasorda laughingly told the newest Dodgers.

"I'm not a public speaker," responded Oates, obtained from Philadelphia in exchange for Ted Sizemore. "This is the fourth time I've been traded, and the first time I've been asked to speak."

Despite injuries that restricted him to 37 games last year, the young catcher hit .253 for the National League East champions.

"I'd like to thank the Dodger organization for taking me out of Chicago," quipped Garman, who is expected to bolster the Dodger bullpen.

"I think we were more impressed in Garman than the Cubs were," Lasorda chuckled. "We really wanted him, but they threw in Monday too."

Garman threw the audience his first curve of the season when somebody wanted to know how he was going to diet 15 pounds off his waist line before his arrival at Vero Beach.

"I'll call Tom once a day and he'll give me a pep talk," Garman chuckled.

The enthusiasm is already bubbling from beneath the catacombs of Dodger Stadium.

The effervescent Lasorda talked of an improved team in 1977, a year that will be the first without Walter Alston since 1954.

The acquisitions of Monday, Garman and Oates, Lasorda believes, will permit the Dodgers to contest Cincinnati in the National League West.

The enthusiasm is shared by Monday, who concluded: "We'll show Cincy that they've got a long way to go."

Chargers Try To Stay 'Perfect'

NEXT GAMES

TONIGHT (8:00) — Rio Hondo at Cypress, Golden West at L.A. Southwest, Harbor at Los Angeles City.

Coach Don Johnson and his Cypress College basketball team try to complete the first round of Southern Cal Conference play with a perfect 6-0 record tonight at 8 when they host dangerous Rio Hondo College on the Charger court.

Off to their best conference start, the Chargers are 18-1 overall and are ranked No. 5 in California and No. 2 in the Southland.

While Cypress is gunning for its sixth straight conference win without a loss against Rio Hondo, Golden West visits Los Angeles Southwest and Harbor travels to Los Angeles City. Second place Santa Monica draws a bye.

Coach Bob Bland's Roadrunners come to Cypress off a bye date well rested, but are still trying to figure out what was wrong last week when they lost back-to-back to Golden West and Harbor following a 10-4 pre-conference mark that kindled title hopes at the Whittier school.

Steve McGuire, David Koza, Paul Jarvis, Jim Shasky and Al Muniz give Rio Hondo plenty of fire power,but the Roadrunners can't maintain their usual tempo without rebounds and Cypress figures to have the edge on the boards due to the presence of Tyrone Branyon Rory Lovell, Barry Weston and Mike Sedan who all outreach the tallest Roadrunners.

Branyan, who works both ends of the court with equal ability, scored only 14 points in the 67-59 Cypress win at Harbor last Tuesday night, but still leads the Charger scoring with 122 points in five conference starts.

McGuire is the seventh highest scorer in Roadrunner history over two seasons, but will need super help from his teammates to stay in the game with the Chargers who are 18-1 on the season.

Golden West will have a height advantage over Los Angeles Southwest, but Cougar quickness may even accounts. Fred Scarborough is the tallest Cougar at 6-5 and leads his team in scoring and rebounding.

Golden West has three players averaging in double figures in John Hirschler (13.1), Todd Zirbel (12.1) and Dan Bush (10.6), so should have a scoring edge on the Cougars.

Soph guard Steve Hines and frosh phenom Brad Matthews leads Los Angeles City against Harbor the defending champ. Hines was the second leading assist man in the conference as a year ago and is having another good season despite the Cubs' 0-3 mark in conference play.

Biola Bounces Point Loma

Biola College rebounded from a first half deficit Thursday night to defeat Point Loma College 78-68 at the Anaheim Convention Center, and keep its conference record spotless.

The game was a preliminary to the Athletes-In-Action-University of San Francisco confrontation, but it held some of its own importance, as it matched two of the finest NAIA teams on the West Coast.

Phil Flentge scored Biola's first eight points, as the La Mirada school jumped to an early lead. However, Pt. Loma, led by Jeff Armstrong, took the lead halfway through the first half.

Biola (3-0) came back to take a nine-point advantage at halftime. The Eagles kept Pt. Loma at arm's length for the final 20 minutes, sparked by the rebounding and defensive play of 6-8 center Tim Warkentin.

Biola freshmen Tim Siefken and Brad Hoffman provided some strong offensive punch off the bench for the second straight game.

PT. LOMA (68) - Robinson 6, Armstrong 18, Elliot 1, Owen 12, Hanley 6, Balikian 5, Schengel 9, Anderson 6, Burlison 2, Spalte 2
BIOLA (78) - Warkentin 10, Bunn 11, Newkirk 10, Flentge 16, Parker 7, Siefken 12, Hoffman 6, Cole 6
Halftime - Biola 37, Pt. Loma 28

Ex-Poly Star Leaves 49ers

James Hughes, a 6-4 freshman, has left the talent-laden Long Beach State basketball team. Will there be more?

Head coach Dwight Jones conceded in pre-season it would be a major task keeping everyone happy and aware of his role with all eight lettermen back from last year, two standout exredshirts, four freshmen and a JC transfer.

Soccer Benefit At S.A. Bowl

Soccer fans of Orange County will have an opportunity to honor one of their own tonight. Jesus Gonzales (23) of Anaheim was killed early this month when he slipped on wet pavement and fell under wheels of a car.

Gonzales, well known in soccer circles, had played in Mexico along with stints with the Santana Club and Club Avante of Anaheim.

His former teams and teammates are staging a memorial doubleheader tonight at Santa Ana Bowl with the first game starting at 6 o'clock. A second match should take the field at 8:30. Local teams will be playing. All proceeds from the affair will be turned over to the Gonzales family.

Loara Breezes; BG Gets Scare

Loara High, with only a tie on Tuesday to blemish its otherwise perfect record, whipped Los Alamitos, 55-6, in Empire League wrestling action Thursday night.

Westminster, the team which tied Loara, stopped Newport Harbor while Fountain Valley handled Huntington Beach. Harbor, 49-5, while Fountain Valley handled Huntington Beach, 37-20, to remain undefeated in their collision course in two weeks in Sunset League play.

Undefeated Garden Grove League league leader Bolsa Grande received a scare before nipping La Quinta, 27-25.

CIF Makes Dramatic Changes In Grid Format

of being a CIF-SS champion in football. (The committee might add here that some might feel that this would be cheapening the playoffs, but section members should realize that even with approximately six leagues in a given playoff division, there would be more leagues than many sections in the state now have which declare CIF champions.)

For example: the Los Angeles City section has both 4-A and 3-A champions, yet there are only 25 schools, or approximately four or five leagues in each division;

6. If such a division was successful in football, there is the possibility that this format could be expanded to other sports such as basketball.

The proposal was recommended by a vote of 34 leagues to 11 leagues opposing.

The new proposal doesn't affect eight-man football, which is considered a separate entity from the 11-man football.

Just how the new eight-division setup will affect Orange County's schools is not certain. Obviously, since the county is a hotbed of prep football, teams will be scattered throughout the eight divisions. Decisions will be made at a later date with enrollment and strength of programs top priority.

MEETING ITEMS - Referees at sporting events on the high school level were given a $2 raise, the first raise in pay in three years, by a 25-18 vote...

The Citrus Belt Area releaguing for the 1977-78 season was approved. The Arrowhead League in which Lutheran La Verne, California School for the Deaf (Riverside), San Jacinto, Sherman and Webb making up the rest of the league. The Pinon League in which St. Michael's is a member remains the same. The Ivy League, Citrus Belt and San Andreas Leagues will be eight-team leagues while the De Anza League will have seven members and a new league will be formed to include Barstow, Kennedy (Barstow), Elsinore, Bloomington, Rim of the World and Perris.

Status on two high schools is in the dark. Monrovia's plea to not be placed in the Pacific League for the 1977-78 season was approved forcing a shuffling in that area. Burroughs (Ridgecrest) may be switching to the Central Section of the CIF, pending a vote at next week's state meeting.

The combined seasons of sports for boys and girls was voted back to committee study. The new setup, if approved, would create three seasons of sports for the girls with many of the similar sports being held at the same time as the boys. The seasons of sports for 1977-78 will be made by the executive council with the approval of the general council. It will run basically along the same lines as this season with the possible expansion of some of the girls' sports seasons.

The executive committee reported that last week it approved the Angelus League to be a five-team league in football and that ties in girls' softball will be handled the same way as boys' baseball, namely one-half win and one-half loss.

The Saddleback Valley District submitted an open letter to the council to reconsider its rule which forced the then Mission Viejo High swimming coach Mark Shubert to resign or jeopardize the eligibility of his swimmers in CIF competition in 1975. Shubert is head coach of the successful Mission Viejo High students and students from other high schools.

Seniors Tennis Begins Today

The second annual Winter Seniors Tennis Championships open today at the Laguna Niguel Tennis Club, 23500 Clubhouse Drive, Laguna Niguel.

The event is staged by the Southern California Senior Tennis Society and over 300 entries have been filed, according to club owner Peter Paxton.

Top ranked national junior-veteran and veteran players are in the field with the 35-year old division having seven of the first ten ranked playing. Seven of the eight top ranked players in the 45-year old class are entered.

Horst Ritter, of Pasadena, returns to defend his 35-year-old title. Seeded No. 1 in the 45's is Herm Ahlers of San Juan Capistrano. Dick Ross (Newport Beach) is No. 2 seed. Dick Leach (Laguna Beach), Bill Frantz (Orange), Bob Duesler (Costa Mesa), and Gary Johnson (Tustin) are expected to challenge Ritter.

The public is invited to watch the matches. There is no admission charge. Matches will run from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Young Marathon Runner Praised

SAN DIEGO (AP) - "He's absolutely the best young marathoner of all time."

That's what his former junior college track coach calls Kirk Pfeffer of the University of Colorado. Last weekend Pfeffer, 20, won the 26-mile Mission Bay Marathon in a record 2 hours, 16 minutes.

"Most marathoners don't hit their peak until they're in their 30s," said Bob Larson of his former charge at nearby Grossmont College.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

Cha Cha Ready To Challenge Prudomme

By ART PARRA

Two reputations will be on the line next week when the 17th annual NHRA Winternationals are held at the Pomona Drag Strip.

Don Prudomme, winner of everything in sight, will have his Funny Car domination challenged. Never in the history of drag racing has one individual ruled as Prudomme has in the past two years. His record shows 13 victories in the last 16 major National Hot Rod Assn. events, two consecutive Winston World Championships and a career record of 22 national race titles. His sights are locked in on the 1977 Winternational.

Shirley Muldowney, better known in the sport as "Cha-Cha," has more than a reputation at stake. She is in a battle of dispelling skeptics who still believe her triumphs in the top fuel division are figments of imagination.

"Those doubting Charlies are becoming fewer and fewer," she says. "Kinda like the California Condor, they are being placed on the endangered species list but they are still around."

A win at Pomona along with victories at the Columbus (Ohio) Springnationals and the season-ending Winston World Finals at Ontario would put an end to any nagging doubts about Shirley's status as a Top Fuel favorite.

Her average quarter-mile elapsed time for the last 16 runs is a remarkable 5.964 seconds with an average speed of 239.94 miles per hour. But, the pert driver recognizes it is "side-by-side" wins that make record books, not statistics.

Tickets for the Winternationals, set for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday (Jan. 27-30) are on sale at all Ticketron and Mutual agencies.

Vessels Wins Award

The Academy Award "Oscars" of Off-Road Racing were handed out last Saturday night at the annual SCORE banquet held at the Inn of the Park in Anaheim.

Only two county drivers were recipients of the coveted "Off-Roadsman of the Year" award, provided in 13 four-wheel vehicle divisions and three motorcycle classes.

Frank "Scoop" Vessels III, driver of a Ford Pickup in Class 8, was honored in his division. The 24-year old Vessels is from the family owning Los Alamitos Quarter-horse race track.

"This is the highlight of my racing career," said Vessels. "I want to thank all those who made it possible."

Awards are determined by a vote of racers, and who in the competitors' opinion, have performed well in the 1976 off-road races, plus contributed to the sport in its entirety and displayed honesty, fairness, a willingness to help others and excelled in good sportsmanship.

A.C. Bakken, of Anaheim, was awarded the Class 21 honor for motorcycles. He rides a Hasqvarna.

Several Arla drivers picked up cash prizes in the SCORE drivers point race. Gordon Poff (Seal Beach) was Class 6 winner as Robert Weston (Laguna Beach) was runner-up. In Class 8 it was Mike Power (Newport Beach) winning in a division dominated by county pilots. Stan Gilbert (Cypress) was second and Vessels third. David Farnsworth (Irvine) was the Class 38 winner. Gale Pike (Laguna Beach) was second in Class 3.

PARRA-graphs – Considerable "thunder" has been taken out of the coming Citicorp Cup Can-Am series. Supplementary rules will not include eligibility for cars powered by turbocharged or supercharged engines. This means the "power" will be taken away from this thundering monsters with the hopes this will create closer competition among the cars.

The USAC awards party is set for Saturday night at Indianapolis. In conjunction to this celebration, USAC has announced the prize money for 1976 topped $3.6 million. Johnny Rutherford won the most at $378,508. He was followed by Gordon Johncock $222.056, A.J. Foyt $190,268, Al Unser $167,747, Bobby Unser $137,626, Wally Dallenbach $120,409, Mike Mosley $107,959 and Duane "Pancho" Carter (Huntington Beach) $103,705.

Corona Raceway will kick-off the 1977 season with a 100 lap Open Competition Stock Car race on Sunday. The program will begin at 1 p.m. Preceeding the 100-lapper over the half-mile dirt oval will be trophy dashes and semi mains.

Dodgers, Giants Opener—Finally

The Los Angeles Dodgers will open and close their 1977 season with major promotional events at Dodger Stadium.

The Dodgers are to open their season on Thursday afternoon, April 7, against the San Francisco Giants. It will mark the 20th year for the Dodgers in Los Angeles but the first time the Dodgers have met the Giants in an opening game since the 1958 season when the first National League game was played in Los Angeles.

A souvenir ticket will be prepared for the Dodgers' opener and there will be ceremonies to commemorate the 20th year in Los Angeles.

The Dodgers will close their season on Sunday, Oct. 2, against the Houston Astros.

The Dodgers' promotional list includes Jacket Series (April 11, 12 and 13), Ball Night (April 29), Batting Glove Night (May 6), T-Shirt Night (July 8) and Helmet Weekend (July 22, 23, and 24). Youngsters 14 and under will receive items at each of these dates.

Mail orders now are being accepted by the Dodgers. Box seats are priced at $4.50 and reserved seats at $3. There is a 50 cent charge for postage and handling. Mail orders should be sent to Ticket Manager, Los Angeles Dodgers, Post Office Box 80100, Los Angeles, 90080.

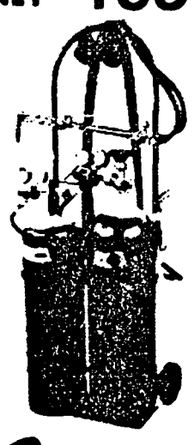

Vanguards Look For Revenge

Five weeks ago Southern Cal College dropped a controversial 90-88 decision to the host team in the finals of the Cal Baptist Tournament.

Tonight at 8, the same two schools meet on the same Riverside court and this time in league play.

One big difference is that SCC no longer has Tom McCourt, who hit a team high 31 points in the first meeting.

Comingforth, convincing winner of last month's $186,000 Golden State Futurity, begins the second phase of her winter program tonight in the El Primero Del Ano Derby trials at Los Alamitos.

The swift daughter of Azure Te easily captured the Golden State event on Christmas night in the year's final major two-year-old race and now she will attempt to earn one of the 10 fastest qualifying times from tonight's trials for a shot at the year's first hundred-grander.

Only the 10 quickest sophomores from the 35 that will go postward in four divisions of the trials will qualify for berths in the fifth annual $130,000 Derby Jan. 29.

Comingforth, a finalist in the All-American Futurity last Labor Day at Ruidoso Downs, N.M., collected nearly $80,000 for her Christmas night triumph in the Golden State Futurity and will bring a lifetime bankroll of more than $130,000 into the Derby trials.

She drew into the third division – set to be run as the sixth race on the nine-race program – and figures to get her toughest opposition from Etta Chick, fastest qualifier to last summer's rich Kindergarten Stakes, and Te Adoro, winner of the Consolation Stakes.

Cauthe To Ride At S. Anita

Apprentice sensation Steve Cauthe, runaway leader of New York's Aqueduct jockey standings, may fly to California to ride Sunday's program at Santa Anita.

Trainer Ron McAnally, who will enter both Pocket Park and Rajah in San Fernando stakes, indicated this morning the chances are good that Cauthe may make his first venture west to handle the pair of four-year-olds.

The San Fernando is expected to split into two divisions and under the same Elmendorf ownership, each horse would be assured of running in a separate section.

Caliente Win Tax Canceled

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) – A plan to impose a 5 per cent tax on winnings at Caliente thoroughbred race track has been dropped.

The tax was proposed Dec. 30 by Mayor Fernando Marquez Arce as a means of producing $1 million in income annually for the city. A spokesman for the mayor confirmed the track's announcement Thursday that the tax is being called off.

A spokesman at Caliente said Marquez Arce "recognizes a tax of that kind would discourage American horse players and kill off the racetrack."

Fullerton Wins Ninth Straight

SACRAMENTO – Nancy Dunkle scored 20 points and Brenda Martin grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday as Fullerton State's Womens basketball team defeated Sacramento State, 80-62.

The victory gave the nationally ranked Titans a 9-0 record on the year.

FULLERTON STATE (80) – Ricketts 16, Hullah 8, Sullivan 4, McMorran 2, Evans 3, Lucas 7, Hill 2, Dunkle 20, Kinn 6, Martin 12
SACRAMENTO STATE (62) – Van Drimmelen 3, Wheeler 6, Littleton 12, Trippet 4, Digitale 21, Mallin 8, Pannell 2, Miller 6

Hawks, Bullets Trade Players

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) – Forward Len "Truck" Robinson was traded by the National Basketball Association Washington Bullets to the Atlanta Hawks Thursday in exchange for guard Tom Henderson and a draft choice.

Robinson, who was playing out his option with the Bullets, had appeared in all 41 of their games so far this season, averaging 16 points and 8.9 rebounds a game.

Henderson, like Robinson a three-year NBA veteran, has an 11.3 point-per-game scoring average and is second in the league in assists with an average of 8.4 a game.

The Bullets will receive an as yet undecided Atlanta draft choice in the deal.

'Crosby' Turns Tame

layout, which is new to the tournament this year. Bill Rogers shot four under par 68 at Cypress Point.

Jack Nicklaus, the pre-tourney favorite and a three-time Crosby winner, had a strong 69 at Cypress, probably the toughest of the three courses. The pros switch courses today and play one round on each of the three layouts before the Sunday finals at Pebble Beach.

Although the weather conditions were amazingly good for this event that often is visited by rain, cold, wind and sometimes snow, some of the game's premier performers had their difficulties.

Hale Irwin had to play his back nine in five under par to salvage a 71 at Cypress Point. PGA champ Dave Stockton was one over par at the Shore course. Johnny Miller, still complaining of a cold, was two over at the same course. U.S. Open champ Jerry Pate shot 74 at Pebble Beach. And Ben Crenshaw, the defending titleholder, had a 75 at Cypress.

Green, who was disqualified in his only other start this season, had an excellent putting round. He used only 29 strokes on the greens, dropped three birdies in the 15-foot range, once saved par with a tough, twisting eight-footer and scored a pair of deuces from 8-10 feet.

TUNA SANDWICHES – Dr. R.W. Fulches of Chula Vista needed help to hoist this 240-pound yellowfin tuna on the scales at Fisherman's Landing in San Diego. The huge tuna was caught on a trip aboard the Royal Polaris to Socorro Island, off Baja California.

WHOPPER HALIBUT – Ocean angling may be a bit on the slow side during winter months, but not for young Douglas Gay (left). He caught this 32-pound "Flattie" while fishing aboard the Sea Horse out of Dana Wharf. Skipper Ray Duane had to hold the big fish while the happy angler admired his catch. The halibut was taken just off San Clemente.

SEXY SCRUBBER – Eye-catching Rhonda Foxx, a 24-year-old nautical miss from Miami who just happens to be queen of Miami's International Boat Show, knows how to get down to the basics of keeping a boat in top shape. While Rhonda may know something about sailing, she also can take a tack to get a sailor's mind wondering from the sea.

Warm Weather Stirs Yellowtail, Seabass

The Register
OUTDOOR NEWS

Unusually warm water temperatures for this time of year are continuing to produce some light catches of yellowtail and white seabass at the Coronado Island, below San Diego, according to officials at Fisherman's Landing and Point Loma Sportfishing in the border city.

Sea surface temperatures have been warming to around the 60-degree mark by mid-afternoon, sources say, a condition which is four to five degrees above the norm.

Live squid has been the preferred bait for the yellows and whites and, although fishermen are averaging less than a fish per rod, the yellowtail have been near the 20-pound mark and the seabass are weighing from 30 to 38 pounds.

John Malthaner at Fisherman's Landing said the best day recently aboard the boat Prowler saw six passengers catching six white seabass, three yellowtail and 42 rockfish. The New Lo-An, from Point Loma Sportfishing, accounted for 19 passengers catching 15 yellowtail, eight bonito and 48 rockfish, and 21 passengers taking six yellowtail, five white seabass, one halibut and 162 rockfish on that vessels top trips.

Yellowtail also made a surprising one-day show at the Deep Hole, above Malibu, last week. A total of 15 passengers on the boat China Clipper from CISCO Landing, Oxnard, caught three yellows and lost several others, according to CISCO owner Jack Ward. In addition, two halibut, 30 calico bass and six barracuda were sacked.

Elsewhere along the coast, however, rockfishing is setting the pace.

Art Gronsky at Art's Landing, Newport Harbor, rates local rockfishing as fair, with salmon grouper, sand bass, mackerel, blue perch, sculpin and sheepshead combining to produce six to 10 fish per sack.

Robbie Robinson at Davey's Locker in Newport Harbor says Southeast Bank and the 14-mile Bank have been fair at best, with six to eight rockfish per rod being the norm most of this week. He says fishermen using heavy jigs are taking some of the better catches, however, including some salmon grouper up to 10 pounds.

Port O'Call Sportfishing in San Pedro is now sending some trips of the boat Freedom to Cherry Bank, were some excellent rockfishing is being enjoyed by passengers. Kirby Boos at Ports O'Call reported that 46 passengers on one Cherry Bank trip returned with 765 rockfish and 59 cowcod.

At Nicolas Island, rockfish catches have been consisting of about 40 per cent red snapper, says Bill Weeks at Queen's Wharf Sportfishing in Long Beach. He says best action has been found in the 500 to 600 foot depths. The boat Californian is handling the San Nicolas run and last week produced 915 rockfish and five cowcod on a single trip.

Cowcod and lingcod are still the offshore heavyweights for most landings. Jack Kennedy of Costa Mesa caught a 17½-pound lingcod at Catalina Island, while fishing aboard the Thunderbird from Davey's Locker and Bill Iida of Costa Mesa decked a 22½-pound cowcod at Santa Barbara Island while aboard the Channel Isle from Art's Landing.

CATALINA LING – Rick Schrouder was rock codding aboard the Thunderbird of Davey's Locker when this 25½-pound ling cod rewarded his efforts off Catalina Island.

Another Rare Escolar Caught

By CHUCK GARRISON
Register Outdoor Writer

"Shark!" yelled a friend on a surfboard nearby.

But to 18-year-old surfer Chris Larson, who has worked as a deckhand on partyboats, the big fish swimming slowly just west of Newport Pier looked more like some kind of tuna.

So Larson headed his own surfboard toward the fish.

And rammed it.

Some vigorous action ensued, man versus fish, but eventually, shortly before noon, Chris Larson brought ashore the fourth escolar even taken in California waters. It was a 41 1/4-inch male that weighed 28 1/2 pounds.

Of course, Larson did not know it was an escolar. Neither did the dory fishermen to who he showed his catch. But a call to the Department of Fish and Game about the oddball fish brought Robert Decker, a DFG marine warden, to the scene on the double. Decker took possession of the fish and brought it to the State Fisheries Laboratory in Long Beach, where marine biologist Jack Schoot identified it as an escolar.

The escolar is a tropical and subtropical fish considered rare anywhere, but especially so in the northeastern Pacific Ocean. Schott had no difficulty in making the identification, however, because it was only two months ago that an escolar was brought to the laboratory after being caught in a commercial fisherman's net off Point Dume. Before that only two escolars had ever been taken in California: a 29-inch fish cast ashore in Long Beach in 1928, and a 24-inch specimen caught off Marineland in 1960, according to John Fitch, research director of the California State Fisheries Laboratory.

Fitch noted that the preferred habitat of the escolar appears to be 300 to 700 feet deep in tropical and subtropical seas. Their occurrence off California probably is associated with an intrusion of "equatorial" waters – a normal phenomenon each fall for a month or two, but for longer periods some years, he said.

Escolars have gained a measure of notoriety throughout the world as a "castor oil fish" because of the fast and effective laxative effect they have on the human alimentary system when the fish is eaten.

The escolar taken at Newport Beach has been sent to the fish collection of the Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County.

Anchovy Vote

By a 3-2 vote last Friday, the California Fish and Game Commission turned down a request by the Department of Fish and Game to increase the seasonal quota of commercially caught anchovies.

Sportfishing interests had virtually unanimously opposed the increase – from 100,000 tons to 200,000 tons in the Southern California area.

The DFG had maintained that the anchovy population is under-harvested and that currently there are about 3.5 million tons of spawning anchovies off Southern California and northern Baja.

The majority of the Commissioners, however, had doubts about the accuracy of that estimate and voted accordingly, to not allow an anchovy increase.

Hot Action

Yellowfin tuna and wahoo fishing continues to be red-hot off the tip of Baja California, at Socorro and San Benedicto islands, according to Bill Poole, owner-operator of the long range boat Royal Polaris, out of Fisherman's Landing in San Diego.

Trout, Bass, Cats Lead Irvine Catch

Fishing for two species improved at Irvine Lake during recent days, as trout, largemouth bass and channel catfish are now being taken by anglers, according to Mrs. Alice Carlson, who manages the Orange County fishing facility.

"Trout fishing's been fair to good, but we also had some limits of bass and catfish recently," Mrs. Carlson reports.

Plastic worms have been the most effective bass lure, although relatively few bass fishermen have been on the lake. Dave Barajas of Orange used plastic worms off the east side cliffs to take his limit of 1-1/2 - to 3-pound bass, while Ed Lishok, Jr., of Norwalk, used plastic worms off Rocky Point to take a largemouth limit topped by a 5-pounder.

Some fishermen combined trout limits with catfish limits. James De Priest of Santa Ana and his son, Joel, took two trout limits from the west shore, while Jerry Adams of Long Beach used limburger cheese to post a limit of trout from the west shore and a limit of channel catfish from Santiago Flats.

Striped bass fishing continues to produce a few limits at Lake Havasu this week, although action is slower than the previous week. Most stripers are being caught by trolling deep running plugs or by jigging spoons in deep water.

John Alexander and Jim Ditslar, both of Lake Havasu City, checked into Havasu Marina with two limits of stripers up to 8 pounds each. Fred Kunkle of Havasu Landing took a 28-pounder on a jigged spoon and Bill Ingram of Black Meadow Landing boated a 14-2 striper.

The Cottonwood Cove area of Lake Mojave is producing fair bass fishing, plus a few large trout, according to Dave Shaw, marina manager.

Homer Burgess of San Jose visited Cottonwood Cove Resort last week and caught a pair of 3-1/2-pound trout plus a 6-pounder, while shore fishing with marshmallows. Tom Meredith and Wayne Cummings, members of the Bass Team fishing club, took 14 bass to 6 pounds on leadhead jigs.

Other reports and big fish catches follow:

CASTAIC LAKE – A few good catches of bass taken on spoons fished deep. Most bass found between 20 and 40 foot depths. George Kramer of Santa Ana and Chuck Boydstun of Rio Hondo had eight bass to 6-8; Richard Trask, West Covina, bass limit to 3-12. Some limits of trout taken on baits and spinners. Striped bass action slow.

LAKE PIRU – Fair to good for trout near dam and below boat docks. A few small bass taken. Crappie fishing slow.

LAKE HENSHAW – Good trout fishing in Santa Cruz and Cachima bays and near east end island. Most trout are pan-sized, but a few to 3 pounds are also being caught. Some good catches of smallmouth bass made on spinners, nightcrawlers and mudsuckers. Lorie Arnold, Garden Grove, 3-0 trout; Frank Liversedge of San Pedro and Eddy Hudson of Lomita, four smallmouth bass and four largemouth bass totalling 16-12.

LAKE CASITAS – Fair for pan-sized trout on bait and trolled lures. bass fishing slow to fair.

SAN ANTONIO LAKE – Fair action for experienced bass fishermen. Redear sunfish fishing good for those using worms at 20 to 30 foot levels.

LAKE HENSHAW – Trout hitting baits and lures. Bass fishing slow. A few bullheads, small crappie hitting. Andy Schmids, Hacienda Heights, 9-8 bass.

LAKE MEAD – (Overton Arm) Fair for bass. Fish averaging about two pounds and hitting plastic worms and jigs. Striped bass fishing scattered and spotty.

BAJA STRIPER – Susan Riley of South Laguna was happy with this 145-pound striped marlin which she caught recently during a trip to Rancho Buena Vista, south of La Paz. It took her more than two hours to land the big fish.

Pro Ski Races At Big Bear

Professional ski racing returns to Snow Summit in the Big Bear Lake area this weekend. The Dodge Pro Ski Classic, featuring internationally-renowned contestants, begins on Saturday and concludes Sunday.

Among racers trying for the Dodge Cup and purse will be Henrif Duvillard, of France. The french star won 15 out of 21 races in 1976 and $66,900 in prize money. He has also captured an event this year, the season opener in Spain earlier this month.

Qualifying on the giant slalom will take place on Saturday morning and finals held in the afternoon. This will be head-and-head competition over the famous dual course.

Sunday the races will follow the same format except the race will be a slalom event.

Trout Plant

The following lakes and streams, listed by county, are scheduled for restocking this week with catchable-size rainbow trout from Department of Fish and Game hatcheries.

LOS ANGELES - Castaic Lake and Downstream Pool, El Dorado Park Lake, Hansen Reservoir, Pyramid Reservoir.

SAN DIEGO - San Vicente Reservoir.

SAN BERNARDINO - Cucamonga-Guasti Park Lake, Lytle Creek (Middle and North Forks).

VENTURA - Piru Lake.

RIVERSIDE - Cahuilla Lake.

KERN - Hart Park Lake, Kern River (KRJ Powerhouse to Lake Isabella), Kern River State Park.

TULARE - Kern River (Fairview Dam to KRJ Powerhouse, Johnsondale Bridge to Fairview Dam).

S. Anan Sued For Illegal Lobster

The Department of Fish and Game went to court last Monday to seek a minimum of $128,710 in civil damages from a former commercial fisherman accused of illegal possession of California lobsters.

An equal amount is being sought from a number of other defendants, temporarily listed as John Does 1 through 20.

The suit alleges that the defendants took and/or possessed some 2,871 undersized lobsters from state waters, that these lobsters were the property of the people of California, and that the state is entitled to recover damages representing the value of the lobsters the harm to the lobster resource, and punitive damages as well.

Named in the civil action filed in Los Angeles Superior Court by the state attorney general's office was John Mark Emirzian of Santa Ana, along with the defendants who may be named later.

The complaint alleges that on or about March 13, 1974, Emirzian was in possession of approximately 2,871 lobster tails from undersized California spiny lobsters; and that he had taken these lobsters, either himself or from the other defendants, in the full knowledge that the lobsters had been taken wilfully and in violation of state law.

Season Ends For Waterfowl

The last of the 1976-77 general waterfowl seasons in California will close at sunset Sunday, the Department of Fish and Game said in a reminder issued today.

Seasons on ducks, geese, coots, gallinules and jacksnipe all will come to an end then in all areas of the state except in northeastern California where the seasons closed Jan. 9 and in the Colorado River area where the goose season closed Jan. 2.

Oysters To Yellowlegs: A Newport Bay Tour

Did you know that Upper Newport Bay Ecological Reserve is wealthy in native oysters, octopuses, hornsnails, blennies and yellowlegs?

You might if you visit Upper Newport Bay during an upcoming tour scheduled Saturday morning, Jan. 22. The tour is one of six conducted during the fall and winter by the Friends of Newport Bay. Others are scheduled Feb. 19 and March 19.

Purpose of the guided tours is to explain the value of ecological reserves such as Upper Newport Bay and their importance to birds and marine life.

According to Dep. of Fish and Game biologist Ronald Hein of Newport Beach, waterfowl and shorebirds can now be found at the reserve in large numbers. Birds, such as yellowlegs, are one of the highlights of the tour.

Other highlights include talks on plant life, archaelogy and mudflat organisms, such as hornsnails.

Tours start at 9 a.m. at the intersection of East Bluff and Back Bay Drives just off Jamboree Road. The last tour will leave the intersection at about 10:30 a.m.

To reach Upper Newport Bay Ecological Reserve from the Los Angeles or San Diego areas, take the San Diego Freeway (Route 405) to the Jamboree Road turnoff. Travel west on Jamboree to the traffic signal at East Bluff Drive, then turn right on East Bluff and follow to Back Bay Drive. Parking is permitted along East Bluff Drive.

EVER STRIVING FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Weapons Proliferation

With military weapons, ranging all the way from lightweight machine guns to backpacked guided missiles, easily available via the black market to any group of revolutionaries, vigilantes, terrorists or just plain crazies desiring to obtain them, periodic government attempts to deny U.S. citizens ownership or possession of simple hand guns just have to qualify as the unfunniest, macabre jokes of the century. Just how unfunny and macabre was documented by the Wall Street Journal in a Jan. 11 front page news story.

A world in which the word "peace" falls easily from politicians' mouths is glutted with lightweight, low-cost and easy to use lethal weapons, the story said: a condition for which the governments of the U.S. and the Soviet Union bear about equal responsibilityfor allowing the illicit traffic in military weapons to get out of control. Small, sophisticated arms designed to put more firepower into the hands of individual soldiers are rolling off assembly lines in both countries, and are being shipped to other countries around the globe. Suppliers don't keep track of what happens to them after that."

Ostensibly intended for recipient governments, as often as not the arms land on the black market where they are readily available to anyone with the patience to develop the right connections. The sheer volume of such shipments, the Journal pointed out, makes it often possible to arm a terrorist with a M-11 for as little as $5. (The M-11, sometimes referred to as the "perfect assassination weapon," is a U.S.-made hand machine gun that fires bullets by gas propulsion without sound, flash or smoke.) Made in two pieces, each nine inches long, the M-11 weighs only seven pounds and can empty its 32-round clip in 1.7 seconds. With it, an expert on such matters was quoted as saying, "I could kill a hundred people in the next room and you'd never hear it."

In addition to the glut of lethal weapons already available to just about anyone, an estimated $5 billion in arms that the U.S. abandoned in Vietnam offer a further danger. If the Vietnamese ever begin dispersing that arsenal, the incidence of violence in the world will increase in the years ahead, the Journal warned.

Nor is the flood of weapons confined to conventional firearms. There is the "Strela," a Soviet-made, heat-seeking, precision-guided missile, for instance, reported to be now showing up in "third World" countries, almost all Arab countries, and some African nations, including Mozambique. Listed as having taken delivery of Strelas were the "Third-World" People's Democratic Republic of Yemen (which has proclaimed an alliance with revolutionary movements elsewhere), Egypt, North Korea, and India.

Launched from the ground, the Strela "will knock a jetliner out of the sky at altitudes of up to 6,560 feet," the Journal noted. An indication of the uses to which they may be put was provided in 1973, when Italian police burst in on five Arab terrorists setting up a battery of the missiles (light enough to be carried on a man's back) in an apartment near Rome, directly under the traffic pattern of the Leonardo da Vinci Airport. Shipped originally from the U.S.S.R., to Egypt, it was guessed that these particular Strelas were in turn sold to Libya. Libya's head of state, Moammar Khadafy, is said to be happy to distribute arms to almost anyone who will use them against a government he opposes.

In addition, the Journal story went on to report, Libya is known to have obtained from the Soviets large quantities of RPG-7 rockets, which weigh less than ten pounds and can "destroy a tank, let alone a limousine or speaker's platform." Libya, the Journal pointed out, is believed to be supplying the provisional the Provisional Wing of the IrishRepublican Army with the RPG-7s and other weapons.

The paradox of all this is that the people who are paying for the proliferation of the lethal weapons all over the world are, for the most part, the taxpayers of the U.S.S.R. (where private ownership of firearms is already forbidden) and the U.S.A. (where moves to prohibit or restrict such ownership are continously under way).

A strange world we live in, our masters, in which the trend seems to be toward placing deadly weapons in the hands of everyone except those forced to pick up the tab.

And Now: 'Heightism'

You've heard of sexism, racism, ageism and other prejudicial "isms." To the list add "heightism," a term coined some time ago by sociologist Saul Feldman to describe discrimination against short people.

While it may never become a vogue word, "heightism" is nevertheless an unhappy fact of life for countless men and women, even in this supposedly enlightened age, says Robert Half, president of a nationwide chain of personnel agencies.

He cites a study of University of Pittsburgh graduates which revealed that men 6' 2" or taller received starting salaries 12 per cent higher than equally qualified men who stood 6' or less. Short women received similarly short shrift.

Short people are often stereotyped as being stubborn, cocky or overaggressive, says Half.

"When short people reach the top of the corporate ladder, their well-deserved success is almost invariably attributed to a 'Napoleon complex.' " he notes. "Six-foot executives, on the other hand, are simply credited with drive, skill, ambition and intelligence."

He further notes that in every presidential election from 1900 to 1968, the taller of the two candidates always won. Not until 1968 was the pattern broken by Richard Nixon, who was half an inch shorter than George McGovern.

Unfortunately, certain other shortcomings about the winner were later revealed. Even so, Half is encouraged to believe that the victory of 5'9½" Jimmy Carter over 6'1" Gerald Ford may indicate a healthy change in the way we evaluate and choose our national leaders.

In any event, and in short, "heightism" doesn't make sense, he says. "Prejudice against shorter people, no matter how subtle, is both absurd and intolerable."

We'll go along with that; adding that, prejudice against taller people, no matter how subtle, makes no more sense.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Jan 21, the 21st day of 1977. There are 344 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954, the first atomic submarine, the USS Nautilus, was launched at Groton, Conn.

On this date –

In 1793, King Louis VI of France was beheaded.

In 1861, Jefferson Davis of Mississippi resigned from the U.S. Senate, 12 days after his state had seceded from the Union.

In 1903, the London Naval Conference opened.

In 1924, the Russian revolutionary leader Nikolai Lenin died at 54.

In 1950, a federal jury in New York found former State Department official Alger Hiss guilty of perjury.

In 1970, Iraq thwarted an attempt to overthrow the government, and 12 men were executed.

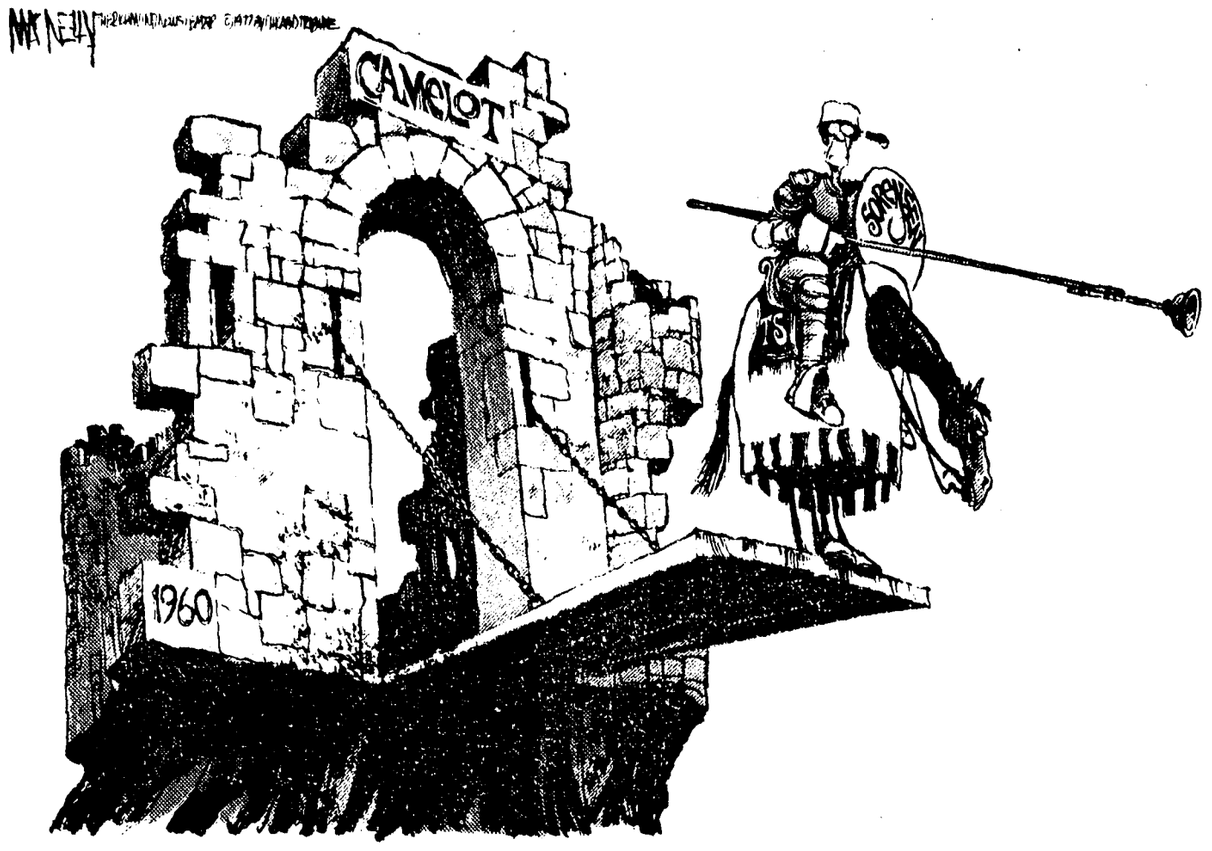

Ten years ago: North Vietnam claimed it had shot down 10 attacking American planes.

Five years ago: Democrats in Congress accused the Nixon Administration of prolonging the war in Vietnam and failing to deal adequately with crime, the ecomomy and the problems of cities.

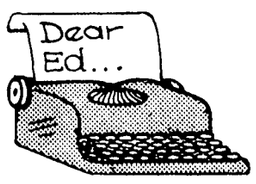

One year ago: The supersonic Concorde airliner was put into service by Britain and France with flights from London to Bahrain and from Paris to Rio De Janeiro.

Today's birthdays: Golfer Jack Nicklaus is 37. Actress Jinx Falkenberg is 58.

Thought for today: "Let us be happy and live within our means – even if we have to borrow the money to do it with." — Artemus Ward, American Revolutionary commander, 1727-1800.

Serve Em Right

We can have our cake and eat it, too, if we do this:

Give complete custody of a death-row criminal to individuals and groups who oppose capital punishment. Let these people assume total responsibility for supporting the criminal and for guaranteeing (as surely as would the criminal's death guarantee) he will never circulate in society again.

This plan would protect the public as voters have requested. It might also expose the hypocrisy of some dreamers, who want full credit for being humanitarian but who want the rest of us to pay the price.

If there are enough sincere opponents of capital punishment to empty death row, the plan should satisfy everyone.

No Longer Good

May I thank you for your quote from Alexis de Toqueville as he is a favorite of mine. Let me suggest another of his statements of wisdom which your irate caller, "Ears To You," Jan. 12 issue, might find more pertinent to our times.

After visiting our country in the 1830's in search of the secret of the genius and greatness of America he said, "America is great because she is good, and if America ever ceases to be good, America will cease to be great."

Sadly, America has ceased to be good, collectively speaking.

Many of our so called "Christian" churches have turned from the teaching of chastity, virtue and moral righteousness to the acceptance of the anything goes, "new morality," even to the advocating of homosexuality, abortion, fornication and adultery.

Our socialistic state colleges and universities no longer demand moral and/or academic excellence from their students.

Our legislative, judicial and executive ranks of government, local, state and national, are filled with an alarming number of corrupt, self-serving demagogues.

The Sabbath Day is no longer honored. It is a day of self indulgence, sporting events, shopping sprees and business as usual.

Venereal disease and teenage promiscuity has become a social plague with 750,000 reported cases of unwed teen pregnancies in 1974. Venereal disease for all ages has reached pandemic proportions.

Forty-three per cent of all arrests for serious crimes in the U.S. in 1975 involved young people under the age of 18 years of age. The next category, 18-24 years, accounted for 32 per cent of all arrests!

Hundreds of thousands of mothers are leaving their families to enter the work force in search of "self fulfillment" or to acquire material possessions while allowing their children to be raised by others.

Alcoholism is costing the nation more than 10 billion dollars a year. Drug abuse, too, has become a national plague.

Dishonesty for too many has become a way of life.

In 1976 more than one million reported cases of child abuse were recorded.

In our nations capitol there are more abortions than live births!

Yes, America has ceased to be good and is no longer the great nation she ought to be. How sad and disappointed Toqueville would be if he were to visit our shores today.

Wasting Gas

It is amazing that a tremendous amount of water and gas is being wasted, seemingly unnoticed.

Everywhere I go I see people after mowing their lawns, hosing down the sidewalks, then afterward hosing down the gutter, sometimes two city blocks long. This, with the fuel shortage and all, could save a lot of energy if they would use a broom, instead.

Also, lawnsprinkler systems are left running long after the water floods the sidewalks and runs in the gutters. Another thing I see is pool heaters with the dials turned to maximum heat, running at least 12 hours a day and all winter long, with anyone rarely using the pool. This is in apartment complexes.

There are many people who think that water and gas just flow. They do not know that it takes a lot of fuel to create steam and electricity to make the pumps run to get the water to its destination.

It takes a lot of money to get the fuel transported. It takes a lot of money in labor to get the water and gas and electricity to its destination. In some parts of the country right now gas is turned off because of a shortage. And in California some pools (outside) are from 80 to 85 degrees and no one is using the pool.

Vitamin B-17

I wish to take exception to your reference to Laetrile as a drug in the article headed "Patient Files Suit Seeking Laetrile Use", which appeared in the Register, Thursday, Jan. 13.

Laetrile is also known as amygdalin and vitamin B-17. Any competent biochemist can tell you that vitamins are food supplements and not drugs.

The congress of the United States has also declared vitamins as food supplements and not drugs.

Under current United States Law the Federal Food and Drug Administration has no authority to ban B-17 or any other vitamin or food supplement under arbitrary rules and regulations that pertain to drugs.

BRUDNOY'S COMPLAINT

A Time To Resign-From A Masthead

By DAVID BRUDNOY

The death last week of Sir Anthony Eden reminds us not only of this great and good man's lifetime of service to his country, but also of the time he could not in conscience continue in office, and so resigned rather than assent, by his presence in the government, to policies he considered unconscionable. The date was 20 February 1938, the issue is now a detail in a long, complicated story of negotiations with Italy and Spain, and Foreign Secretary Eden's resignation from the government served to protest his prime minister's sloppy, apparently duplistic diplomacy.

I have until this past week never resigned from anything in protest against a policy. I have left jobs to move on to other jobs, I abandoned the chairmanship of the Conservative Party to signal disapproval of the activities of certain nasty individuals within the leadership of that fated mini-party, I have let a membership in this or that lapse after a prolonged period of inactivity. But the act of resigning in protest is new in my experience.

New, but not unrewarding. The question comes up time and again in the lives of people who associate with action groups and publications: how does a dreadful act or an impossible article gain greater legitimacy owing to continued association with the group or publication in question by someone not the initiator of the act or the article? In other words, does one give aid and comfort to evil, even if one has not done the evil thing, by remaining with the agency that committed the evil?

The straw that broke this particular camel's back was an article in last month's issue of The Alternative: An American Spectator, a once hopeful magazine published out of Bloomington, Indiana, with which I have been closely associated for four years, listed as an "Associate" (in imitation of National Review, which also has such a category) on the masthead, and author for a few years of columns on the cinema and various special pieces.

The article, written by someone named Maloney, undertook to malign every single facet of what is called the "gay" movement in America: the lifestyle of any homosexual who dared not to live in terror and secrecy, the claims of homosexuals to equality under the law and in the regard of their fellows, the assertions by non-homosexual friends of gay persons that such individuals were not the scum of the earth, etc., etc., etc.

The article came not out of the blue, but as the latest act in an intermittent war against gay Americans initiated by The Alternative: brief pieces, asides, snide remark piled upon snide remark, had typified the magazine's attitude over the years, with one brief period of exception, during which I published an article and then a rejoinder to a couple of outraged responses, the burden of my message being essentially that queer-baiting (as I termed the phenomenon) was unworthy of serious conservatives, yet typical of way too many otherwise decent people on the Right.

My attempts in the direction of what I took (and take) to be enlightened tolerance occurred in 1973, after which the magazine had reverted to its accustomed philistinism on the subject, culminating in the piece by Mr. Maloney, a piece prominently featured, ballyhooed on the magazine's cover, and containing within its couple thousand words virtually every possible indictment, however ludicrous, against those 20 or 25 million Americans who had the audacity not to live in utter shame even though they had violated the canons of authoritarian conservative bigotry vis a vis homosexuality.

It was not with pleasure that, after pondering the matter for over a month, I wrote at length to The Alternative's editor, an old friend, expressing my outrage and my feeling that I could no longer remain associated with the journal unless some attempt was made to right the wrong with a serious, humane, decent article countering Maloney's. And I presume that it took a certain forced sang froid for the editor to write to me as he then soon after did, a long paragraph replete with vicious attacks on homosexuals and those heterosexuals who could not in conscience excoriate gay persons. "If you want to quit the masthead, that is your decision," my friend Tyrrell wrote. It is, and I have.

The conservatism with which I proudly associate myself has no room in it for fanatical hatreds, for cruelty, for deliberate ignorance. The day Anthony Eden died I severed my association once and for all with The Alternative. I feel cleansed.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Phil Burton's Rise And Fall

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON – This is the intriguing saga of the meteoric rise and precipitate fall of "King Phil" Burton, stridently radical San Francisco Congressman who thought he was set to be boss of the House.

Two years ago at the start of the 94th Congress he was soaringly on the ascendant. Cannily pied pipering 75 dewy-eyed young freshmen, Burton made himself chairman of the Democratic Caucus and then, righteously raising the cry of "reform," dethroned three veteran chairmen of powerful committees and menacingly scared the wits out of others.

Blitzing full speed ahead, the pushy, burly Californian seemed headed straight for becoming speaker or majority floor leader. No serious obstacle seemed to be in the way — except Burton!

He undid himself; he was just too much to stomach.

As the months rolled by he was too abrasive, too bossy, too obviously bent on power brokering and having his way — always, of course, in the name of "reform" and "liberalism."

That's why, when the 95th Congress convened several weeks ago, Burton's leftist spiel had lost much of its lure, and on the crucial showdowns he was ditched.

But to hear him tell it, his spectacular axing is not fini. Defiantly he vows:

"I'll be around calling shots for a long time to come. Already some of those who voted against me are sorry. I went my own way before and I'll continue to do so."

Under the circumstances that's about all he can do — for the time being.

His "establishment" victors are assiduously making it their business to keep it that way.

Attempts by Burton to recapture some control by championing so-called "procedural reforms" are quickly and decisively squelched. Latest rebuff was the flat refusal to give Rep. "Pete" Stark, close Burton henchman, a seat on the strategic Budget Committee. Instead it went to Rep. Omar Burleson, Tex., who makes no bones of being against "King Phil."

Helpfully abetting Stark's rejection is his penchant for grandstanding and headline grabbing. The dressy, bombastic Californian is personally no more popular than his mentor Burton.

There are plenty of prima donnas in the House, but the smart ones are discreet about it.

WHO'RE YOU?

It was most disconcerting; downright unimaginable!

Here was Betty Friedan, renowned feminist crusader, at a Washington cocktail party and no one was paying the slightest attention to her. The situation verged on scandalous; certainly it was extraordinary.

Finally a woman, after carefully looking Friedan over, said, "I'm not political, but you look familiar. Are you Mrs. Mondale?"

"No."

"Are you in Congress; in the government?"

"No."

"I'm sure I've seen you somewhere. Who are you?"

"I'm a writer. I write articles and books. Perhaps you have seen or heard of 'The Feminine Mystique.' I wrote that."

"Really! I haven't seen it, but you sure must be brave to write that kind of book. I'd love to have you autograph my prayer book. It's been blessed by five archbishops."

With that she handed Friedan a small white book with a cross on the cover. Holding it gingerly, Friedan signed it and handed it back saying:

"This is a first for me. I've never autographed a prayer book before."

Such is fame.

TIT FOR TAT

Those crocodile tears shed by radical-liberal backers of Sen. Hubert Humphrey over the so-called "desertion" of labor in his grab for Democratic floor leader are as phony as they are unwarranted.

Labor didn't desert the voluble, egotistic Minnesotan. It was the other way around.

AFL-CIO leaders were merely giving him a dose of his own medicine.

On a number of occasions, Humphrey, after promising to vote for labor-favored legislation, did exactly the opposite; opposing instead of supporting it.

Such an instance was his balking at completing development of a supersonic airliner (U.S. version of the British-French Concorde) After assuring AFL-CIO president George Meany he would back it. Continuance of the multi-billion-dollar project meant thousands of jobs and organized labor was strongly for it.

Meany personally asked Humphrey for help, and was told, "You can count on me. Don't give it another thought."

But when the legislation reached the Senate, Humphrey sided with the doves. Still yearning for the White House, he decided the leftists would be more useful and lined up with them — even making a speech against the SST.

Outraged at this "double-cross," as they bluntly called it, the laborites said nothing at the time. But they've never forgotten or forgiven it.

That's the real reason why Humphrey, despite his loud professions of being a "devoted friend of labor" was cooly passed up by them in favor of Sen. Robert Byrd, elected majority leader by acclamation.

Says Andrew Biemiller, veteran AFL-CIO lobbyist, "We always know where Byrd stands. When he gives his word, that's it."

Border Dispute

Driving to and from San Diego County on route 5 one must realize the hypocritical pretence and use of Camp Pendleton with at least 50,000 marines, I am told, to defend what?

Our U. S. borders, including California? Or are they at camp for the "in fighting"?

On the return trip one reduces speed and stops at the immigration station near San Clemente. This returning trip we counted but 7 U. S. Immigration officers on duty, presumably to protect the state of California from illegal aliens, political thugs, dope runners, smuglers, and criminals of all descriptions.

Our elected and politically appointed officials swore to protect the U. S. from foreign and domestic enemies.

Looks as if our "patriotic" domestic enemies will permit all invaders (8000 per week, estimated total, 8 to 12 million already here) to take over at least California as a starter in returning California back to Mexico, with probably other border states to follow.

Will Alaska and the entire USA real estate be "given away" (sold) to the highest bidder? What "super patriots" will "give away" the Panama Canal Territory and what will be their take?.

Our draft evaders are called enemies by some of our "political patriots." At least the draft dodgers were not the "patriots" that sold and gave away our resources, or tax-payers money for foreign aid or sophisticated military equipment, and territory to our enemies, in the name of patriotism! Little wonder we quietly are being taken over by foreign invaders! Our D.C. "patriots" planned it that way !!

Good Work

This is a letter of congratulation to all those doctors who did not cooperate with the government's swine flu inoculation program.

Because you did not allow yourselves to be stampeded into this questionable attack on a hypothetical disease, your patients were not among the thirty or more who died immediately after receiving the vaccine. And because you did not succumb to this exercise in government press-agentry, you have no lurking fears that you might have inflicted Guillain-Barre paralysis on your patients.

The exercise of a doctor's professional independence, based only on personal conscience and skill, becomes more difficult every day. What was noncooperation in this case may require full civil disobedience of you in the future, when PSRO's, HSA's, FDA's and a host of alphabetized health agencies attempt to capture your professional souls.

By this present show of strength and integrity, however, you have demonstrated to your patients a willingness to fight against manipulation by those who would prescribe their treatment by federal decree. You have established, thereby, the fact that you are the best consumer advocates of all. Keep up the good work!

Wondering About Costs

Hurrah for Commissioner Chapman! And hurrah for you for bringing into focus the immensity of the problem of illegal aliens in this county!

Two other aspects of this problem were not mentioned in the articles that I would like to add. Has anyone ever investigated how much money we are spending on pregnancies, immunizations, and hospitalizations of "visitors" to our country? One person having surgery can easily run $6,000. The average maternity cost runs $1,000.

Has anyone investigated a connection between heroin traffic and our county's barrios? Could this be how many people make the money to get to this country?

I know I must sound awfully coldhearted and unfeeling but I think our need to see ourselves as the "good guy of the world" is going to leave us in a position where we can't even take care of ourselves. I'm getting really tired of supporting so many non-productive people in our society with my hard work and my measley little paycheck.

Petition Deadline

As every one who is concerned regarding the exorbitant property tax situation in Orange County and the State of California, I want to let you know that the final date for the Citizens 1 per cent Tax Limitation petition dead line is March 1, to be returned to 2210 N. Poplar St., Santa Ana, Ca., 92706

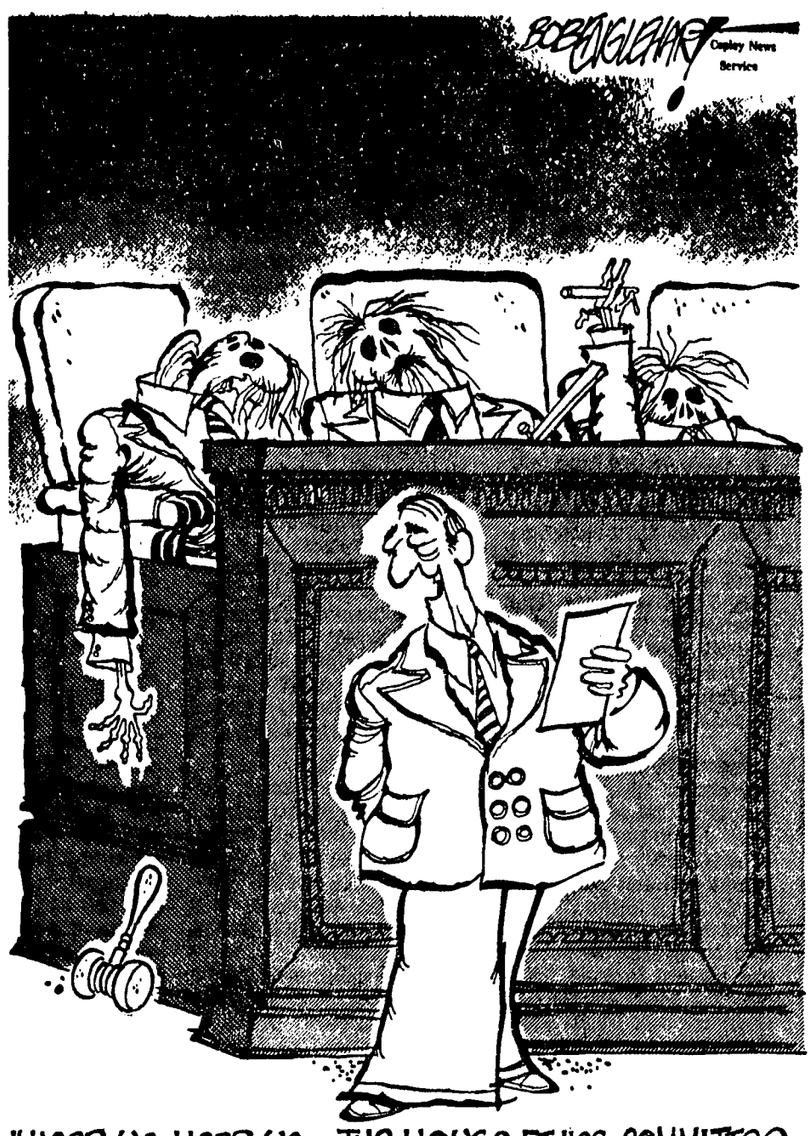

A minimum of 60,000 more signatures should be returned by then, a very small percentage of over 860,000 registered voters. If you haven't signed one yet or secured signatures, call 542-7883 for information of a petitioner close to you.

There are 49 co-chairman through-out the county, besides many circulators, so a petition should be available very close to you.

Don't wait for some one to contact you.

Also, watch for someone with a petition in a shopping center.

"HEAR YE, HEAR YE.... THE HOUSE ETHICS COMMITTEE IS OFFICIALLY GAVELED TO ORDER!"

Soon Bureaucrats Become Like Everyone Else

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON – (NEA) – Over the years I have watched new men come to Washington in one capacity or another in government. They arrive with fresh ideas. Their proposals are sharp and to the point, their words crisp. They are impatient with red tape and bureaucratic stalling, determined to get things done.

I talk to these same men a year or so later. They speak in bureaucratese, find it difficult to come to the point. Their sentences are long and involved, their plans nebulous. They speak ponderously of long-term gains and the need for a slow pace in pushing for change.

Some of these appointees come in rip snorting, shifting bureaucrats right and left, yanking officials almost bodily, replacing them with others. Soon they find to their sorrow that nothing is different. For the bureaucracy digs in and the next layer takes the place of the old.

Some newcomers become discouraged, convinced that no one can get a handle on the bureaucracy. These men usually end up resigning their posts and going back home.

Most newcomers, however, roll with the tide in the end. They become, as suggested above, more like Washingtonians than the Washingtonians and more like the bureaucrats than the bureaucrats themselves.

They're caught in a pattern of encirclement.

When a new department secretary and his assistants take over an agency, the established bureaucracy begins by shunting their way a host of perks – privileges, conveniences and special treatment. The newcomers find a variety of doors quietly opened for themselves and their families on a scale never imagined. They find that officials rush to obey their slightest personal request. They are smothered with everything possible to build their egos, treated with deference. Overwhelmed.

In stage two they're briefed to the gills with endless sophisticated, elaborate briefings, complete with colored slides, charts and whatnot on every conceivable operation in which the agency is engaged. These briefings, in some agencies, occur daily and are carefully designed to obfuscate anything the briefers and their supervisors don't want brought to light.

The bureaucratic staffs follow through by making certain the newcomers are occupied with a myriad of details on everything imaginable. Every insignificant problem is brought to their attention for decision.

With all this, the time and energy the newcomers have left to deal with reorganization or with key agency problems are minimal. They must perforce depend on the subordinates who have been there for years – the established bureaucracy.

When the new department secretary ventures into changes the bureaucracy does not want, he finds something has gone amiss here or there, and what he's requested or ordered doesn't happen. No one refuses to do what he's told. No one defies or argues. But little problems of one sort or another arise one after another – days pass, then weeks and months. Somehow the proposal has disappeared into the woodwork.

In the end little changes.

President-elect Jimmy Carter's people may prove the exception. But I am compelled in fact to agree with the thoughts expressed by Charles Kirbo, who's probably closer to Mr. Carter than any other man, as they appeared in a recent issue of the Washington Post under the by-line of Henry Mitchell:

"What would be the point of me in Washington? . . . The minute you sit down you become part of it, start thinking the same things everybody else does, start listening to the consensus . . ."

Will Poland Recognize Its Dissidents?

By The London Economist

For the first time, a ruling Communist party may be about to have to come to terms with a coalition of disillusioned workers, middle-class critics and rebellious churchmen who between them amount to a center of power outside the governing party. Tell that to Poland's fellow Communist parties in Eastern Europe and they will shudder.

Some time during 1977 a decision will have to be made about how, and when, to cut the subsidies which are fed to Polish consumers like a diet of tranquilizers.

These subsidies which keep prices down at a cost of something like an eighth of the national income in 1976, are as big an economic nonsense as Britain's present level of public spending. The loan Poland cajoled out of Russia in November, like Britain's new IMF money, is a borrowing of time to put the distortion right. But here the comparison with Britain ends.

A one-party state, for all its apparent strength, is short on political flexibility. When it runs into large-scale opposition the choices open to it are to crush the opposition, buy it out – or negotiate with it, which puts a question-mark over the whole one-party system.

A policy of repression is far harder than it used to be. Polish workers who went on strike against the attempt last June to raise prices by cutting subsidies would, in the old days, have been sacked or jailed. The committee of middle-class intellectuals which is trying to help those workers who did get punished after June would have been quietly rounded up. The Roman Catholic church, which has put its weight behind this nascent opposition, would have been told it would lose some of its existing privileges if it did not shut up.

But the government has hesitated to strike hard against any of these centers of dissidence. Some of the June rioters were imprisoned, but then released: their middle-class allies have been bullied by threatening telephone calls, but are still at liberty: the church has not been touched.

The ease of modern communications is one important reason for this new moderation; it is much simpler now than it was in the 1950s and the early 1960s for dissidents in Communist countries to keep in touch with each other or to pick up the telephone and tell their troubles to their friends in the West.

Another reason is Poland's growing economic dependence on the West; it already owes some $6 to $9 billion to Western countries, and wants to borrow more.

Then there is the Polish government's knowledge that any deviation from its present relative self-restraint will be put under the spotlight at the conference which is due to start in Belgrade next summer to examine what has happened since the Helsinki declaration was signed in 1975.

So, presumably, the Polish government's policy for 1977 is to buy off its opponents, not squash them. The industrial labor force may be offered a new wage increase to get it in the right mood for the big price rises that will have to come soon afterwards. To prevent this extra money simply lengthening the lines outside the shops, the loan from Russia will be used to put more consumer goods on the market, and Poland's farmers may be given new incentives to grow more food.

The acquiescence of the Catholic hierarchy can be purchased, it is assumed, by financial concessions and more licenses to build new churches. The intellectuals can be offered a bit more freedom of expression. The disaffected estates of the Polish realm, the theory runs, can be bought off one by one.

But this policy may prove unworkable. For one thing the extra cost of these concessions would eat up a large part of the savings fromt he subsidy cuts – the aim of the whole exercise. And people may no longer be willing to be bought.

Poland, after all, has been this way before, not once, but twice. Wladyslaw Gomulka came to power after the 1956 upheavals, and Edward Gierek took over from Gomulka after the 1970 riots, on the promise that in future the Communist party would govern with the manifest consent of the governed.

Both men failed to carry out their promise, although both started out with honest intentions, because the one-party system closed in on them. That double failure has created a deep sense of disillusionment which has infected industrial workek as well as the more articulate middle class.

So the government's choice will be between old-fashioned repression (using unpopular Russian troops) or something new altogether.

Something new means treating with an opposition which, in a one-party state, is supposed not to exist. Fortunately, the means of doing this do exist. The rudiments of a genuine labor movement, quite separate from the official trade unions which are mere appendages of the ruling party, came into being on the shop-floors of Poland's factories during the June riots.

This movement has its links with middle-class critics of the regime and with that reserve army of any Polish opposition, the Catholic church. The negotiations would not be formal or public; that would be too abrupt a challenge to the party's claim to sole authority and to Russian views. If the government wants to get the country's consent to the measures needed to put the economy right, it may have no alternative to under-the-rug discussion with the people who speak for Poland's opposition.

But even this muffled sort of negotiation would mean that a Communist government would have stepped outside the fiction that it knows what its people want and entered the real world of bargaining for the consent of the governed.

Dairy Support Removal Sought

By ALAN EMORY

WASHINGTON (NANA) — A government watchdog agency has recommended that Congress remove the upper and lower limits on dairy price supports and base them on projected market conditions.

The Agriculture Dept. says, however, that it is difficult to predict market conditions.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), in a report to Congress on government dairy programs, said the department "failed to explain how its efforts to improve dairy market projections can significantly alter the process for setting milk support prices."

The GAO quotes the department as forecasting that, even with supports at the minimum level — they have been pegged at 80 per cent for some time now — it would have to buy from 3.3 billion to 3.7 billion pounds of surplus butter, cheese and milk powder each year through 1981.

The report says the present formula for computing parity does not consider "many relevant economic factors," so the present limits represent more of a constraint than a constructive guide to determine support levels.

It adds that the application of the formula "may have encouraged surplus production in some years."

One repeated suggestion has been to pay farmers directly for the difference between the support level and the price dairy products would bring on the market.

This would allow consumers to buy dairy items at market prices, give consumer demand greater influence on production, guarantee minimum revenue to farmers and provide free competition in U.S. markets for imported products.

It would also carry the potential for greater government expenses when prices fell below support levels, encourage inefficient farmers to stay in dairying and fail to stabilize prices.

The Agriculture Dept. told the GAO direct payments to dairy farmers has "never had the support" of either farmers or Congress, and it opposed the idea. It said more imports would simply mean higher government payments.

The GAO insisted, however, that direct subsidies would make U.S. dairy prices "more competitive with foreign products" and, because of lower prices, the need for import restictions would be reduced.

Terrorist Battle Cry: Vive La France!

By FRANK STARR
Chicago Tribune

WASHINGTON – The next victims of Palestinian terror, whoever they shall be, may die with the bitter words "Vive la France!" on their lips.

For they would die that France's tranquility not be disturbed, that France's oil supply not be interrupted, that France's citizens not be inconvenienced.

Abu Daoud, the apparent planner of the Munich massacre of the Israeli Olympic team, was detained by French police, held four days, and released. Arab governments had demanded his release. The Israeli and West German governments had requested his extradition.

The Israeli request probably was faulty from the legal viewpoint, but not the West German one. To reject the German request a French judge had to find that the German police warrant had not been accompanied by a diplomatic request as required by Article IX, Paragraph 3 of the 1951 extradition treaty.

French authorities, had they wished to act firmly against terrorism, had four days in which to notify their German counterparts that a minor requirement of the treaty had not been fulfilled.

There had been several telephone contacts on both Friday and Saturday followed by cable confirmations of instructions. Yet the French never found it necessary to notify the Germans that one technicality remained unsatisfied. Reminded of this, a French official said, "We weren't asking for extradition – the Germans were. We are not going to do the job of the Germans."

One can only conclude that the French found it politically awkward to hold and extradite Daoud, so they found a way to release him. Indeed, he got a first-class air ticket to Algiers. The incident demonstrated decisively that, with the support of Arab governments, Palestinian terrorists may kill as they wish because Western governments haven't the spine to stop them.

This case is particularly ironic because it was only last November, in response to a German-French initiative, that the 18 member-nations of the Council of Europe unanimously adopted a convention on the suppression of terrorism which stipulates automatic extradition of terrorists or prompt trial in the country which catches them.

That these same two neighboring states with good technical communication between them and presumably a common interest could not coordinate their actions to avoid letting Abu Daoud slip through their fingers is ridiculous to suggest. It insults the pubic intelligence.

The private relief expressed by some in both countries that new acts of terrorism – which most certainly would have followed the arrest and trial of Daoud – have now been avoided is also a foolishly short-sighted attitude. For Daoud, fourth in the Al Fatah hierarchy and a man with numerous assassinations credited to him, is at large. That cannot be a better alternative.

But it is a typical attitude, especially in Western Europe, despite the brave talk of the antiterrorism convention. Another example, just a year ago, was the decision of Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreisky to facilitate the escape from his country of a band of terrorists without even identifying them. It later was determined that one of them was Illich Ramirez Sanchez, also known as Carlos, one of the most dangerous terrorists in the world.

The French failure to respond cooperatively to the German extradition request is an abject capitulation to pressure which no government worthy of the name can afford.

The French government, however, has often demonstrated its cowardice and its unreliability as an ally as well as its absolute disinterest in international cooperation of any kind that requires a degree of French sacrifice.

This action is deserving only of contempt. But ultimately it will extract innocent lives into the bargain as well.

Vive la France!

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 19, the 19th day of 1977. There are 346 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, Japan invaded Burma early in the Pacific War.

On this date –

In 1736, the inventor of the steam engine, James Watt, was born in Scotland.

In 1795, French forces overran Holland.

In 1807, the Confederate general Robert E. Lee was born in Stratford, Va.

In 1861, Georgia seceded from the Union.

In 1937, Howard Hughes established a trans-continental air record, flying across the United States in seven hours, 28 minutes.

In 1938, General Francisco Franco's air force bombed the Spanish cities of Barcelona and Valencia, killing 700 people.

Ten years ago: A special nine-man committee was formed in the House of Representatives to investigate the qualifications of Harlem's Adam Clayton Powell to serve in Congress.

Five years ago: A student strike was called in Egypt to demand strong action against Israel.

THE REAL THING

'Year Of The Consumer'

For Realtors this is the year of consumerism, disclosure, taxes and independence – and not necessarily in that order.

These were the hot issues discussed Wednesday by California Association of Realtors (CAR) President Jerome Blank at a luncheon meeting with Orange County Realtors.

"This is the year of being concerned with the consumer," Blank told The Register, "for if we are not, we won't continue to have the privilege of serving the public".

In a talk filled with concern over government encrochment into business, confusion over governmental interpretation of employe-employer status, rising property taxes and staving-off further anti-business legislation, Blank outlined the following program: for Boards of Realtors:

– Establishment of local government relation committees that audit city council, and county government meetings with an eye on keeping those entities' budgets in line.

"We want to put an end to excessive spending and other causes for rising property taxes," he said.

– Urge local government to adopt parcel map ordinances which would allow minor lot changes without the owner having to spend vast amounts of money to obtain the change.

Under the present system, the slightest change can cost the owner $1,000 or more, he said.

– Continuing education for Realtors. "We feel people who handle the money on what is the largest purchase for most people – a home – should be highly qualified to do so."

While the Internal Revenue Service remains "quiescent" on the matter of Brokers' employer-employe relationship with sales persons associated in their offices, Blank cited problems with the California Department of Benefit Payments.

He said an "over-zealous auditor from that department" has audited several firms and maintains employer-employe relationships exists on the basis that·

– The broker provided the office.

– The broker provided the phone.

– The listings belonged to the broker.

– The broker carried workman's compensation insurance.

– The broker required the salesperson to carry auto insurance.

He said this is happening despite definitions of employer-employe relationships set forth in California Department of Real Estate and CAR material.

He said funds have been appropriated for a test court case and to set precedent as the latest case law available on the subject is 25-years-old.

"The question is if we still operate under the old English common law where a person has a right to contract for a certain service," Blank said.

Employer-employe status is a very close walk on a tightrope, he said. But if audited, "Don't get panic stricken. A department of Benefit Payments finding is not an order. It is not a judgment. It is an assessment subject to appeal, and is not hopeless.

"Some say we are the last small entrepreneurs," he said. "We want to be independent. Some don't. CAR wants to give its members a choice, that's why we want a test case."

To stave-off further regulation of the industry, Blank cited "positive legislation" CAR supports, such as a bill that would require zoning, building permit and other disclosures to be made by the seller at the time of listing his property.

This in opposition to a bill to be reintroduced by Senator Nichols' C. Petris (D-Alameda) requiring much more information.

Blank told of the Habitat conference on housing held last summer in Canada and attended by delegates of 140 countries. Only 32 of those countries supported the idea of private home ownership, he said.

"As more regulation on ownership and the right to transact business grows and fewer can afford to buy homes, our business will shrink," he said.

California will continue to grow, he said. "We must accept growth. We can't keep people from coming here." he said, citing the present frigid temperatures elsewhere in the nation.

"And we must have realistic zoning. Not everyone can afford a single family home, but you can still create apartments for $20,000 to $25,000," he said.

"We need fair growth and fair treatment," Blank said.

In line with Blank's comments, Thomas West president of United Business Investments reports conversion of that brokerage firm's 300 salespersons to employe status.

GAC Officials Deny Fraud

MIAMI (AP) – The president of GAC Corp. denied in an interview Thursday that he and two former officials of the land development company committed fraud in fund transfers as the Securities and Exchange Commission alleges.

S. Hayward Wills, president of the firm; Russell Kemmerer, GAC's former chief financial officer, and chief accountant Paul Stuken were accused by the SEC in U.S. District Court in Washington Wednesday of illegally transferring $39 million from one subsidiary to another.

"We made the transfers, but in my opinion they were legal," said Wills, who retains his title as president and chairman though the companies are now run by two bankruptcy trustees.

One transaction was a buy back of stock in one of GAC's subsidiaries, and the other a sale and leaseback arrangement, Wills said. "The net effect was to put money into properties to do development work," he said.

The SEC charged that the money was used to pay off debt and that the transactions violated agreements with holders of $86 million of GAC Properties Credit debentures. Wills contends the agreements allowed both transactions.

GAC, a $400 million Miami-based company, lost $25 million in 1975. It is undergoing reorganization under Chapter 10 of the Bankruptcy Act.

RCA Bounces Back With 68% Earnings Rise

NEW YORK (AP) – RCA Corp. said Thursday that its 1976 earnings rose 64 per cent over 1975. Fourth quarter profits were 68 per cent higher than a year ago, the company said.

RCA earnings for 1976 reached $177.4 million, or $2.30 a share, compared with $110 million, or $1.40 a share, a year earlier. Revenues rose to $5.4 billion from $4.8 billion in 1975.

In the fourth quarter, RCA earned $56 million, or 73 cents a share, on revenues of $1.5 billion. That compared with $33.4 million, or 43 cents a share, on revenues of $1.4 billion a year earlier.

Record profits were recorded by several RCA subsidiaries including the National Broadcasting Co., Hertz Corp. and publisher Random House, Banquet Foods.

Earnings also were boosted by a "major turnaround in electronics manufacturing opperations", said RCA President Edgar H. Griffiths.

AMC Will Idle 11,000 Workers

DETROIT (AP) – American Motors Corp. said Thursday it will suspend North American car-building operations for all of next week, idling 11,000 hourly workers.

AMC's shutdowns at Kenosha and Milwaukee, Wis., and Brampton, Ont., are the automaker's latest effort to trim small car inventories, which have not sold as well as industry exectives had expected.

Also down next week will be General Motors' Lordstown, Ohio, Vega-Astre subcompact plant. It was shut Jan. 10 for three weeks.

Shut this week are Ford's subcompact Pinto-Bobcat assembly plant in Metuchen, N.J., and Chrysler's compact Volare-Aspen plants in Newark, Del., and St. Louis, Mo.

Meanwhile, the industry was expected to miss its planned output of 181,528 cars this week due to plant shutdowns or short shifts related to the record cold that has gripped the East and Midwest.

The trade journal Automotive News said the industry had planned to build 189,000 cars last week, but the final count was only 178,521 due to plant closings caused by snow storms and high absenteeism. This week, Detroit has been hit by energy and parts shortages, too.

If the car makers meet this week's target, production for the year will total 539,838 units, up from 498,683 through this week in 1976.

The companies built 177,609 cars a year ago this week.

Truck production for the week was scheduled to be 63,578, compared with 63,005 last week and 55,023 a year ago.

8,650 WORKERS

GM Parts Complex Strike

DETROIT (AP) – Some 8,650 hourly workers struck a key General Motors Corp. parts manufacturing complex Thursday, and the automaker warned the walkout could trigger thousands of layoffs on assembly lines around the nation.

Members of United Auto Workers Local 699 set up picket lines at the seven-plant Saginaw Steering Gear complex about 100 miles north of here after bargainers failed to reach agreement on a new three-year local contract before an 11 a.m. EST deadline.

Round-the-clock bargaining, which began Wednesday, broke off shortly before the deadline. A company spokesman said the two sides agreed to resume negotiations at 1 p.m. today.

The Saginaw complex supplies steering components for all GM cars and light trucks. It also supplies Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. However, those companies said the strike would not disrupt their operations.

The GM spokesman said the walkout could force assembly plant shutdowns within a week.

"Continuation of this strike could result in the idling of thousands of hourly employes across the country," the spokesman added in a prepared statement.

He would not disclose the areas of dispute, but said the number of differences had dwindled from an original 900 to four major issues and "a handful" of minor issues.

Local union officials said there were 60 to 70 unresolved issues concerning seniority, transfers, skilled trades workers and promotions.

The local did not confirm plans to resume negotiations, but UAW officials at union headquarters here said talks were to resume Friday.

Chrysler said neither walkout was hampering other operations.

GM and Chrysler forged new three-year national contracts with the UAW last fall, but each plant negotiates a separate local agreement to supplement the master pact. Areas covered by those accords include health and safety matters, job assignments and assembly line speeds.

GM still has not settled with 52 of 143 units, while Chrysler is without pacts at 16 hourly and 40 salaried units.

The two companies each face another strike deadline at a key parts plant within the next week. Some 800 members of Local 446 are slated to strike at 12:01 a.m. Saturday at Chrysler's Fostoria, Ohio, foundry, and 7,700 members of Local 668 at GM's Saginaw metal casting complex are scheduled to walk off the job at 11 a.m. Monday.

UAW Local 1226 struck Chrysler Indianapolis Electric on Monday when bargainers failed to meet a 12:01 a.m. strike deadline. There have been no negotiations since the talks broke off at noon Tuesday.

The plant produces a variety of electrical components, ranging from starter motors to wire harnesses.

Across the Detroit River in Windsor, Ont., Thursday, day-shift operations at Chrysler's car and truck assembly plants were suspended because of high absenteeism among workers attending the funeral of slain UAW Local 444 President Charles Brooks.

Brooks, 62, head of the 13,000-member local for two decades, was shot to death at the union hall Monday. A 36-year-old former Chrysler worker fired last year for excessive absenteeism is being held on a second-degree murder charge in Brooks' death.

Florida Embargoes Sales, Shipments Of Fresh Fruit

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) – The Florida Citrus Commission, acting in the wake of a record cold snap, set an embargo Friday on all shipments and sales of fresh citrus fruit.

The embargo becomes effective at 12:01 a.m. EST Monday, will last 10 days, and will be followed by an additional two-week period in which citrus shipments will be closely monitored by the state's fruit and vegetable inspection service.

Commissioners acted during an emergency session as a result of four days of subfreezing temperatures which a number of experts testified damaged an undetermined percentage of Florida's multimillion dollar crop. Some experts earlier had estimated that 35 per cent of the crop was damaged.

The purpose of the embargo is to permit careful inspection of, and determination of possible serious damage to, the fruit, officials said. Withholding of shipment is also intended to prevent a loss of consumer confidence.

State officials said only about 14 per cent of each crop is sold as fresh fruit. The rest goes into processed products such as concentrated juices.

Processing of the fruit is not affected by the embargo, but earlier this week, Tropicana Products Inc. and the CocaCola Co. food division said they were taking no new orders for their brands of frozen orange juice.

Coca Cola said it took the move to prevent inventory shortages and said it might institute an allocation system in the near future for shipment of its Minute Maid and Snow Crop brands.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of fruit and vegetables were ruined by the recordbreaking low temperatures earlier this week.

Forecasters predicted moderating temperatures through the weekend, but it was too late for the farmers.

"We have been hurt and hurt bad," said Richard Van Brackle of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

"I've never seen one (a freeze) like this," said farmer John Sanders. "Corn, beans, squash, you name it. The freeze took it out."

Virtually every crop in Florida soil was damaged to some extent by the freeze. Farmers said consumers would be paying much higher prices for the relatively few tomatoes, limes, green beans and watermelons that survived the cold.

Seald-Sweet, a cooperative of 4,500 citrus growers, has raised its prices in two days by 50 cents a carton.

"It's basically a half-cent per piece of fruit, or six cents a dozen, and citrus recently has been the cheapest it's been in five years," said a spokesman.

"Quality of vegetables will be poor and the prices will be high," said a Miami food broker. "When it freezes like this, you don't have quality and you don't have quantity, and the prices go up.

"I just checked the price of fresh green beans. A few days ago, they were $8 a bushel, but today they were $15. The price began jumping right at the farm."

Tomato losses in South Florida alone were estimated as high as $43 million, with additional damages reported in central and southwest Florida fields. Surviving tomatoes were expected to increase in price from 60 cents to $1.70 a pound.

Most of the nation's tomatoes and virtually of all its limes come from Florida. The lime crop was virtually wiped out, farmers said.

Raphord Farrington of the Florida Farm Bureau Federation said radishes and celery also were damaged. In north Florida, seed-beds from which sprouts are taken for the flue-cured tobacco crop, were hard hit, as well as fields of sugar cane, carrots, squash and cucumbers.

California Outlook Is Bright, Bank Says...

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) – The state's economic outlook for the new year is generally favorable, but business and consumer plans are being delayed until administration policies are clarified, the Bank of America reports.

Once clear government policy directions are established, business and consumers "are likely to react favorably," the report said Thursday.

Congress and the state legislature will consider proposals affecting such issues as tax and welfare reform, job programs and energy, the bank said, adding:

"California has emerged as a leading commercial force in the Asia-Pacific Basin – expected to become one of the world's major growth areas,"

The report said nearly 450,000 Californians already work in service, manufacturing and agricultural jobs related to exports and imports, and the number is going to rise.

Agriculture, the state's largest industry, can expect a relatively good year, but a rise of at least five per cent in production costs will hold net farm income at about the 1976 level of $2.5 billion, bank economists said. They did not anticipate that the current drought would have a major effect on gross farm income in 1977.

Other highlights of the bank's 1977 forecast include:

– Inflation: A rise in the consumer price index of about 5.2 per cent, or about a half per cent less than in 1976.

– Unemployment: Down to an average of 8.3 per cent by the year's end, compared with 9.5 per cent in late 1976. An estimated 250,000 new jobs will be added in manufacturing, trade, service, construction and government.

– Personal income: After adjustment for inflation, up four to five per cent to $172 billion.

– Retail sales: Up 12-13 per cent, with automobiles and durable products leading the rise.

– Housing starts: Increase to 210,000 units, following 1976's 64 per cent increase to 195,000.

– International trade: Up 13 to 15 per cent from the importexport trade volume of $26 billion last year.

Wells Fargo Record

SAN FRANCISCO – (BW) – Wells Fargo & Co. recorded the highest earnings in its history in 1976, Richard P. Cooley, president and chief executive officer, said Thursday.

Earnings (income before securities transactions) for the year were $63,471,000, or $3.16 a share, compared with $56,145,000, or $2.80 a share, in 1975.

The per-share increase was about 13 per cent.

Holly Sugar Blames Prices On Profits Dip

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) – The Holly Sugar Corp. said low refined sugar prices caused a decline in both its sales and earnings in the first nine months of its fiscal year.

The firm reported sales for the nine months ending Dec. 31 were $140.3 million compared with $172 million for the same period a year earlier. Earnings for the period were $3.7 million, or $2.36 a share, compared with $15.1 million, or $9.59 a share, last year.

Holly Sugar President John Bunker, in a letter to stockholders, said that if low sugar prices continue it will reduce the firm's fourth quarter earnings as well.

Packaging Case Duo Aquitted

CHICAGO (AP) – Two officials of cardboard box companies were found innocent Wednesday night of price fixing while one of the firms, Consolidated Packaging Corp., was found guilty of the charge in a federal court trial.

The defendants were among 22 cardboard corporations and 50 officials indicted last February for allegedly rigging bids and fixing prices between 1960 and 1974

The other defendants pleaded no contest to the charges last year before Chief Judge James B Parsons of U.S. District Court and were sentenced to up to 60 days in jail and fined from $100 to $35,000.

Plenty Of Meat, Poultry Seen For Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) – Consumers will see plenty of beef, poulty, pork and milk on grocery shelves next month, another indication that farmers have stepped up production of basic food commodities for the past year, the Agriculture Department said today.

The forecast was in a monthly "Food Marketing Alert" report sent to large-volume food buyers such as schools, hospitals and other institutions.

By U.S. definition, used in the report, plentiful means "more than enough for requirements" while adequate indicates there will be "enough to meet needs" of consumers. A light designation means "less than adequate" and therefore not enough for normal requirements.

The report also said that new supplies of fresh citrus fruits and juices will be plentiful in February, but officals said the assessment was made before the new blast of freezing weather reached into Florida orange groves. A USDA spokesman said the freeze damage's impact on national citrus supplies and retail prices has not yet been determined.

Although the February beef supply is classified as plentiful, it will be down 6 to 8 per cent from the record levels of a year ago when cattle producers were thinning their herds rapidly to counteract further market price declines.

As farmers and ranchers sent more cattle to market, retail beef prices declined steadily last year, but began rising late last fall as the cutbacks took hold. Thus, retail beef prices in December averaged nearly $1.39 a pound on an all-cut basis used by USDA to indicate price changes. That was up about a penny from November, according to preliminary figures. In December, 1975, beef was nearly $1.51 a pound.

The plentiful pork outlook for February will mean a supply 18 to 20 per cent larger than in the same month last year, the report said. Farmers had increased hog production significantly after holding it in check for several years.

Retail pork prices in December averaged $1.19 a pound, according to USDA. Although that was up almost two cents from November, the increase still left pork far cheaper than the $1.48 a pound consumers paid in December, 1975.

Major food items in the adequate category for February included eggs, turkeys and some processed vegetables. Only a few products are expected to be in light supply, including raisins and pecans.

Further plentiful food items for February included peanuts, potatoes, onions, dry beans, fresh fruit other than citrus, butter and all grains such as rice, wheat and corn.

New Oil Found In North Sea?

PITTSBURGH (AP) – A British-American exploration team says it has discovered a new oil reservoir in the North Sea.

Gulf Oil Corp., British National Oil Co. Ltd., and CONOCO North Sea Inc., announced the find which is about 130 miles northeast of the Shetlands, a group of islands in the North Sea near Scotland.

The well, operated by CONOCO, a subsidiary of Continental Oil Co., is 11,468 feet deep in 512 feet of water. It tested oil at a rate of about 5,500 barrels per day.

Farm Futures Mostly Lower On Chicago Bd.

CHICAGO (AP) – Farm commodity futures prices were mostly lower in very slow dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

An important factor in the low volume was a report the Agriculture Department will issue after the close. The report lists acreage farmers intend to plant this year to the major grains. The trade expects soybean acreage to be higher than in 1976 and wheat and corn acreage lower. There are huge stocks of corn and wheat in this country and soybeans are relatively high priced.

Trade was at its usual active pace on the opening and prices were mostly lower. Soybean meal was down $3 a ton in a continuation of liquidation, while soybeans fell 5 cents and wheat, corn and oats from 1½ to 2 cents. Soybean oil gained about 25 points, or 2 cent a pound. Iced broilers opened lower and maintained a low price level, about ¾ cent a pound under the previous close.

There were several rallying attempts in the soybean complex and in grains but a lack of commercial and commission house involvement held them down.

Besides the imminence of the government report, bears were concerned with an Argentine report predicting a record wheat crop of nearly 12 million tons this year, some 30 per cent above the 1976 harvest and most of it exportable. Australia said that more than three-fourths of the 11 million ton harvest will be exportable.

After the midway point, soybeans were 2½ cents a bushel lower to 2 higher, March 7.22½; wheat was ½ to 1½ lower, March 2.77¾; corn was ¼ to 1¼ lower, March 2.58½ and oats were ¾ lower to ½ higher, March 1.76½.

Oil Workers Reach Accord

LOS ANGELES (AP) – A contract settlement that averts a walkout by more than 500 oil workers in Torrance and Vernon was hammered out in a marathon 17-hour bargain session that lasted until nearly dawn today.

The agreement between the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union Local 1-547 and Mobil Oil Co. calls for a nine per cent raise the first year of a two-year contract, and a straight 75-cent raise for all pay classifications in the second year.

The OCAW had voted to strike the Torrance refinery and the Vernon lube oil blending and packaging plant at 12:01 a.m. today if agreement had not been reached.

In the past two days, OCAW workers have settled with Mobil facilities in Ferndale, Wash., Beaumont, Tex., and Buffalo, N.Y.

Stocks Close Higher

NEW YORK (AP) – The stock market closed out its third straight week of declines today with a modest rally attributed to technical forces.

Trading tailed off from Thursday's active pace.

The Dow Average was up 3.40 points to 962.43 at closing. Details of earlier activity follow.

At 1 p.m. the Dow Jones Industrial Average was 0.58 points higher on a volume of 12.49 million shares compared to 15.48 million at the same hour on Thursday. The NYSE index was unchanged at 55.93 and the Amex index stood at 111.21, up 0.21.

The noon Dow was down 1.33 at 957.70. Gainers and losers ran about even in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted a subdued atmosphere in the wake of the market's decline over the past three weeks. Hopes for an Inauguration Day rally went unfulfilled Thursday when the Dow gave up an early 2-point gain nd closed with a 9.64 loss.

Texaco topped the active list, down 3/8 at 27-7/8 amid some evident disappointment over the 3.9 per cent fourth quarter earnings gain reported by the company late Thursday.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .05 to 55.88. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .16 at 111.16.

Indian Claims Cloud Maine's Bond Market

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) – Maine's Financial Advisory Council recommended Thursday that the state's Municipal Bond Bank reenter the bond market to test the financial community's reaction to Indian claims to 60 per cent of Maine land.

Bangor Banker William C. Bullock Jr. who chairs the council, said his panel would not have made the recommendation unless it felt there was a "more positive environment" in the financial community today than last fall.

Last fall, the bond bank canceled a $27 million sale of securities for towns, schools and hospitals because of problems caused by claims of Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians to 12.5 million acres of Maine land.

The bond bank buys bonds from local government, then sells its own securities which are backed by the local issues.

When the ownership of the property is in doubt, the ability of a government to tax property to retire debts is clouded.

Bullock said investors around the country have had time to digest the legal ramifications of the suit.

He reported that local governments have been successful in selling tax anticipation notes to finance government operations through 1977 and that no mortgages have been denied because of the land claims.

Recently, the U.S. Interior Department recommended that the Justice Department amend a 1972 suit against the state to seek return of all the land to the tribes plus $300 million in rent and damages.

New Oil Strike

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) – Phillips Petroleum Co. and a group of associates announced Wednesday a new oil well discovery on Salawati Island in Indonesia.

The well flowed at a rate of 11,860 barrels of oil per day through chokes, with production coming from 6,970 to 7,155 feet.

NY Bankers Ready To Petition Carter

NEW YORK (AP) – Major city bankers have told Gov. Hugh L. Carey and Mayor Abraham D. Beame that they want President Carter to formally commit Washington to a five-year extension of the current loan program as a condition for the bankers' help with money problems besetting the state as well as the city.

Some local officials said they were shocked by the bankers' position, which they saw as a threat to Carey. "They've raised the ante," said one official. "They've told Carey that if you don't play ball with us you'll have your own problems."

But a spokesman for the banks replied that "There was no veiled threat. You have to look at the marketplace; we're not threatening anything.

"We're just pointing out that the city's problem could have an effect on the state and that we ought to get things done."

While the moneymen presented their new demand to Carey and Felix G. Rohatyn, chairman of the Municipal Assistance Corporation, at a meeting in the governor's mid-Manhattan office Wednesday night, Beame was in Washington for Carter's inauguration and no member of the city administration was present at the session.

After the session, First Deputy Mayor John E. Zuccotti was given a report on the proceedings.

The bankers agreed to two requests made by Beame: to defer repayment of $1 billion in loans to the city, and to a city proposal that there be a new issue of MAC bonds.

The bankers reportedly continued to press for legislative controls over the city's budget, a demand that has run into stiff resistance from the mayor.

At the meeting, the bankers reportedly told the governor that a resolution of the city's immediate fiscal problems was required to ease the way for state borrowing this spring.

Thus the bankers appeared to be applying pressure on Carey, in his capacity as head of the Emergency Financial Control Board, to speed a solution to the city's problems.

The city must come up with a plan for submission to the State Court of Appeals by Feb. 3 to redeem almost $1 billion in notes on which the city had deferred payment. The state's highest court said the city's refusal to pay up immediately was illegal.

In addition, Beame must close a $724-million gap in his budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

City Hall would not comment on the new demand by the bankers, but Carey reportedly promised to send their request on to Carter.

Japan Pushes For New Airline Treaty

SEATTLE (AP) – A Japan Air Lines executive says he hopes new air route negotiations will resolve what he says are inequities in the Japanese-American commercial flight treaty.

Bilateral talks are expected to begin next month in Washington, D.C., JAL vice president Kiichi Ito said Wednesday.

Noting that the original air service treaty between the two nations was written in 1952, just after the postwar occupation of Japan, he said a new agreement should recognize Japan's economic growth.

Peso Plunges As Mexico's Inflation Rises

MEXICO CITY (AP) – After trading at 20 to a dollar for more than five weeks, the Mexican peso was down sharply today. It was trading in banks at 22.50 to $1 for those buying pesos while those buying dollars had to pay 24.50 pesos.

The Banco de Mexico, the country's central bank, said in an official statement that the new float rate results from increased demand for U.S. dollars in Mexican banks.

The central bank said the exchange rate had not firmed up yet and that buying and selling of the peso produces brisk fluctuations such as took place last December.

The Mexican peso held a fixed parity with the dollar of 12 pesos to $1 for 22 years, but was allowed to float freely on international money markets last Aug. 31.

It dropped to about 26.50 to $1 at one point before the central bank started buying pesos to support the Mexican currency.

Larry Law, a representative in Mexico City of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., said Mexican currency reserves fell from about $1.5 billion to $100,000 as the central bank poured money into supporting the peso.

The central bank itself does not disclose reserves.

With the country facing a foreign exchange crunch, the government briefly suspended all foreign exchange, and 19 international banks made an $800 million emergency loan to Mexico.

Private economists say inflation is running at an annual rate of about 40 per cent, making it possible that the peso will sink farther this year. The government's 1977 budget is about 39 per cent more than last year's.

Law said in an interview that the government has been forced to choose between controlling inflation or stimulating the economy.

With unemployment running more than 30 per cent, the government can ill afford to ignore the need for development and jobs, he said.

SCE Earnings At $3.70/Share

ROSEMEAD – Southern California Edison Company's 1976 earnings were $3.70 per share, compared with $3.07 per share in 1975, Jack L. Horton, board chairman and chief executive officer, reported Thursday.

Per share earnings were based on a weighted average of 48,678,116 shares outstanding in 1976, and 47,964,883 in 1975.

Horton pointed out that about two-thirds of the gain in earnings was due to an increase in the won-cash credit for allowance for funds used during construction. This credit results from the accounting offset of the financing costs expended in connection with the construction of new plant facilities, such as Edison's nuclear units at San Onofre.

Mr. Coffee Looks To Tea

BEDFORD HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) – Will Mr. Coffee become Mr. Tea?

Not exactly, but the marketer of popular electric coffee maker says his firm has agreed with Lipton Tea Co. to promote the use of tea in the appliance.

Vincent Marotta, president of North American Systems Inc., said the switch-to-tea campaign comes at a time when consumers are railing at high coffee prices and just before tea consumption normally starts its warm weather upswing.

"We never concentrated that heavily on promoting use of products in Mr. Coffee other than coffee," said Marotta, a former real estate developer who in 1972 invented the device that drips hot water through a filter basket containing the grounds.

His invention, which is manufactured here, is the leader in its category, with a 60 per cent share of the automatic coffee maker market.

"Lipton approached us wanting to get into a joint advertising arrangement about Lipton tea being used in Mr. Coffee because Mr. Coffee is the kind of coffee maker that can make tea," said Marotta.

"Lipton will be doing the bulk of the advertising. The campaign will start in February with network television commercials. We're going into a print campaign together with them. And they're selling a can of bulk tea, their filter blend, with a picture of Mr Coffee on the side," said Marotta.

"But the big ticket starts in the May to September period, during the iced tea peak period.

"Lipton has 60 per cent of the tea business. With our coffee maker, there is a tremendous advantage. You can make 10 cups of iced tea with tea for only five cups. You put in five cups of water, then put in tea for five cups of water, and you've got 10 cups of tea in three minutes, as fast as you can boil water," said Marotta.

Marotta said sales of his coffee maker have not diminished during the recent upsurge in coffee prices which has prompted an international investigation into the pricing situation.

"People can drink less coffee, but they still have to have the equipment to brew it, so our business hasn't dropped," he said.

SEA OF TRADE GOODS AT O.C. FAIRGROUNDS – ONE MAN'S JUNK IS ANOTHER MAN'S TREASURE

Swap Meets Part Of The OC Scene

'...It's A Form Of Recreation'

By CHERYL PRUETT Register Staff Writer

The things you can't buy at a swap meet probably can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

But the list of items available as a buyer walks among hundreds of stalls is endless. The sight is a carnival to the eyes and usually a savings to the pocketbook.

In 11 years since swap meets began to appear on the Orange County scene, the flea markets have grown from 20 sellers at a given location to nearly 1,000 selling their wares to thousands and thousands of buyers.

The two largest swap meets in the county are held at the Orange Drive-In Theater and the Orange County Fair grounds. Harbor Drive-In Theater, Santa Ana, also holds swap meets every Saturday and Sunday. Movie World Cars of the Stars, Buena Park, has once-a-month swap meets.

"You can find almost anything you're looking for at a swap meet," said Bob Fisher, manager of the giant Orange meet. "It's like going to a county fair."

Fisher said people attend swap meets for two reasons. They're looking for antiques "from what we call junkies" or clothes and other items at a discount.

People also go to swap meets, he said, because they like to watch other people – it's a form of recreation.

Socializing and bargaining are part of the game at swap meets, he said.

Fisher also noted a trend toward new products being offered rather than just garage-sale type items discarded from the home.

"Lots of stores in town use the swap meet as an outlet for last year's products and seconds," said Fisher. "There's a definite trend toward selling new items."

He said that a pair of Levis that would cost $14 in town would sell for $8.50 at a swap meet...only one example of swap meet bargains that draw 20,000 to 30,000 people a day on weekends.

Fisher said the Orange swap meet started 10 years ago with 20 to 25 sellers per week. Today, that figure has grown to 900. About the same number of sellers now set up shop each week at the Orange County Fairgrounds swap meet.

The fairgrounds swap meet, which started in 1969, now is expanding its parking facilities to accommodate all the buyers.

According to a spokesman for Tel Phil Enterprises, which operates the fairgrounds meet in Costa Mesa, there is an average of 20,000 buyers on Saturday and 30,000 to 35,000 each Sunday.

"People can still get good bargains," said the spokesman. "The best thing is people go out to meet other people, look and shop. It's an inexpensive way to spend the day."

The swap meets charge 50 cents per person to spend as many hours browsing as their legs can stand walking. The average rental for a selling stall is $5 per day.

The items that aren't permitted to be sold at swap meets include pets, mattresses, cars, guns, ammunition and foods.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are permitted, but not home-canned goods. Swap meets run their own concession stands for hungry shoppers.

Typically, swap meets reserve some percentage of their sales space in advance (often 50 per cent) while the remainder is alotted on a first-come, first serve basis.

Saddle Up, See Horses In Trail Trials Sunday

YORBA LINDA – If you like the idea of watching an intelligent horse shun his natural fear of water and wobbly objects and perform all the duties expected on the trail a hundred years ago, you can see it done here Sunday.

You don't have to journey into the wilderness. The Yorba Linda Country Riders is sponsoring the trail competition in a close-to-nature setting in Orange County.

About 200 horses and riders will pick their way along a natural trail in the Yorba Linda lakebed off Lake View and Buena Vista avenues in Yorba Linda.

A convenient way to reach the area: Take the Riverside Freeway east to the Imperial Highway offramp, Imperial north two miles to Buena Vista, Buena Vista west one-half mile to Lake View.

The untimed event will test the horses' willingness to negotiate 10 obstacles in the lakebed.

Even though it is not being held in an arena, the trail trials can be watched from spectator seating along the lakebed.

Competition starts about 8 a.m. Each horse is expected to take about two hours to get through the course.

TAP 'ROOTS' DRAMA ON TV

You'll Be Planted In Front Of Tube 8 Straight Nights

This is a weekend of milestones on TV.

First, on Saturday night KTLA will recall some of the early milestones that helped provide the foundations for TV as known today, both in Southern California and nationally.

Then on Sunday night ABC will launch an eight-night drama that is a milestone in TV in its own way.

The Saturday night show on KTLA, starting at 8 p.m., is "Happy Birthday, Los Angeles," which marks the 30th anniversary, to the day, on which KTLA took the air as the first commercial TV station in this area.

The program brings clips of early programming and personalities, plus some of those personalities as they are today. Many of them not only appeared in Los Angeles, but also became national figures in early TV.

Sunday night at 9, ABC (Channels 7 and 39), will show the first episode of "Roots," a 12-hour drama telling the story of a black family from the days an early ancestor was captured in Africa as a youth of 17 and brought to this country as a slave.

The two-hour episode Sunday marks the first of eight consecutive nights on which either one- or two-hour episodes will be shown on the network, a format not attempted before in presenting lengthy dramas.

The drama has not been previewed by The Register, but others recommend it highly.

There's one thing. If you hope to watch all of "Roots," you'll have to figure on being home every night next week. The second episode will run two hours on Monday, followed by one-hour episodes on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, another two hours on Sunday, Jan. 30.

For sports fans, the Bing Crosby clambake at Pebble Beach will be on ABC at 3 p.m. Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday.

UCLA's Bruins are on the NBC basketball schedule again Sunday as they invade Notre Dame, seeking revenge for an earlier loss in Pauley Pavilion. Game time is 10:30 a.m. There's other college basketball, too, so check the listings.

Haydn Concert In SB

SEAL BEACH – The Haydn Orchestra will perform a concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in First United Methodist Church, 148 Tenth St.

The program will feature violinist Lawrence Sonderling performing Mozart's Concerto No. 5 (the "Turkish") and Grieg's "Holberg Suite" for strings, Alan Parker conducting. The public is invited. Donations are suggested.

Do-It-Yourself Show Featuring Exhibits, Hints, Opens Today

PASADENA – One hundred exhibits in do-it-yourself home-improvement projects are being featured this weekend in the Pasadena Convention Center, 300 E. Green St.

Show organizer Pete Castas said the heavy emphasis will be on kitchen and bath improvements.

Lecturers will cover subjects such as flooring, tiling, replacing kitchen cabinets, decorative lighting, removal of wallpaper and painting your own house.

"The idea," Castas said, "is to eliminate the typical do-it-yourself headaches that arise when unexpected problems arise."

On hand will be a number of experienced contractors who will advise on types of projects that ought not to be undertaken by inexperienced artisans.

Show hours today are 3 to 10 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sunday noon to 8 p.m.

RAMBLIN' ROSE by Dave Rose

Joe Hughes of Huntington Beach, who has about the most successful air show in the business, is never one to overlook a sure thing. He rides the wings of change as effortlessly as he pilots his Stearman. In keeping with the times, Joe will have a female wing walker for the 1977 season that will again take him from coast to coast and throughout Canada.

She's a little doll named Donna Behrendt, an 18-year-old grad of Huntington Beach High and a gymnast. Joe's happy and so's Donna. "She just loves it," Joe enthused the other day as he put his newest charge through final ground training for those difficult routines.

Donna hasn't been up in the air yet. That acid test starts next week. Joe's not worried. "She told me, and she really meant it, 'I'm going to do it.' "

Hughes is his own best press agent. Last year he took 108 people up on the wings of his plane, strapped upright so solidly they couldn't even move. Just a short hop then down again. Most were newspaper and TV reporters. One was a congressman from Arizona.

It was a cinch for the politico. After walking a tightrope all these years, what's a little wing walk?

Hughes leaves for New York this weekend to tape a segment for TV's "To Tell The Truth" on Tuesday for showing at a later date. Then it's back into the air March 26 when he opens the season at Albany, Ga.

A first class young group back at Jasper's in South Coast Village starting Tuesday after a two-week vacation. They're Tony Carr, Nancy Humphries and Todd Hartman who bill themselves as TNT.

Carr sings and plays the guitar, Humphries just sings (and that's good enough) and Hartman keeps the three tightly glued with his keyboard work, a highly accomplished musician who's busy trying to crack the hard shell of pop music writing.

Carr has recorded for Capitol and also the Sun label out of Nashville. He cut a disc with Ray Stevens, "For No One," that was up for a Grammy a few years back.

Humphries hit number 29 on the Top 40s list not long ago with "Gone," recording under name of Nancy Wayne for 20th Century. She was the first female vocalist for 20th to cut a country western.

The harmonizing of this group is just about the best you'll hear anywhere. And the atmosphere at Jasper's, which faces on MacArthur just north of the Edwards Cinema, is just right for relaxing and listening.

Bill McClure's making things hum at Mr. Mikes on Edinger at the Newport Freeway in Santa Ana. The place used to be closed on Sundays, but McClure's changed all that, bringing in top local guest talent for the sabath gigs. Last week it was Roberta Linn, this Sunday, Debi Wilson from Adamos.

It will be local talent three Sunday's each month, then a biggie on the fourth. Bill hasn't been able to firm up any commitments yet on the big ones, but judging from some inquiries he's received, they'll be b-i-g, believe me.

It's still tough trying to bring top attractions into the county. "You phone them and they ask you where you're

Young Folks' Photo, Poster Contest On Pets Nears Deadline

A giant photo and poster contest is under way for young people, age 5 through 18, but you'll have to hurry to make the deadline.

Entries are due on or before Tuesday.

The contest is being held to publicize the Pet Faire that is slated at the Orange County Fair Grounds, Feb. 4-6.

The drawings or photos must depict animals.

Posters should be no larger than 16x20 inches. Photos no larger than 8x10. They can be less.

Each entry should identify the contestant by name, age, address and phone number. The works will be judged according to the contestants' ages. You can send in more than one, but all become the property of Pet Faire and will not be returned.

All entries should be addressed to Pet Faire Photo and Poster Contest, Orange County Fair and Exposition Center, 88 Fair Drive, Costa Mesa 92626.

Double-Edged Show

BUENA PARK – The International Edged Weapons Society will present an Arms and Edged Weapons Show and Sale in Movie World Exhibit Center here.

The display runs from bowie knives to Japanese Samari swords.

A special exhibit will be a federally licensed collection of machineguns.

Movieworld Exhibit Center is located at 6900 Orangethorpe Blvd. Show hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday.

Her Specialty? She Sings 'Em All, Ballads To Rock

She can belt 'em out or sing 'em soft, from the top 40s to soft rock, the blues, folk ballads and the big band stuff of 40 years ago.

The word for Debi Wilson is versatility, And backed by the talented duo of Gary Jones on the keyboard and Bill Holmes on drums, she's been playing to a full house at Adamos in Anaheim for the past five months.

It's her first group since she performed for one of the Southland's better vocal-show organizations, The Sound Royale, where she played such noted Orange County night spots as the Newporter Inn, Mr. Stox and the Disneyland Hotel as well as Del Webb's Townehouse in Phoenix and the Regency Hyatt in San Fran.

Prior to her Adamos engagement, she was a vocalist for noted county keyboard performer Bill McClure at Mr. Mikes in Santa Ana for two years.

Her specialty at Adamos each night is a 30-minute medley of top songs from such Broadway shows as "Cabaret" and "Sweet Charity."

For this portion of her gig, she mixes with the crowd. "It gives me a chance to get close to them, like an entertainer should," she explained.

Debi's been going so strong of late that owner Joe Adamo has added a midnight show on Fridays and Saturdays to go with her regular 10:30 weekday stint.

2-PRONGED HEMET EVENT

Barbed Wire Show Slated

HEMET – The California Barbed Wire Collectors Association (CBWCA) will sponsor an Antique Barbed Wire and Collectable Show here Saturday and Sunday.

The show will be held at the Colonial Country Club, 25115 Kirby St. Show hours will be 9 to 5 Saturday and 9 to 3 Sunday. Food will be available and there will be plenty of free parking. Admission to the show is without charge.

CBWCA members and friends will attend a club dinner and business meeting which will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Quarterhorse in San Jacinto.

Exhibits at the show will include guns, fencing tools, bottles, insulators, date nails and more.

At least 446 patents are known to have been granted on barbed wire by the U.S. government since 1867. More than 500 types will be exhibited at the Hemet show, nearly all of which have been off the market since 1900. Some of these bring from $20 to $300 per 18-inch length among collectors.

The California Barbed Wire Collectors Association is a non-profit organization, incorporated under the laws of the State of California for the express purpose of presenting these quarterly shows to the public without charge.

CBWCA has 160 family memberships at the present time.

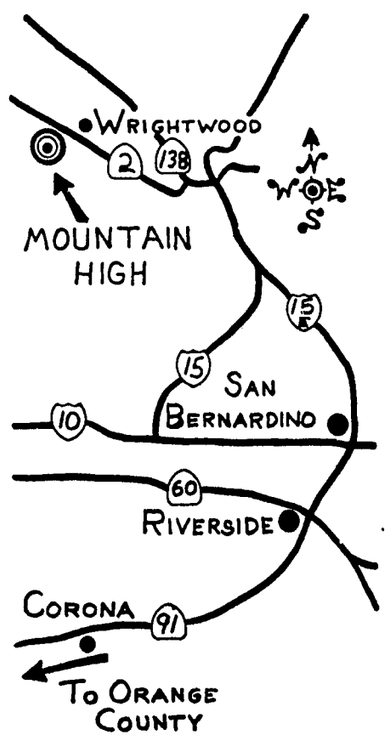

Trip Of The Week

If Skiing Gives You A Lift, Try Mountain High Resort

By MARTIN BENTSON
Register Staff Writer

Mountain High Ski Area on the west side of Wrightwood, an attractive snow-recreation area for the entire family, is within easy driving distance from Orange County.

The winter sports area is only 70 miles from Fullerton and can be reached in an hour and 15 minutes, driving on freeways and good highways without any mountain driving. Chains are hardly ever need to reach Wrightwood. But it may be useful to have a pair in the car in case they should be needed at the Ski resort area.

With four to six feet of snow, skiing conditions are excellent at the ski resort which operates 15 ski runs and two double chairlifts. While the adults are skiing or taking lessons, their youngsters may be entertained in a supervised snow area equipped with toboggans and other snow-coasting equipment. Children also may be observed on the slopes, skiing with their parents.

Ski lifts run from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. All-day tickets are $8.50. Tickets go on sale at 7 a.m. and are usually sold out by 9 a.m.

Any skier without equipment may rent skis, boots and poles, all for $8.

Mountain High operates a school for those who want to learn how to ski. Group lessons are $6.

Facilities at the ski resort include lodging, a restaurant, rental shop and machinery for making snow where natural snow is adequate.

Ski runs slope toward the north from the peak of the 8,200-foot-high Mountain High ski area, formerly known as the Blue Ridge ski area.

Mountain High can be reached by taking the Pomona Freeway (Route 57) to the San Bernardino Freeway (Route 10). On Route 10 proceed east to Interstate 15 and north on 15 to Cajon Junction, thence northwest on Route 138 to Route 2. Drive west on Route 2 through Wrightwood to the entrance to the ski resort.

Even non-skiers may enjoy a day's outing in the Wrightwood area. They can frolic in the snow and enjoy the great outdoors.

But warm clothing and good boots are a "must".

A Nostalgic Look At TV

BY LARRY DISTEL
Register TV Editor

Everyone that's here now wasn't here 30 years ago.

Elementary, you may tell Dr. Watson, but then I don't mean only that more than half of the population is now somewhat under that 30-year age level, they tell us.

But even the rest of the population here, and by here I mean in Southern California, wasn't here or anywhere near here 30 years ago.

They've come from Boston, New York, and the rest of the northeast, they've come from Florida, Georgia and the vast south and southeast portions of the country, they've come from such remote areas as Texas and Oklahoma, as well as from across the midwest and plains states.

No matter where they've come from I suspect a great many folks now in the area are apt to find familiar faces and things in the television special KTLA, channel 5, will present at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

The show is called, "Happy Birthday, Los Angeles Television," and marks the 30th anniversary, to the day, that KTLA went on the air as the first commercial TV station in Los Angeles.

The title of the show is why I've taken an offbeat way of telling you all that the show isn't restricted entirely to the Los Angeles area. KTLA itself emphasizes that it is not intended to cover only its own history, but that of all early TV in the area.

But what should be of interest to the folks who have moved this way from all those diverse points across the nation is that many of the personalities and shows that will be recalled in Saturday's special also were seen back home in the early days of TV.

Art Linkletter hosts the special to start with, and he, of course, earned a major spot in TV's world years back.

But there are so many others who didn't achieve his prominence, although when television got its start they became daily visitors in many homes.

There was the combination of Beany and Cecil, which made its debut on KTLA and later was spread across the country as a children's show.

There was Peter Potter, who was tied up with several of the earlier game and variety shows that popped up on screens everywhere.

Broderick Crawford's "Highway Patrol" not only was seen first-run nationally, but still shows up on screens in many markets in the umpteenth rerun stage.

Dick Sinclair comes along with his "Polka Parade," which I'm sure some folks who saw it in their home cities long ago thought was a local program, though it originated in Los Angeles.

"Space Patrol" was a space fiction show which made its dent on TV way back before most folks even dreamed Alan Shepherd would be shot a few hundred miles through space, much less the later space orbits and eventually landings on the moon.

It predated such later favorites as "Space Cadets" and "Star Trek" by many years, and its stars included Virginia Hewitt and Ed Kemmer, who became familiar to many viewers.

Criswell, there's another name. He was great for predicting the future, began his TV career in the early days of Los Angeles TV, and was seen in most other parts of the country.

Korla Pandit apparently was an early favorite in these parts, though I don't recall him showing up on the screen back home, but I wouldn't say he didn't.

Some others more local included Dick Lane, who started with TV on Los Angeles and only a short time ago disappeared as a regular, though he still can be seen on occasion.

Some of the wrestling fans, and there were many of them when television started, may remember Baron Michele Leone, though again I'd suggest he's more familiar to natives of the area than he might be to more recent residents.

The good thing about the Saturday night special is that not only does KTLA come up with films, kinescopes or whatever of some of those early shows, but many of the personalities who helped establish a beachhead for TV in these parts and nationally, are on hand for the show.

The nostalgia buffs should have a field day watching many of those already mentioned, plus Hilo Hattie, Cliffie Stone, Harry Owens, Mike Stokey, and such children's favorites as Engineer Bill, Tom Hatten, Sheriff John and Skipper Frank.

Taping Boxoffice Open On Weekend

OK, you folks who have had problems getting to Anaheim Convention Center during the day this week to get your tickets for the taping of the All-Star Almost Anything Goes show on Jan. 28, we've got news for you!

The boxoffice at the convention center will be open Saturday and Sunday, from 10 to 6 each day for those wishing to buy tickets at the low price of $1 each.

Boxoffice, of course, also will continue to be open the other days of the week from 10 to 6, with purchases possible so long as the 7,000 tickets last.

As of Wednesday, more than 1,400 of the tickets had been sold, as many have foreseen that the TV taping provides a great family outing at a price anyone can afford.

Also, ticket purchases help contribute to The Register Charities, and thus to a group of organizations in Orange County which provide a variety of services.

To answer some other questions. The tickets are not reserved. Doors at the convention center on Friday, Jan. 28, will open at 6:30 p.m. with seats going on a first-come, first-served basis.

Doors will be closed at 7:30 p.m., in accord with most such policies involved television tapings.

The taping is expected to start about 8 p.m. Sam Riddle, indicates that there will be two half-hour shows taped, instead of the one-hour originally scheduled, providing for more competition, and probably a longer list of participating personalities.

For those who wonder how long into the evening the tapings may continue, Riddle suggests it should all be over by 10:30 p.m., possibly 11 at the latest, thus providing no serious problems for those with youngsters as it will be a Friday night.

Bob Hanner Associates, the producing organization, now has booked some of the stars who will be appearing.

Lawrence-Hilton Jacobs, one of the sweathogs on the popular "Welcome Back,Kotter" show (Washington), will be competing. Others names so far are Rita Moreno, Fred Williamson and Stacy Keach, who have been more active in movies than TV, and Barbara Rhoades, who is the new series, "Busting Loose."

A popular baseball figure in this area is almost certainly going to serve as master of ceremonies, but contracts had not been signed late Thursday.

So, there'll be some fun personalities doing lots of fun things. And the whole thing will be lots of fun for the whole family.

IRISH SETTER CLUB

The Irish Setter Club of Southern California will sponsor an open meeting at 8 p.m. Friday in Great Western Savings and Loan, Buena Park. A new film on Setters produced by the American Kennel Club will be shown during the evening. Additional information about the group which includes members from Santa Barbara to San Diego may be obtained by calling Mrs. Donald Farrington of Garden Grove, president.

ON THE GO ---With Doris Crandall

DON'T USE THE SOY SAUCE when you dine at KAPP'S Chinese-American Restaurant in Anaheim on North Euclid just a few blocks north on Anaheim Plaza. I stopped for lunch and was super-impressed with all, especially the beautiful sauces and fresh flavors.

It began with appetizers of chicken balls, egg roll (the best I've ever had, hot and crisp, much like tiny burritos) and crispy milk-creamy delicious. It is prepared by freezing milk in a pan, cutting into squares, dipping in egg, flour batter then deep frying. Next came a bowl of steaming hot Wonton soup. My entrees were excellent. The sweet and sour pork large, crunchy pieces fragrant, crystal clear, persimmon-colored sauce were mingled with crisp bell pepper, cucumber, water chestnut slices (for the first time-I'm a fan of a sweet and sour dish). I also had a lovely shrimp and chicken dish with almonds, mildly spicy.

The menu for lunch and dinner is large, offering a variety treats, the usual and many not so usual-there are baked crab with scallions and ginger; spicy and salty shrimp; the grilled shrimp in shell with tomato sauce; the grilled squab with oyster sauce (advance order); special lemon duckling; the crystal milk, shrimp balls; baked dried mushroom with oyster sauce...

A special luncheon is served daily from 11:30 until 3 p.m. for $1.79- it includes egg rolls, soup, fried rice with pork and a choice of one entree from a selection of nine that include sweet and sour pork; crisp chicken ball; beef with green pepper; chicken tenderloin in lemon sauce...

Chef Pang (formerly of Hongkong and Laos) is an expert in Oriental cuisine.

A new restaurant-KAPP'S (derived from the initials of the three owners Keenan, Paul and Chef Pan) is actually two restaurants under one roof...The American food is prepared by Don Halburton (formerly with the original Branding Iron. His menu offers breakfast, lunch and dinner beginning daily at 6 a.m. A favorite breakfast includes hot biscuits with old fashioned cream gravy.

KAPP'S is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday-Friday and Saturday nights until 10 p.m.

BOB'S BIG BOY RESTAURANTS are featuring another money saver through Jan. 31. You will be able to get my favorite B.B. entree for $2.19- four pieces of Pappy Parker fried chicken, a salad (choice of dressing), French fries and a buttered bun. An Anaheim location is on Euclid near Lincoln.

Henri Will Be Provided For

By AARON GOLD
Chicago Tribune

Everyone knows that Elizabeth Taylor now is Mrs. John Warner. And that her ex (times two), Richard Burton, is happily married to Susan Hunt. But what about poor (in more ways than one?) Henri Wynberg who consoled Elizabeth during the unhappy transition? Well don't worry about Henri. Elizabeth seems to have done the proper thing – as her close friends and business associates say she always does – and "provided" for Wynberg.

GOLD'S NUGGETS

He reportedly is in possession of a document Elizabeth signed and Burton witnessed in August of 1975 (with a carbon copy to their attorney Aaron Frosch) giving him rights to an Elizabeth Taylor cosmetics line for the grand sum of $100. And though Wynberg reportedly sold the manufacturing rights to a company that is expected to produce the beauty products line this year, he will get a large percentage of the royalties. So they all get to live happily ever after.

How nice that NBC-TV intends to promote the Feb. 13 Broadway opening of "Hellzapoppin," costarring Jerry Lewis and Lynn Redgrave, by telecasting the first half hour of the show on its "Big Event." Of course, no one is supposed to know that NBC has a financial interest in the production as well as the rights to a variety series with Lewis based on "Hellzapoppin."...One of the reasons Roz Kelly was aced out of a costarring spot on Nancy Walker's "Mrs. Blansky's Beauties" (the new ABC-TV series originally was to be Kelly's vehicle), is her overinflated ego. She became so difficult to work with that the producer (and reportedly Walker, too) decided to put a stop to her star act before it went any further.

Not only is Donna McKechnie (the new Mrs. Michael Bennett) laughing at reports that she's pregnant, she's returning to the Broadway company of "A Chorus Line" this week...Bill Friedkin has to curtail his directing chores for the next few months to concentrate on producing the March 28 Academy Awards telecast; the nominations will be announced Feb. 11....And Irving Wallace's new book will be another almanac type in which he'll reveal, among thousands of other items of

Toshiro Mifune Flies Here For Role; Keeps Busy

LOS ANGELES (AP) – This could be a record: 12,000 miles of travel for a one-day acting job.

Toshiro Mifune flew all the way from Tokyo to play a cameo role in "Winter Kills," a stellar movie about presidential assassination and international intrigue. Was that trip necessary?

"I wanted to do it," said the Japanese star with a smile. "It's a small role but important. And I wanted to be associated with John Huston and with Richard Boone. I went bill-fishing with Boone in Hawaii last summer and we became good friends."

The cast also includes Jeff Bridges, Eli Wallach, Dorothy Malone, Sterling Hayden and Ralph Meeker. Young William Richert wrote the script from the Richard Condon novel and is directing for Winter Gold Productions. The Carolco organization has the foreign distribution rights.

Mifune played his role in English, not an easy chore for him. His English is improving, but he prefers to conduct interviews with the aid of his lovely interpreter, Miiko Taka, Marlon Brando's leading lady in "Sayonara."

The 56-year-old actor finds himself making more international films – "Paper Tiger" with David Niven, "Midway" with Charlton Heston, Henry Fonda, etc. – and fewer in Japan. In fact, he hasn't made a feature movie at home for four years. He and

Foreign Films Enter Oscar Race This Year

Twenty-four counties have submitted entries for consideration for Best Foreign Language Film Award achievements in this year's Oscar Awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

The films are:

"The Weasels" (Argentina); "High Street" (Belgium); "Xica Da Silva" (Brazil); "Eight Hundred Heroes" (Republic of China); "One Silver Piece" (Czechoslovakia); "The Olsen Gang Sees Red" (Denmark); "Whom We Must Shoot" (Egypt); "Cousin, Cousine" (France); "Jakob, the Liar" (East Germany); "The Clown" (West Germany); "The Last Tempest" (Hong Kong); and "The Fifth Seal" (Hungary).

Also, "Chomana Dudi" (India); "Seven Beauties" (Italy); "Black and White in Color" (Ivory Coast); "Length of War" (Mexico); "Max Havelaar" (The Netherlands); "Nights and Days" (Poland); "The Doom" (Romania); "Raise Ravens" (Spain); "City of My Dreams" (Sweden); "Jonah Who Will Be 25 in the Year 2000" (Switzerland); "They Fought for Their Motherland" (Russia); and "The Rat Saviour" (Yugoslavia).

The Foreign Language Film Award Committee, with George Cukor and Robert M. W. Vogel as co-chairmen, will screen all entries before voting to nominate five achievements.

Every country is invited to submit its best film to the Academy. Selection of the best picture from each country is made by one group or organization, or by a jury or committee composed of representatives from several organizations in the country. Only one film entry is accepted from each country.

Only feature-length films with basically non-English sound tracks first released in the country of origin between Nov. 1, 1975, and Oct. 31, 1976, and shown in a commercial theater for the profit of the producer and exhibitor, are eligible. The picture need not have been released in the United States.

located. You say 'Orange County' and they say 'oh' and that's it," he lamented. There's a change coming. Some of the biggies are already realizing there's $$$ in Orange County.

And speaking of the big ones, whatever became of Bobby Sherman?

Register staff writer Marci Dodson still getting the fallout from her Hollywood Squares bonanza of a few months back.

She walked into her apartment the other night and there was a washer in the middle of the living room. Says it's got to go. Clashes with the drapes. Other goodies still trickling in she says, and how do you get rid of all that stuff? And then there's the tax man...

Guitar man and vocalist Burt Leyva has moved into the Ancient Mariner on Tustin Avenue in Santa Ana, one of the county's cozier bars, replacing guitar man and vocalist Pat Colgan.

Colgan gave notice a few weeks back that he was leaving for minor throat surgery. Then was told he didn't need it after all. Colgan rushed to the phone, called entertainment director Doug Rhys and said, "Guess what?" Rhys, who'd already signed Leyva replied, "Guess what?"

But Pat's due to move into Mariner's Rusty Pelican in Newport Beach soon.

Wally Ruth and his jazz trio has found a home at the Marriott in Newport Beach. Ruth is an oldie in the biz, going back to the days when he was with western band leader the late Spade Cooley of radio and early TV fame.

Ruth plays in the Capriccio Lounge Wednesday through Saturday with a "jazz at noon" gig every Friday in the Main Barge when amateur jazz musicians are invited to sit in. Very popular.

The group's drawing so well it prompted hotel manager Joe Rothman to tell your correspondent, "We hope they're here for a long time to come." They've been there six months.

Three great ones of the jazz world at Orange Coast College this Sunday--Trumpeter Bobby Shew, tenor saxaphonist Pete Christlieb and Carl Fontana on the trombone doing solo work with three OCC jazz groups.

The marathon starts at 2 p.m. in the auditorium and you can get tickets at the door for $2. Some kind of bargain. They'll be performing works by Alf Clausen, Buddy Rich, Woody Herman, Herbie Hancock et al.

Also at OCC Friday, Jan. 28, at 8 p.m. noted jazz flautist Paul Horn doing benefit for whales and dolphins. Honest. Whales and dolphins get in for half price. For rest of you folks it's $5 per. Horn's a good one, a past winner of Down Beat and Playboy jazz polls. Also on same program are folk singer-writers Steve Fiske, John Buckley and Juniper.

Big shot in the arm for theater groups and would-be theater groups in south county area. Construction's underway on new supermodern 425-seat theater at Saddleback College. Due to open January, 1978, and will be available to community "little theater" groups throughtout the area, say college officials.

Kind of a sad note. Popular blues singer Jimmy Witherspoon, at Hungry Joe's tonight through Sunday, has never made one penny in record royalties. In 27 years he's cut 30 albums and 500 singles.

"But that's changing now," he said recently. He's got a new manager and a new organization, Far Out Productions.

Swap Meets

At the drive-in locations, swap meet operators can be contacted during movie hours Monday through Friday and during the swapping hours on Saturday and Sunday.

Following is a list of locations, weekend hours and a partial list of managers:

Harbor Drive-In Theater, 3700 MacFadden Ave., Saturday and Sunday, 9 to 3. Operator, Betty Shapiro.

Orange Drive-In, Alondra Avenue north of Santa Ana Freeway near Valley View offramp, 6 to 3.

Movie World Cars of Stars, 6900 Orangethrope Blvd., Buena Park, one weekend a month. Next 9 to 3, Jan. 30.

Garden Grove, 8281 Garden Grove Blvd., 9 to 6. Operator, Don Levy.

San Juan Capistrano, Mission Theater, 32002 Del Obispo, Ortega Highway offramp. Eight to 12 meets a year, usually sponsored by service club. Manager. Ed Schriber.

Fullerton Schedules Jazz Concert

"Fascinatin' Rhythm" is the theme for a combined concert of the Fullerton college Jazz Band and the Vocal Jazz Ensemble.

Slated for 8 p.m. Feb. 25 and 26 in the Campus Theatre, the concert will spotlight Terry Blackley's Jazz Band and the Vocal Jazz Emsemble, directed by Brent Pierce, in a special arrangement of "Fascinatin' Rhythm." They'll also join forces in "Passin' By," an original work for vocal and instrumental music.

Don Trimble of Anaheim will be featured on tenor sax for the Jazz Band's "Piece for Two," aided by tenor saxist Karl Denson of Santa Ana. drummer Curtis Bradley. Anaheim's Dave Eckes is in the solo trombone spotlight for Nestice's "Tall Cotton;" while Dave Connors of Placentia is showcased in Chuck Mangione's new offering, "Echano."

The vocal group will not only feature Placentia vocalist Becca Goldinez in "Up A Lazy River," but also premiere a new Blackley arrangement, "Watch What Happens." Soloist will be Tim Reeder of Orange.

Tickets are available through the Bursar's Office on campus or at the Campus Theatre Box Office 45 minutes before showtime.

CSF Award-Winning Play To Be Performed

California State University, Fullerton's winning entry in the American College Theater Festival will be restaged next Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28-29, prior to regional competition.

"The Country Girl," Clifford Odets' backstage drama, will be performed at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater.

For those who missed the original November showings, tickets will go on sale Monday, Jan. 24, at the Performing Arts Box Office. Reservations will be taken by phone from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays and 1½ hours before performances.

Three other entries will be performed with "The Country Girl" at the American College Theater Festival southwest regionals.

Japanese Actor Busy

director Akira Kurosawa, with whom he had a series of classics in the 1950s ("Rashomon," "Seven Samurai," "Throne of Blood"), have been trying to arrange a reunion film. The last of their 14 films together was "Red Beard" seven years ago.

"The Japanese film industry is in very bad condition," Mifune reported. "The cause is not only television. The Japanese also have so much leisure time, and they spend it in skiing, travel and many other things. They are not so interested in movies anymore.

"Part of the reason for the decline is the producers themselves. They thought only about making money, and they failed to train new talent to carry on the business. In Hollywood there is a new breed which is making exciting films. Not in Japan."

He sees no help for the beleagured industry from the Japanese government – "the politicians are only concerned with keeping their seats in parliament."

Mifune has not waited for the industry to revive. His studio has produced 159 television hours, and he himself has appeared in 50 of them. He has a script about the breaking of the Japanse code during World War 11; he hopes to film it this year with Lee Marvin, his costar of "Hell in the Pacific."

"Kurosawa and I would like to make a film version of 'King Lear,' setting it in the sumurai era," said the actor. "The only thing holding us back is the budget. The picture would cost $7 million, and it would be the most expensive film ever made in Japan."

Although the film business has been ailing in Japan, certain foreign releases can still make huge money. Among the recent standouts: "Jaws," "Emanuelle" and "Midway."

Tuba Concert

LONG BEACH – The Faculty Recital Series at California State University, Long Beach continues with a tuba concert by James Self Saturday, Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. in the Studio Theatre, 6101 E. 7th St., Long Beach.

Self received his B.A. from Indiana University in Pa., his M.A. from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. and his Ph.D. from the University of Southern California.

Tickets will be on sale at the door the evening of performance.

trivia, the 12 best sellers written in prison, the 20 most well-known illegitimate children, and the 12 most forbidden books on the Catholic Index list.

TICKER TIP: If you have been waiting to see the epic film "All This and World War II" that has been in the works for the last two years, forget it. At least for now. It received such brutal reviews from the critics in New York and L. A. that 20th Century-Fox has yanked it out of release for re-editing and a new ad campaign. A spokesman says that the new release date will be fall. But then, 20th pulled its multimillion-dollar, all-star "Blue Bird" out of theaters across the country, too, and it never was seen again.

Greek Pianist To Perform Here

FULLERTON — Greek pianist Vasso Devetzi, who has won the praise of critics throughout the world, brings her musical majesty to the Fullerton College stage Friday, Feb. 18.

Under the auspices of the Fullerton College Artist-Lecture Series, the Angel Records artist will be presented in concert at 8 p.m. in the Campus Theatre.

A Hurok presentation, Miss Devetzi's program will include the works of Haydn, Mozart, Schumann and Chopin in her concert.

Born in Salonika in an environment of amateur musicians, she began piano studies in her motherland, continued them in Vienna and later journeyed to Paris, where her art was polished with Marguerite Long and Jacques Fevrier.

Vasso Devetzi has appeared with every major European orchestra and recorded with most of them, performed at all of Europe's music festivals and served on the juries of both the Marguerite Long International Competition in Paris and the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow

Earthquake Comedy Scheduled

"Cracking Up," a wild comedy depicting reactions to a future California earthquake, has been acquired by American International for release Feb. 18. It was made by the producers of the recent hit "Tunnelvision," and is one of AIP's prime attractions for the George Washington's Birthday holiday.

Top improvisional humor groups star in the fun film. They depict television newsmen who "cover" the embarrassing, intimate and naughty situations when an earthquake suddenly exposes what some people are doing.

Starring are The Ace Trucking Co., The Credibility Gap, Proctor & Bergman, The Graduates, Neil Israel, and Kansas City Bob McClurg.

MOVIE GUIDE FOR FAMILIES

G: "General Audiences." Film contains no material most parents are likely to consider objectionable even for younger children.

PG: "Parental Guidance Suggested." Rating cautions parents they might consider some material unsuitable for children. It urges parents to inquire about the film before deciding on attendance.

R: "Restricted." Film contains adult-type material and those under 17 years of age are not admitted except in the company of a parent or an adult guardian.

X: This is patently an adult-type film and no one under 17 is admitted. The age limit may be higher in some places.

Strike Threat Looms In Movie Industry

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Claiming screenwriters' demands represent "jurisdictional piracy," film and television directors are threatening to strike if the writers win rights which directors say belong to them.

"We think these demands are wild," director Stanley Kramer declared at a news conference Wednesday.

Screenwriters are currently negotiating with the Writers Guild of America. Members of the Directors Guild of America said one of the demands would require a screenwriter to be present on the set for any change in script.

Kramer said such demands "show a complete lack of knowledge of what is necessary to put a picture on the screen."

Other directors who attended the news conference were Frank Capra, Mel Brooks, King Vidor and William Wilder.

Kramer suggested that if writers won their demands, an actor would not be able to change the word "cannot" to "can't" without getting the okay from the screenwriter.

Directors' Guild President Robert Aldrich read a resolution of the guild's national board which said the guild would reject any effort "to alter the traditional rights and duties of directors."

He said if employers gave in to writers' demands, that would lead to the "immediate withholding of Guild-wide services."

Lapidary Show Scheduled

SANTA ANA – The Orange Coast Mineral and Lapidary Society will hold its show, "Prospector's Paradise," in the Santa Ana Armory Jan. 29-30 from 9-9 p.m. Saturday, and from 9-5 p.m., Sunday. Admission will be free. Public is invited.

ON BROADWAY
Premier Performance

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Arts Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Merce Cunningham, the ardent nonconformist of dance, accents whimsy in his latest innovation, "Travelogue."

The piece, performed for the first time as the highlight of the opening performance Tuesday night by Cunningham's company at Broadway's Minskoff Theater, is choreographic jabberwocky.

There's plenty in it for those familiar with the highly skilled company's artistic eccentricty, and sheer bogglement — aside from some pictorial fragments — for the uninitiated.

Teamed with Cunningham in creation are two frequent collaborators, avant garde composer John Cage, and eclectic sculptor Robert Rauschenberg.

Eight performers, including the maestro, weave disjointed patterns of interaction against the aural counterpoint of Cage's utterly unrelated score, which is entitled "Telephone and Birds." The sound tape ranges through horse race results, busy signals, bits of diala-prayer, weather reports, the twitter of ornithological rarities and plane flight information.

The sonic bombardment of daily existence doesn't connect with the dancers' disciplined enigmas nearly as much as the Rauschenberg effects, which they are either wearing or entangled with.

During one segment, a heavy rope upon which are strung tin canisters and colored cloths, is used to background a solo turn. The most impressive prop is the set of chairs, on individual pedestals and separated by bicycle wheels, in which the company makes initial entrance.

The opening program also included three prior works, "Summerspace," "Rebus" and a rather feline "Solo" by the maestro.

The Minskoff visit, through Jan. 23, is the first individual Broadway engagement by the company, which was previously on the Main Stem as part of a festival in 1969.

In honor of the event, the company received a citation from the city in which Mayor Abraham Beame lauded Cunningham for having "freed dance from the tyranny of narrative and music." It was a neat summary of all that ensued.

Friedkin Signed For 'Oscarcast'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William Friedkin, winner of an Academy Award for his direction of "The French Connection" in 1971, will produce the 49th Annual Oscar Show at the Music Center March 28.

Nominations for the awards will close Feb. 4, and the nominees will be announced Feb. 11

HERE'S WHAT YOU GET

GAS MILEAGE

25 MPG Highway

19 MPG City

21 Combined City and Highway

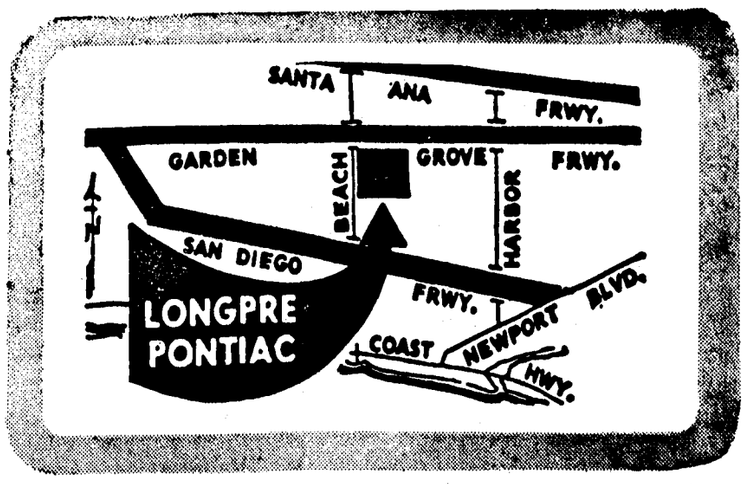

The actual fuel economy of this vehicle will vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, how well you maintain your vehicle, optional equipment installed, and road and weather conditions.

THE IRON DUKE

The heart of Sunbird is Pontiac's new cast iron 2.5 litre (151 CID) engine. It's tough. The block is cast from high grade alloy iron for the kind of durability you expect of Pontiac. It's very smooth. Sitting at a light you'll swear there's a six, maybe even a V8 under the hood. The cast iron engine is a remarkably rugged new engine, and ONLY Pontiac has it.

Make your best deal on a new Pacer and AMC will make it $253 better.

AMC has extended our $253 Cash Rebate Offer on all new 1976 and 1977 Pacers and Pacer Wagons.

Since we started our $253 Cash Rebate offer last November, AMC has been selling so many Pacers, we've decided to extend the offer. To thank you for your great response. And to help us sell a lot more Pacers, too.

So now you've got until March 10 to take advantage of our offer. All you have to do is pick your Pacer and make your best deal with your AMC dealer. AMC will send you the $253. Or you can apply the $253 to the down payment. After you've made your best deal, of course.

The $253 Cash Rebate offer is good on all new 1976 and 1977 AMC Pacer and Pacer Wagons delivered from dealer stock by March 10 or ordered by February 10. Sorry, but no fleet sales or overseas military purchases are included.

BUYER PROTECTION PLAN® II
The only full 2-year, 24,000 mile warranty on engine and drive train.
The only full 1-year or 12,000 mile warranty protecting everything else on your car except tires.
